CHRISTIE.—In loving memory of Mary Margaret Christie, wife of Edward Christie, of Redfern, who departed this life on the 1st November, 1901, aged 45 years. Inserted by her loving husband and children.

CHRISTIE.—In loving memory of my dear wife and our mother, who died at the Prince Alfred Hospital, November 1, 1901. Inserted by her loving husband, E. Christie, and children.

FITZGERALD.—In sad and loving memory of my dear wife and our mother, Lucy L. Fitzgerald, who died suddenly November 1, 1893, at her residence, Bourke-street, Waverley.

We cannot clasp thy hand, dear mother;
Thy face we cannot see;
But let this little token tell
We still remember thee.
Wherever we may wander
Or whatever lands we view,
Whatever joys or cares be ours,
We'll always think of you.

Inserted by her loving husband and children.

GAVINE.—In loving memory of our darling son, William Gavine, who departed this life, November 1, 1901, aged 23 years.

My Lord hath need of this floweret gay,
The reaper said, and smiled;
He shall bloom in fields of light,
Transplanted by my care.

Inserted by his sorrowing parents.

KING.—In loving memory of my dear mother, Elizabeth King, who died Nov. 2nd, 1900. At rest. Inserted by her loving daughter, L. King.

KING.—In loving memory of my dear grandma, who died Nov. 2nd, 1900. Dead, but not forgotten. Inserted by her loving grandson, J. C. Dick, Mullion Creek.

LANGDON.—In affectionate remembrance of my dear son, Arthur Greenham Langdon, accidentally killed by falling from tram Nov. 2nd, 1901. Inserted by his father, J. G. Langdon.

LANGDON.—In loving memory of our dear nephew, Arthur Greenham Langdon, who died at Sydney Hospital, November 2, 1901, aged 13 years. Gone to a better home. Inserted by his loving uncle and aunt, Wm. and R. Clingan, and cousins.

PRICE.—In loving memory of our dear mother and grandma, Ellen Price, who died November 1, 1901, aged 75 years.

A mother more loving ne'er dwelt on this earth,
Or proved to her children a true mother's worth.

Inserted by her affectionate son and daughter-in-law and grandchildren, Tom and Dolly, Oliver and Stanley Price.

In Memoriam.

BIGGS.—In sad but loving memory of my dear sister, Kate, who departed this life on November 1, 1901. Peace be with thee. Inserted by her loving and only sister, Blanche. Home papers please copy.

Sleep on, dear sister, I would not wake thee,
For fear care or sorrow would darken thy brow;
How sweet are the thoughts with the birds hovering o'er thee,
No more of life's sorrows will trouble thee now.

BIGGS.—A tribute to the memory of my dearly loved daughter, Kate, who departed this life on November 1, 1901. Inserted by her sorrowing father, J. G. Lloyd. Thy will be done. Home papers please copy.

ROBERTS'

NEW

3d

BAR!

Roberts' New 3d Bar is situated right on the corner of George and Market streets—Roberts' Corner—and is considered positively the finest 3d bar in Sydney. It has been constructed in the most recent London style, and is thoroughly equipped in every way to meet the requirements of our large and ever-increasing business. Notwithstanding the large trade which this new bar is already doing, there is

NO WAITING.

The wines and spirits are of excellent quality, and

TOOTH'S BEER

M'EWAN'S ALE

are always beautifully fresh, owing to the enormous draught consequent upon a big trade. The Barmen are most attentive to customers, and everybody is quickly served—and served with marked civility.

A WONDERFUL BEAN—

BURPEE'S DWARF LIMA.

A splendid dwarf variety of the famous "LIMA SHELL BEAN."
IT KEEPS ON BEARING DURING THE HOTTEST SUMMER MONTHS.

Throughout a drought it has proved invaluable.——It crops enormously, and CAN BE USED IN ALL ITS STAGES, either half-grown, full-grown, and when quite ripe, like Haricot.——It has a delightful flavour.——Lima Beans are a grand addition to our Vegetables.——Everybody likes them. Any soil will grow them.——They should be sown now in drills two feet apart.——

LASSETTERS are ALWAYS CHEAPER, especially in LADIES' SHOWERPROOF CRAVENETTE CLOAKS. Yesterday the (only) trotted out his old friends, he advertised before. LASSETTERS HAVE NO ROOM to publish their list, but RESPECTFULLY REFER the Public to the SYDNEY MORNING HERALD of JULY 12th, where they will see the same things advertised, but VERY MUCH CHEAPER.

THE RAIN.

THE RAIN IT RAINETH,

and we trust that for A TIME at LEAST it MAY BE TRUTH to continue on and say

"THE RAIN IT RAINETH EVERY DAY."

It would be impossible to put a MONEY VALUE upon THE RAIN that has fallen in THIS STATE during the past few days, because the EXTENT OF GOOD it will do CANNOT be GAUGED OR COMPUTED.

MILLIONS OF GALLONS

upon the more than HALF EMPTIED CATCHMENT AREA, and

MILLIONS OF GALLONS

upon the THIRSTY EARTH in various places. THOUSANDS of ACRES of land that were DRY beyond description, made capable of CULTIVATION and PRODUCTION, and HUNDREDS of FAMILIES, who for months have HARDLY KNOWN the BLESSING of WATER in abundance, made to feel how BOUNTIFUL Nature is.

WE IN SYDNEY know LITTLE ABOUT IT, LITTLE ABOUT what it is for TANKS to be EMPTY and CREEKS dry, for even if we may not HOSE OUR GARDENS and cultivate our FLOWER PLOTS and our VEGETABLE PATCHES,

DWELLERS IN TOWN

are pretty WELL ASSURED against anything like a WATER FAMINE, for which all of us, including US, WE, and CO., and TENS of THOUSANDS of fellow-citizens

HAVE MUCH TO BE THANKFUL FOR.

ANTHONY HORDERN AND SONS

have MUCH PLEASURE in Submitting for THE APPROVAL of that portion of the population who wear MALE ATTIRE one of the GRANDEST LINES of WATERPROOF COAT ever offered in Sydney.

THE COAT IS A BEAUTY,
THE PRICE A STAGGERER.

THE NEW PADDOCK CHESTERFIELD,

A WONDERFUL OFFER.

THE LEADING PHOTOGRAPHER, SYDNEY AND MELBOURNE.

ON ACCOUNT OF THE DROUGHT AND THE HIGH PRICE OF PROVISIONS DEMANDING THE GREATEST OF ECONOMY ON THE PART OF HOUSEHOLDERS, MR. EDEN HAS DECIDED TO MEET THE TIMES BY MAKING THE MOST WONDERFUL OFFER EVER HEARD OF IN THE ANNALS OF PHOTOGRAPHIC HISTORY. DURING THE MONTHS OF OCTOBER AND NOVEMBER ONE CAN OBTAIN FOR THE SMALL SUM OF 15s 12 "ROCOCO" PANELS, WHICH ARE NOT TO BE HAD IN SYDNEY UNDER 21s. THESE PANELS WILL BE MOUNTED UPON MOUNTS OF "ROCOCO" PATTERN, THE LIKE OF WHICH HAS NOT BEEN SEEN HERE BEFORE, AND IT WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE FOR US TO USE THESE MOUNTS AT THIS PRICE WERE IT NOT FOR THE FACT THAT WE IMPORTED THEM PREVIOUS TO THE FEDERAL TARIFF COMING INTO FORCE, AND THEY ESCAPED THE PRESENT DUTY OF 27½ PER CENT. THERE IS THE GREAT "MELBA BOOM" AND THE RUSH OF PEOPLE TO HEAR HER; THEN THERE WAS THE GREAT RUSH OF THE PUBLIC TO PARLIAMENT TO HEAR THE CENSURE MOTION DEBATED; BUT ALL RUSHES WILL PALE INTO INSIGNIFICANCE BEFORE THE RUSH THAT WILL TAKE PLACE AT THE EDEN PHOTO. STUDIOS FOR THESE "ROCOCO" PANELS. STUDIO OPEN FROM 9 TO 6.

INCORPORATED PHONOGRAPHIC SOCIETY OF GREAT BRITAIN.
MR. GEORGE FELLOWS,
of the
SHORTHAND STAFF
STOTT AND HOARE'S BUSINESS COLLEGE, has received from the General Secretary a notification of his success in passing the EXAMINATION for
SHORTHAND TEACHERS,
conducted by the above Society.
THE I. P. S. was founded in 1890 "for the purpose of hall-marking the competent and ear-marking the incompetent among the ranks of Shorthand Teachers."
By Ensuring a High Standard of TEACHING COMPETENCY on the part of the holders of its Diploma, the Society is now universally recognised as a Guide and Protector to those desiring to MASTER THE WINGED ART.
The Society's Lists of Diplomaed Instructors furnish an INFALLIBLE GUIDE in the selection of a teacher or a school; and there is now little excuse for the intending student of Shorthand who allows himself to fall into the hands of an incompetent instructor, or into the enticing but DELUSIVE SNARES of the shorthand charlatan and quack.
THE SHORTHAND FACULTY
STOTT AND HOARE'S BUSINESS COLLEGE
now includes four Fellows and Members of the Incorporated Phonographic Society (three holding Teachers Diplomas), with a Staff of Assistants, Readers, and transcript Examiners.
THE PRINCIPAL OF THE COLLEGE is
Mr. A. W. NICOL,
Sole Holder in New South Wales of the Honours Diploma of the Incorporated Phonographic Society, Member of the Sydney Institute of Practising Shorthand Writers, Licensed Shorthand Writer (by examination) to the Supreme Court of Victoria, Holder of Sir Isaac Pitman's High-speed Certificate.
Full particulars of PITMAN'S SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND (in pamphlet form), also the Illustrated Prospectus of the College, POST FREE, OR ON APPLICATION.

PRACTICAL MODERN BOOK-KEEPING.
No. 3, 2nd Floor, Equitable-bdgs., Pitt and Park streets.

SHORTHAND.—There is a nameless system said to be as easy to learn as A B C, but A B C is not at all easy; for after spending eight years at school the average boy or girl cannot read an average leading article without blundering. Pitmanography, on the contrary, is much easier than A B C, for with a small fraction of the time mentioned it can be thoroughly mastered for practical use. This system has been before the world for 60 years. It quickly conquered its old rivals, and its new would-be rivals, numbering hundreds, are practically unknown. Learn the universal well-tried system, and in order to do so with the least expenditure of time, labour, and money, go to the most experienced instructor in Sydney—

THRICE I MARRIED MARY.

BY JOHN OXENHAM.

CHAPTER I.

HOW I SOUGHT A HOME AND FOUND ASPERRA.

My father was a barrister, in fairly large practice, chiefly in the Admiralty Court, when his health began to show signs of giving way. He was well on in years, sufficiently well off in material matters, and his tastes were of the simplest, a quality which I am grateful to him for transmitting to myself. So he withdrew from active work, sold the lease of his house in Russell-square, and we two set off on a jaunt round the world, in which time was to be of no account, and health and enjoyment the sole considerations. My mother died while I was still very young. My father and I had always been on terms of the pleasantest intimacy, and that delightful long-spun ramble among the loveliest spots on the face of the earth remains in my memory dotted with gleaming white stones which lose none of their whiteness with the passage of the years.

I had taken a fair degree at Cambridge—King's was my college—and while still studying there had gained some little reputation as a writer. Then I had gone through a course of medical study and took my M.D. and M.S. degrees, and went through the hospitals, more however from an intense interest in the subject than with any idea of practising. For as my literary work won its way, bit by bit, the enthralment of it grew upon me to the exclusion of any other possible line in life. I deliberately chose the pen as my world-opener, and I have never had reason to regret my choice. Fortunately I was so situated that I could afford to wait patiently for the recognition which is so slow in coming and so supremely delightful when it does come at last.

In my literary efforts my father took the keenest interest. He was at once my most helpful admirer and my severest critic.

I owe him much. My thought of him is all pure gold without one faintest trace of alloy.

Our journey extended into the third year. It mattered not. We were enjoying the wine and spice of life. My father was making up for lost time in these respects, and I, between the pleasure of my work and the work of pleasure, was living a full life, with no sense of satiety and no bitter dregs to rise and curse me later on.

We patrolled Europe from Paris to Sebastopol, from Drondhjem to Naples. We lingered through Egypt and India, and tasted Australia. We revelled in New Zealand and the lovely islands of the Pacific, and we spent over half a year in Japan, and I think it was Japan, with its glow and brightness, its sense of airiness and irresponsibility, that my father enjoyed more than anything else.

"After forty years of the law, my boy," I can hear him saying, "this is distinctly cheerful. Just look at that cherry orchard. Did you ever in all your born days see anything quite so beautiful? Come along to the tea-house there and let's see if the little dolls are as pretty as the last lot."

Ah me! the last of the white stones stands above his grave at Highgate. He got a chill, dining with the Lord Chief Justice, five days after we landed in England, and a week later I stood by his grave side, and felt that the ghastly hole at my feet was typical of the gap his loss would make in my life. Then, as I knew that he would not have me mourn unduly, I picked up the threads of my life in my lonely hands and entered into my inheritance, and found relief, and by degrees supreme enjoyment, in the work which he was no longer there to criticise.

The first thing was to find a house. After three years of wandering there was now a great longing in me to be settled in a home of my own. And I had seen so much and done so much in these three full years that my wishes drew now towards the grey level of a country life, wherein my mind should find time to assimilate the vivid impressions and masses of raw material with which it was teeming.

Of my native county I knew practically nothing more than an occasional summer visit had taught me. But my recollections of those too brief visits were of the brightest, so I journeyed down forthwith to the West Country, took a room at the Royal at Bideford, and three days later had found all that I wanted—and as it turned out a great deal more than I ever expected.

For as I tramped along the shore one morning towards Clovelly, a mile or two past Portledge I came upon a little combe so perfectly lovely that I lay down on a sandy ridge, and filled a contemplative pipe to enjoy the sight of it at my ease.

Presently through the tops of a clump of oaks which clustered in the eastern hollow of the little valley, my eye caught a feather of blue smoke, and I rose at once to make its closer acquaintance. Smoke meant a house—if one, possibly more—if several, possibly one to let.

When I had clambered over the outjutting wing of the combe, I found that it ran much further out on this side than on the other, and the sea running up between to meet the stream from the valley, formed a dainty cove bestrewn with sand and pebbles and furrows of ragged black rock. Every step I took opened up new beauties to me, and I said to myself that nowhere, north, south, east, or west, had I come across anything quite so charming as a place to live in.

Moreover there were at least two houses half hidden among the trees. The nearer one, whose smoke I had seen, stood well back up the slope, with a long stretch of smooth lawn running down to a thick gorse hedge, where the shelf broke away to the pebbly beach. It was a great house, built of red sandstone, embowered among shrubs and trees, and I passed on along the beach to see what lay beyond. And what lay beyond was a house, at which I stood gazing with hungry eyes, for if I had had it built to order it could not have been more to my liking—a low, one-storey house, well spread out, with a wide verandah running all round it, covered with climbing roses and Virginia creeper, the outside shutters of the windows all tight-closed, apparently empty. It stood nearer the shore than the larger house, and the grounds were separated from the other by a high and thick hedge. Great oak trees waved behind and above it, but between it, and the sea was nothing but a stretch of smooth turf which ran down to the gorse hedge, and was dotted here and there with clump of rhododendrons. A flight of wooden steps led up from the beach to a gate in the hedge. I passed through it, and went up to the house.

I prowled round it, and tried the doors ineffectually, and so passed out by the front gate, which opened into a lane, along which could see the gates of the big house.

A comely maid with dark eyes answered my knock.

"Can you tell me if the house down there is to let?" I asked.

"Iss sure, sir, 'tis," she said in soft round Devon.

"Can you give me any information about it?"

"I can get you the key."

"That's a good beginning. Do you know the rent?"

"They'm asking sixty pound a year," she said, in a half-apologetic tone as though she considered it ridiculous to be asking so amazing a sum for such a place, and she added ingenuously, "but maybe they'd take less tu a decent good tenant,"—and she looked me over approvingly. "They'm rich enough."

"Perhaps I could see them?" I ventured, wondering who they might be.

"No, sir, they'm gone tu London last week, an' 'twill be another week and maybe more before they'm back, but Mr. Heard up tu Clovelly he can tell 'ee all about it."

"That will do firstrate. I'll just look over the house and bring the key back to you," and I went gaily down the lane again, swinging the key of my future home.

The inside of the house was as much to my taste as the outside. The entrance door was on the landward side, so that the whole of the front was given up to unusually good-sized rooms, the long windows of which opened on to the verandah. I threw one of them wide and delighted in the glorious view of the cove and the long stretch of cliff and shore right up to Clovelly Pier and past it to Gallantry Bower, and the frowning head of Hartland.

I was in haste now to get to Mr. Heard at Clovelly. Some one else might be after it already, and it might be snatched from my very lips. I hurried back with the key, and gave the black-eyed girl my card at the same time.

"If anyone else comes after the house please say that I am going straight to Mr. Heard to take it," I said. "I hope it won't be let before I get there." At which the girl smiled, and I found afterwards that it had been empty for over a twelvemonth.

"What do you call this place?" I asked, as I turned away.

"Asperra, sir," she smiled.

Asperra! the first time I had ever heard the name which was to become as familiar to me as my own.

"And which is the quickest way to Clovelly?"

"The quickest will be by the high road; the shore is none tu good walking," and I set off for the high road and Mr. Heard up to Clovelly, as quick as I could go lest my precious find should have fallen into other hands before I got there.

I smoked my pipe over the railing on the landing of Clovelly stairs that evening in a spirit of very great contentment. For Mr. Heard and I had come to terms, that is, I had agreed without question to everything he asked, banker's references, a year's rent in advance, do all repairs, keep up the garden to its present condition, and Little Asperra, as he called the smaller house, was mine. Old Mr. Heard, who united the functions of house agent and grocer and draper and several other things, seemed quite disappointed at being unable to formulate any other demands upon me, for he saw that I was in love with the house and would agree to anything and everything. I tried quietly to draw him on the subject of the occupants of the other house, Great Asperra, but he was not over communicative, and I only succeeded in learning that both houses and a good deal of the land round them belonged to "the Dunstans," and that Miss Dunstan lived there with a married sister, who was a widow with two children.

Ten days later I had settled down in my house of Little Asperra, and was married man has any right to feel.

PATRICIA DELANCOURT.

BY MORICE GERARD.

CHAPTER XXVII.—Continued.

The old man turned on his side and looked me full in the eyes. "You doubt me," he said; "I have been mad, but I am as sane now as you are. I am about to die. Before I die I wish to see that justice shall be done. I do not ask for vengeance. I ask for justice, at any rate, for my child. They have ruined my life—Geoffrey and Moresby. Moresby loved my wife. She died, but, before God, I believe she died true to me. They shut me up here." He shuddered. "It was there, at the maison, that, by accident, I stumbled upon the truth, the first clue to it all, the record of the death of Hugh Lassiter's first wife. The rest followed bit by bit. After many years I escaped. I went to England. I obtained certificates of the birth of Geoffrey, who was falsely registered as the true-born child of Hugh and Marjory Lassiter, and of the second marriage. Then I longed to see my child. She was not at Cheaveley. I was told she was at Moresby Castle. There was a great company that night. I inquired for 'Miss Delancourt.' I was told she was acting. I knew the old way through the disused part of the castle to the gallery of the great dining-hall. When I had seen her, I was very weary, and I think I got confused. I lay down in one of the old rooms. Moresby found me and brought me back here. But I am not to die in that horrible place, thank God!" All this had been said with laboured breath. The effort had quite exhausted him. After a pause he beckoned me to fetch his coat, which hung on a peg behind the door. He put his finger on the lining at a certain place. I felt it. There was, undoubtedly, something hard hidden away. It was clumsily sewn up, probably by Delancourt's own hand. In obedience to a sign from the old man I ripped up the stitches. Out fell the papers. Delancourt eyed them as a miser might his gold, and then looked to me to see the effect.

I opened them singly and read them. He was quite correct. The documents clearly swept away Geoffrey's right to the name of Lassiter, and to the inheritance of Cheaveley. In addition there were the proofs of Patricia's birth and descent.

"I believe you are a good man. Tell her I gave you these and I . . . give . . . her . . . to you. Be . . . good to . . . my . . . little girl . . . I am . . . dying."

I called out for help, and put my arm round the old man, supporting his head. Marthe was in the room in a second and administered a little champagne. Delancourt rallied for a while. Pere Gadeau came into the room and commenced the last office of his Church. I retired to the window and there knelt. I belonged to a different communion; but there is a fellowship of faith at moments like these which overrides and far transcends all external differences.

It was not until the night was waning into dawn of the day that I had arranged to go up to London, that Benoit Du Plessis Delancourt, the man of infinite misfortunes, breathed his last. He died with two words on his lips—"Justice"—"Dieu"—"God and justice." If there were not these two things in the world it would indeed be an empty place.

A steam-tug had been sent for and was already in the offing. It was to convey me to Southampton. I lay down for an hour or so.

It was in my mind whether I ought not to send to the nearest telegraph-office to prevent Patricia taking the part she had promised to do; but the whole affair was so complicated that it seemed impossible to express it within the limits of a telegram. She was to appear in the cause of charity, and on the whole I decided to leave it and to tell my own story.

The priest and his sturdy crew took me out to the little steamer. I had taken care that the men were well rewarded for all they had done on the night of the storm.

I wrung Pere Gadeau's hand at parting. "We shall be here on Monday," I said—"Patricia and I, and perhaps Patricia's friend, Mrs. Medhurst, if she can arrange to come. I suppose she will need her. It will be a strain on Marthe and on your hospitality, I am afraid."

"Not the least," replied Gadeau. "Marthe and I will be quite ready for you."

I hardly guessed as I stood and waved farewell on the deck of the steamer, how much was to happen in the brief space which was to intervene before I saw him again.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

THE SUCCESS—AND FAILURE OF PORTIA.

To Patricia it seemed as if a lifetime had passed during those days which she had spent at No. 5 Messiter Avenue. As she went up to dress for the part she was to play—she was to drive in her doctor's robes as Portia to the Hyperion—she could hardly believe that so short a time had intervened between those old days at Cheaveley and the present time. Geoffrey Lassiter (savage and determined); Lord Moresby (courteous, well-groomed, detestable), were unrealities. This was real, the broad, richly carpeted staircase, the suite of rooms with their mirrors and delicate hangings, the rumble of wheels on the pavement, the distant hum of busy thoroughfares. The faithful Amice met Patricia at the entrance to her dressing-room. She was to accompany her mistress to the theatre. Mrs. Medhurst was lying down with a sick headache, which enjoined quiet, and would take no denial. Matthew Hogan, who looked quite a different being in his London clothes, had assured Amice that he would be at the Hyperion to take care of them both.

When Patricia was dressed, an interval of half-an-hour still intervened before the carriage was to be at the door. She threw herself into a deep armchair in her bedroom, and covered her eyes with her fingers.

Amice looked at her with some anxiety. As a rule she knew and understood her mistress's every mood. To-night she felt mystified perplexed. Patricia baffled her.

"What is it, cherie? What is troubling you?"

Patricia did not reply directly. Then she withdrew her fingers slowly from her eyes, and looked up at Amice.

"I do not know. I thought, perhaps—he would have come by now. He said he hoped to be here."

"Perhaps the doctor would not let him travel, did not think him well enough."

"Then I think he would have sent me a telegram. He must know how I have longed for him to be here."

"Perhaps there has been a delay? He may go straight to the theatre."

CURRENT LITERATURE.

CHARLES V.

"The Emperor Charles V.," by Edward Armstrong (Macmillan and Co.), is a valuable contribution to the world's knowledge of the history of Europe in the first half of the sixteenth century. Mr. Armstrong, who has written informing books about "Elizabeth Farnese," "The French Wars of Religion," and "Lorenzo De Medici," is eminently qualified to describe for us the man who from his position—the position he was born to and the position to which he was elected—was the centre round which events moved. Charles V. would seem to have been inadequately fitted by nature and education to bear the great burden laid upon him. The sovereign of peoples speaking many languages, he could only express himself intelligently in one—and it is an instance of the irony of fate that this one was French, the language of his life-long opponents. Another instance of this irony is that Charles V., a devout son of the Roman Catholic Church, found himself pitted at various times against the Pope of the day, being impelled occasionally to use hard language about the occupant of the chair of St. Peter, and being more or less responsible for the terrible sack of Rome. He was required to fill a high place in times which were full of difficulty, when the Lutheran movement, for instance, was in active swing, and when it was a struggle between France and Germany—England standing by the while and holding the scales, or professing to do so—for supremacy in Europe. A lover of peace Charles was being constantly forced into war in one or other of his vast dominions. He gained victories and suffered defeats, and in either case he observed the fine stoicism of the Christian ruler who has done his best for the cause he deemed right. A strange thing is that all through his career Charles was pressed for money. His contemporaries could not believe that so great a Sovereign was at his wits' end to find the money for the next campaign. But so it was, and again and again throughout the two volumes which constitute this valuable history of the Emperor, we find him at a loss to proceed here or there because he has no money wherewith to pay his soldiers. In one sense the Emperor, with his kingships and his numerous lordships, was the most glittering figure of the first half of the sixteenth century; in another he was amongst the most pathetic. His victories cost him as much as his defeats, or more. He could not reform the Roman system, he could not destroy the Lutheran. He preached moderation to deaf ears, and has been held up, in reward, as a monster of cruelty. The truth is that the burden imposed upon him was too great for him to bear, and he himself acknowledged this when at the age of 55 he abdicated in favour of his son Philip. Mr. Armstrong gives us a clear and concise view of the many interests in which the Emperor was concerned, and his conclusion of the whole matter is that Charles V. was "not quite a great man, not quite a good man, but, all deductions made, an honourable Christian gentleman, striving, in spite of physical defects, moral temptations, and political impossibilities, to do his duty in that state of life to which an unkind Providence had called him."

JOHN RUSKIN.

Mr. Frederic Harrison leaves us in no doubt as to the point of view from which he writes on John Ruskin in Messrs. Macmillan and Co.'s new "English Men of Letters" series (copies of which reach us from the publishers and from Messrs. Angus and Robertson). After mentioning that for fifty years continuously Ruskin "wrote, lectured, and talked about mountains, rivers, and lakes; about cathedrals and landscapes; about geology; about minerals, architecture, painting, sculpture, music, drawing, political economy, education, poetry, literature, history, mythology, socialism, theology, morals," he goes on: "The author of more than eighty distinct works upon so miscellaneous a field, of masses of poetry, lectures, letters as well as substantial treatises, was of necessity rather a stimulus than an authority—an influence rather than a master. He is a moralist, an evangelist—not a philosopher or a man of science. But the union of marvellous literary power, with encyclopædic studies of Nature and of Art, both illumined with burning enthusiasm as to all things moral and social, combined to form one of the most fascinating personalities of the nineteenth century." This is eminently the safest and fairest standpoint to occupy, though it would smack of heterodoxy to those ardent admirers of Ruskin who looked upon all that he had done, not even excepting his essays in political economy, and found it to be very good. Mr. Harrison is well qualified to speak of John Ruskin. He knew him personally for over forty years; he was associated with him as teacher at the Working Men's College and as member of the Metaphysical Society. He could speak of "his beautiful nature and his really saintly virtues," of his "indomitable spirit," of his "brilliant and noble genius." But Mr. Harrison's love for Ruskin does not compel him to a blindness to his failures in method, and to the errors into which he was led by his enthusiasm. The result is a sympathetic study of the man and his work, removed on one side from the hysterics of some admirers, and on the other from the slighting sneers and worse which were perhaps but the manifestation of the natural rebound from dithyrambic eulogy. The book, viewed as biography or as criticism, is a valuable addition to literature.

IRRIGATION IN THE UNITED STATES.

Messrs. Angus and Robertson forward "Irrigation in the United States," by Frederick Haynes Newell, one of the most informing books that have yet been published on this subject. Irrigation is an important matter to the United States, where, as everybody knows, remarkable efforts have been made in different places to cope with the troubles caused by the irregularity of natural rainfall or by its unsatisfactory incidence. To us in Australia the problem is at least equally important. We want to strike a useful mean between the too much water that we get at irregular intervals and the too little water which has been productive of so much loss and distress. One of the advantages of the book before us is that it does not disdain to begin at the beginning. It tells in popular terms what irrigation is and how water may be obtained and distributed. Special reference is made too to what the author calls "the crude, but effective, home-made contrivances," and herein the book will be of use to settlers in Australia who are perhaps remote from centres of activity. There is much in the volume of simple and practical value.

THE LIVING RULERS OF MANKIND.

We receive the twelfth and last number of "The Living Rulers of Mankind," by the Rev. H. N. Hutchinson (George Allen). Here we have much interesting information about the rulers of Switzerland, Tibet, Turkey, the United States, Uruguay, Venezuela, and Zanzibar. For all political purposes we may leave out all but the Sultan of Turkey and the President of the United States. The Sultan is supposed to be an autocrat, and the President to be the mere executive officer of the Republic. But the President may exercise powers which the Sultan possesses only in name. The President of the United States—chief Republican amongst Republicans—may commit his country to an extent undreamt of in British chronicles since James II. was King. President Roosevelt exercises more individual power than any sovereign, hardly excepting the Czar of Russia. We have much here about the life of the President. Rough-rider, author, politician, Governor of a State, Mr. Roosevelt has done things which those of his own generation will not easily forget. Mr. Hutchinson has had regard for all these various activities, and the result is an excellent history of the man who fills so large a space in practical politics. In like manner the personality of the Sultan of Turkey is brought home to us, and the illustrations which plentifully accompany the letterpress are capitally done.

THE BLACK POLICE OF QUEENSLAND.

Under the attractive title of "The Black Police of Queensland" (John Murray) Mr. Edward B. Kennedy gives us reminiscences of his experiences in the early days of the State. These reminiscences, however, are not confined to the time in which the writer served in the police. He had a quick eye for whatever was going on out of the common, and his instinct enabled him to see the germs of an exciting experience in what appeared to be an uninteresting undertaking. In a pleasant, chatty way Mr. Kennedy tells us a deal about the society of the northern colony, and draws instructive parallels between the appearance of Brisbane in those days and now. He has much to say about the excellent qualities of the black police, especially in the matter of pursuing trails. Altogether the book forms a useful addition to the general information about Australia forty years or so ago.

THE COMMONWEALTH ANNUAL.

From Mr. A. C. Rowlandson (the New South Wales Bookstall Company) we receive the second number of "The Commonwealth Annual." Last year in commenting on the first number we pointed out that the publication was in every way a credit to all concerned—to the publisher, to the writers, and to the artists. The number now before us is an advance on its predecessor, and many a State older and better equipped than ours might well be proud of the literary and artistic value of this publication. The names of the authors who contribute to this number of "The Commonwealth Annual" are in themselves guarantee that no pains have been spared to emphasise and to encourage local talent. Amongst the writers are A. B. Paterson, Victor S. Daley, Steele Rudd, Will H. Ogilvie, Burton Dibbs, Henry Lawson, J. A. Barry, Ethel Turner, Walter Jeffery, and George Turner. The illustrations are also noteworthy, being from the hands of A. Collingridge, D. H. Souter, A. J. Fischer, and Fred Leist, amongst others. Altogether the second number of "The Commonwealth Annual" is an issue of which publisher and contributors may well be proud.

SOME STORIES.

"Three of Them," by Maxim Gorky (Unwin's Colonial Library), is another great contribution, through the medium of fiction, to the due understanding of the condition of the lower classes in Russia. A tone of deep sadness pervades the whole composition, and indeed it would appear at times that the author has particularly set himself to describe the life of the Russian people in the most sombre of colours. Maxim Gorky has himself known the burden of evil days and of poverty, and it is more than possible that he has allowed the bitterness of his memories to tinge his pictures. This, however, is not to detract from the vividness of his descriptions or from the interest of his story. With the people whom Gorky presents to us love is as fierce as hate and as strong as poverty. We have all the materials for a powerful story, and Maxim Gorky uses them with a giant's remorseless strength.

"From Behind the Arras," by Mrs. Philip Champion de Crespigny (Unwin's Colonial Library), brings us back to the early years of the eighteenth century, and to the delightful surroundings of love episodes in those days. Our heroine is one Alaine Victorine de St. Cenis, the daughter of a Frenchman of high nobility, married to a descendant of the Percys of Northumberland. Unhappily for our heroine her English blood forced her to interfere with the arrangements made for her disposal in life in accordance with the dictates of her father and his relations. The girl's father was assassinated, to add to the intricacy of the plot, but this is only to say bluntly what it takes our author many pages to describe. The love story which runs through "From Behind the Arras" is charming in its details, and the interest is well maintained to the end.

"Cattle-ranch to College," by Russell Doubleday (which comes to us from Messrs. Angus and Robertson), is said by the author to be a true tale of a boy's life in the West of the United States a quarter of a century ago. The matter of its truth or falsehood little concerns the reading public, which is more concerned with the readableness of stories than with the ability of authors to quote chapter and verse for their statements. The book is a capital story of adventure well told.

We are introduced into high company in "Jan van Elselo," by Gilbert and Marion Coleridge (Macmillan's Colonial Library). It is in the Paris of the middle of the sixteenth century that the story opens, and it is to Henri II. of France that we are introduced in the first chapter. William of Orange is there too, and we hear about Philip II. of Spain, about Coligny, and the Duke of Alva. There is much of high politics in this story, much of the intrigues of Kings and statesmen. Little events are made to turn the course of mighty movements, and the valour and readiness of individuals serve to upset the crafty devices of men in power. But however things go, the love story of Jan and Dorotea reaches its pleasant climax.

"The Lion's Brood," by Duffield Osborne (Angus and Robertson), is a vivid story of Rome in the old days when the growing republic was threatened by Carthage. The news of the defeat at Lake Trasimene had trickled through when the narrative opens, and amongst the persons of the drama are the protagonists of the strife on both sides.

In "The Hole in the Wall," a copy of which is supplied by Messrs. George Robertson and Co., Mr. Arthur Morrison has done decidedly his best work hitherto. The action centres round a disreputable public house in one of the most villainous quarters of the London of a quarter of a century ago. "The Hole in the Wall" is kept by Nathaniel Kemp, retired seaman, still a smuggler and a receiver of stolen property. The course of his life is changed by the arrival of a little grandson whose mother has died and whose father is first officer on a "coffin ship." The boy winds himself round the old man's heart, and one by one the evil habits are abandoned. Rough characters, drunken sailors, and the harpies who prey on them, frequent "The Hole in the Wall," but the boy's innocence and love make it easy for him to see nothing but good in the fierce old publican who rules them with a rod of iron. Startling episodes abound in the book, not excepting murder; but the most powerful of them all is the revenge which Blind George takes on his enemy. There is also much fine humour in the book; Mr. Cripps, especially, the artist, being a delightful personage.

"Paul Kelver," copies of which come to us from Mr. E. W. Cole and from Messrs George Robertson and Co., is the long novel which has for so long been expected from Mr. Jerome K. Jerome. Some readers have steadily refused to see anything in Mr. Jerome but the possession of a somewhat thin vein of humour of the kind which made the success of "Three Men in a Boat." Mr. Jerome has protested, but to no purpose, and "Paul Kelver" is his latest answer to his unfriendly critics. This would seem to be mainly autobiographical. The hero is a young man who from his boyhood up was obsessed by a reputation for being funny. His own opinion was that he shone most in tragedy, and when he grew older he persistently gave the public tears when laughter was required of him. His adventures are not particularly interesting, and the value of the book lies in the development of the hero's character. On the whole, Mr. Jerome may claim that his Paul Kelver is reminiscent of Dickens in certain moods.

"The Highway of Fate," by Rosa Nouchette Carey (Macmillan's Colonial Library), is the pleasant story of the lives and the love of Douglas Hilton and Eunice Cleveland. Eunice has taken the position of companion to an eccentric maiden lady, Miss Jemima Durnford, who treats her with the utmost consideration. Hard by lives Douglas, with his sister Lilian, and a strong friendship, that soon develops into a stronger feeling, is established between the two. Circumstances which first favoured the lovers turn against them, but finally all difficulties vanish. There is a love episode also between Miss Durnford and one Keefe Desmond, which has a touch of pathos about it.

"In King's Byways" is the title given to a series of short stories by Mr. Stanley T. Weyman. The scene of each is laid in France, in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, and there is one story which has to do with the French Revolution. Mr. Weyman is at his best when he describes the stirring times of the Guises and the adventures of Henry of Navarre. He has acquired strange information in various quarters and uses it with his customary art. Our copy comes from Messrs. George Robertson and Co.

UNIVERSITY LIFE FOR WOMEN.

"Send girls to the University? Nonsense, let them stay at home and mind their seam, what do girls want with all that education?" How often do we hear that same old argument, if you can by any stretch of courtesy call it an argument. Wherein is an untrained mind better than a trained one. Why is a woman who can read Greek thereby rendered incapable of doing a plain seam? Can it be that the female mind is unable to take in two things at the same time? Yet it is possible, nay even probable, that an educated woman could for the moment forget her Greek and devote her whole attention to that all-important seam. I wonder why it is nearly always against the Greek language that the anathemas are launched. It seems an innocent enough occupation; and yet people have been heard to say they would rather see their girls dead than learning Greek. And we might go on asking why till the end of time and never get any more satisfactory answer than that of the lady in the American book—"'Tis because 'tis and it can't be any 'tiser." The world is too full to have room for any save the best trained and the best equipped for the battle of life, and the need of university education is already conceded to girls who hope to make their way in the teaching, medical, and other professions. Their battle is already won; it is not with them we have to do now. But there is a large proportion of girls who in all probability will never have to go out into the world to earn their own bread and butter. For them no less than for their poorer sisters is a university education a good thing. The welfare of a community depends very largely, I had almost said entirely, on the attitude and point of view of its leisured classes. Society is not a human institution; it is an unconscious growth. We can no more conjure up a state of society—society in its best sense—by a wave of the hand in our day, than the first Napoleon could create a court of the old style, though resolved that it should be the richest and most magnificent in Europe. It is impossible to exaggerate the influence that one rank of society has on those below it. What is fashionable in the highest rank to-day will be fashionable in the second rank to-morrow, and the smaller the community the sooner will the influence permeate. The indirect power of the upper classes is beyond all possibility of reckoning. If they choose to disregard the duties their position entails upon them, if they choose to consider that it is a case of every man for himself, to do or leave undone according to his own will and pleasure, and to hold himself responsible to no one, let them not be surprised to find the same doctrine adopted by those who are in positions inferior to themselves. Society depends so largely on its women; let us have plenty of cultured, right-thinking honourable women, we cannot have too many. There is so much energy available on all sides, often sadly wasted or misapplied for lack of the requisite training to direct its operations. There is so much to be done if only people knew how to set about it in the right way. What does it matter though the education we advocate is never to be put into the market and sold for a price? This is a strangely utilitarian age which cannot appreciate anything save by its market value. But, unfortunately, or fortunately, the things that matter most in this world have no market value, the gifts of the gods are not to be bought with money. Why should it be regarded as a convincing argument against any course of action that it is not possible to turn it at once into pounds, shillings, and pence? The world would be a dreary place if these disciples of utilitarianism had their way. Think what would be left if all that is not "absolutely necessary and of immediate use" were to be swept away. These are the people who would fain turn our universities into advanced technical schools, to whom the great works of the past are but clogs on the possibilities of the future. What a dreary vista of facts, hard facts, unredeemed by any light of imagination does their scheme of education unfold before us. And when they have surrounded themselves with their ideal creation, it will gradually dawn upon them that they are like the people who made the perfect figure of a man, but could not give it life. They have forgotten the only thing that matters. Let us beware that we do not follow their example. If we must choose between facts and imagination, let us by all means have imagination. The facts will always be able to look after themselves. Even so practical a person as the Colonial Secretary tells us that "sentiment rules the world." To paraphrase the familiar saying "Let me but dream a nation's dreams. I care not who puts them into practice." The dreams are the only thing that matters. All the deeds we have most cause to be proud of in the history of our country are but the realisation of somebody's dreams, all that we have most reason to blush for are what we did when we forgot our dreams, and let the dust of self-seeking and expediency obscure the clear light from the mountain tops. Empire builders, artists, poets, statesmen, all are alike dreamers. Let us give our women a chance to become dreamers too.

But of what avail to mankind is the dream that is a baseless fabric, a counsel of impossible perfection, not reared on the broad foundation of reason, understanding, and knowledge of human nature? Such dreams lead only to bitter disappointment and disillusionment and to sad waste of material that might have played a useful part in some less ambitious scheme of creation. It is this reason, understanding, and knowledge of human nature that a university education should help to give to its students. Far be it from me to say that all these advantages will make us better women or better fitted to fill a useful place in the world than our mothers or grandmothers before us; but the world is not standing still. Rightly or wrongly, the circumstances of girls' education are changing too; the system is becoming entirely different. By no possible stretch of imagination can a girl now be said to have finished her education at the age of 18 or 19. The subjects she is taught and the way in which she learns them are only intended to form a foundation for a broader education to follow. The logical ending of our latter-day education is the university.

Take the case of the average girl who leaves school at 18 or 19, possibly earlier. What chance has she had of gaining that wider knowledge and understanding which alone will fit her to take that place in the world which lies open for educated women to fill? Exceptional cases there are beyond doubt. Girls whose natural abilities will compel them to seek the higher learning for themselves. Girls whose circumstances place them at once in a position where they must develop their own characters and buy their own experience. But these are the exceptions. It is with the average that we are concerned. The average girl returns home to find the space there already sufficiently occupied by her mother and possibly a sister or two. Almost of necessity she must fall into their way and has no further chance of finding her level unless she marries and has her own house. This is hard both on the clever and the not clever. On the clever girl because the success she has achieved in the little world of school gives her an entirely false estimate of her own powers, which she has had no opportunity of trying in a sterner contest. On the girl who is not so clever (which often only means that she develops later), because what she has already done is regarded as the measure of what she can do.

The actual learning and examinations are but a small part of the true university education. It is the association, the society, the interchange of ideas, the knowledge of human nature that makes its value at the time when we are shaping the course of our whole future life. A university is but half a university without its residential colleges as an integral part of itself. Cecil Rhodes understood that when he left his bequests to Oxford, because it enforced residence. The Universities of Sydney and Melbourne know it, for they have residential colleges within their bounds. The Scottish Universities realise it as far as their circumstances allow by the foundation of students' unions. Nothing save close association in a time of common interests will give birth to that esprit de corps, that love of a common cause, without which no people or nation can hope to carry out their share of the world's work. Women are not merely individuals: they are not fighting each for her own hand. Why should they not have the advantages which will enable them to contribute all their forces to the common weal instead of wasting them in combating obstacles which only they have to encounter?

WARRINGAH LIBERAL ASSOCIATION.

A preliminary meeting of gentlemen was convened by Mr. W. H. Fletcher at Manly on Thursday for the purpose of considering the formation of a Manly branch of the association. Mr. Halston, of North Sydney, explained the objects of the association and what it has done in North Sydney, Mosman, and other parts of the Warringah Electorate. It was resolved to hold a public meeting at an early date, to invite public men to speak, and to take the opinions of the Manly electors upon the question of forming the branch. Mr. A. E. Kewin was appointed secretary pro tem.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC NOTES.

Edmond Rostand, the great author of "Cyrano de Bergerac," the poetic drama to be produced for the first time in Sydney to-night, is himself the son of a poet, and, a strange fact with such parentage, at his birth he inherited rich estates. Eugene Rostand, the father, published several volumes of verse, "Ebauches" and "Poesies Simples," and his translations of Catullus were rewarded by the French Academy. Edmond Rostand's first poetic play, "Les Pierrots," was read before the committee of the Comedie Francaise when the young author was only 23 years of age, and though Claretie, the director, approved of it, it was ultimately refused. His next effort was "Les Romanesques," a piece of light and airy comedy, "sheer badinage," as he himself expressed it, and this was accepted at once. However, the committee laid it aside for three weary years, during which young Rostand began to work upon "La Princesse Lointaine." Here a pause may be made to describe Edmond Rostand's method of work. In a French journal he declares that he has none. It all depends upon his health, and as he suffers from neurasthenia for weeks together he is never very strong. He states that he reads Shakespeare constantly, that he also loves Hugo and Lamartine, and that, intellectually, he owes something to all three. Whilst thus studying and nursing himself he suddenly heard that "Les Romanesques" was in rehearsal, and the very next day he read "La Princesse Lointaine" to Sara Bernhardt at the Français. The critics were not quite favourable to "The Princess," because they expected to find in it the vein of humour which had so delighted them in "Les Romanesques;" but nevertheless the drama proved an immense success. Then came "Cyrano de Bergerac." Ever since his schoolboy days in his native town of Marseilles, Rostand had read and re-read all that he could find of the life of his favourite hero. He continued to fill his head with historical notes about the swordsman-author, occasionally wrote a few verses about him, and when at last he began to frame the action of his drama had much of the dialogue ready. Instead of taking the piece to the Comedie Francaise, after much thought he handed it to Coquelin for the Porte Saint Martin, where it ran for more than 300 nights. Then he had another gigantic success with "L'Aiglon," in which Sara Bernhardt so wonderfully realised the features and the "maladive grace" of the unhappy son of Napoleon and Marie Louise. Rostand declares that "no man could possibly look the part of the youthful Duc de Reichstadt as Sara looks it." The part was played in America with his approval by Miss Maud Adams. Rostand has also written "Les Samaritaines," and this completes the short list of his important stage works. In appearance the great French author has brilliant dark eyes and a lofty forehead. Though young he is very bald. His dark moustache is carefully curled up at the ends, and he has all the superficial characteristics of an exquisite and a man of fashion. He lives very quietly with his wife and children in a luxuriously furnished house in the suburbs of Paris and does not trouble about Society. Such are the characteristics of the author of "Cyrano de Bergerac," the first presentation of which is announced for this evening at the Palace Theatre.

Theatrical matters are now in full swing in London, where the autumn season has already witnessed several big productions. The fact that Mr. Bland Holt has just purchased by cable the new Drury Lane drama, "The Best of Friends," again by Mr. Cecil Raleigh, gives interest to the press descriptions of it. The dialogue was pronounced "slow in places," but that fact does not concern Australian playgoers. When the London critics ventured to make that remark, "The Best of Friends" was lasting from 7.15 until after midnight. Mr. Raleigh will himself cut down and polish his dialogue so as to save about 40 minutes, and when the script reaches Sydney Mr. Bland Holt will cut out another 40 minutes of superfluous talk, with the result that the Australian "first night" will at any rate escape the worst faults of the London one. The first night at Old Drury, in spite of its length, was declared highly enjoyable. "The World" remarks:—"In point of picturesqueness, 'The Best of Friends' at Drury Lane certainly compares well with any of its predecessors. The terrace of the ducal castle, the yeomanry supper, and the market square at Johannesburg are all brilliant and animated scenes, the last in particular being unusually plausible and lifelike. The surrender of 'The Last Commando' is so cleverly put on the stage as to be almost poetic; and the final scene, representing the gallery of the hippodrome, is a veritable triumph of realism, even more remarkable than the music-hall and the House of Commons of bygone years." Mrs. John Woods, as Rosabella Newkes, the Parrot Queen, Messrs. Sydney Valentine (Boer Commandant), C. M. Lowne (Duke of Richmond), Reeves Smith, Herbert Standing, and Conway Tearle played the chief characters. Mr. Henry Arthur Jones's new play "Chance, the Idol" has failed at Wyndham's Theatre. The subject is unpleasant, and the reviews are so unanimously unfavourable that it is evidently poor stuff. Mr. Louis Bradfield, whose Captain Coddington in "In Town" made him so popular here, is playing in comedy at the Apollo Theatre, where Mr. Gilbert Doyle's new play, "What Would a Gentleman Do?" has made quite a hit. Mr. Bradfield has an important part as a self-made Australian in love with the heroine (Miss Nina Boucicault). The "Westminster Gazette" observes:—"Dickie, as played by Mr. W. Louis Bradfield, is an admirable study of a good-hearted vulgarian, proud of having rubbed the corners off; a little too farcical, perhaps, in his exaggerated vulgarity and his references to a pocket-book on 'Manners for Men'; but his declaration of love to Madge is a delicious piece of pure comedy. In the second act Dickie's first step is to explain to Madge, again in a scene of delightful humour, that he made a mistake and wants to be released; and the melodrama comes in when a casual visitor, himself from Australia, is about to reveal something against Sir Christopher by the expedient of telling a story and showing the villain's photograph, and Dickie seizes the photograph before Madge can see that it is Sir Christopher, and takes all the blame upon himself."

Writing by the last mail to Mr. J. C. Williamson from France Miss Grace Palotta remarks that "so far the scenery does not compare with Australia." This observation does not bear upon the comparative landscape beauty of the two countries, but purely upon matters theatrical. After spending some weeks with her mother at Lucerne, the vivacious Viennese actress visited Geneva, and at the end of September was "doing the theatres" in Paris. Miss Palotta had just seen the new comic opera "Madame la Presidente," which she found far too long, and with very little plot, whilst the merits of the music were not so excessive as to cause her to recommend Mr. Williamson to purchase the work. The chorus and stage appointments were pronounced inferior to our Royal Comic Opera, but "all the principals knew how to sing, even when they had little voice." Miss Palotta proposed penetrating still further into the regions of Parisian stageland before her return to London. From that metropolis comes news of the great success of "The Marriage of Kitty," in which Miss Marie Tempest is appearing. Mr. J. A. E. Malone informs Mr. Williamson that he has just purchased for him the Australian rights of the new comedy.

Mr. Alex. Downs, of this city, writes from Europe to the effect that Mr. Warwick Gaynor died in the Roosevelt Hospital, New York, a little while back. Operagoers will remember this singer as for several years principal baritone here of the Montague-Turner Opera Company. He was a man of great stature and strong physique, with a very dark, handsome face, and a profusion of black hair, and had a large, musical baritone voice, with a tremolo. Although born at the Antipodes, the late Mr. Gaynor, whose name has also been spelt "Gainor," and in the United States "Ganor," was educated chiefly in Germany, and then studied singing for three years at Milan. His decision to leave Sydney was entirely to his advantage, as he was not well suited to the concert platform. He sailed for America at the end of 1891, and almost at once secured a year's engagement with Colonel Mapleson's company, with Signor Campanini as tenor and Signor Tomassi as bass—both artists of considerable note. From that time on, Mr. Gaynor has sung continuously with nearly all the best English grand opera companies in America. With Hinrich's famous combination he created (for America) the baritone role in English of Puccini's opera, "Manon Lescaut," and he did other good work during his American career.

In Melbourne Mr. Frank Thornton closed his season at the Princess Theatre with a performance of "The Private Secretary," and this evening Mr. George Musgrove produces "The Sorrows of Satan," with Mr. Harcourt Beatty as the Sad One. "The Toreador" will form the Cup week attraction at Her Majesty's Theatre, and the Hawtrey Company will play "In the Soup" at the Bijou. Miss Maggie Moore closed her season at the Theatre Royal with an amusing farce, "The Widow from Japan," and this evening Mr. W. Anderson's Dramatic Company returns there with "The Favourite." Cinquevalli is appearing under Mr. Rickards' management at the Opera House.

KUTNOW'S POWDER.

A PERFECT REMEDY FOR CONSTIPATION, DERANGEMENTS OF THE STOMACH, LIVER, AND KIDNEYS, INFLUENZA, RHEUMATISM, GOUT, LUMBAGO, AND URIC ACID TROUBLES.

IRRESISTIBLE EVIDENCE.

"THE MEDICAL JOURNAL," Dec., 1901, says:

"Lithemic or uric acid storms manifest themselves very disagreeably in severe nose and throat affections and colds in the winter seasons. Most of these troubles can be traced to disorders of digestion, assimilation, secretion, excretion, and elimination.

If our food be properly digested and the adipose matter promptly eliminated, there would be by far fewer cases of colds and coughs. The kidneys, the liver, and in fact all organs of the abdominal cavity have to be kept in good working order, like the mechanism of a good clock, therefore the main object of the physician is to keep the inner organs free from all toxicants produced by faulty metabolism.

Nothing is so highly recommended for that purpose and unanimously endorsed and prescribed by the medical authorities of the present age as Kutnow's Powder, of which the late Sir Morell Mackenzie, in his decisive and positive mode of expressing his opinions, wrote: "I have tried it, and find that it answers particularly well.""

DOCTORS PRESCRIBE IT.

"Knock Ennis, co. Clare, Ireland, 10th May, 1902.

"Sirs,—Having recently got from you a bottle of Kutnow's Powder . . . from which I personally derived much benefit, will you now kindly send me a larger supply . . . as I really feel unsatisfied without it myself, and I have recommended it to several lady patients, who approve of it greatly. An aged clergyman to whom I recommended Kutnow's Powder tells me 'he finds it both effective and agreeable.'—Yours faithfully,

"J. BOND SULLIVAN, M.D., M.R.C.S., Eng., &c."

"Holm, Kirkwall, Nov. 2, 1901.

"Dear Sirs,—I always use and prescribe Kutnow's Powder, and could not get on without it.—Yours truly,

"D. M'NEIL, M.D."

HOSPITALS USE IT.

Kutnow's Powder is used in all the principal Hospitals throughout the world, including—

The Field Hospitals in South Africa
Princess of Wales' Hospital Ship
Princess Christian's Hospital
The American Hospital Ship "Maine"
The Portland Hospital Ship
The Langman Hospital.

"9 Harleyford-street, the Oval, Kennington, S.E., 21st Oct., 1901.

"Have tried the Kutnow Powder for Indigestion, and found great relief. Please forward a bottle. Enclosed find postal order. I shall always keep a bottle in hand, and shall recommend the Powder to patients and friends for whom I think it suitable.

"NURSE BESSIE."

CLERGY RECOMMEND IT.

"49 Grange-street, Clayton-le-Moors, near Accrington. Oct. 1st, 1901.

"Dear Sirs,—Have much pleasure in acknowledging receipt of bottle of Kutnow's Powder, and I beg at the same time to give my testimony as to its efficiency and value. It has in each case (when used by me) given me material relief from acute Indigestion. "I am, dear Sirs, yours truly,

"(Rev.) JAS. WRIGHT, Primitive Meth. Minister."

"Addingham Vicarage, Langwathby, Cumberland, April 8, 1901.

"Dear Sirs,—I am much obliged for the bottle of Kutnow's Powder. I consider it an excellent remedy for the liver and kidneys. It has the best advantage of being pleasant to take.—Yours faithfully,

"(Rev.) T. W. STEPHENSON, Vicar."

ALL MANKIND BENEFIT BY IT.

"Lynton Dene, Liphook, Hants.

"I have to thank you for kindly sending me bottle of your Kutnow's Powder, which I have used and am glad to say have certainly derived benefit from it, and shall continue its use, as it is by far the best gentle aperient and anti-acid I have ever used.—Yours truly,

"A. H. McNAB (Major)."

"Anglesey Abbey, Lode, Cambridge, Jan. 6, 1902.

"Sirs.—I have no objection to you using my name in saying my parlourmaid was suffering from indigestion, and I gave her your Kutnow's Powder, which at once relieved her, and she says did her much good; so that now I am sending for another bottle of the same to keep by me for any member of my family's use. Enclosed Postal Order, as requested, to include postage.—Faithfully yours,

"CATHERINE CLARK."

can be obtained in capsuled bottles from all Chemists and Medicine Vendors.

Kutnow's Powder is a tried and proved remedy of great medicinal, curative, and invigorating value. IMITATIONS are simply drastic purgatives, and not only useless but injurious.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

See that the name KUTNOW is printed on each Carton in which the bottle is packed. Only such ensure genuineness.

THERE ARE FRAUDULENT IMITATIONS.

THE LEADING AND BEST KNOWN HOUSE THROUGHOUT RIVERINA.

TO BE LET ON LEASE FOR 10 YEARS.

TENDERS are invited by the undersigned, under instructions from the Executors in the Estate of the late Mr Charles Schmiedt, for the PURCHASE of the

FURNITURE, LEASE, and GOODWILL

of the above universally known hostelry. It is needless to comment on the extraordinary trade which this house has always commanded since it was built by the late Mr. Schmiedt, as it is a fact of which every visitor to Albury, as well as every resident, is cognisant. The Legatees, not being desirous of continuing the business, the Executors have placed it in our hands for competition by tender. The Hotel is replete with every comfort, and contains Double Bar, large Dining Rooms on both floors, Commercial Room, Billiard Room, 5 Sitting Rooms, Private Parlours, 23 Bedrooms, 8 Sample Rooms, Office, Servants' Rooms, Groom's Room, Kitchen, Crockery Pantry, Storeroom, Laundry, H. and C. Baths, large 4-roomed Cellar, Loose Boxes, and Extensive Buggy Sheds. The Hotel stands on land having a frontage of 80ft. to Dean-street (the main street of Albury) by a depth of 117ft. to a lane and frontage of 66ft. to Kiewa-street by a depth of 5 chains. The Lease will be for 10 years, at a rental of £10 per week, with a present let-off of £2. Tenderers to state lump sum they are prepared to give for Lease, Furniture, Goodwill, and Balance of License. Stock to be taken at invoice prices. Ten per cent. deposit on the amount offered must accompany each tender, which will be received by the undersigned up to MONDAY, 1st December next. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Contract and terms of lease can be inspected at the office of the Executors' Solicitors, Messrs. BELBRIDGE and NAGLE, Albury.

Orders to inspect can be obtained at our office, Dean-street.

HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE,

THE FAMOUS REMEDY FOR

COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION,

HAS THE LARGEST SALE OF ANY CHEST MEDICINE IN AUSTRALIA.

Those who have taken this medicine are amazed at its wonderful influence. Sufferers from any form of Bronchitis, Cough, Difficulty of Breathing, Hoarseness, Pain or Soreness in the Chest, experience delightful and immediate relief, and to those who are subject to Colds on the Chest it is invaluable, as it effects a Complete Cure. It is most comforting in allaying irritation in the throat, and giving strength to the voice, and it neither allows a Cough nor Asthma to become chronic, nor consumption to develop. Consumption has never been known to exist where "coughs" have been properly treated with this medicine. No house should be without it, as, taken at the beginning, a dose is generally sufficient, and a complete cure is certain.

BEWARE OF COUGHS!! Remember! that every disease has its commencement, and Consumption is No Exception to this Rule.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS:—

"I used your Bronchitis Cure for three of my family, and it cured each of them in from one to three doses." "P. F. MULLINS, Cowie's Creek, Victoria."

"Your Bronchitis Cure relieved my son wonderfully quick. I only gave him four doses, and have some of the medicine yet; but am sending for another bottle in case I should want it." "D. M'DONALD, Trinkey, via Quirindi, N.S.W."

"Your Bronchitis Cure is a wonderful medicine." "A. B. SIMMONS, No. 7 Renny-street, Paddington, Sydney."

"My wife is 82 years old and I am 79, and I am glad to inform you that your Bronchitis Cure has done us both a wonderful deal of good, it having quickly cured us both." "R. BASSETT, Strath Creek, via Broadford, Victoria."

"I have used one bottle of your Bronchitis Cure with great benefit to myself, as the smothering has completely left me." "(Mrs.) JOHN RAHILLY, Glenmaggie, Victoria."

"I have found your Bronchitis Cure a splendid medicine." "JOHN MADDEN, Skipton, Victoria."

"I have now finished the Bronchitis Cure you sent, and am amazed at what it has done in the time. The difficulty of breathing has all gone." "J. HARRINGTON, Morundah, Bingegong, N.S.W."

"My cold, bad as it was, disappeared after two doses." "C. J. CURRIE, Solicitor, Victoria-chambers, Queen-street, Melbourne."

"I lately administered some of your Bronchitis Cure to a son of mine with splendid effect. The cure was absolutely miraculous." "F. A. PACKER, Quiera, Neutral Bay, Sydney, N.S.W."

"Your Bronchitis Cure, as usual, acted splendidly." "C. H. RADFORD, Casterton, Victoria."

"Kindly forward another bottle of your famous Bronchitis Cure without delay, as I find it to be a most valuable medicine." "(Mrs.) J. SLATER, Warragul, Victoria."

"I am very pleased with your Bronchitis Cure. The result was marvellous. It eased me right off at once." "G. SEYTER, Bourke, N.S.W."

"Your medicine for Asthma is worth one pound a bottle." "W. LETTS, Heywood, Victoria."

"I have tried lots of medicine, but yours is the best I ever had. I am recommending it to everybody." "S. STEELE, Yanko Siding, N.S.W."

"I suffered from Chronic Asthma and Bronchitis, for which I obtained no relief until I tried your medicine, but I can truly say that I am astounded at my present freedom, as a direct result of my brief trial." "JOHN C. TRELAWNEY, Severn River, via Inverell, N.S.W."

"Last year I suffered severely from Bronchitis, and the doctor, to whom I paid seven guineas, did not do me any good; but I heard of your Bronchitis Cure, and two bottles of it made me quite well." "H. WOOD, Brooklands, Avoca-street, South Yarra, Melbourne."

"Please send me half a dozen of your Bronchitis Cure. This medicine cured me in the winter, and has now cured a friend of mine of a very bad Bronchitis." "A. ALLEN, Ozone House, Lorne, Victoria."

"Your Bronchitis Cure has done me great good. This is a new experience, for all the medicine I previously took made me much worse. I am satisfied that the two bottles of Bronchitis Cure I got from you have pulled me through a long and dangerous illness." "HENRY WURLOD, Alma, near Maryborough, Victoria."

"The bottle of Bronchitis Cure I got from you was magical in its effects." "CHAS. WHYBROW, Enoch's Point, via Darlingford, Victoria."

A LADY IN LONDON.

A MARTYR TO COLDS AND BRONCHIAL ASTHMA.

CURED BY ONE BOTTLE OF HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE.

THE DOCTOR SO INTERESTED THAT HE CARRIED OFF THE EMPTY BOTTLE.

Mr. Hearne. Orange, N.S.W.

Dear Sir,—I enclose for your own private perusal portion of a letter received from my mother, Mrs. ——, of London, England, from which you will glean that your medicine has been a perfect godsend to a martyr to colds and bronchial asthma. I do not wish any names to be mentioned, but you are at liberty to make use of any portion of this letter you choose, and you can confidently refer anybody to me. I heard of your excellent remedy, and sent it to England. You can see for yourself what an immense success it was. Yours faithfully,——

Extract from letter alluded to above:—

"You will be interested in hearing that I think the Bronchitis Cure really excellent. I was very bad when it arrived, and I immediately flew to it. That was last Friday, and it has quite cured me. Dr. —— is very much interested in it. He came yesterday, and carried off the empty bottle to find out if he could get a full one from a chemist who is in a large way here."

The names are withheld from publication, but will be supplied privately when desired.

AGONISING COUGH.

NINE MONTHS' TORTURE.

RELIEVED BY ONE DOSE OF HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE, AND CURED BY TWO BOTTLES.

Dergholm, Vict.

Dear Sir,—I wish to add my testimony to the wonderful effect of your Bronchitis Cure. I suffered for nine months, and the cough was so distressingly bad at nights I was obliged to get up and sit by the fire. I had medical advice, and tried other "remedies," without avail. I tried yours, and never had a fit of coughing after taking the first dose, and though I have had but two bottles I feel I am a different man, and the cough has vanished. You may depend upon my making known the efficacy of your wonderful remedy to anyone I see afflicted.

Yours faithfully,
JAMES ASTBURY.

We, the undersigned, have had occasion to obtain Hearne's Bronchitis Cure, and we certify that it was perfectly and rapidly successful under circumstances which undoubtedly prove its distinct healing power. Signed by the Rev. JOHN SINCLAIR, Myers-street, Geelong, and fifty-nine other leading residents.

A FIVE YEARS' CASE.

CURED BY ONE SMALL BOTTLE.

Mr. W. G. Hearne.—Dear Sir,—Kindly send me one large bottle of your Bronchitis Cure. I am more than pleased with the results of your wonderful medicine, as a small bottle cured my little girl, who had been suffering for five years, and now I do not feel safe to be without it. I remain,

Yours respectfully,
AGNES F. KENNEDY,
Bethanga, Victoria.

BRONCHITIS AND ASTHMA.

SUFFERED SEVEN YEARS.

EXPECTORATING BLOOD AND MATTER.

COMPLETELY CURED.

Mr. W. G. Hearne.

Dear Sir,—Your medicine has cured me of bronchitis and asthma, from which I suffered for upwards of seven years, during which period I was scarcely ever free from coughs, and frequently the difficulty of breathing was so distressing that for nights in succession I had to sit up. I write you this acknowledgment from a sense of duty, as in my case every other treatment had failed. For a year previous I had been getting very much worse, and at the time I obtained your medicine I was confined to bed suffering from a most violent cough, expectorating blood and matter, and apparently beyond hope of recovery. The first dose of the medicine gave me welcome relief, and I steadily improved as I continued the treatment, until I became, as I am now, quite well.—Yours sincerely,

H. WALKER, Balmain, Sydney.

ASTHMA.

PREVIOUS TREATMENT FAILED.

A 17 YEARS' CASE.

CURED BY THREE BOTTLES.

Mr. Alex. J. Anderson, of Oak Park, Charleville, Queensland, writes:—"After suffering from Asthma for 17 years, and having been under a great many different treatments without benefit, I was induced to try Hearne's Medicine for Asthma. After taking three bottles of this medicine I quite got rid of the Asthma, and since then, which was in the beginning of 1883—15 years ago—I have not had the slightest return of it. The medicine quite cured me, and I have much pleasure in recommending it."

Writing again on the 4th April, 1899, he states:—"I am keeping very well now. Never have the slightest return of the Asthma."

LIFE IN LONDON AND THEREABOUT.

(CHRONICLED BY HENRY W. LUCY.)

The King's House Parties—The Premier and the Welsh members—The Plague in Egypt—A Costly Gown—High Sheriffs—An Old Parliament Man.

WESTMINSTER, Sept. 25.

Whilst his Majesty was still Prince of Wales there was in a minor way no position pleasing him better than that of host or guest at well-appointed tables. He dined out much oftener than he entertained. His habit was to propose himself to one of his friends, who spent much care and thought in getting together the sort of company that would please the Prince. In this matter H.R.H.'s taste had wide range. He did not specially care for noble birth or high social position. If a man were clever in his own profession, whatever it might be, and if he could add to the gaiety of the dinner table, it sufficed. The list of proposed guests was of course always submitted in advance. On such occasions, whilst none forgot the position of the principal guest, there was total absence of formality or restraint, a condition obviously essential to the success of the enterprise.

Now that the heir has come to the Throne he dines out much less and entertains more frequently. The papers daily recall the names of the house party at Balmoral, an interesting and enlightening catalogue. There is a touch of humour in including in one list Lord Rosebery and Mr. Winston Churchill. Those familiar with the young member for Oldham will imagine how he will boss the show, teaching an ex-Premier his business in politics, possibly dropping hints of how even higher matters might be improved "if I were King." Just now Mr Andrew Carnegie is a guest at Balmoral, another gentleman by no means disinclined personally to conduct conversation at the dinner table. Of a totally different type, illustrating the cosmopolitan taste alluded to, were the immediate predecessors of the politicians—Sir George White, the hero of Ladysmith, and Sir Ian Hamilton, the Ney of the British army. These two lived together, and fought shoulder to shoulder through the siege of Ladysmith. One thinks with marvel and admiration of the slight, almost frail-looking figure of Ian Hamilton in the fearsome melee in the trenches, when the Boers made their final attack, throughout which victory long fluttered between the two standards. Ian Hamilton, in the thickest of the fight, was sorely handicapped by result of an earlier incident in the Transvaal war. He was at Majuba, where a bullet wound crippled his right hand. He was, nevertheless, able to use it with deadly effect in the trenches at Ladysmith.

Another interesting guest at Balmoral this week has been the financial adviser of the Egyptian Government. The steady advance of Sir John Gorst's eldest son, culminating in the bestowal of a knighthood of the Bath, led to some embarrassment in the domestic circle. Receiving at the baptismal font the name of John Lowndes, he was at home and among his friends commonly called Jack. This was well enough as long as he remained untitled. But the prospect of there being two Sir John Gorsts, father and son, promised embarrassment far outside the family circle. A council was called, and it was resolved that the new Knight should be known as Sir Lowndes Gorst, and "Sir Lowndes" he rose, having received the accolade from the hands of the King. The new K.C.B. (a New Zealander by the way) is only in his 41st year, and may be counted on to go far. He has already gone a step beyond his brilliant father, who was never honoured by an invitation from the Sovereign to dine and sleep at Balmoral.

It is characteristic of Mr. Arthur Balfour's peculiar personal relations with the House of Commons that he has been invited to meet the Welsh members at dinner, and has cheerily accepted the invitation. The dinner will take place in the second week of the autumn session, at a time when the fight over the Education Bill will be at its hottest pitch. There is no section of the Opposition that takes more active, not to say more acrimonious, part in the struggle than do the Welsh members. This may be counted upon only to give friendlier zest to the dinner party, which will include Sir William Harcourt. The host is Colonel Pryce-Jones, Conservative member for the Montgomery district. Of all Legislative Assemblies in the world it is only in the House of Commons where it would be possible in the midst of fierce political fight to call a truce whilst the foemen sit down to dinner together. The piquancy of the situation will be added to by the fact that, the dinner taking place on a Tuesday night, the Welsh members will be fighting Mr. Balfour up till half-past 7, and at 9 o'clock, having comfortably dined, they will return to the House to peg away at each other again.

The Egyptian authorities are naturally making as little as possible of the plague, which has reasserted itself in its ancient historic quarters. It is reported that the epidemic has lost its malignancy, and the end of October will see its final clearing off. But there is no getting over the stern fact that during the 17 days ended midnight last Sunday 5808 deaths from cholera were officially declared, bringing the fatalities under this head up to nearly 27,000. The receipt of this news in London led to an important decision with respect to the ceremony of the opening of the great waterworks at Assouan. Sir John Aird had completed all arrangements for proceeding to Egypt early in November. The Egyptian Government, who, as I mentioned the other week, have taken on themselves the direction of what is justly regarded as a national memorial, had issued invitations to a distinguished company in England and on the Continent. The Duke of Connaught was to have halted on his way to India to inaugurate the works. It has now been decided to cancel the invitations and indefinitely postpone the ceremonial. After anxious consultation, and many communications passing between Cairo and London, it was felt undesirable to bring together a large party of guests at Assouan whilst the cholera was raging.

Mr. Ritchie has this week enjoyed his first opportunity of wearing the stately gown pertaining to the office of Chancellor of the Exchequer. It presented itself when he presided over the Court of Judges summoned to nominate High Sheriffs for the coming year. The gown, a costly robe of silk, is very rarely worn, this annual ceremony of the nomination of Sheriffs being its most frequent recurrence. The last time Sir Michael Hicks-Beach donned the robes was at the Coronation in August. It is usual for the incoming Chancellor of the Exchequer to take over the robes of his predecessor—of course for a consideration. Lord Randolph Churchill departed from this custom when after brief holding he threw up the Chancellorship. He "forgot Goschen," and having been startlingly reminded of his existence and his possibilities he could not be induced to hold truck with him in the matter of the Chancellor's gown. It happens that in the case of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and Mr. Ritchie such a transaction would be exceptionally easy and convenient. They are very much of the same height, though the new Chancellor of the Exchequer is greater in girth and wider at the shoulders than his predecessor. The cost of a new gown is £150.

Approach to a new term of office does not find county gentlemen more eager than heretofore to accept the honourable office of High Sheriff. It is very costly, and is not made especially agreeable by the conduct of some of his Majesty's Judges. These gentlemen, while accepting the friendly offices, the hospitality, including the new carriage and richly-caparisoned horses, of the High Sheriff, treat him with a certain lofty condescension. This, like the office itself, is a relic of old times, which the Judges think it their duty to preserve, even to accentuate. But it does not tend to make the position popular. The excuses this year were even more numerous and urgent than heretofore. The failure of crops, the increase of rating, and the burden of the war tax make the best-to-do among county gentlemen anxious to escape the costly honour. The tribunal presided over by the Chancellor of the Exchequer is a sort of appeal court open to High Sheriffs elect who have been "pricked" at the hand of the Sovereign. The King's Remembrancer submits the list of High Sheriffs nominate, and any unwilling to serve are called upon to state their grounds of objection. One gentleman begged to be excused on two grounds. "I am," he said, "a b-b-bachelor." It was pointed out to him that that was an obstacle removable within his term of office. "B-b-but," he continued, "I s-s-stammer." This novel objection gave the Court pause, and the applicant was put second on the list.

The report that Mr. Waddy has resigned the Recordership of Sheffield recalls a figure familiar in the House of Commons a quarter of a century ago. Returned as member for Barnstaple at the general election of 1874, he early made his mark in the House. A fluent speaker, practised at the Bar, he was ready at a moment's notice to instruct mankind on any topic. He gained the ear of the House by achieving the apparently impossible task of temporarily shutting up Dr. Kenealy. That remarkable man, returned as member for Stoke by an overwhelming majority, was, in the session of 1874, at the height of his notoriety. Every day he was escorted to Westminster by a mob of dupes of the Claimant who, stopped at the gates of Palace Yard, vociferously cheered as he walked in solitary state to the entrance. These were the days when the doctor, wagging his head and his finger at the Speaker, thundered denunciation of anonymous persons who cast calumnious reflections on his character—"Reflections, Mr. Speaker, which I shall shake off as the lion shakes the dewdrops from his mane." There was no closure at that time, practically no restraining power by the Chair over noisy members. Kenealy had it all to himself till one night Mr. Waddy rose, and in his most effective Old Bailey manner showed up the bumptious imposter.

I have personal reason to remember the member for Barnstaple, as he was counsel for the plaintiff in the only case where I appeared as defendant in a court of law. "The World," under the editorship of Mr Edmund Yates, was just then booming in the journalistic firmament. In a series of articles written "under the clock" in the House of Commons, I had spoken disrespectfully of Mr. Charles Lewis. He brought an action for libel against "The World," which Edmund Yates boldly defended on the grounds that the comment was justifiable. Mr. Waddy was briefed for the plaintiff; Sergeant Parry, long since promoted to the bench of the cherubim or seraphim, looking after the interests of "The World." Mr. Waddy made a slashing speech, but Mr. Justice Coleridge dismissed the case at the preliminary stage.

NEW POST AND TELEGRAPH RATES.

FEDERAL LEGISLATION.

COMING INTO FORCE TO-DAY.

An "Act Relating to Postal and Telegraphic Rates," being Commonwealth Act No. 13 of 1902, comes into force to-day, and effects some important alterations in the postal rates and policy of this State. It will cause a minor revolution in the working of the different departments of those States wherein official letters and telegrams have hitherto been franked. The first sentence of clause 5 reads: "Telegrams, letters, and postal articles transmitted or posted on behalf of the King, the Commonwealth Government, or any State Government shall, unless exempted by some Act, be subject to the postal and telegraphic rates for the time being in force." Telegraphic matter transmitted on behalf of the Meteorological Department of any State is exempt until the establishment of a Commonwealth Meteorological Department. The Electoral Act provides that all "electoral matter" shall be carried free. Braille and Moon publications for the use of the blind are also exempt.

Every State Department will now have to put stamps on its letters and telegrams. In New South Wales the new law will affect rifle associations and clubs, local committees administering the Miners' Relief Act, licensed surveyors communicating with their departments, the Australian Museum, the Technical College, and a number of official and quasi-official bodies that formerly franked their correspondence. Hitherto ministers of religion could send their returns postage free to the Registrar-General, and petitions and addresses to the King, the Governor, and the Parliament were also carried free, as also were returns under the Land and Income Tax Assessment Act, and passbooks and documents of the Government Savings Bank. All of these must in future pay postage.

The rates of postage on letters, books, and magazines will remain as fixed under the State law, which to that extent is unrepealed.

POSTAGE ON NEWSPAPERS.

The system of free newspaper postage which has been in vogue in New South Wales for many years is abolished as from to-day. The first schedule of the Act, which deals with the matter, is divided into two parts. The first provides that the postage "on all newspapers posted within the Commonwealth (without condition as to the number contained in each addressed wrapper) by registered newspaper proprietors, or by newsvendors, or returned by an agent or newsvendor to the publishing office," shall be "one penny per 20oz. on the aggregate weight of newspapers so posted by any one person at any one time." The second part fixes the rate of postage on single copies of newspapers posted within the Commonwealth at one halfpenny per 10oz. or fraction of 10oz. The "Sydney Mail" and other weekly newspapers of the same size can therefore be posted to any State for ½d per copy.

As it will be impossible to separately stamp with an adhesive stamp of the requisite value newspapers posted at the bulk rate of 1d per 20oz., dockets containing full instructions for the collection of and accounting for the postage have been printed, and together with steel or rubber stamps for the purpose of marking on each paper that the necessary postage has been paid thereon, have been supplied to postmasters at posttowns where newspapers are published.

Cuttings or portions of newspapers will be transmissible, as hitherto, at the rate for printed papers.

THE TELEGRAPHIC RATES.

Hitherto telegrams not exceeding 10 words, exclusive of address and signature, have been transmitted at what is styled the "initial rate." In future the "initial rate" will be charged on messages not exceeding 16 words, inclusive of address and signature. On and after to-day the rates will be as follow:—

—	Not exceeding 16 words (including address and signature).	Each Additional Word.
Town and Suburban	6d	1d
Between other places within New South Wales	9d	1d
To other States except Tasmania	1s	1d
To Tasmania*	1s	1½d

* Plus ½d per word (cable rate).

The town and suburban rate will apply to messages between stations not more than 15 miles apart, instead of as at present between places within the metropolitan area, and within a 13 miles' radius of certain country towns.

The inter-state rate represents a substantial concession. The minimum initial rate was formerly 1s as between New South Wales and Victoria and New South Wales and Queensland. The rate to South Australia, except to border stations, was 2s, to Western Australia 3s, and to Tasmania 2s 6d. The rate from Queensland to Western Australia was still higher. There is now a uniform inter-state rate of 1s. The ninepenny rate for telegrams within a State represents in New South Wales a concession of 25 per cent.

Double rates are to be charged for the transmission of telegrams on Sunday, Christmas Day, and Good Friday, and for "urgent" telegrams.

PRESS TELEGRAMS.

The rates for press telegrams are reduced to some extent, but chiefly on that part of the business which represents but a small proportion of the whole. The rates for ordinary press messages are set out in Part II. of the second schedule, as follows:—

—	Within any State.	Inter-State, i.e., from any one State to any other State.
Not exceeding 25 words	6d	1s
Exceeding 25 words, but not exceeding 50 words	9d	1s 6d
Exceeding 50 words, but not exceeding 100 words	1s 6d	3s
Every additional word or portion of 50 words	6d	1s

Formerly the minimum for all messages was 10 words. It has now been raised to 25 words.

A special rate has been fixed for messages sent within the Commonwealth, and relating to Parliamentary, Executive, departmental, and other Commonwealth proceedings, as prescribed in the regulations. The charges on these messages are as follow:—Not exceeding 25 words, 1s; exceeding 25 but not exceeding 100 words, 1s 6d; every additional 50 words or portion of 50 words, 6d. All press telegrams from and to Tasmania will have to pay in addition the cable charges.

THE DAIRY BILL.

It is reported that there is an impression in Queensland that clause 17 of Mr. Kidd's Dairy Industry Bill, recently introduced in the Legislative Assembly, aims at a system of centralisation. Power is sought to be given in the bill for the proclamation of regulations to "appoint any specified port to be the only port at which dairy produce, or any specified class or description thereof, may be exported either generally or to any specified country or colony." It is also provided that the Governor may "appoint any specified buildings to be the only stores where dairy produce may be stored, cooled, or frozen for export." A fear exists in the northern State that the clause is inserted in the bill for the purpose of compelling dairy farmers to send their produce to Sydney, although there may be more convenient ports. Mr. Kidd, when spoken to on the subject yesterday, said that the fear was altogether groundless. The clause was merely taken from the New Zealand Act, in which it was inserted to facilitate the grading of produce, so that the credit of the colony should not suffer by reason of the quality of its exports. There was, he said, no intention on the part of the Government to interfere with the inter-state trade. Shipments from ports north and south of Sydney and Newcastle generally went to the other States. What the Government wished to deal with was the produce sent abroad. Personally Mr. Kidd was not anxious about the insertion of the clause, and would not mind if it were struck out.

WAUGH'S BAKING POWDER obtained the only first class award of highest degree of merit. Waugh's Baking Powder, the best.—Advt.

LAW REPORT.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31.

IN BANCO.

(Before the Acting Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Owen, and Mr. Justice Pring.)

ALLEGED DETENTION OF GOODS.

A QUESTION OF CUSTOM.

Original Mont de Piete, Limited, v. Fuller Carrying Company, Limited.

Sir Julian Salomons, K.C., and Mr. James, instructed by Mr. Mark Mitchell, appeared for the plaintiffs (appellants); and Mr. Scholes, instructed by Mr. Henry S. Williams, for the defendants (respondents). This was an appeal by the plaintiffs against a nonsuit granted by Judge Gibson in the District Court on January 21 last in an action brought by the plaintiffs against the defendant company. The plaintiffs, it appeared, sued the defendants to recover compensation for the alleged detention of three cases of aeolian harp zithers. A second count charged defendants with wrongful conversion of the goods, and a third with wrongful seizure; and they claimed £108, being the value of the goods, or their return, and £10 damages for their detention. The defendants pleaded not guilty, and that the goods were not the plaintiffs'. It appeared that the goods were left with the defendants—who are an incorporated company—by a man named Albert Rolls, under a document dated January 18, 1901, in the following terms:—"Received from Mr. Albert Rolls the undermentioned goods to be stored, at 1d per week, delivery only on production of this receipt endorsed." This receipt was signed for the defendants by a clerk named Frederick Vandenbergh. Plaintiffs advanced about £80 to Rolls, who endorsed the documents representing the goods to them as security, but subsequently upon the plaintiffs' representative going to the defendants it was found that they had delivered the goods either to Rolls or to a Miss Violet Fourge. Plaintiffs then sued the defendants, and tendered evidence that it was the custom in Sydney that the assignment of the documents representing the goods as security passed the goods, but his Honor rejected the evidence. His Honor also refused to admit evidence of a conversation between a representative of the plaintiffs and Vandenbergh when the plaintiffs claimed the goods. The plaintiffs were nonsuited, and they now appealed on the grounds: 1. That his Honor was in error in refusing to admit evidence as to the custom in existence in reference to dealings with goods stored under the arrangement shown in the receipt of January 18. 2. That his Honor was in error in refusing to allow the following questions:—(a) Supposing the owner of goods stored them at a warehouse and received a document in the form of the receipt of January 18, and afterwards endorsed them to a third party, what is the custom with regard to dealing with the goods; (b) and what is the custom with regard to the goods stored? 3. That his Honor was in error in refusing to admit in evidence the conversation between Robert Read and Vandenbergh on or about January 20. 4. That his Honor was in error in holding that on the evidence Vandenbergh had no authority to sign the receipt or to bind his employers by such documents.

The Court, after hearing argument, held that the District Court Judge was in error in rejecting evidence as to custom in proof of the effect of the document put in evidence in passing property, and on that ground there must be a new trial.

Rule absolute for a new trial with costs, costs of the first trial to be costs in the cause.

(Before the Acting Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Simpson, and Mr. Justice Pring.)

APPEAL IN A LIBEL ACTION.

Brown v. Citizens' Life Assurance Company.

Mr. Pilcher, K.C., and Mr. A. Thomson, instructed by Mr. F. B. Freehill, appeared for the defendants, and moved for a rule nisi calling upon the plaintiff to show cause why a verdict found in his favour should not be set aside and a nonsuit or a verdict for defendants entered, or a new trial granted. The action, which was tried at the Tamworth Circuit Court in October last before Mr. Justice Simpson and a jury of four, was brought by Thomas Walter Brown against the Citizens' Life Assurance Company, Limited, to recover compensation for alleged libel. The case for the plaintiff, who is an insurance agent, was that in January, 1900, he was engaged by Thomas Joseph Fitzpatrick on behalf of the defendant company, but he ceased to act for them in June of the same year, and in the following July he entered the service of the Standard Life Association, Limited, in the same capacity as insurance agent. Subsequently, according to the plaintiff's case, while he was working for the Standard Life Association at Tamworth, Fitzpatrick communicated with various persons there about plaintiff, and wrote in terms which constituted the libel complained of. The defendants pleaded not guilty, but their main plea was that Fitzpatrick was not authorised by them to write and publish the words complained of by virtue of his position of superintendent of insurance agents. Arthur Malcolm Eedy, general secretary of the defendant company, gave evidence that if policy-holders wanted to know why the defendant company did not prosecute Brown for making ridiculous statements regarding the company it would have been Fitzpatrick's duty to communicate the matter to the head office. John Joseph Garvan, managing director of the company, also gave evidence that he never authorised Fitzpatrick to write the letter complained of as a libel. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, with damages £650, and they found, specially in answer to questions by his Honor, that in publishing the libel Fitzpatrick was acting within the scope of, and in the course of, his employment. The defendant company now appealed on a number of grounds, relating mainly to the rulings at the trial and the admission or rejection of evidence.

The Court refused the rule.

ACTION AGAINST A BOROUGH.

Turner v. Borough of Goulburn.

The Attorney-General (Mr. B. R. Wise, K.C.) and Mr. James, instructed by Messrs. Betts and Son, of Goulburn (by Messrs. Pigott and Stinson), appeared for the defendant borough, and moved for a rule nisi calling upon plaintiff to show cause why the verdict found in his favour should not be set aside and a nonsuit or a verdict for defendant entered, or a new trial granted. The action, which was tried before the Acting Chief Justice and a jury of four at the October Circuit Court at Goulburn, was brought by Alexander Norman Turner, cab-driver and proprietor, against the borough of Goulburn to recover compensation for injuries sustained by him owing, as he alleged, to the negligence of the defendant borough in the construction and maintenance of a bridge. The plaintiff's case was that on January 8 last he drove two gentlemen from Goulburn out to the sale yards. On the way there he had to cross a bridge over a creek, and he did so in safety, but on the return journey the horse, upon reaching the far end of the bridge, stumbled in a hole between the timber and the roadway and came down. Plaintiff was thrown violently on to the road and was so severely injured that he was unconscious for several weeks, and was laid up for a long time. He suffered pains in the head, back, and spine, and, according to the medical testimony, though he might completely recover, it would be many months before he would be able to follow his occupation as a cabman. It was charged that the accident was due to the negligence of the defendant borough in not keeping the bridge in a proper state of repair, and evidence was called to show that the accident was caused by the filling pieces being out of position, thus letting the earth of the roadway through the bridge. The timber decking of the bridge did not project far enough on to the roadway, and was not properly fastened. No evidence was called for the defence, and his Honor having refused to nonsuit the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, with damages £350. Defendant borough now appealed, mainly on the grounds that there was no evidence of negligence on their part: that his Honor should have nonsuited plaintiff or directed a verdict for defendant; that evidence was wrongly admitted as to the improper construction of the bridge; and that certain directions of his Honor were erroneous.

The majority of the Court (Mr. Justice Simpson dissenting) granted the rule on the grounds (1) that the evidence showed that the injury which the plaintiff suffered was caused by the nonfeasance and not the misfeasance of the defendant borough; (2) that his Honor should have directed the jury to find a verdict for the defendant borough, inasmuch as the facts proved were as consistent with the absence as with the existence of negligence on the part of the defendant borough; (3) that his Honor should have nonsuited plaintiff, as the facts proved were as consistent with the absence as with the existence of negligence.

IN EQUITY.

(Before Mr. Justice A. H. Simpson, Chief Judge.)

QUESTION OF DISSOLVING A PARTNERSHIP.

Wong U, Chun, and others v. Su Chung and Others.

Mr. Knox, instructed by Messrs Westgarth, Nathan, and Co., appeared for the plaintiffs. Mr. Gordon, with him Mr. Kalynack, instructed by Mr. J. W. Abigail, appeared for the defendants. This was a motion to continue an injunction. It appeared that the plaintiffs were residents of Hongkong, and two of the defendants live in Sydney. Plaintiffs had instituted a suit in the Supreme Court at Hongkong for the dissolution of a partnership in business as merchants, which they alleged existed between them and the defendants. Plaintiffs stated that the business was carried on in Hongkong under the style and title of "Hip On Cheung," and that there were in Sydney two branches—one in Pitt-street under the style of "Hip Cheung," and the other at Botany-road, Alexandria, which was called "Hip War and Co." Plaintiffs asked for the appointment of a receiver in regard to the Sydney branches until the hearing of the suit in Hongkong. The Supreme Court there had appointed Mr. A. R. Lowe as receiver, and an ex-parte order had been made by the Court in this State for the appointment of Mr. W. H. Palmer in a similar capacity here. It was asked that Mr. Palmer's appointment should continue until the hearing of the suit. Defendants denied that any partnership existed, and alleged that their connection with the plaintiffs was merely on the basis of a trade relationship.

His Honor made an order continuing Mr. Palmer in the position of receiver until the hearing, and directed that two of the defendants—Lu Tit Cheung and Li Pang Tseung—should act as managers of the business under Mr. Palmer's supervision.

IN PROBATE.

(Before Mr. Justice Walker, Probate Judge.)

MOTIONS FOR PROBATE.

Probate was granted to the wills of the following deceased persons:—Thomas Halloran, Thomas Fredericks, Alfred Thomas Rees Wells, Thomas Connolly, Henry Edward Bigg, Herbert Augustus Holden, James Beuvie, and Charles Allan Young.

LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION.

Letters of administration were granted in respect of the estates of the following deceased persons:—Diedrich Koster, Michael Joseph Gonlon, jun., John Gardner, Hugh Shirlaw, Phillip Egan, Elizabeth Hendry, and Mary Ann Bevin.

VICE-ADMIRALTY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Owen, Deputy Judge Commissary.)

A SUIT FOR COMPENSATION.

The Owners of the Steamer Irresistible v. Owners of the Steamer Tamar.

Mr. Want, K.C., and Mr. James, instructed by Mr. W. Lindsay-Thompson, appeared for the claimants, J. and A. Brown; and the Attorney-General (Mr. B. R. Wise, K.C.) and Dr. Sly, instructed by Messrs. Sly and Russell, for the defendants. This was a suit brought by Messrs. J. and A. Brown, owners of the steamtug Irresistible, against Messrs. William Laidley and Company, Limited, and W. R. Gainford, owners of the steamer Tamar, to recover compensation for damage sustained by the Irresistible by a collision with the Tamar, caused, as plaintiffs alleged, by the default of those in charge of the Tamar, on the morning of August 7 last, in Newcastle Harbour, while the Irresistible was proceeding to sea and the Tamar going in. The damages claimed amounted to £962, which included demurrage, but it was admitted that if the claimants succeeded the amount would have to be settled by the Registrar after inquiry. The case for both sides has already been stated.

The evidence having closed, counsel addressed his Honor, who reserved his decision.

IN DIVORCE.

(Before Mr. Justice Simpson.)

DECREES NISI.

On the verdict found in the suit Christina Garwell v. Alfred William Garwell (tried at last Bathurst Circuit Court) his Honor granted a decree nisi, and made it returnable in four months, and in the suit of Mary Clarke Isenhood v. George Henry Isenhood (tried at last Bathurst Circuit Court) a decree nisi was granted and made returnable in three months.

DECREES ABSOLUTE.

His Honor made absolute the decrees nisi in the following suits and declared the marriages dissolved:—Emily Harris v. James Harris, August Edward Johanson v. Sarah Johanson, Jacob Tafler v. Annie Tafler, and George Means v. Edith Means.

IN BANKRUPTCY.

(Before the Registrar, Mr. A. Henry.)

HEARING OF CREDITORS' PETITIONS.

R. Hall and Son v. James A. Chaff and Arthur G. Chaff, trading as J. and A. Chaff. The Registrar found that the petition was not verified. An affidavit had been sworn before a justice of the peace who had no power to take affidavits in matters not pending in the Supreme Court. Consequently the petition would have to be verified, re-filed, and served again. The time of hearing was fixed for November 7.

EXAMINATION.

Re Woolf Sperling. As a witness was too ill to attend the section 30 examination was adjourned until November 7 on the application of the official assignee.

SEQUESTRATION ORDERS.

William Wheatley, of Condobolin, contractor. Mr. W. H. Palmer, official assignee.

George Ernest Mead, of Parramatta-road, Concord. Mr. L. T. Lloyd, official assignee.

INDUSTRIAL COURT OF ARBITRATION.

(Before Mr. Justice Cohen, President; and Messrs. W. D. Cruickshank and S. Smith, members.)

The Illawarra Colliery Employees' Association, claimant, v. The Southern Collieries Proprietors' Association, respondent.

Mr. D. Ritchie appeared on behalf of the claimant association; and Mr. C. G. Wade, instructed by Messrs. Curtiss and Barry, appeared for the respondent association.

Dr. Robertson, managing director of the Mount Kembla Colliery, cross-examined by Mr. Ritchie, said the outside day labourers at Mount Kembla worked nine hours a day, commencing at 7 a.m., and ceasing at 5 p.m. The wheelers commenced about 7 a.m., and worked nine hours, but they were not employed by the company. The greater portion were employed by a contractor. He left the details of working the men to the manager, and, therefore, he could not speak with precision as to the hours the shift men worked. He had sole control of the West Wallsend, Killingworth, and Waratah collieries at Newcastle. The wheelers there were on contract. The miners worked eight hours at the face. He knew generally about the hours of labour in the New Zealand mines, and the hours worked there were pretty well the same as those worked in New South Wales.

Mr. Ritchie: According to the New Zealand Coal Mines Act of 1891, it provides that the hours worked underground by miners shall not be more than eight, and must be exclusive of meal times, such period to commence from the time the miner commences, and end when he leaves the mine.

Witness: That relates to miners. We do not work our miners in the South Coast district eight hours at the face.

Do you not compete against the Victorian coal?—No. The Victorian Government pays 13s 5d per ton for Victorian coal. It is practically unscreened. We supply large coal perfectly screened at 9s a ton. Moreover, the Victorian coal gets a bonus of ¼d per ton per mile in its carriage over the Victorian railways.

You say that eight hours from bank to bank will interfere with your output?—Yes.

Do you know the hours of the men employed underground in the South Coast mines are longer than those worked in any other district in Australia or New Zealand?—No. I know to the contrary.

Do the wheelers work longer hours in the South Coast mines than they do in the north?—They work a little longer than the wheelers in Newcastle, and also in those mines in the west where they work front and back shifts. In the other mines in the north and west the wheelers work on the same lines as those in the South Coast district.

Do you know that the wheelers in the north and west mines work from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m., including meal hours?—No, I do not know that. The northern and western mines get bigger money from their coal, and have less expense in working their coal.

Are the wages not larger in the north than in the south mines?—No, a higher average exists in the southern mines. Persons taken from the coal to work shift work in Mount Kembla receive 10s a day and work eight hours.

Did you not say yesterday that if the whole of the demands of the southern coal miners were conceded it would mean an increase of 1s 7d per ton in the price of coal?—Yes.

Will you state how you make up that amount?—The demand under issues 1 and 9 would come to 6¼d to 6½d per ton increase; there would also be an increase in working pillars of about 2d per ton; proportionate increase in management in London and Sydney, ¾d per ton; 7 per cent. on capital, due to reduced output, 2¼d; if front and back shifts were reduced from 510 to 420 members, 4½d to 5d a ton; increased yardage and stone deficiencies, ½d; if price for safety lamps be granted it would be 1¼d; and additional cost in redemption, cleaning, and repairs to lamps, 1½d, making a total increase of 1s 7d per ton.

Do you know that the Mount Kembla is the only mine in the south that pays a less hewing rate for pillars than for bords?—Yes.

Can you give figures to show how you arrive at an increase of ½d per ton additional cost for yardage?

Mr. Wade: We would rather abandon the claim and turn the mine upside down than undertake to work out such tedious calculations.

Mr. Ritchie: Is the Mount Kembla Company a dividend paying one?

Witness: I do not call it a dividend paying company, though some people would say it is. Although the shares were quoted buyers £12 and sellers £15, there is no dealing in the shares. There was a sale of 500 shares in 17 or 18 years, and that was due to the death of an old shareholder whose estate had to be liquidated.

Is it correct, as stated in Joseph Palmer's share list for July, 1902, that the total dividends paid by the mine was £107,000?—That is quite erroneous.

Have you any objection to say how much has been paid in dividends?—Yes. The Court is in possession of full information on that point.

Do you agree with the paragraph in the report of the Royal Commission on the Coal Mines Regulation Bill in England in 1886, which says that coal-mining is a dangerous occupation, and that most accidents happen at the end of the shift, when the men are exhausted?—No. The conditions of temperature and other matters are very different here, as compared with those existing in England. When I worked in mines in England I scarcely saw the daylight for a year. I have come out of the mines with my clothes so frozen that I could not bend my arms. That state of affairs could not exist here. I recollect when the ventilation of the English mines was impure, but that does not exist now. We have here higher seams, less dusty seams, and circulate a higher proportion of air than at home.

Is not the temperature of the strata in the Metropolitan mine, at Helensburgh, 82°?—Yes, and the miners would come out of the mine to a temperature just as high, if not higher.

The report of the English Royal Commission says the case may be summed up by stating that a legal eight hours a day from bank to bank is asked for by a majority of the trade, and might be established without economic loss to anyone. Do you agree with that?—I would like to read the whole report before answering that. Practically similar resolutions were carried at convocations of miners every year, but a large section of the mining districts objected to them and petitioned Parliament against them.

What percentage of "smalls" has been made under the shovel system?—In 1899 we sold 180,700 tons of large coal and 51,400 tons of "smalls." This does not include the loss of "smalls" in the washer nor the "smalls" in the unscreened coal. In 1901 the percentages were for every 100 tons:—Large coal, 70·8; "smalls," 27·8; dirt, 1·4. Year 1902: Large coal, 70·4; "smalls," 28·1; dirt, 1·5. I do not think the quantity of "smalls" has materially increased under the shovel-filling system, nor do I think it has decreased. The figures show that the "smalls" have remained almost stationary under the shovel system.

When did you first begin to sell small coal?—At first the smalls of the Mount Kembla mine were burned and next tipped into the sea. When I remonstrated with the board I was sat on by it, as well as by other coal owners, who said it was undignified to sell small coal. But I insisted that it was criminal to dispose of the small coal in that way, and my persistence resulted in initiating the small-coal trade in the South Coast district. Had it not been for the small coal the South Coast mines would not have weathered the storm of 1890. We have simply been wage-finders. We have not been regular coal traders. The initial difficulties of the south in working up a trade were enormous, and we have simply been wage-finders.

Mr. Smith: You say the shareholders' board was to blame for wasting the small coal by burning it or tipping it into the sea.

Witness: They did it in ignorance.

Mr. Smith: But the miners should not be made to suffer by the ignorance of the board in not selling the small coal?—I do not see where the miners come into the matter at all. They were paid for the small coal in the higher price paid for the round coal.

Mr. Ritchie: Are the men not picked in the Mount Kembla mine to work the pillars?

Witness: No. There is no special cavil to select the men for the pillars. The work has to be done quickly and well, so the manager selects the most competent miners for it.

Mr. Cruickshank: I suppose if Mr. Ritchie owned a coal mine he would adopt a similar practice.

Mr. Ritchie: Do you know that the reason the North of England mining people object to the legislation of eight hours from bank to bank was because it would materially increase their working hours?—I do not know that.

You furnished a return showing the number of absentees from work, and stated that the number was so large on some days that it interfered with the output of the mine. You also said that you found that a great deal of the cause of the absentees was the miners' club at Mount Kembla?—Yes. They get drink all day long on Sunday, and I think it is a disgrace to the State that such a thing should exist. When there was a great demand for coal for warships and for South Africa in 1901, it was a serious thing for as many as 33 men to be absent from work on one day, because it seriously hampered the output of coal.

Do you think the miner can examine the roof of a seam just as well with a safety lamp as with a flare light?—Oh, yes. It is just as good, because the safety lamp gives a more diffusive light than that of a flare light. It must also be borne in mind that the safety lamp secured an immunity from accident to the miners. It cost a shade over 2d per day to use a safety lamp in the Kembla mine. Even though Hamlin, a writer on coal mining, said it only cost ½d per day, I know it cannot be done as cheaply as that here. You must consider the import duty on the lamps and the oil on entering this State.

If miners said that safety lamps were a disadvantage they would not be correct?—No. The coal miners oppose every innovation, because they will not exercise patience, or endeavour to accommodate themselves to new circumstances. At the West Wallsend mine the miners offered to take 2d per ton less for working pillars than bords. I offered 3d a ton less. I told the men that I did not want to reduce their earnings by one-tenth of a farthing, and my offer was accepted in a pleasant manner. It is not the desire of the coal mine owners to make money by taking advantage of the men.

Mr. Ritchie: That is a kindly feeling on your part. If that view was practised by all coal mine owners things would be very different.

Mr. Wade: Show us the coal mine owner who does not hold the same view.

RE-EXAMINED BY MR. C. G. WADE.

You said the question of working horses was an important element in the eight hours from bank to bank arrangement?

Witness: That is so. When you commence to work men, and especially animals, at high pressure you get unsatisfactory results. At present the horses got two half-hours of spell, and this contributes very much to the ease with which we can manage and regulate the output of the mine.

This concluded Dr. Robertson's evidence. Mr. Wade put in a large number of documents as exhibits, and his Honor announced that the number of exhibits now almost reached 200.

The Court then adjourned to Wollongong on Monday at 11.30 a.m.

LAND APPEAL COURT.

(Before the President Mr. Alexander Oliver and Commissioners Brandis and Houston.)

Mr. Hanbury Davies, instructed by the Crown Solicitor, appeared for the Minister for Lands.

RESERVED DECISIONS.

The Court delivered its decision in the case of Andrew S. C. Beveridge's appeal against the recommendation of the Dubbo board in respect of his application for a scrub lease within Mullah leasehold area No 661, Central Division. Mr. Carroll appeared for appellant. The President said that the material portion of the board's finding appealed from was contained in these words:—"We beg to propose for the Minister's consideration whether our recommendation of March 1 last should not be varied, so as to limit any scrub lease to 3500 acres of the south part of the area, or whether, under the circumstances, the application should be wholly refused. We are in favour of the latter alternative." Beveridge's appeal was based substantially on the ground that the board's recommendation was at variance with the reports of the D.S. and Staff-surveyor Thomas, both at the first and second inquiries regarding the extent of the scrub areas. There could be no question as to the fact that both of these officers favoured the issue of a scrub lease, one for 8950 acres. Having regard to the evidence before the Court as a whole, and to the fact that the more recent evidence and the description of the area under application gave no support to the representations of the Trangie Progress Association, the Court thought that the appeal should be sustained, and the Minister was recommended to grant the scrub lease for an area of 8950 acres or thereabouts at an annual rental of 3d per acre for such period not exceeding 14 years as could be legally granted. Other conditions were ordered to remain.

The appeal of A. G. Waugh against the decision of the Bellingen Court in respect of his special lease application No. 1901-9 was sustained, and the rental fixed at £6 15s per annum with a tenure of 10 years.

The appeal of A. G. Waugh against the appraised annual rent of his C.L. No. 1901-8, Bellingen, was sustained, and the rent fixed at 4½d per acre.

The appeal of W. E. M'Donall against the appraised annual rent of his C.L., No. 1901-26 Bingara, was sustained, and the rent fixed at 2½d per acre.

The appeal of R. G. H. M'Donall against the appraised annual rent of his C.L., No. 1901-27, Bingara, was sustained, and the rents fixed at 2½d per acre.

In the series of cases governed by that of A. Pengilley's appeal against the appraised cap. val. of the land comprised in his H.S. No. 96-1, Murrurundi—namely, the appeals of E. J. Rixon, H. Carpenter, G. Warfield, T. L. Ivey, Ethel N. Griffin, G. Thrift, J. Stockdale, W. Pengilley, and W. Holt, the whole of the appeals were sustained, and the cap. val. fixed at £5 per acre in each case. Mr. E. D. Millen appeared for appellants.

The appeal of W. E. Baker against the appraised cap. val. of the land comprised in his C.Ps., Nos. 95-5 and 95 13, Murrurundi, was sustained. In the first case the value was determined at 25s per acre, and in the second at 16s 8d per acre.

In the appeal of William Missen against the disallowance of his annual lease applications Nos. 1902, 4, 5, 6, 8, and 9, Armidale, Mr. G. H. Pike, instructed by Mr. R. L. Houston, appeared for Hayes (respondent), and Mr. Lonsdale for appellant. Particulars of the preliminary features of the case have already been published. The material grounds of appeal were that the lands were Crown lands not reserved from lease or license at the date of application, and that the Minister had no power to refuse the subject applications and restore the former lessees' leases. The President said that the Court thought that section 49 of the 1895 Act was not to be read as repealing the provisions of section 33 of the Act of 1899 to any greater extent than might be necessary to allow the Minister to exercise the power of refusing an annual license in any case where the granting of such lease appeared to him to be contrary to the public or general interest. The responsibility of the Minister was Parliamentary, and not judicial, and the Court had no concern with what constituted a matter of public or general interest. It must therefore be assumed, the President said, that the Minister's reason for refusing the lease to the appellant on the ground stated could not be questioned before the Court. But admitting so much, the Court was of opinion that an application under section 33 of the Act of 1889 for an annual lease was an application governed by and subject to all the provisions of section 33 and the regulations applicable thereto (regulations 218-220). Sub-section 4 (Canaway's edition) of section 33 of the 1889 Act declared that Crown lands not held under lease or license and not reserved from lease or license should be open to annual lease in the prescribed manner, i.e., as provided by regulations. Regulation 220 provided that the board should consider the application for the purpose of recommending the Minister to approve or refuse the lease, and where it recommended approval should appraise the rent, &c. Further, that the Minister thereafter should in any case where he approved the lease notify in the "Gazette" such approval and the rent. Nothing, however, was said in the annual lease regulations as to the time and method of refusing an annual lease by the Minister. The absence of such particulars did not imply an absolute power of anticipating the board's procedure by directing them to refuse an application without further consideration. On the other hand, there could be no question of the Minister's power to refuse an application for annual lease, however strongly it might be recommended by the board for approval. But the proper stage for the exercise of such a power was after its consideration by the board pursuant to the requirements of the 1889 Act and the auxiliary regulations. Therefore, an application under section 33 of the 1889 Act for an annual lease was an application which had gone through the prescribed course of action and been dealt with by the constituted local authority—the board. Regarding the so-called restoration of the leases of the former holder by virtue of the gazette this appeared to have been effected by a notification of February 5 last under the heading, "Restoration of an annual lease," by cancellation of the prior notification of non-renewal of the leases (January 18, 1902). This action did not seem to depend for its validity on any provision contained in the C.L. Amendment Act of 1891 (55 Vic., No. 1), for in the case of these annual leases there was nothing for a forfeiture to act upon. The leases had terminated ipso facto by non-payment of rent as required by law, and although, by section 85, sub-section 4, of the Act of 1884 it was provided that if the rent of a renewed lease be not paid on or before September 30 in each year for the ensuing year, the lease would be liable to forfeiture, that provision would seem to apply to a forfeiture of the lease as between the due date of payment of rent and the end of the term (December 31), in which case there would be something forfeitable, i.e., the fag end of a lease still in existence, but determinable by forfeiture for non-payment of rent in September. Up to that point the law relating to annual leases seemed to favour the appellant's contention; but a very important point was then reached, viz., whether it was not within the power of the Minister to accept post-payment of rent on January 28, 1902, in satisfaction of the rental properly payable on September 30, 1901, and so to restore these annual leases. Inasmuch as the Minister had absolute power to refuse the adverse applications of appellant, and had signified his refusal of them, so far as they were concerned the position was simplified, for the appellant might be regarded as non-existent, for he could not be a rival or conflicting applicant whose application had been expunged by a competent authority. That was what had been done in this case, although it might have been prematurely or by way of anticipation. The Court should not be invoked for the purpose of helping an appellant to continue a manifestly futile course of procedure, and to send this case on to the board would be productive of nothing but delay and expense without the slightest hope or pretence of furthering his claim to the leases. The appeal was dismissed as regards a.l. No. 1902-6. The election by applicant's agent at the hearing to go on a.l. No. 1902-6 would operate as an abandonment of the appeal in regard to the other four applications.

The appeal of F. Lugsdin against the decision of the Hay board in respect of his application for appraisement of the capital value of the land comprised in his c.p. No. 87-13 and c.l. No. 7867, Hay, was dismissed. Mr. Millen appeared for the appellant.

The Minister's reference for return of the case of H. Germer's application for appraisement of the capital value comprised in his c.p. No. 89-28, Tumbarumba, was complied with by the Court with reluctance on the strict construction of section 1 of the C.L. Amendment Act of 1899. The President said that the application should have been lodged with the agent at latest on December 29, 1901, but that day being Sunday it was lodged on December 30. It was not received by him until January 2, 1902, though signed on December 30 and posted the same day at Tumbarumba after office hours. The decision of the Court in re Honorah Luke did not apply to the facts in this case, and unless the Minister withdrew his objection the Court must comply with his request.

The Minister's reference for return of the case of Alfred Smith's o.c.p., 1901-10, Kempsey, for rehearing in order that it might be converted into an a.c.p. application for the same land was dismissed.

Leonard Gillespie's appeal against the decision of the Tenterfield board in respect of his c.p. and c.l. applications were sustained, as the land was apparently available as Crown land, and the law gave no power to the Stock or any other department to limit the right of selection under the C.L. Acts, nor to the board to take cognisance of the objections lodged by a department in the way they had. The board was directed to rehear the applications, and to confirm them according to the agreement entered into between appellant and J. Inglis, if there were no other objection than that stated in the board's finding. Deposit refunded.

Horrigan Brothers' appeal against the recommendation of the local board in respect of their application for surrender and exchange of certain lands on Wonbobbie and Haddonrigg pastoral holdings was sustained, the surrender lands being valued at 30s per acre, and the exchange lands at 27s 6d per acre. The difference in values would, in the Court's opinion, be compensated for by the greater value of useful improvements on the surrender lands. There appeared to be an excess area of some 5¼ acres on the exchange lands which should be paid for by the applicant.

The appeal of George W. Dight, jun., against the decision of the Warialda board that the condition of residence was not being complied with in respect of his a.c.p. No. 1901-53, Warialda, was dismissed. Mr. Pike, for appellant, asked for six weeks' time within which to lodge notice of the case. The application was granted. Deposit refunded.

The Court adjourned sine die.

COURT OF MARINE INQUIRY.

(Before Mr. Judge Murray and Captains James Simpson and J. L. Fawkes, assessors.)

COLLISION IN PORT JACKSON.

BETWEEN THE WILLYAMA AND FIONA.

An inquiry was commenced in No. 1 District Court into the circumstances attending the collision which took place in Sydney Harbour between the steamers Willyama and Fiona on October 22.

Mr. Cargill, of the Crown Law Office, appeared for the Superintendent of Navigation; Mr. J. H. Want, K.C., and Mr. Ralston, instructed by Messrs. Norton, Smith, and Co., appeared for the Adelaide S.S. Company, Limited, the owners of the Willyama, and Murdoch M'Kay, the master thereof; whilst Mr. Broomfield, instructed by Messrs. Minter, Simpson, and Co., appeared for the Colonial Sugar Refining Company, Limited, the owners of the Fiona, and Henry Gair, the master thereof.

Mr. Cargill, in opening the case, stated that the collision occurred shortly after 7 p.m. on October 22 somewhere between Kirribilli Point and Fort Macquarie. The Willyama left Pyrmont about 6.30 p.m. outward bound with a full cargo for Adelaide, and the master of that steamer would inform the Court that after he passed Dawes Point and had got Fort Denison light on his port bow he stopped his engines to allow certain ferry boats to cross. When the ferry boats had crossed he saw the three lights of a vessel which he subsequently discovered to be the Fiona. He heard a short blast from the vessel and immediately after the Fiona's red light came into view. He replied to the blast with a similar one, and porting his helm rang "half-speed" to his engines. The Willyama was then heading for Garden Island. Hearing three blasts from the Fiona and observing the vessel approaching him he went full speed ahead on his starboard helm in order to try to avoid the collision which occurred almost immediately after. His ship was struck on the port side about amidships.

The master of the Fiona, continued Mr. Cargill, would tell the Court that his vessel was inward bound from New Zealand and he passed Fort Denison to the northward about two ships' lengths off, the vessel at the time travelling half-speed. About a minute after passing Fort Denison he further slowed his engines, and after passing Kirribilli Point he blew a warning blast for the purpose of attracting the attention of two ferry boats that were travelling to Mosman and Neutral Bays. When about 200ft. from Kirribilli Point he saw the green light of a vessel almost ahead and slightly on his starboard bow. Thinking that it was one of the North Shore ferry boats, because he saw no masthead light, he took no action. Immediately after, still seeing the green light, he put his engines full speed astern. A minute or two later the collision occurred. The master of the Fiona would state to the Court that he was so close to Kirribilli Point that after the collision—the effect of which was to bring his vessel right across the harbour and heading to Fort Macquarie—he was obliged to go ahead in order to keep his vessel off the rocks.

Both vessels sustained serious damage, concluded Mr. Cargill, the Willyama faring the worse. The evidence to be tendered on behalf of that vessel would endeavour to show that the collision occurred close to Fort Macquarie, whilst that on behalf of the Fiona would be to the effect that the mishap took place close to Kirribilli Point. The matter resolved itself into this, that each master charged the other with being on the wrong side of the fairway.

Evidence was then entered upon.

The inquiry was not concluded when the Court rose for the day.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Backhouse and juries.)

Mr. Herbert Harris, Crown Prosecutor.

BREAKING AND ENTERING.

Charles Southey and Reuben Jarvis pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on October 1 at Sydney broken and entered the dwelling-house of William Watson, at Darlington, and stolen two coats, a vest, a pair of trousers, a watch and chain, two trinkets, two razors, a hat, a pair of boots, and a match box, the property of W. Watson. Accused were undefended. The Crown case was that while Mrs. Watson was in her yard her house was entered, and the various articles referred to stolen. Next day Mrs. Watson was in George-street, near a pawnbroker's shop, when she saw Southey with the stolen boots and hat on in the company of Jarvis. Southy went into the pawnbroker's shop, and Mrs. Watson arranged for him to be detained while the police were informed. The two were shortly afterwards arrested. The defence was that it was a case of mistaken identity. The jury found both men guilty. Jarvis, after the verdict had been returned, said, "I want to appeal against the jury's verdict.

His Honor: Why?

Jarvis: Because it is against the evidence.

His Honor: If you think the verdict is wrong I will allow you to produce evidence to show that it is, if you can, and you can then petition. The sentence upon each of the prisoners will be imprisonment with hard labour, for two years.

Fred. Tinter pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on October 3 at Annandale broken and entered the shop of Louis M. Pattinson and others and stolen several articles. He was undefended. The jury convicted accused, and he was remanded for sentence.

Edward Sydney Cawe, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the shop of William Clancy and stolen 45lb. of beef, was sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour for nine months.

James Ward, who had been convicted of breaking and entering the dwelling-house of John Sheehan, at Balmain, and stealing a large quantity of goods, was sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour for three years.

Arthur Millham, a young man, pleaded guilty to a charge of having, on October 13, broken and entered the dwelling-house of John Young, with intent to commit a felony. He was remanded for sentence.

FOUND AT NIGHT IN A DWELLING-HOUSE.

George Wilson, who had been convicted of being found at 2 o'clock in the morning of September 2 in the dwelling-house of Robert Amos, was sentenced to penal servitude for five years.

FORGERY AND UTTERING.

Charles Alfred Moore, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of forging and uttering a warrant and order for the payment of £14 15s, was sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour for nine months. Prisoner was given leave to petition if he were able to give the Judge an assurance that his friends would find him employment out of the country.

STEALING.

Ernest Collier, who had been convicted of stealing 7s, the property of Michael Galvin, was sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour for two years, the sentence to be concurrent with one the prisoner is now serving.

Charles Hinchey, who had been convicted of attempting to steal from the person, was sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour for three years.

George Robert Bealby, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing eight firearms, was sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour for two years, and then to find two sureties in £50 that he would be of good behaviour for two years, in default to serve a further term of imprisonment for 12 months. On another indictment a similar order was made, the terms of imprisonment to be concurrent.

GRIEVOUS BODILY HARM.

Oscar Larson, a Swede, pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on August 30, at Sydney, maliciously inflicted grievous bodily harm upon Frederick Rowe. Accused was undefended. The Crown case was that there had been a dispute outside M'Bride's Hotel, Miller' Point, between accused and a man named Murray. Accused was much affected by drink, and knocked Murray down. Rowe, who was a cook at a neighbouring dining-room, came on the scene, and accused punched him in the mouth. Rowe fell with his head on a step, and became unconscious. He remained unconscious and in a critical condition for a week, and was in the hospital for three weeks. The defence was that accused knew nothing about the assault on Rowe. The jury found accused guilty. His Honor said that the man had evidently not intended to do the serious injury, and as he had been two months' imprisoned already he would order prisoner's release immediately he could find a ship that would take him away as a seaman.

ACQUITTAL.

Isabella Bunch and Elizabeth Maher pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on September 22 stolen from Thomas Foster two finger rings. Accused were undefended. The jury acquitted the accused, and they were discharged.

The Court adjourned to Monday.

INTERFERING WITH RAILWAY SIGNALS.

DAMAGING A LIGHT.

At the Newtown Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Macfarlane, D.S.M., a young man named William M'Donnell was charged with having at Marrickville on Thursday evening assaulted James Crocker, also with having on the same occasion wilfully injured a telephone the property of the Railway Commissioners. James Crocker, a signalman employed by the Railway Commissioners, stated that about 11.30 p.m. on Thursday he was on duty in the signal-box between Marrickville and St. Peters stations. He was sitting down at the time the accused entered the box. The latter rushed in, and threw up the lever, and generally upset the signals. Witness remonstrated with him whereupon the accused caught hold of witness before he had time to adjust the lever, and threw him to the ground, and generally assaulted him. Witness managed to free himself, and to reach the telephone to call for assistance, but the accused got hold of the telephone, and broke it in order to prevent witness using it. Finally assistance was obtained, and the accused was given into custody. For the defence the accused, who pleaded guilty, stated that he had had a lot of trouble and took drink, which flew to his head. At the time that he went to the signal-box he did not know what he was doing. The police gave the accused an excellent character. The accused for assaulting Crocker was fined £10, in default imprisonment for three months. For damaging the telephone the accused was further fined, with costs, 15s, in default imprisonment for two days.

At the same court Inspector Davies, of the Railway Department, proceeded against two youths named Oswald Weir and Athol M'Elhinney on a charge of having on September 21 wilfully damaged a signal glass, the property of the Railway Commissioners. It was stated that the accused were by means of a catapult firing stones at the glass which encased the signal light near the Hurstville railway station. The glass had been broken on two days in succession. The accused were each fined £2 and 8s 4d costs of Court, and also ordered to pay the value of the damage done, viz., 5s, in default imprisonment for seven days.

PUBLIC WORKS COMMITTEE.

TENTERFIELD TO CASINO RAILWAY.

The Parliamentary Standing Committee on Public Works yesterday took further evidence in regard to the expediency of constructing a line of railway from Tenterfield to Casino. Mr. J. M'Farlane presided, the other members present being:—Messrs. W. R. Campbell, A. Kethel, J. Hughes, J. S. Hawthorne, J. S. T. M'Gowen, and S. W. Moore.

The first witness called was Mr. S. B. Irving, licensed surveyor, who gave evidence to the effect that he was well acquainted with the Casino end of the proposed route. Of the number of lines that had been suggested he thought the best line to construct would be the one under notice, as it would open a very large extent of good country on the Richmond River. The drought they were passing through showed the Richmond district to be the best beef-producing part of the State. Under existing conditions they found it better to drive cattle to Tenterfield and truck them to Sydney than to send them by steamer, although the latter was the cheaper.

George Larkin, who had resided at Lismore since 1870 till recently, was the next witness. He considered that it was a necessary thing to connect the tablelands with the coast. He advocated the construction of the line from Tenterfield to Casino as against the other proposals. The line in question would pass through good agricultural, mining, and timber country. He also understood that coal was to be found on the line of route of the proposed railway.

THE NORTH SHORE BRIDGE.

The secretary of the North Shore Bridge Committee writes:—"The three designs for this work from which the final choice has to be made have been returned to the Public Works Department by the secretary to the North Shore Bridge Committee. Through the courtesy of the Hon. the Minister for Works the North Shore Bridge Committee has been enabled to have these on view at central city addresses for a sufficiently lengthy period to enable a considerable public to become familiar with the designs, with the result that interest in the project has been greatly stimulated. The movement in support of the immediate construction of the bridge is rapidly gaining in strength, and, so far as the committee is concerned, the next three months will be particularly active."

"A FRIEND TOLD ME."

A great deal has been written on the subject of Advice—who are the people best qualified to give it, and when and how it should be asked, offered, accepted, rejected, &c. "Pray give a poor man a few coppers," whined a seedy-looking individual into the ear of a fat dean, as both stood in St. Paul's Churchyard, London, watching the erection of seats for viewing the ceremony of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee. "There is a notice," said the dean, rapping a placard with a scroll of papers which he carried in his hand, "that labourers are wanted. Work, my man, work; don't beg from people in the streets." "I asked you for money," said the beggar contemptuously, "not advice." 'Twas ever thus. Proffered advice is seldom well received, those best qualified to give it being generally the last to offer it. And yet there are occasions when it is the plain duty of anybody to volunteer the most positive advice—as, for instance, in the case of one who has a suffering friend, and knows of some means to effect his cure. The experience of Mr. C. A. Bonnett, of 53 Currie-street, Adelaide, S.A., well illustrates this. "For two years," writes Mr. Bonnett, "I suffered continuously from acute indigestion and constipation. Before meal times I would feel as hungry as a hunter, but no sooner would I sit down to table and attempt to swallow a few mouthfuls than my appetite vanished and I loathed the very sight or smell of food. Nothing could be more tantalising. I was always hungry, yet unable to eat. Then there was the ever-present uncomfortable sensation of distension of the stomach. As I became weaker from want of nourishment, my symptoms increased in severity. I tried many remedies, but got no good from any of them. Several, indeed, seemed to aggravate my complaint. I had almost decided to have nothing more to do with them when, a little over a year ago, a friend brought me half a bottle of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. He told me that he himself had been cured by it, and strongly advised me to let it do as much for me. In the end he persuaded me to take it, and I derived so much benefit from that half-bottle that it induced me to take a course of it. It rapidly broke up the constipation, restored my appetite, and built up my strength. Within six weeks of the date on which I took the first dose, Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup had completed my recovery. I always keep a bottle of it in the house, for I find an occasional dose regulates the bowels without pain or inconvenience, and keeps the organs of digestion generally in good working order.—Advt.

A DISMAL TIME.

VITALITY RESTORED TO AN ENFEEBLED SYSTEM.

THE CASE OF MR. A. W. LYON.

(By a Special Reporter.)

Among the instances in which an attempt has been made to deal with questions attaining a wide popularity is that appearing hereunder, and the facts that have been adduced by Mr. Alfred William Lyon, of No. 56 Brougham-street, Glebe, will enable a fairly intelligent man to come to a definite conclusion upon those phases of the subject about which he may now be doubtful.

"I can trace the origin of my adversities to a mishap which I encountered whilst in the act of taking a stone from the hoof of a horse," said Mr. Lyon to the reporter. "As I stooped to raise his hoof I received a kick on the head, and although I was almost stunned I managed to pick myself up, and was making my escape when the horse kicked me again, but that time on my ribs."

"It is a wonder you were not killed," interrupted the writer.

"It is indeed; but I was not out of danger for a long time, as I was laid up for fourteen weeks and became quite a wreck. When at last my injuries were repaired I went back to work, although I was almost too weak to do so, and on the 20th March, 1900, I again met with another accident. I was removing scenery and effects to a theatre, and whilst taking a heavy box to the cellar I severely strained myself. Mind you, I felt pains about the kidneys from the time I was first injured, but I did not think they were in any way diseased. I thought the pains were the direct result of the heavy blow I had received, but the acute torture which now caught me across the back made me realise only too bitterly that my kidneys were greatly disordered. When I stooped I could not get up again, and had to sit there. Such terrible agony I had never experienced before. There was a sharp pain in my side as if the flesh was being drawn from me, and I could not remain in an upright position for the excruciating tortures that were bearing me down."

"I suppose you were compelled to leave your work again?"

"Indeed I was, and was so helpless that for three weeks I could not leave my bed. I really thought it was all over with me, my parents also being deeply concerned at the terrible condition I was in. You see I fell away in flesh so rapidly that at the end of the third week after my accident I was 2st. lighter. There is no doubt that I was just like a shadow, and so miserable at being ill and unable to do my work that I did not have a moment's cheerfulness of mind either day or night. I never had the least desire for food, the smell of which turned me sick, and if by any chance I did succeed in getting anything down every bit of it came back again, for I hardly remember a meal which was not soon followed by a violent fit of vomiting. That was the main reason why I became so frightfully thin, but another cause of the hopeless feeling which weighed on my sprits was that I could not get a quarter of the amount of sleep I required. Through lying down all day my body was so racked with aches that I could never feel comfortable, but occasionally I became so overcome with fatigue that I dozed off in spite of all my tortures, and even then I was not much better off, as I always had horrible dreams that woke me up with a trembling start. What a dismal life it was to be sure. My head ached to such a maddening extent that I could not bear the weight of my hair, so I had it shaved off. If I stood up I felt topheavy and dizzy, and had to hold on to something to steady myself, while the swollen feeling about my eyes was so distracting that sometimes I could hardly see. This dreadful state of affairs went on for seventeen or eighteen months, increased suffering being my portion from day to day; and I can tell you I was thoroughly sick and tired of it all. My stomach bulged out with wind, which also gave me a lot of pain, and many an anxious fear I have had through my heart palpitating to excess. I ceased to care how things would end, for I was almost too weak to hope for a recovery, and everything possible seemed to go against me. Why, even my taste was destroyed by a sense of bitterness which would not go away, and my tongue was so rough that it was more like a brush than anything else. The medicines I took to remove my painful symptoms were not the least good to me, and when there was not a thread of hope to cling to I realised what an awful thing it is to suffer in despair. I gave up asking advice, but the best I had yet received came when it was most urgently required."

"What advice was that?"

"It was to take Clements Tonic, and as I was willing to take anything at all I bought some—not that I thought it would cure me; but when I had drunk one bottle I was certainly no worse, so I purchased a couple more. Then I seemed to liven up a bit as though Clements Tonic had put some vitality into my enfeebled system, and in another week I found that this idea was right, sure enough. The suffering I had endured all these months was undoubtedly minimised, the pains in my back being wonderfully relieved, and, to my utter astonishment, my appetite came back. Very little more time elapsed before the vomiting troubles had entirely ceased, and from then I moved along quickly to the recovery of my health, which nothing but Clements Tonic could bring about. I felt as jubilant as any man could be, and who would not feel so at such a surprising liberation from physical captivity? A new and happy existence came to me by using Clements Tonic, which rectified dizziness, headaches, and stomach pains so surely that they have never troubled me since, and by soothing and quietening my nerves I gained so much comfort from the use of that medicine that I was soon able to sleep as soundly as I could when a boy at school. My mouth was freed from its nasty taste, my tongue was cleansed, and in all respects I gained by using Clements Tonic, even to being released from the pains in my side and chest, and having my heart affections abolished. I was soon able to go back to work, but my employer did not know me, I had altered so; but by sticking to Clements Tonic the lines of suffering were obliterated from my face, and my body again filled out with flesh."

"Did Clements Tonic cure you thoroughly?"

"I can conscientiously say it did, and as I am sure Clements Tonic is the most reliable medicine in the country, I always recommend it to my friends, and you may publish our conversation in any way you want."

STATUTORY DECLARATION.

I, Alfred William Lyon, of 56 Brougham-street, Glebe, in the State of New South Wales, Commonwealth of Australia, do solemnly and sincerely declare that I have carefully read the annexed document, consisting of five folios, and consecutively numbered from one to five, and that it contains and is a true and faithful account of my illness and cure by Clements Tonic, and also contains my full permission to publish in any way my statements, which I give voluntarily, without receiving any payment; and I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of the Oaths Act, 1900.

Alfred W Lyon

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

COMPLETION OF THE LINE.

COMMONWEALTH ARRANGEMENTS.

BRISBANE, Friday.

The Deputy Postmaster-General received a telegram this morning stating that the cable steamer Anglia arrived at Suva shortly after 6 this morning and started to lay the shore end at 8.5.

Later a telegram was received from the steamer Anglia stating that the shore end of the Pacific cable had been landed at Suva. The vessel was then paying out to the buoy. The Postmaster-General has invited a number of prominent gentlemen, including members of the State Ministry, to lunch at the Southport Hotel, Southport, on Monday. Speeches will be made and some telegrams of a congratulatory nature will also probably be despatched.

SUVA, Friday.

The Pacific cable was completed at 5.15 p.m. today.

The laying of the Pacific cable, which was completed yesterday, is full of importance and interest from many standpoints. Two British or "all-red" cable routes now embrace the globe, and the significance of such a communication, both strategical and commercial, is difficult to exaggerate. The Pacific cable also marks triumphs in engineering and mechanism. The completion of this greatest of cable-laying undertakings employed steamers which outstripped in equipment and facilities anything previously engaged on similar work; the distance between Fanning Island and Vancouver is the longest unbroken stretch of submarine line in existence; while at its deepest point it is covered by nearly three miles of ocean.

The route now covered was first advocated by Sir Sandford Fleming, who constructed the Canadian Pacific Railway. That was 28 years ago; but although the proposal when brought beneath the notice of the Imperial Government was favourably commented upon, a long time elapsed before it assumed definite shape. With the spread of Imperialism which has marked the past generation the "All-British" schemes have rapidly increased in favour. Conferences and reports on the subject followed in quick succession, and in 1896 the whole question was considered by a House of Commons Committee appointed by Mr. Chamberlain. The route of the Pacific cable, its practicability, cost of construction and maintenance, its ownership and control, were fully discussed. It was then estimated that £1,500,000 would be expended in construction and £150,000 a year in maintenance. The committee reported that with half of the Australian traffic the line should yield sufficient profit to establish a sinking fund against the capital. The scheme was furthered by the support of Canadian, Australian, and New Zealand Governments, and its construction has been at the expense of Great Britain and these colonial dependencies.

The route chosen lies from Brisbane as the Australian terminus to Norfolk Island, a distance of 834 nautical miles; from Norfolk Island to Fiji, 961 miles; from Fiji to Fanning Island, 2093 miles; and thence to Vancouver, 3240 miles. At Norfolk Island the line bifurcates, one line going to New Zealand, a distance of 537 miles, and landing at Douglas, 164 miles north of Auckland. The tender accepted was for £1,975,000.

The deep-sea section of the cable is slightly over an inch in diameter. Its central copper wire is surrounded by 18 14-gauge wires, with a tape about each. Coatings of gutta percha, separated by layers of Stockholm tar, gutta percha, and resin composition, then make up the thickness, and to protect the whole from damage, and to render it waterproof, it is finally coated with tarred hemp tapes and other such material. Strength and flexibility are essential qualities. As the cable approaches the shore it is thicker and stronger, which is made necessary by increased tension and chafing. On the stretch between Vancouver and Fanning Island the sea bottom was found to be comparatively even, and the same condition prevailed between Fiji and Norfolk Island, and thence to New Zealand and Australia. Between Fanning Island and Fiji, however, the bed was more rugged and broken, and gave rise to greater difficulties.

At the various surface points of the route accommodation has been provided for the operators and other employees. The mirror instrument and siphon recorder introduced by Lord Kelvin will be used to work the cable, and the automatic translation of messages from one section to another without an operator's assistance is to be adopted. Working for 18 hours a day it is expected that the cable will transmit, if necessary, 1,500,000 words a year.

The cable carried its own message of completion from Suva to Brisbane yesterday afternoon. The first messages will, as customary, be of a congratulatory nature, and will be despatched by a gathering including the Postmaster-General, members of the Queensland State Parliament, and prominent residents of Brisbane, from Southport on Monday afternoon. Business will then be formally commenced, and competition will begin between the new route and the Eastern Extension lines. Rivalry promises to be keen. Cost and expedition will, of course, be deciding qualities.

It is claimed by the authorities that the department has been fully awake to the necessity of adequate provision for the transmission of Commonwealth messages to and from Brisbane, where the cable touches Australia. Till recently the telegraphic service between Sydney and Brisbane has been over partially iron wires, but to meet the expected traffic from the cable an "all copper" wire has been established, and to guard against emergency this is to be immediately duplicated. Provision has been arranged to carry 50 per cent. of the cable communications which now pass through the hands of the Eastern Extension Company. This is regarded as a liberal estimate of the work for some time to come.

A PROBLEM IN DAY LABOUR.

TRADES HALL ADDITIONS.

FEELING AMONG UNIONISTS.

"DAY LABOUR WHERE FEASIBLE."

The erection of additions to the Trades Hall has been the cause of considerable unrest in labour circles. Probably the Trades Hall is the head-quarters of more unionists than all other buildings in the State combined. In no place has the system of day labour been more extolled and advocated. Scarcely a meeting passes within its walls but the question is touched upon, and every alleged breach by the Government is promptly and loudly condemned. Little wonder then that when a report that various contractors had been asked for prices of work in connection with the additions to the hall gained currency in labour circles there was a clamour of indignation. At the Sydney Labour Council on Thursday night several delegates spoke very plainly on the subject, and among members of various unions yesterday the position was keenly discussed.

The Trades Hall trustees, who are carrying on the work have been asked for a report on the matter. Should this be furnished, all uncertainty from the actual procedure will be removed. It will then be seen how far day labour is deemed desirable and practicable in the home of its champions. There is some uncertainty, however, whether the information will be forthcoming. No connection exists between the Labour Council and the Trades Hall trustees, and from information at hand it is doubtful whether the council's curiosity will be gratified.

"There should be no whisper of suspicion," said a prominent trades-unionist yesterday, "that in the construction of our hall a penny should be paid to contractors which might go towards upholding and advancing the cause of day labour. Indeed, such a course would be suicidal to the principle for which we have fought so hard. This work should be done by day labour even if it leads to inconvenience. What would the public think of us and of our Parliamentary party if contractors walk into our very headquarters, and do work for which we can supply hundreds of competent men?" Such is a general opinion in trades and labour circles.

In view of these expressions, and of the attitude of trades-unionists towards Government employment, the position advanced on behalf of the trustees is interesting.

Commenting yesterday on the discussion which took place at the Labour Council a trustee put the matter thus:—"It appears to me as though a disturbance is to be made about nothing. Some people are too fond of raising their voices with a view to catching notoriety. I assure you that no tenders have been called for the Trades Hall additions, although in some instances firms have been asked for prices for sections of the work. It is absolutely impossible to carry out such a work entirely by day labour, and that must be manifest to any practical man."

"As business men," he continued, "we must proceed on business lines. Our money must not be wasted. No; we receive no assistance from the Government towards this work. The money expended is our own, raised by loan for the specific purpose of erecting these additions. For the necessary land we paid £900, and the cost of building is estimated at £3700. Originally we received from the Crown the land on which the existing Trades Hall is situated. Soon afterwards we were given by Parliament permission to borrow money on the property, and by that means and various other proceeds raised by trades-unionists the building was completed. The present trustees were appointed by the Crown.

"It has been complained that in the original building the foundations were carried out by day labour. That was in 1884, and I fail to see where a connection exists between then and now. Yes; it is true that the work was let by contract, but there were conditions which made such a course imperative. Now the case is different. The additions have just risen above the foundations, and so far all work has been done by day labour.

"I believe in day labour, but I realise that there is a line beyond which the system must fail. We as trustees cannot afford to carry the principle to extremes merely to please a discontented few. There is work such as joinery in the construction of a building like this which must from an economic standpoint be done by a man possessing the necessary machinery. To buy machinery for a few weeks' work would be absurd, and we are not going to do it. We have no connection with the Labour Council, and I fail to see why their demand for information should be considered. If we are bound to day labour we must get our bricks burned, our timber cut and sawn, and other material provided by the hands of unionists. The whole outcry is ridiculous. We shall adopt day labour where it is feasible."

SOCIAL.

His Excellency the Governor, accompanied by Lady Rawson and Miss Rawson, and attended by Major Holman, A.D.C., and Captain R. Clark, left by the express for Melbourne on Thursday evening, and will be the guest of the Acting Governor-General and Lady Tennyson at Government House, Melbourne, during the Cup festivities.

Lady Rawson presided at the annual meeting of the Mothers' Union in the Chapter-house last Wednesday afternoon. There was a large attendance of members, and appropriate addresses were given by Lady Rawson, the Archbishop, Mrs. H. C. Dangar, Archdeacon Gunther, Archdeacon Langley, and the Rev. R. E. Goddard.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather on Thursday afternoon many of those invited to the garden party given by the Primate and Miss Snowdon Smith were unable to be present, and we have been requested to state that the Archbishop and Miss Snowdon Smith will be "at home" to friends on Wednesday next and the following Wednesday from 3 to 6 o'clock at Bishopscourt.

The news of the appointment of Captain Wallington, C.M.G., to be a groom of the bedchamber to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, will be received by his many friends with mingled feelings of pleasure and regret. Pleasure to know that he has received such an honour and recognition of his services; and regret that one who has so long been amongst us and was such a familiar figure to all at different Government House functions, and so courteous to everyone with whom he came in contact, should be leaving Australia at an early date to take up his new and high official duties. We understand Captain Wallington will return to England in March.

Last Monday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. W. Carlisle Taylor invited a few friends to afternoon tea at the Equitable Buildings to meet Mrs. Eugen Sandow. Tea, coffee, strawberries and cream, and other light refreshments were served in the boardroom on the first floor. Mrs. Sandow, who was accompanied by her friend Miss Edwards, who is travelling with her, was shown all over the Equitable building by Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle Taylor. Amongst those present were Mrs. M. H. Stephen, Mr. Justice and Mrs. G. B. Simpson, Mrs. David Anderson and Miss Anderson, Lady Miklouho Maclay, Hon. C. Pilcher and Mrs. Pilcher, Mrs. Herbert Marks, Mrs. Arthur Allen, Mrs. P. H. Morton, Mrs. Turnbull, Mrs. H. Levy, Mr. R. Allen, and Mr. Kelso King. Mr. Sandow was unable to be present as he had to fulfil an engagement in Brisbane.

The marriage of Mr John Fraser Rodger, son of Mr. J. Rodger, J.P., of Narrawa, with Miss Mary Ann Robertson, eldest daughter of Mr. Angus Robertson, of Turrett Field, Binda, was solemnised at the Church of England, Binda, on October 13. The Rev. J. Hetherington, rector, officiated, and Miss Carr presided at the organ. The church, which was decorated for the occasion, was crowded, and the service was fully choral. The bride, who was given away by her father, was dressed in white silk, with court train, trimmed with Brussels lace, chiffon, and accordeon-pleated frills, and finished with pearls, also the customary veil and orange blossoms. She also wore a bracelet of opals and pearls, and carried a shower bouquet, the gifts of the bridegroom. The bridesmaid was Miss Gwendolyn G. Thornton, of Poplar Hill, who was dressed in eau-de-nil voile, trimmed with white silk applique, black ribbon velvet, chiffon and ribbon, with picture hat. Two little children, Miss Catherine Robertson (sister) and Master Webster, also attended the bride. They were dressed in white silk. The bridesmaids wore gold brooches, the gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. George Rodger acted as best man. After the ceremony the bridal party proceeded to the spacious Binda Hall, where a reception was held, followed by a dance. About 70 guests were present and many were the congratulations offered to the newly-married couple. Mr. and Mrs. Rodger left amidst showers of confetti and rose leaves for their future home at Gararoo. The bride's travelling dress was of petunia cloth, strapped with silk and a vest of cream silk with point d'esprit net, worn with a cream hat.

A wedding was celebrated at Llautrescente, Wallace-street, West Kogarah, the residence of the bride's sister, on Wednesday, October 15, when Mr. Henry Otto Rotton, son of the late Mr. Henry Rotton, of Bathurst, was married to Miss Florence Hamilton Dee, youngest daughter of the late Mr. T. W. H. Dee, of Wagga Wagga. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles J. Byng, rector of Christ Church, Bexley. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. A. C. H. Dee, of the A.J.S. Bank head office, Sydney. She wore a dress of ivory satin brocade with two deep flounces of silk embroidered lace, transparent yoke, and sleeves, the bodice trimmed with lace, orange blossoms, and lilies of the valley, and a wreath and veil. She also wore a bracelet and brooch of amethysts and pearls, and carried a shower bouquet, the gifts of the bridegroom. She was attended by her little niece, Miss Ada Edna Wilson as bridesmaid, who wore cream voile. After the ceremony a reception was held, and the happy couple left by the afternoon train for the South Coast.

A wedding was celebrated at Wesley Church, Chippendale, on Wednesday, October 1. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. Colwell, the bridegroom being Mr. G. Gale, third son of Mr. Albert Gale, of Stanmore, and the bride Miss Annie Hitchcock, third daughter of Mr. W. W. Hitchcock, of Petersham. The church was decorated for the occasion by the friends of the bride, who was given away by her father. She was dressed in soft white silk trimmed with lace and orange blossoms, a wreath and veil; she also wore a pearl pendant, and carried a shower bouquet, gifts of the bridegroom. There were three bridesmaids in attendance, the Misses Edie and Mabel Hitchcock (sisters of the bride) and Miss Muriel M'Intosh (niece of the bridegroom). The firstmentioned wore a cream voile trimmed with twine-coloured applique, and mousseline de soie; her gold bamboo bangle and shower bouquet being the gifts of the bridegroom. The younger bridesmaids wore white silk dresses trimmed with Valenciennes lace, and white picture hats, also pearl and turquoise brooches, and carried pink bouquets, the bridegroom's gifts. Mr. W. Hitchcock acted as best man. During the service a song of thanksgiving was rendered by Mrs. J. H. Hitchcock. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the A.B.C. rooms, where a reception was held, and the bride and bridegroom received the congratulations of their friends, after which they left for their honeymoon. The presents were numerous and costly.

A wedding took place at St. Paul's Church, Cooma, on Tuesday, October 14, when Mr. William John Wiseman, son of Mr. W. J. Wiseman, ex-Mayor of Wollongong, was married to Miss Winifred Mary Perkins, second daughter of Mr. E. Perkins, of Cooma. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. F. Wentworth Shields, and the church was prettily decorated for the occasion, and crowded with guests and spectators. The bride wore a handsome Japanese silk, entirely made in pin-point tucks, and trimmed with twine-coloured applique and chiffon, transparent yoke and orange blossoms, and a cream crinoline straw picture hat, trimmed with white carnations and ribbon. She also carried a beautiful shower bouquet, and wore a handsome bangle, the gifts of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids (Misses May and Leila Perkins, sisters of the bride) wore cream voile skirts trimmed with white satin ribbon, cream silk blouses trimmed with Paris insertion and tucks. Each wore gold necklets and heart and diamond pendants, the gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. R. Robson (Hornsby) acted as best man. At the close of the ceremony the Wedding March was played by the organist (Miss Birch), and the guests adjourned to the Cooma Hotel, where a reception was held, and the wedding breakfast served. The bride's travelling dress was electric-blue check summer tweed, trimmed with navy blue silk strappings. The honeymoon will be spent in Sydney and Wollongong.

The annual hospital ball held at the School of Arts, Cooma, on October 15, was a great success. Mrs. W. Amess and Miss Shannon acted as secretaries, and worked indefatigably and so successfully that over £50 in cash was collected before the ball took place. The hall was effectively decorated with flags, handsome shields, evergreens, flowers, and fairy lamps. The supper provided by the ladies of the district was excellent. The juvenile ball was held on the following evening, and was also largely attended. The proceeds of the two dances reached nearly £100.

Mme. Dolores, who received a great ovation at her concert in the Town Hall on Thursday evening, wore a handsome dress of buttercup brocade, which opened in front, showing a panel of white satin heavily embroidered in gold. The tight-fitting bodice had revers of the same embroidery, and was finished at the top with a chemisette of lace, and a spray of yellow roses on the left side. Her ornaments were a necklace of diamonds, a long gold chain, and diamond combs in her hair.

The excellent representation of "Sherlock Holmes" at the Theatre Royal is still attracting large audiences, the fine acting of Mr. Cuyler Hastings, upon whom the great interest of the play is centred, being much appreciated. The ladies are not given much opportunity for displaying handsome dresses, but Miss Mabel Lane as Mrs. Larrabee in the first act wears a beautiful black sequined net, which glistens with every movement, and in the last scene appears in an evening dress of rose pink silk covered with cream-embroidered net, with which was worn a handsome evening cloak of cafe-au-lait coloured corduroy velvet. Miss Mary Chevalier, as the heroine Miss Faulkner, is first seen in a cream voile trimmed with lace flounces, and afterwards in a walking dress of fawn cloth prettily made with a Russian coat bodice, and worn with a hat to match. In the last act she wears a cream cloth dress piped and strapped with pale-blue, and a becoming toque trimmed with pale-blue ribbon and cream lace.

The Ministering Children's League of New South Wales is preparing to receive Miss Calder (the hon. organising secretary for Australasia), who will be in Sydney from November 4 to the 18th. Besides attending a special meeting arranged to take place in the vestibule of the Town Hall on Tuesday, November 11, Miss Calder has promised to visit and address all the Sydney and suburban branches, and the hon. secretary (Mrs. Tower) has had a difficult task to fit in so many visits in the short time at Miss Calder's disposal. Lady Rawson has kindly consented to preside at the Town Hall on November 11, and also to be present at the annual service in St. Andrew's Cathedral on November 18.

The marriage of the Rev. John Rawling, vicar of St. James' Church of England, Wilcannia, and Miss Adrienne Loudon Wood, also of Wilcannia, took place on Tuesday, October 14, at St. James' Church, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Dr. Anderson, Bishop of Riverina, in the presence of a large number of guests and spectators, the vicar and his bride being very popular in the district. The bride wore a handsome white silk dress and a tulle veil over a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet, also a white prayer book, the gift of the bridegroom. There were four bridesmaids in attendance, Miss Valerie Wyssenbach, Miss Veri Dowling, and the Misses Ruth and Edna Binnie; and Mr. Thomas Walker, of Tarella, acted as best man. A number of the bride's Sunday-school class were also in attendance, and were prettily dressed, and carried baskets of flowers. After the ceremony the wedding party adjourned to the London Bank House, where a reception was held by Mr. and Mrs. Stanton, the brother-in-law and sister of the bride, and refreshments were served. The numerous wedding presents were displayed in the drawing-room. Later in the afternoon the bride and bridegroom were driven to their house.

You want a TAILOR-MADE GOWN, and we can supply same for you at less cost than any other House in Sydney. Our garments are made "entirely by men," under the supervision of a FIRST-CLASS CUTTER, at the marvellous price of 4½ guineas. On September 17 the marriage of Mr. Charles E. Richards, eldest son of Mr. Charles Richards, of Erskineville, and Miss Jessie Jesse, youngest daughter of Mr. William Jesse, of Surry Hills, was celebrated at St. John's Church, Darlinghurst, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. C. Beck. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore ivory silk voile trimmed with point d'esprit net, Mechlin insertion, and chenille. She also wore a gold necklet and amethyst and pearl pendant and carried a shower bouquet, gifts of the bridegroom. She was attended by six bridesmaids—Miss Richards, Miss Edie Richards, and Miss Dorothy Richards (sisters of the bridegroom), Miss Harriet Berkeley (niece of the bride), Miss Dunn and Miss Elsie Munro (cousins of the bride). Miss Richards and Miss Dunn were in pale cream nun's veiling trimmed with mousseline de soie and twine insertion, and wore biscuit-coloured hats with pale pink bebe roses and black ribbon velvet. The four younger bridesmaids were in cream silk muslin trimmed with butter-coloured lace and insertion and hats to match, and all carried shower bouquets, the gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. Spear acted as best man and Mr. Arthur Richards (brother of the bridegroom) as groomsman. After the ceremony a reception was held at the Oddfellows' Temple, Elizabeth-street, where the wedding breakfast was served. Later Mr. and Mrs. Richards left for their honeymoon, the bride's travelling dress being blue summer cloth trimmed with twine point d'esprit net and insertion. The happy couple were the recipients of many handsome presents.

On Monday morning, October 26, a wedding was solemnised in the Roman Catholic Church, Cobar, the bridegroom being Mr. P. A. Links (composer of the "Orotava Valse"), son of Mr. John Links, sen., of Carcoar, and the bride Miss Eliza Rankin, daughter of Mr. R. A. Rankin, of Drysdale. The Rev. Father J. J. Hughes performed the ceremony, and the church was crowded with guests and spectators. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, and wore white silk muslin, the skirt being trimmed with bebe ribbon, and a white chiffon toque trimmed with white flowers. Miss Robertson was the only bridesmaid, and wore a French muslin trimmed with white chiffon and pink roses. Mr. M. J. Corbett acted as groomsman. The bride was the recipient of numerous presents, including a prayer-book from the Catholic choir and the Children of Mary. The young couple left later in the morning on the honeymoon tour, during which Sydney and Gunnedah will be visited. The bride wore a blue travelling dress trimmed with guipure and black velvet, with a burnt-straw hat trimmed with blue chiffon and roses.

The marriage of Mr. James M'Conville, eldest son of Mr. Bernard M'Conville, and Miss Alice Maude Spence, eldest daughter of the late Mr. J. Spence, of Sydney, was celebrated at St. Francis' Church, Haymarket, by the Rev. Father Walsh, on October 25. The bride, who was dressed in white, was attended by her mother, at whose residence, Nithsdale-street, a party of friends subsequently assembled to congratulate the newly-married couple.

The marriage of Mr. William G. Collins, of Glebe Point, to Miss Gertrude M. Daniels, also of Glebe Point, was solemnised on October 15, by the Rev. S. S. Tovey, B.A., at St. John's Church, Bishopthorpe, Glebe Point. The bride, who was given away by her father, was dressed in ivory white silk, trimmed with applique and natural orange blossoms. She also wore wreath and veil, and carried a shower bouquet, the gift of the bridegroom. She was attended by her sister, Miss L. Daniels, as bridesmaid, who wore a light grey voile, trimmed with silk of the same shade and guipure insertion, and a picturesque hat of cream chiffon with ostrich feathers, and carried a bouquet of pink roses with pink streamers, the gift of the bridegroom. Mr. S. Cox, of Linden, was best man. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents. Later the happy couple left by the evening's express for Katoomba, where the honeymoon was spent, the bride's travelling dress being grey voile trimmed with guipure, and a cream chiffon hat trimmed with cream feathers and black velvet ribbon.

LIQUID FUEL.

AN INTERESTING DEMONSTRATION.

STEAMER CLAM AT GORE BAY.

At the invitation of Messrs. Burns, Philp, and Co., the managing agents of the Shell Transport and Trading Company, Limited, an opportunity was afforded those interested in the use of liquid fuel on steamships of inspecting the firing arrangements of the steamer Clam, which recently arrived from Batoum under liquid fuel. The Clam is one of a fleet of vessels running under the flag of the company, which now numbers 40 vessels. She has been burning liquid fuel for the past three years.

There was an attendance of about 200 visitors yesterday on board the vessel, which was berthed at the wharf at the company's installation, Gore Bay. They were conveyed to the works in the steamers Lady Hampden and Lady Mary specially chartered for the occasion.

The Shell Transport and Trading Company, Limited, have now established installations at Suez, Bombay, Calcutta, Karachi, Madras, Colombo, Penang, Singapore, Bangkok, Saigon, Hongkong, Shanghai, Amoy, Swatow, Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki, Capetown, Melbourne, Adelaide, and Sydney. They are all main installations. There are in New South Wales country depots at Newcastle, Clyde, Goulburn, Bathurst, Dubbo, Wollongong, and Junee, from which the company's system of delivering oil in bulk is carried out.

On the present voyage the Clam had a special shipment—some 4000 tons—of Solar Oil imported for the Australian Gaslight Company for the manufacture of gas, deliveries of which will be made from Gore Bay as required. The Clam will be followed by the Salabadji, also a burner of liquid fuel, which is timed to arrive about the end of next month.

At the installation at Gore Bay operations are steadily extending, and there is at present tank accommodation for over 8000 tons. The two largest steel tanks are capable of containing 4000 tons each, and are of large dimensions. Arrangements have however been made for doubling the capacity. From these tanks ocean liners will be able to take in bunkering fuel in a few hours and effect a great saving of time.

The gathering yesterday was a representative one, and included Colonel James Burns, Senator J. T. Walker, Captain J. Evans (Clam), Messrs. James Inglis, R. R. P. Hickson (chairman of the Harbour Trust), Beaton, and Waller (Harbour Trust Commissioners), V. W. Williams, Smart, Captains Hay and Bird, Messrs. T. Willis, Borthwick, A. L. M'Credie, J. S. Alexander, Walter Rooks, Kidd (president Engineering Association of New South Wales), J. Kneeshaw (superintendent of Tramways), Harry Pollitt, J. Brown (Sydney Ferries, Limited), T. N. D. Goddard, J. M. Purves, T. H. Houghton, J. Fell, Captain Pritchard, Fergus, A. H. Browne, Danvers, Powers, R. Forsyth, R. Pollock, Norman Selfe, F. Coxon, R. L. Scrutton, R. Davidson, Captain Phillips, Smith, A. N. K. Maxwell, Willis, Oliffe, S. Cornwell, Captain Timothy, F. W. Jackson, secretary of the Chamber of Mines, Ramsay (Oceanic S.S. Company), W. Rigg (chairman of the Illawarra S.S. Company), Major T. H. Lee, Captain M'Cauley, F. Buckle, A. A. Dircks, Captain Spain, and many others.

The visitors, on arrival, were received on board the Clam, and at once escorted to the engine-room, thence to the stokehole, where three furnaces were seen in active operation, in charge of chief engineer Wilkin. The methods in use were explained. It would appear that the oil is contained in huge tanks, whence, by gravitation, it flows through a series of pipes to an apparatus at the mouth of each furnace. As it descends it is met with a jet of steam forced through a small aperture, and ignited. With much force, regulated with ease by the engineer with one simple tool, it is driven into a furnace, where the compact volume of flame is broken up by a brick pillar against which it strikes. There was a great absence of the heat usually experienced in stoke holes, and the cleanliness was at once apparent. Great interest was taken in the demonstration, and wonder expressed at the simplicity of the operations. Another important feature is the saving in labour, as where with coal 21 firemen are employed, with liquid fuel the number is only six.

Refreshments were served on board the Lady Hampden, but no speeches were made, the proceedings being quite informal.

For the purpose of raising funds to assist in giving 600 children attending the Chippendale branch of the Sydney City Mission a picnic, a concert has been arranged to take place in the Redfern Town Hall on November 12. Mrs. M'Gowen and Mrs. P. H. Sullivan, wives of the members for the district, are the organisers, and the gathering will be under the patronage of the Hon. the Minister for Works.

METHODIST CHURCH.

ANNUAL DISTRICT SYNODS.

SYDNEY DISTRICT.

The sessions of the Sydney Synod were continued on Friday morning, when the president (Rev. W. Woolls-Rutledge) took the chair, and Rev. C. T. Newman led the devotions.

The morning was devoted to pastoral work, and a long and animated discussion took place concerning Ministerial invitations.

It was reported that the following Ministers had completed their three years' service in their respective circuits:—Rev. J. G. M. Taylor, of the Willoughby and Gordon circuit, which circuit had invited Rev. B. J. Meek to succeed him; Rev. Charles Stead completes his term at Mt. Lachlan; Rev. J. W. Moore at Rockdale; Rev. F. Colwell at Wesley Church; Rev. P. J. Stephen has been invited to Burwood in succession to the Rev. J. G. Middleton, who has accepted an invitation to succeed Rev. J. E. Carruthers at Stanmore. Rev. W. H. Beale completes his three years at Lewisham, and Rev. F. C. Boyer at Leichhardt, where he has accepted an invitation to remain, subject to conference approval. The Newtown circuit has invited Rev. J. W. Leadley to remain a fourth year as second minister. After due examination the synod unanimously recommended that the two probationers of the fourth year—Revs. G. Laverty and H. C. Foreman, B.A.—be admitted into full connexion at the ensuing conference subject to the satisfaction of the examination committee and medical referees.

No minister sought to become a supernumerary and no supernumerary sought to return to the work.

The representative sessions met at 2.30, and the devotions were led by Rev. Chas. Stead.

The afternoon was largely occupied by the annual conversation on the work of God, in which many members took part, and a comprehensive resolution was proposed by Rev. C. Stead and accepted.

On the motion of Rev. J. E. Carruthers the synod recorded its solemn and emphatic protest against the proposal to legalise the totalisator, and respectfully requested the president to memorialise the Legislative Assembly against the passage of the proposed bill. A motion was passed calling the attention of the Minister for Education to a statement made by a certain Father Hambly, stigmatising the Public school system as being immoral, and asking him to investigate or repudiate the charge as he deems well.

The usual vote of thanks to the president and the various secretaries brought the sessions of the synod to a close after four days' continuous sitting.

PARRAMATTA DISTRICT.

The closing sessions of the Parramatta District Synod were held yesterday. In addition to the laymen already reported as representing circuits, the following laymen were also present—Mr. W. G. Bean, J.P., representing the supernumerary ministers and widows' fund; and Mr. R. Hammond, representing the Ryde circuit. It was reported to the meeting that the Rev. J. G. M. Taylor, of Willoughby, had accepted an invitation to the Ryde circuit. The following elections were made:—To accompany the chairman to the stationing committee and conference, the Rev. B. J. Meek and the Rev. John Gardiner; representatives to distribution committee, the Rev. John Penman and Messrs. W. H. M'Clelland, J.P., and W. G. Bean, J.P. Matters in connection with the supernumerary ministers and widows' fund, the children's fund, the century fund, and the removal expenses fund were brought under review, and inquiries were made as to the relation of each circuit to the various funds, which was found generally satisfactory. At a short pastoral session the oral examination and preached sermon of the Rev. Howard Fleming, a probationer of the fourth year, were reported upon, and it was decided to recommend Mr. Fleming to the conference for ordination. Mr. V. Murray, a candidate for the ministry, was also recommended to the conference for acceptance. It was decided to hold the next synod at Parramatta, at a time to be appointed by the conference. The usual votes of thanks to the chairman and the other officers of the synod concluded the business.

BATHURST DISTRICT.

BATHURST, Thursday.

At the third day's sitting of the synod the Sunday school returns showed 70 schools with 4698 scholars; Bands of Hope, 21. There was an increase of 146 scholars and 29 teachers. The synod decided to recommend the conference to direct that special teachers' meetings be held in each circuit. The Christian Endeavour returns showed that 18 societies with 477 members and six junior societies with 152 members existed. It was reported that the district had contributed £180 to the home mission fund, £219 to the foreign mission fund, and £21 to the theological fund last year. The question of the readjustment of the Oberon and Rockley circuit was reopened. It was decided to recommend the adjustment of the boundaries of Oberon, Sunny Corner, and Lithgow circuits so as to form one circuit of the present Lithgow and Sunny Corner circuits with Oberon and Edith, to be called Lithgow and Oberon circuits, with three married ministers, who shall reside in Lithgow, Wallerawang, and Oberon; and that Rockley, Dennis Island, Caloola, Cow Flat, Wiseman's Creek, Stoney Creek, Burraga, and Mount David be formed into a new circuit, with a single minister stationed at Burraga.

It was resolved, in view of the altered relations of women in political life, to urge ministers to use every opportunity to advise Methodist women to make full use of their right of franchise and to prayerfully discharge the sacred responsibility in this direction. It was also resolved that the synod affirms its adherence to the principle of voting in person as most in keeping with the genius of popular representation, and deprecates any proposal to provide for voting by post as calculated to lead to abuses.

Property Returns.—New erections: Cowra, Lithgow, Parkes circuits, £980; debt, £370; improvements in various circuits, £1103; debt, £404.

GOULBURN DISTRICT.

GOULBURN, Thursday.

At the Methodist Synod to-day the debt of £8730 was recorded as existing on the church properties, showing a decrease of £231 for the year. Erection of three new churches was reported, with one in course of erection. In other cases substantial improvements had been effected to church properties.

A resolution was passed,—"That the synod, having noticed the effort which is being made to obtain State aid to schools, here desires to express its strong conviction that it would be disastrous to this State and opposed to the strongest convictions of the great majority of the people, if any alteration or amendment of the present Public Instruction Act should be made by Parliament." It was resolved to endeavour to secure large contributions to the funds of the Church Sustentation Extension Society.

The following resolution was passed:—"That this synod is of opinion that the increase of circuit levies and ministers' subscriptions to the supernumeraries and ministers' widows' fund now ruling is unduly oppressive to all concerned. In default of any immediate probability of raising the large sum advised by the actuary to place the fund on the basis of actuarial solvency, and with a view of securing a more proportionate and just scale of allowances to claimants, it recommends the conference to take such action as it may deem best to secure the division of the fund in the terms of the report submitted to the synod for its consideration by the committee appointed by the last conference." It was resolved,—"That the conference committee on the condition of our Sabbath schools having come to the conclusion that the schools exhibit a downward tendency, this meeting expresses its conviction that the real cause of the trouble is largely the neglect of home training on the part of parents, and recommends that the conference direct the special attention of our people to the proper discharge of their parental responsibilities." It was resolved to memorialise the Government against legalising the totalisator, also to prevent art unions being carried out by trades societies or other bodies. A resolution was also passed expressing the synod's grave fear that the sacredness and obligations of the Christian Sabbath were increasingly disregarded, and requesting the Houses of Legislature, the railway authorities, the heads of households, and all interested in the prosperity of the land and the continuance of religion to encourage no unnecessary work or travelling on the day of rest.

This afternoon the members of synod were entertained at a garden party at Lawrenny.

THE CALL TO CHURCH UNITY.

(Thoughts on the proposed Union of Presbyterian, Congregational, and other Churches).

By the Moderator of the Presbyterian Church of N.S.W.

From the same Spring these Churches have their rise;
O'er loving Heart their stream of life supplies;
Through arid wastes of evil, hate, and ruth,
Have flowed, in each, Christ's Love and Grace and Truth.

As when a streamlet, leaping from the hills,
Is broken by some rock to separate rills,
Which no ceforth parted flow, with each a name;—
So is the Church divided; yet the same.

Still, as the streams flow on, each takes its form
From rock-bed, bosky banks, or sudden storm;
Each from its own environment takes hue,
And this is fair to me and that to you.

Who dare ban streams which, loyal to their Source,
Spread o'er the land with varying onward course?
Each has its charm, its mission, and its worth;
Laves lips, makes deserts green, gladdens the earth.

All this is true! God's grace is not confined
To this great Church or that. The love and mind
And heart of God can many channels fill,
And overflow, and leave an ocean still.

No Church may claim the patronage of Grace;
Each Chapel is God's Temple has its place;
Yet, when divisions 'pinge on Christian Love;
Break down partitions! every barrier move!

Aye, and the soul-thirst of this land is deep,
And cannot be supplied by rills that creep
And trickle. These must join and make a stream,
Both broad and deep, in which Heaven's glories gleam.

We love familiar channels, type and name;
But, if men die of thirst, then there is shame
On our provincial shibboleth and creed:—
We must unite for God and human needs.

Let Christ be all in all, Fountain and Stream!
Let us think less of systems, more of Him!
So shall hills melt that hold God's folk apart,
The Church shall form one stream from Christ's own heart.

Is this a dream—a vision of the night?
Mayhap! But is it not of God? His light
Comes to men's hearts in many ways. To Him
We look for Grace to realise His dream.

POULTRY.

All questions relative to fancy or commercial poultry-keeping, diseases, &c., should be addressed to Ancona, "Herald" Office.

Perplexed.—When Mr. W. Cook, of England, was out here he compiled a standard for Jubilee Orpingtons, which was printed in the catalogue of the New South Wales P. P. and D. Society's Show in 1900, but contained several printers' errors. When the Orpington Club was formed it was thought that the practical breeders connected therewith would formulate a new standard, or correct the old one, but they adopted the old one, printers' errors included. As a guide to what is the correct colour, you should apply to the president of the club, Mr. C. H. Bayley, who is a large and experienced breeder of this variety.

W. E.—A fowl's liver consists of two lobes, one larger than the other, and of a reddish colour. Any great departure from the normal size or colour would suggest that it was not in a healthy condition.

The steamer Moravian, which arrived early in the week, has, as is usual with this vessel, a number of pedigreed stock. The feathered portion on this occasion was a small one so far as Sydney is concerned, and consisted of a pair of Gold Wyandotte hens of apparent good breeding qualities, the balance being a few of the now popular Buff Orpingtons of more than average quality. The birds are brought out by Captain Simpson, and will no doubt soon find purchasers.

The "Herald's" London correspondent in Wednesday's issue very correctly states that the Australian climate is a splendid one for poultry-breeding, and then, assuming that farmers and others utilising this advantageous climate to that end, are burdened with supplies awaiting foreign or other markets, and to assist producers in developing this over-sea trade, a new system of packing and freezing, such as is adopted in Canada, is recommended which would lead to the development of a large trade. The irony of the whole thing is the fact that our present poultry stocks are just like that of meats of all other sorts, far below local requirements, and as a consequence, rather than attempting to export we are importing both poultry and eggs from other States, especially from South Australia, the breeders there finding New South Wales a better market than the over-sea one.

Five or six years ago, when the export trade was first established here, it was prompted by the then surplus stocks of all classes of fowls, hens frequently being quoted in the commercial column of the "Herald," at from 1s 9d to 2s 3d and 2s 6d, chickens at 2s 6d, and prime up to 3s, all at per pair, the latter figure also applying to well-meated ducklings. For a couple of seasons the English markets took all the best quality goods the State could spare, high eulogisms frequently appearing about both the quality, packing, and preparation, the ultimate result being that the unlimited outlet depleted the stocks here to such an extent that the Sydney prices for English quality goods became prohibitive, while at the same time the English importations from foreign countries were annually on the increase, with the correlative of reduced prices, the ultimate effect being that for the past two years there has been no poultry exported to England. Fortunately, however, just as it became unpayable to send suitable quality to England the Boer war created a demand for our secondrate goods, i.e., fat hens and other meaty fowls, some 200,000 head of this quality being exported from Sydney. At the close of the war the demand, to a large extent, fell off, but not too soon, for, despite this State being a splendid one for poultry-breeding, the above numbers denuded it to such an extent that the even limited small orders which find their way to Sydney cannot, on account of the high prices, be filled, the shipment mentioned in last Saturday's "Herald," which went by the steamer Kent, having been in store for a number of months, and procured before the present high prices obtained. The present inability of this State to supply the now limited poultry demands of South Africa is already playing into the hands of other countries. The firm of F. W. and P. Hudson, who were large shippers of these goods to the Cape, and who have representatives on the spot, are now largely dealing in both Argentine and Russian poultry. The low prices now in England have also prompted shipments from that country, and, it is said, with commercial satisfaction. The following comparative prices will clearly show our inability at the present time to do an export poultry trade with England. Last Friday's prices at the auction saleyards were:—Hens, 4s to 5s per pair; young roosters, 5s to 6s 6d; choice, 7s 6d; choice English ducks up to 7s. Should the above fowls and ducks be good enough for the English market there is a further charge of about 2s per pair for killing, dressing, packing, freezing, insurance, freight, and commission, clearly showing that at the present time our best goods could not be landed in London under 10s per couple, a price which will be seen is nearly double that obtaining for their own fresh goods at the central market, London. The following quotations are from the "Poultry, Game, and Fish Trade Gazette":—Ducklings, 2s 6d to 4s; West of England chickens, 2s to 3s; Suffolk chickens, 2s to 3s 3d; Essex, 2s to 3s; Irish, 1s 6d to 2s 9d; old, 1s 3d to 2s each; American, 6d to 8d per lb.; goslings, 4s to 5s each. In last month's issue of another English paper, entitled "Poultry for the Farm," the following appears:—Prime crossbred pullets, six months old, 2s each; large fat hens, 1s 6d each; old hens, fresh from the farm, 16s per dozen; ducklings, fat, for the table, three months old, 1s 6d each by the hundred. In the same gazette an advertisement appears from a wholesale dealer in frozen fowls, offering Canadian and United States chickens at 8¼d to 9d per lb. (Sydney shop prices about 1s 3d per lb.); Canadian ducks, 12 in box, at 2s 6d each—prices little more than half the present value in Sydney, and which, deducting freight, freezing, and other expenses, cannot leave more than from 1s 6d to 1s 9d each for the Canadian grower, a price with which Australians have no desire to compete.

The standard poultry foods—pollard, bran, maize, and wheat—have the present week reached prices higher than that recorded for many years; 1s 10d per bushel of 20lb. of pollard. The wholesale price is nearly 150 per cent. higher than formerly, while maize and wheat are 100 per cent. higher, all of which is a handicap so serious to breeders that many are now largely reducing their stocks. Some of the large duck farms in the suburbs have been reduced by half, while those interested in breeding fancy fowls are also limiting their hatching operations. Fowls and eggs are certainly much dearer than in former years, but this is only a partial set off to the feed handicap.

It is a failing with many fanciers to hatch and attempt to rear more chickens than their time and accommodation will warrant, and the result is that those brought to the point of maturity lack the quality that might have been attained had the numbers been less. Not only do they attempt to rear more than they can properly care for, but they breed from more birds than is necessary, and are not as particular in the selection of breeders as they should be. It is advisable to breed from a few choice specimens rather than from a large number in which excellent birds are greatly in the minority. The percentage of chicks that surpass in quality that of the parent birds is small as compared with the numbers that only equal or fall below it. The best specimens should be selected, and no more of them than are required to produce the number of chicks for which one has the time to properly care for, and the ground and buildings to accommodate. More good birds can be reared in this way than in any other, and it is the good birds that give pleasure as well as profit to their owner.

The hen that is well taken care of is the most profitable during the winter, because her product—eggs—is higher priced at that time than at any other, and her owner can well afford to pay considerable attention to her wants during this period of the year. It has become a recognised fact that poultry-keeping cannot be made to yield its greatest profits unless the hens can be induced to lay from May to September. The farmer should be the man who is best equipped to induce egg production. He has the time to give the proper care, and produces most of the feed that hens need to enable them to lay. There is an increasing demand for eggs, and there is no danger of overdoing the business of their production. What is wanted is more prolific strains and a more careful attention to details. If the farmers of this State will take up poultry-breeding as earnestly as they take hold of their other work, they can make the winter months the most money-making time of the year.

Poultry will fall into all sorts of vices if they are penned up closely in idleness or improperly fed and watered, and no blame should be attached to them for it. If they are closely penned and fed too much fattening food they will lay soft-shelled eggs, and the best way to cure the trouble is to get rid of the fat by making them work. If they are permitted to stand around in idleness they will learn the feather-eating habit, which is a vice that is difficult to cure; in fact, it is incurable when the habit is well established. Egg-eating is another vice that comes from idleness when the hens are laying. At first an egg will be broken by accident, perhaps, or hens will peck at it because they have nothing else to do, and finally they form the egg-eating habit. The pot is the best cure for all these ills.

Green food may be supplied either raw or cooked. The former is generally the better, because although cooking improves the palatability, and thus permits of the use of stuff that would otherwise be valueless, it removes from the vegetables some of their valuable properties, which being deposited in the water are wasted. When green food is given in a raw state it should be young and fresh. With most kinds of vegetables these two points are essential, so as to prevent crop troubles. Freshness in any case must be insisted on, although lettuce which has gone to seed and is "stalky" will be found beneficial and always relished by the fowls. Much carelessness is generally shown in the way of supplying green food. The common rule is to throw it on the ground, with the consequence that it is trodden on in the runs and soon rendered putrid and offensive to sight and taste, and becomes a fruitful source of disease. It is a bad habit, not only poisoning the fowls as well as the ground, but leading to much waste of good material. A simple way, and one which really does good, is to securely suspend the green food on a piece of cord a foot or so from the ground, just high enough for the fowls to reach it. They pick at this in a very cheerful way, and, besides adding so much to their health, it affords them both amusement and exercise. Another method is to get a small string net made of half-inch mesh, and into this place the green food, draw the string, and suspend it. The birds will eat therefrom, and surprisingly little is dropped, and the runs are kept tidy and free from decomposing vegetable. This method acts admirably for birds in small runs, and in the case of exhibition pens it is most economical as well as cleanly, for a net may be suspended in one pen for a short time, then removed to another.

SERIOUS ASSAULT IN COMPANY.

FOUR PERSONS CHARGED.

STATEMENTS BY ACCUSED.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

The hearing of the charge against Robert M'Gregor, 28, horse dealer; Jeremiah O'Donnell, 29, labourer; Richard O'Donnell, 18, labourer; Maud O'Donnell, 31, no occupation; of in company assaulting one Alexander Rose, and robbing him of the sum of 30s, his property, on October 17, was concluded yesterday at the Central Police Court before Mr. John L. King, D.S.M.

Dr. Sheldon, who admitted the prosecutor to Sydney Hospital about 1 o'clock on the morning of October 17, stated that the man had an incised wound on the left temple about 2in. long, and 1in. deep; also a wound behind the left eye, extending to behind the left ear; an incised wound on the left lower jaw about 2½in. long, reaching to the bone; two incised wounds on the chin about 1in. long; also two similar wounds on the right side of the face. Altogether witness put about a dozen stitches in. Prosecutor's head and neck were considerably bruised. The wounds had probably been caused by a knife. The man was still in the hospital.

Mary Jane King, a widow, living at 5 Wentworth-lane, stated that the female accused lived there, and on the morning of the 17th ultimo she came home, having one hand bloody. Witness asked her what the meaning of it was, and she replied that "Duckey" (the accused Richard O'Donnell), Jerry, and a man named Bob had dealt with a man at the top of the lane, where he still lay. The female accused further said that she had nothing to do with it; that she was only talking to the man when the others came up. She added that she got the blood on her hand by wiping the man's mouth. She supposed it was murder, but she was not in it. She further said she had seen the man in the hospital with a cut under his chin; but he was either too ill or did not want to recognise her. She also said that the men had got away with the money and she had not got a bean out of it. She reckoned they got about 30s. If she went along they would have to go too.

James Gallagher (Senior-Constable of Police), stated that he arrested the female accused on a minor charge. Subsequently [illegible] the accused Richard O'Donnell, who made a statement produced to him. The two other accused were arrested for not having any lawful visible means of support, and were afterwards charged with the assault and robbery.

Constable Mitchell stated that he took the accused Richard O'Donnell to Sydney Hospital, where he picked out Rose as the man who had been assaulted and robbed in Wentworth-lane.

Constable Malone stated that he arrested the accused Jeremiah O'Donnell in Park-street. Witness arrested Richard O'Donnell at George-street, Parramatta. The latter had blood on his shoes, and in reply to witness said he must have got it in the freezing-room at the meatworks. Witness arrested the accused M'Gregor in a house in Palmer-street. Subsequently Mrs. Vesey identified the accused Jeremiah O'Donnell and M'Gregor as two men whom she had seen in Druitt-street on the night of the assault.

Annie Lavinia Vesey, married woman, residing at Wentworth-place, said she saw the female accused and the accused Jerry O'Donnell and M'Gregor in company on the night of October 16. Witness saw them later on going up the lane together, and the female accused shortly afterwards returning. The accused M'Gregor followed, and a few minutes later Jerry O'Donnell came along Druitt-street. When the four met again witness heard one of the men say "Did you get it?" The female accused replied "Yes bet," at the same time passing something to one of the men. Witness then walked out on to the footpath, and the female accused called out "Nit, git." The Saturday following witness identified Jeremiah O'Donnell and M'Gregor as two of the men she had seen in company with the female accused in the lane on the night of the assault.

At this stage the minor charges against the accused were withdrawn.

Alexander Rose, ship's fireman, stated that on the night of October 16, between 11 and 12 o'clock, he met the female accused and went with her into Wentworth-lane. As he entered the lane he saw Mrs. Vesey, who asked him where he was going. He attempted to turn to speak to her, but the female accused caught his arm and dragged him along. While he was standing talking to her three men came up, but he could not identify the accused as the men. One of them struck him on the cheek, witness thought with a knife. Witness fell, and did not remember anything more. The clothes produced (bloodstained) were those he was wearing on the night in question. When he left the hotel prior to meeting the woman he had about 30s in his pocket, and he had the money when he went into the lane. His pockets had since been turned out. Witness recollected being found by a constable, but could not say whether he had the money then or not. He had been in Sydney Hospital since the assault, and was still a patient there.

To the female accused: He did not remember saying at the hospital on the morning after the assault that she was not the woman.

Frank O'Donnell, ship's fireman, stated that between 11 and 12 on the night in question he was near the entrance to Wentworth-lane, talking with Mrs. Vesey and Mrs. Ross, when he saw the female accused talking to three men near the corner of Kent and Druitt streets. He could not say that the men were the accused. Subsequently he saw the female prisoner with the prosecutor go to a house in the lane and knock, but not getting any answer she went to the back gate. Then she whistled and went down the lane, and the three men moved away. Afterwards he saw the woman running up Wentworth-lane, one of the men going through a back lane and meeting her, the two proceeding into Kent-street. The two other men came up Druitt-street, and almost touched witness as they passed. Mrs. Vesey stopped and looked after them. Witness followed Mrs. Vesey, and saw the accused woman and the three men going towards Market-street. As the female accused and prosecutor went into the lane Mrs. Vesey said, "Good night, Alec." There was an entrance to Wentworth-lane out of Sussex-street.

Arthur Winterton, police constable, gave evidence as to finding the accused staggering about Wentworth-lane. Witness conveyed him to the Sydney Hospital. Witness saw the three male accused in Druitt-street about 11 o'clock that night, but did not see the female accused.

Annie Smith stated that she lived in Palmer-street, Woolloomooloo, and that the accused M'Gregor stopped at her house. He left home on the morning of October 16, and had not returned up to midnight.

Michael Dunn, police constable, stationed at No. 2 station, produced a plan showing the locality of Wentworth-place, Druitt-street, Kent-street, Sussex-street, and adjacent lanes.

Thomas Malone, police constable, recalled, produced a knife and 2s 9d that had been found on one of the accused when arrested.

Esther Godlier, married woman, residing at No. 21 Harris-street, stated that on October 16 she was waiting on Mrs. King at No. 29 Wentworth-lane. She knew the female accused. [illegible]

[illegible]

The two other accused reserved their defence. The four accused were committed for trial at the next Court of gaol delivery at Sydney on November 24. Bail was allowed.

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE ROYAL.

"Sherlock Holmes" continues to draw large audiences at the Theatre Royal, one of the most appreciated scenes being the one in which the burglars of Moriarty's gang attempt to murder the astute detective in their barred and vaulted cellar. In real life one may suppose that Sherlock Holmes' talents would hardly have saved him. But on the stage, owing to the power and self-possession of Mr. Cuyler Hastings as the hero, and to the realistic acting of the other members of Mr. J. C. Williamson's company, the scene becomes highly exciting, and the whole situation more than possible. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

PALACE THEATRE.

"Cyrano de Bergerac" will be produced by Mr. William Anderson at the Palace Theatre at 7.45 o'clock to-night, under the stage direction of Mr. Henry Lee. Some account of Edmond Rostand, the foremost dramatic author of France now living, will be found in "Musical and Dramatic Notes." Mr. Henry Lee, who is to appear in the all-important character of Cyrano, has played it with success in the United States, and is also versed in every detail of the stage production required for the complicated romantic drama. The newly-formed cast will include Miss Eugenie Duggan as Roxane, Mr. Harry Plimmer as Christian, and Mr. Harry Diver as De Guiche. There are a great number of minor characters, including Le Bret (Mr. Hans Phillips), the pastry cook (Mr. Frank Crossley), Duenna (Miss Helene Burdette), and Lise (Miss Hardinge Maltby).

"THE MESSENGER BOY" COMPANY.

Mr. J. C. Williamson's musical comedy company closed their season with a final performance of "The Messenger Boy" at Her Majesty's Theatre last night. Mr. Fred. H. Graham and his merry companions have done excellent work here in "San Toy" and the piece in question, and their send-off was marked by much enthusiasm. Miss Rose Musgrove, Miss Lilian Digges, and Miss Blanche Wallace were all warmly recognised last night. Mr. Williamson's company now sails in charge of Mr. William Hughes (manager) for Wellington by the Monowai, where the New Zealand season will be opened in "The Runaway Girl" on November 7.

LYCEUM THEATRE.

At the Lyceum Theatre Mr. Bland Holt announces the last six nights of "A Million of Money," a play which presents a capital plot in the style of the better examples of Drury Lane drama. The spectacular element has been, on the other hand, by no means neglected. The glimpse of the huntsmen on their horses, the view of the finish of a great race, the illuminated fete, and the clever suggestion of the mirage-dream, all form popular features. Next Saturday Mr. Bland Holt will stage the popular racing drama "The Derby Winner."

CRITERION THEATRE.

"Little Christopher Columbus" is running brightly at the Criterion Theatre, where Mr. John F. Sheridan evolves plenty of fun from his assumption of a dozen different disguises as O'Hooligan, the ubiquitous detective. [illegible] There will be a matinee of "Little Christopher Columbus" on Wednesday.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

This afternoon and evening at the Tivoli Theatre Mr. Harry Rickards' company will be joined by Miss Violet Welby-Cooke, a new light-wire artist. [illegible] and the programme will include Mr. A. C. Spry, Miss Florrie Gallimore, Little Eileen Boyd, Mr. Tod Calloway, and other artists.

THE DOLORES SONG RECITALS.

This evening Mme. Antonia Dolores will make her appearance at the Town Hall, [illegible]

THE SATURDAY POPULAR CONCERTS.

Madame Slapoffski will again appear at the Saturday Popular Concerts, [illegible]

TRINITY COLLEGE, LONDON.

The following results of the higher musical examinations held in Sydney in July last have just been received by the local secretary, Mr. Hector R. Maclean:—Matriculation, Mabel E. Josephson; subjects for the diploma of associate in music (A. Mus. T.C.L.), Margaret E. Marsden, Leslie Fetherstone, Charles Schowe.

HIGHLAND SOCIETY BURNS CLUB.

The competition in Scots ballad singing, recitation, and violin playing, promoted by the Burns Club, with the view of encouraging the taste for Scots music and literature, will take place in the Manchester Unity Hall, Castlereagh-street, on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday and Thursday next. A large number of entries have been received for the competition for most of the classes, and the competitions will no doubt prove interesting as well as educational. Mr. Robert Kennedy, of Melbourne, will be the adjudicator.

MR. HODGKINSON'S FAREWELL.

A performance of Pinero's charming comedy "The Schoolmistress" will be given at the Queen's Hall on Tuesday by the members of the Sydney Comedy Club. The occasion will be in honour of Mr. E. Hodgkinson, the original founder of the club, who for many years past has directed it in the cause of charity, and is now leaving to settle at Urana. The committee announces good advance booking at Nicholson's.

CONCERT ENTERTAINMENT.

On Wednesday evening next a concert entertainment will be given at the Queen's Hall by Miss Agnes Chambers, at which those assisting will be Misses Dora Allen, Eva Jones, Annie Perry, Lucy Lee, pupils of Miss Meeklah (dancing), and Messrs. S. C. Jeffcott and W. H. Kellett. The Players' Club, under Mr. Philip Lytton, will perform "The Other Fellow."

ATHLETIC DISPLAY AT RANDWICK.

A display and concert were given by the members of "The Randwick Gymnasium" last week in St. Jude's Hall. An excellent programme was gone through, to which the Misses Gillespie and Carroll, and Messrs. Henry Weir, Harry Baxter, and Sid. Shipway contributed. Some good squad work and "living pyramids" by the members were warmly appreciated. Mr. C. H. York acted as instructor, and Mr. A. W. Freeman as honorary secretary.

MISS EVA MYLOTT'S TOUR.

In another column reference will be found to a proposed tour of the Northern Rivers district which Miss Eva Mylott initiates at Grafton with concerts on Thursday and Friday next. The popular contralto, whose party will include Misses Nora Long and Hilda Aiken, will close her tour at Lismore on November 19 and 20, as four days later she sails for Europe by the Polynesien.

CYCLORAMA.

The popularity of the pictures of the Battle of Gettysburg continues unabated. An explanatory lecture dealing with the memorable struggle and the details of the picture is given at 3 and 8 p.m. This is followed by an entertaining and amusing programme in the Hall of Illusions.

A COSTLY OPAL SUITE.

Messrs. William Farmer and Co., the well-known jewellers of Hunter-street, gave a private view yesterday of an opal suite recently completed to the order of a lady in Sydney. The opal used is of exceptionally fine quality, and it came from the fields round about Wilcannia. The suite comprises pendants, bracelets, necklet, a remarkably fine marquise ring, and a large unmounted opal. [illegible] The suite is the work of Messrs. William Farmer and Co. The firm has recently executed some large orders, one of them, it was reported, being for a diamond suite valued at £10,000.

NEW SOUTH WALES PARLIAMENT.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

THE ESTIMATES.

THURSDAY'S CONTINUOUS SITTING.

STRONG OPPOSITION.

THE GOVERNMENT DETERMINED.

When the first edition of Friday's "Herald" went to press the Legislative Assembly was dealing with the Estimates. The Railway Department was still under consideration. There was no discussion of items, but members made long speeches, some of them being over an hour in duration, in which they dealt with the railway policy generally, or referred to local grievances.

Mr. Gillies spoke at length. He condemned the system under which the Commissioners worked, and accused them of "centralisation." He expressed his intention of continuing to criticise the policy of the Commissioners until the system was altered for the better.

Mr. GILBERT said it would be well if the Railway Commissioners took into consideration the question of establishing a superannuation fund for the service.

Mr. WEBSTER said the Moree railway station was inadequate to the requirements of a great district.

Mr. DONALDSON said he required all his sympathy for the men who were not in the railway. He had never seen anything in regard to the railways that deserved severe censure. He considered that the management of the railways here would compare more than favourably with that of the old country.

Mr. HOGUE said it would be false economy to have one Railway Commissioner instead of three, as some hon. members had suggested. He thought that the criticisms which had been directed against the Chief Railway Commissioner were unfair and uncalled for. He commended the Commissioners for their management of the lines.

Mr. MOORE said he had always contended that the Railway Department was the best managed in the State. At the same time the Legislative Assembly was quite right in criticising the department. He congratulated the Government upon having appointed the three Commissioners.

"Chief Mechanical Engineer, £1200."

Mr. SULLIVAN moved the reduction of the item by £200, by which the salary had been increased upon last year.

The TREASURER appealed to the House to pass the salary as printed.

Mr. FARNELL: What about the smaller salaries?

Mr. MOORE said the Railway Commissioners were the best judges of what the individual salaries ought to be.

Mr. J. C. L. FITZPATRICK said the Government ought to maintain its agreement with the chief mechanical engineer. He would vote against the proposed reduction.

Mr. CARRUTHERS said he would support the item as printed. The Government ought to carry out its agreement with Mr. Thow.

Mr. HOLLIS (at 5 a.m.) said that when Mr. Carruthers was Treasurer he had signed a regulation reducing the wages of the tramway men.

Mr. CARRUTHERS said that this mis-statement was circulated by an organisation to which Mr. Hollis belonged.

Mr. HOLLIS: I do not belong to the tramway organisation.

Mr. CARRUTHERS: I accept the correction, but the statement is a cowardly one which I have to fight. The regulation I dealt with fixed a rate for an entirely new class of men, viz., the employees of the electric trams when they were introduced.

Mr. COHEN said that some statements made by Mr. Hollis were "cowardly." (Some words passed between the two members.)

The TREASURER said that Mr. Thow was engaged by Mr. Eddy and was receiving a salary of £1,200 a year from 1889 up to last year, when it was reduced. The Government felt itself pledged in the matter.

The amendment was negatived by 40 votes to 11.

Mr. J. C. L. FITZPATRICK and Mr. DICK proceeded to discuss several formal matters, and there was some misunderstanding between them, the Minister for Works, and the Premier.

The PREMIER appealed to members to get on with business. The House had now been discussing Railway estimates for 12 hours and had done nothing.

The MINISTER FOR WORKS: We will sit until 12 o'clock to-night. (Oh, oh.)

A number of Opposition members: So will we till Sunday if you like.

Mr. DICK commented upon the goods rates in Newcastle and district.

On the question being put, Mr. Carruthers asked if a Minister was not going to reply on behalf of the Commissioners, but no Minister responded.

The estimates for Railways and Tramways, £2,812,460, were agreed to at 6 a.m.

QUESTION OF ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. CARRUTHERS appealed to the Premier to adjourn. He pointed out that a great portion of the time had been taken up by speeches of Government supporters.

The PREMIER: It is not a party matter, surely.

Mr. CARRUTHERS: If the Premier wants us to stay here for 24 hours we will do so, but if we do we will do some talking.

The PREMIER: I made no arrangement at all.

Mr. CARRUTHERS: I am agreeable that the motion relating to the Newcastle graving dock shall be taken.

The MINISTER FOR WORKS: That can come on during Friday afternoon. (Oh, oh.)

The PREMIER: I am not going to allow the Opposition to run the show here. The Government want to get the business of the country passed. The Estimates have been discussed at length, but no good has come of it, and no reductions made. The Railway estimates ought to have gone through in two or three hours. We are going on with the Estimates.

Mr. J. C. L. FITZPATRICK interjected.

The MINISTER FOR EDUCATION: You little puppy.

Mr. J. C. L. FITZPATRICK: I'll pull your nose.

The MINISTER FOR EDUCATION: You will? I'll give you the chance. Come on. (Mr. Perry then left the chamber.)

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT.

At 6.30 a.m. the "Department of Attorney-General and Justice, £318,206," was reached.

Mr. CARRUTHERS moved that the item £55,000 be postponed. He said he desired to be fit for the work he was sent to Parliament to do. The House was fatigued, and there were several debatable matters in this department.

The MINISTER FOR LANDS: We are going right on. There will be no arrangement whatever.

Mr. CARRUTHERS'S motion was negatived on division by 32 votes to 13.

Mr. ASHTON moved that "the item £320," the first on the estimate, be postponed.

The CHAIRMAN ruled this out of order on the ground that the matter was included in the previous division.

Mr. ASHTON dissented from the Chairman's ruling, and moved that the point be referred to the Speaker.

The motion was negatived on division by 30 votes to 20.

Mr. J. C. L. FITZPATRICK proposed the omission of "£320, Attorney-General and Minister for Justice."

At 7.55 a.m. the Chairman left the chair, and the House adjourned till 9 a.m.

After breakfast Mr. J. C. L. Fitzpatrick continued the debate.

Mr. MACDONELL said that some men who were connected with the recent shearing troubles had been sentenced to terms of imprisonment and the jury's recommendation to mercy had not been given effect to. He urged that the men should be liberated. He spoke of a police magistrate having ridden about with and lived at the house of a squatter who was a litigant.

Mr CARRUTHERS said some action should be taken on that allegation.

Mr. HAYES: The magistrate has been called on for an explanation.

Mr. CARRUTHERS referred to the recent accident on the tramway line, and said it was not right that the Attorney-General should, acting for the Federal Government, appear to plead against the right of a citizen of New South Wales in such a manner. The Government had, in appointing as Solicitor-General an official of the State who was not directly responsible to Parliament, harked back to the days prior to responsible government. Never since the colony had responsible government had there been before now a Solicitor-General who when a Government was sent out of office had not to go out with it. (Opposition cheers.) Through the despotic action of the Attorney-General we had a Solicitor-General who could snap his fingers at all the Parliaments and all the Governments. After criticising the administration of justice, he said that the House should, by the reduction by £1 of the salary of the Attorney-General, vindicate its position, and let the Attorney-General know that the House insisted on extreme care in the Department of Justice.

The MINISTER FOR LANDS said with regard to the complaint that there was tardiness on the part of magistrates in hearing cases, he would point out that it was not the duty of members of the Government to go round the Petty Sessions Courts and see that the magistrates did their duty. As to the appointment of the Solicitor-General, the Attorney-General had not far to go back for a precedent for such an appointment. The Reid Government appointed Mr. Wade Solicitor-General. It was the duty of the Government to, as far as it could, see that the administration of justice was carried out free from political influence. He referred to other matters.

Mr. CARRUTHERS said that in his speech he had studiously avoided personalities, but he could not compliment the Minister for Lands on the tone of his remarks. It was an evidence of the good old rule in advocacy—no case: abuse the other side.

Mr. AFFLECK said that at the very least £5000 or £6000 should be taken off the estimates of the Attorney-General and Minister for Justice.

The MINISTER FOR LANDS, answering an observation by Mr. Affleck, said that although the Estimates showed £1640 for the Crown Solicitor, the present Crown Solicitor was drawing only at the rate of £1200 a year until such time as Parliament was better informed. He moved that the question be now put.

The amendment was negatived by 39 votes to 36.

Mr. LEVY said all the Parliamentary draughtsmen should be officers of Parliament. The travelling expenses of Supreme Court Judges should be reduced.

Mr. ASHTON asked whether there was any intention of separating the offices of Minister for Justice and Attorney-General.

The MINISTER FOR LANDS: None of appointing a new Minister.

Mr. ASHTON: But of separating the offices?

The MINISTER FOR LANDS: We were to have had a Cabinet meeting to-day, but you kept us here.

Mr. MOORE said, with regard to the appointment of police magistrates, that the administration of justice should be entirely dissociated from the Public Service Board. He condemned the action of the Attorney-General in relation to a case in which a man had been released from gaol. The duty of every man was to do what he could to raise the system rather than to lower it. In order to give the House an opportunity of recording its opinion on the Attorney-General he would move an amendment that the item "Attorney-General and Minister for Justice, £320," be reduced by £50.

Mr. LONSDALE said that although the House had refused to condemn the Government on a recent occasion, he believed the majority of members condemned, in their minds, the action of the Attorney-General on that occasion. He also condemned the action of the Attorney-General in appealing in the case of Hanna v. Drake.

Mr. DACEY said he was assured by the Premier and the Minister for Lands that the Federal Government had decided to pay the expenses of the plaintiff in that case up to the present stage, and that the case should be tried before the Courts as provided by the Claims Against the Commonwealth Act.

Mr. D. O'CONNOR said it was going back 500 years to appoint a man who should have the power to at once say that a man must be tried, and when he having been tried and convicted, to open the gaol doors to release him.

At 2.45 p.m.,

Mr. D. R. HALL moved,—"That the hon. member be no further heard."

A division showed 31 members on each side. The Acting Chairman (Mr. Meagher) gave his casting vote with the noes, and Mr. D. O'Connor continued speaking.

Mr. CARROLL supported the amendment.

Mr. HOGUE said some serious accusations had been made against the Attorney-General's administration of his office, and no answer or denial had been made to them.

At 3.35 p.m.,

Mr. FEGAN moved that the question be now put, and the motion was agreed to by 45 votes to 31.

Mr. Moore rose to reply.

The ACTING CHAIRMAN: There is no reply in committee.

Mr. CARRUTHERS contended that under standing order 175 there was.

After debate, the Acting Chairman ruled that there was no right of reply in the circumstances.

Mr. ASHTON said he would move that the House dissent from the Chairman's ruling.

The ACTING CHAIRMAN said that the point was an important one, and he would be pleased to have the ruling of the highest authority in the House.

Mr. ASHTON then moved that the Chairman leave the chair and report the point of order to the Speaker.

On division the voting was equal, there being 40 members on each side. The Acting Chairman gave his casting vote in favour of the motion, and the House having resumed, he reported the matter to the Speaker.

After an hour had passed from the time of the Chairman's ruling, the Speaker upheld the ruling, and the vote on the amendment was taken. There were 42 ayes and 39 noes and the amendment was declared lost.

Mr. DICK moved that the item of £320 be reduced by £49.

Mr. CARRUTHERS asked that the amendment should be withdrawn, because while it was proper to test the feeling of the committee, no good could follow from the course suggested.

Mr. Dick withdrew his amendment.

Mr. AFFLECK moved that the salary of the Acting Chief Justice, £3500, be reduced by £900, so as to make it the same as that of each puisne Judge.

Mr. J. C. L. Fitzpatrick was speaking to the amendment, when

The MINISTER FOR LANDS moved that he be no longer heard, and the motion was agreed to by 44 to 25.

Mr. Gillies, after further debate, moved that the question be now put, and on a division being taken there were 39 votes for and 25 against. As there were less than 40 members on the side of the ayes the Chairman declared the question resolved in the negative.

The MINISTER FOR LANDS said the salary of the Chief Justice was increased to £3500 by the Act of 1883. That was three years before Sir Frederick Darley was appointed. The saving in the whole department, as against last year's estimate, was £15,047. He offered, if a little common sense were shown, to take the estimates of the Justice Department and then adjourn. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. CARRUTHERS said he would agree to the estimates of the Department of Justice being passed so far as he was concerned without further discussion.

The amendment, "that the salary of the acting Chief Justice be reduced by £900," was put, with the following result: For the amendment, 21; against the amendment, 37.

Mr. A. GRIFFITH moved that the item be reduced by £560.

The voting was: For the amendment, 20; against the amendment, 37.

Mr. A. GRIFFITH moved the omission of the item, "Associate to the Chief Justice, £290."

The amendment was negatived on the voices.

Mr. Dacey moved to reduce the salary of the Clerk of the Peace, £750, by £350. The amendment was negatived by 52 votes to 13. A further amendment by Mr. Dacey to reduce the salary by £100 was negatived by 50 votes to 18.

The estimates of the Attorney-General's and Justice Departments, as reduced, were agreed to.

Master in Equity, £3715.

Mr. MILLER moved the reduction of the salary of the Master in Equity (£1000) by £335, being the allowance to that officer as Master in Lunacy.

The amendment was negatived, and the estimate was passed.

The estimates, Prothonotary and Divorce Court, £3935; the Sheriff, £29,532; Bankruptcy Court, £3258; Probate and Intestate Estates Office, £3258; District Courts, £5758; Coroners, £7715; Petty Sessions, £86,569; Prisons, £102,308.

Some discussion took place on the item, "clerk in charge discharged prisoners' branch, £300, and agent and inquiry officer, prisoners' branch, £180.

The MINISTER FOR LANDS read a return which had been furnished to him showing the assistance rendered to discharged prisoners by the Discharged Prisoners Aid Society. He said that the Society named did excellent work and was worthy of every commendation and support.

The vote was agreed to, as were also the votes for Public Service Board, £6808; Arbitration Court, £3800; and miscellaneous services, £6170.

Progress was reported and leave given to sit again on Wednesday next.

ADJOURNMENT.

The House at 9.5 p.m adjourned until half-past 4 o'clock on Tuesday next.

WOMEN'S PROGRESSIVE ASSOCIATION.

At the last council meeting of the W.P.A. the platform was reconstructed, owing to the gaining of the federal and State franchise. The new planks are:—1. To educate the women how to use the vote for the general good. 2. The removal of the anomalies of the law in regard to women and the care of neglected children. 3. The duties of citizenship should be taught to children in schools. 4. To urge the speedy selection of a site for the federal capital in New South Wales.

On Monday night Mrs. Martel lectured, under the auspices of the Newtown branch, on "Municipal Reform." She urged the voters to work for that end during the forthcoming municipal elections, and to return candidates likely to bring about the desired improvement. The branch passed a resolution deprecating the use of separate polling booths for women as an unnecessary expense to the country. The supporters of the resolution urged that as women attended the same political meetings as men this innovation would be illogical.

On Tuesday Miss Golding, hon. secretary of the Women's Progressive Association of New South Wales, received the following letter from the private secretary to the State Governor:—"Referring to previous correspondence, I have the honour to inform you that his Excellency the Governor has received a despatch from the Right Hon. the Secretary of State for the Colonies, intimating that he duly laid before his Majesty the King the address from the Women's Progressive Association of New South Wales. I am to add that his Majesty commanded that the sincere thanks of himself and her Majesty the Queen were to be conveyed to the members of your association for their kind and loyal congratulations and good wishes."

GLEBE POINT TRAMS.

The member for the Glebe (Mr. Hogue) has represented to the tramway authorities that between the hours of 5 and 6 p.m. on week days there is not sufficient accommodation for the crowded traffic on the Glebe Point line. He recommended that a double car service be provided during the busy portion of the afternoon, but this could not be conceded. The Commissioners, however, have informed Mr. Hogue that they "have approved of four additional trips being run between the hours referred to, and it is anticipated this will prevent further cause of complaint. The increased service will come into operation from Monday, November 3." Mr. Hogue has also been informed that the running of the Parliamentary tram to Glebe Point has been discontinued, the Balmain tram being considered sufficient.

The "OCULARIUM,"
26 Queen Victoria Markets,
Sydney, 1st Nov., 1902.

Reader.

Dear Sir or Madam,—

Ofttimes eye defects are of a compound nature. In other words, there is more than one reason for the deficiency in the visual standard. Now, our examination is most thorough and accurate. Our methods preclude the possibility of any ocular error escaping detection. Our goods, from an optical standpoint, are positively faultless. We do not desire, nor do we cater for, the mediocre grade. If you prefer high-water mark attention and goods, this establishment should be your goal. The standard of our production is invariably on higher flight than other depots. On opening this branch we nailed fast to top-notch grade EXCLUSIVELY, with results eminently satisfactory to our clients as well as our reputation. Add YOUR name to our already long list of satisfied and eye-eased patrons.

Right truly yours,

TUBERCULOSIS OF THE KNEE.

SIX YEARS' STANDING CURED BY VITADATIO.

28 Park-street, Abbotsford,
19th September, 1902.

Mr. S. A. PALMER,

Dear Sir,—I have great pleasure in writing to inform you what your wonderful medicine VITADATIO has done for me. Seven years ago I had a bad attack of Typhoid Fever, from which I recovered, but about two months afterwards my right knee began to swell in an alarming manner. I was taken from one doctor to another without obtaining any relief. It gradually got worse. I became an in-patient in one of the leading institutions in Melbourne, but after three months' treatment I was worse than ever, and the doctor told my parents that unless I was taken out my lungs would go as well. I was then taken to another doctor, who told me that the knee joint would have to be removed altogether. He sent me into the hospital; consultation was held, and the operation was performed. Several more operations followed, but the wounds would not heal, the discharge coming from them was something terrible. I was then discharged as relieved, but two years later was again admitted, and another operation performed, but without any relief. My knee by this time was one mass of corruption, which ran down my leg in a stream, and the stench was terrible. I began to give up all hope of recovery. Amputation of my leg was the only thing left, but in my weak state I knew I never would survive. I had heard a lot of talk about VITADATIO, so I told my mother one day that I would like to give it a trial, which I did. People laughed at the idea of it curing me and said I was a fool for taking it, but I persevered, and after the sixth bottle my leg began to get better. I still kept on, and now I am thankful to say that through VITADATIO, I am now, after six years' suffering, completely cured of the disease "Tuberculosis of the Knee." I shall be very glad to give anyone information concerning my case, and to show them the wonderful cure VITADATIO has worked. You may use this in any way you think fit.

I remain,
Yours truly,
(Signed) HERBERT WEAVER.

I have much pleasure in certifying to the truth of my son Herbert's statement, for it has cured him when all else had failed. It is a grand medicine, and has done a great thing for us.

JOSEPH WEAVER.

I can confirm the truth of the above testimonial. Herbert Weaver was in my employ, and left to go into the hospital for the operation.

BAD ULCERATED FOOT.

WONDERFUL RECOVERY AT WIMBLEDON.

PRIVATE DOCTORS AND HOSPITAL PHYSICIANS PRONOUNCED THE CASE INCURABLE.

Mr. William Hastings, of 98 Gladstone-road, Wimbledon, S.W., writes:—"I was in great agony for 18 months, suffering from a bad ulcerated foot, the ankle being ulcerated right through the joints. I was under the care of three separate doctors from time to time, but they could not do me any good. At last I was advised by one of the leading doctors in Wimbledon to go to a well-known London hospital, giving me his card for admission. I was taken there in a cab by my wife, and was seen by several of the doctors, who told me it was a chronic case, and they could not take me in. On being taken home the same doctor advised me to try another hospital, but there I was told the same thing, viz., that they could not cure me. I was at my wits' end to know what to do, having spent pounds in different kinds of lotions and ointments, and becoming worse instead of better, especially as I had to give up my employment. I was reading a newspaper shortly after this, and saw a testimonial published, where Clarke's Blood Mixture and Miraculous Salve had cured a bad case of Ulcerated Legs. I showed it to my wife, and she persuaded me to give it a trial. I did so, and it was the best day's work I ever did in my life when I took her advice. After taking two bottles of Clark's Blood Mixture and using one jar of the Salve I began to see an improvement in the wounds, and also the pain was not so great. I continued with the treatment, and in less than three months my foot and ankle were perfectly healed. I am pleased to say I am now at my business, and walking about, and do not feel any inconvenience whatever; in fact, I am as well as ever. Clarke's Blood Mixture and Salve alone effected this wonderful cure, and for the benefit of other sufferers I give you this testimonial for publication. September 7, 1901."

IRRITATING SKIN ERUPTION.

"WORKED LIKE MAGIC."

Mrs. S. A. Brown, 22 Cheltenham-place, Brighton, writes:—"I feel it my duty, for the sake of suffering humanity, to make known to you the great benefit I received through taking 'Clarke's Blood Mixture.' Some time ago I became weak and ill, and following this I had a most torturing, irritating skin eruption. Having spent pounds on doctors' medicines and attendance, and finding no improvement, I was recommended by a friend to try 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' which worked like magic. After taking a few doses I began to improve, and after the third bottle I was completely cured, and quite myself again. The present damp weather having set in, I am suffering from Rheumatism, for which I have again resorted to your well-known Mixture, and it is doing me a deal of good. Please make what use you like of his."

"WROTE FOR ADVICE."

Mr. Sydney Mayes, 9 Pickup-street, Accrington, writes:—"I daresay you will remember me writing asking some particulars of 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' as my wife was going to give it a trial. She was suffering from a bad ulcerated foot, and was practically given up by the doctor, as he said she ought to go away for a change of air, and he could see that was out of the question. After taking only six or seven doses she was able to put her foot to the floor; before she had to keep it level with her body owing to the pain. I am glad to say her foot is now as well as ever it was, owing to the wonderful effect of Clarke's Blood Mixture. She took five bottles in all."

THE ONLY THING FOR ECZEMA.

A WHOLE FAMILY CURED.

Mr. C. A. J. Cook, of the Metropolitan Fire Brigade, Scotland Yard, W.C., writes:—"I have suffered from birth with blotches, pimples, and disfigurements of the face, and what I now find was 'Eczema,' by my five children having the very same complaint. My two eldest sons, aged eleven and seven, were sent home from school in February, 1899, and I was asked not to send them again until they were better, as they could not be allowed to sit in the class with the other children. My wife took them to two hospitals, where they gave her ointment, and told her not to wash them with soap, and the blotches would go away. This was tried for seven months in vain; in fact, they became worse, and we began to think nothing would cure them; then my other three children broke out with the same kind of sores. They could all eat and drink well, which only seemed to feed the complaint.

"When one day I was on a tramcar going to Tottenham with two of my children a gentleman spoke to me, saying, 'Your children have Eczema very badly, and the only thing that will do them any good is Clarke's Blood Mixture.' I promised him before he left the tramcar that I would try it. My wife got a bottle from Harrod's Stores, and we all commenced taking it. After we had taken three bottles my children and myself began to lose all the blotches and pimples; and now we have quite different complexions, the Eczema having disappeared. I think the least we can do is to praise Clarke's Blood Mixture for the great cure it has effected with us all.

"As I see thousands of people suffering with Eczema and blotches, you may use this in any way you think fit, and quote these six cases, telling of the benefit my children gained by taking notice of what a stranger said to me about Clarke's Blood Mixture."

INFLAMMATION AND BLOOD POISONING.

Mrs. Eliza Pigney, 8 Albert-square, Southend-on-Sea, writes:—"I am very pleased to tell you of the benefit I have received by taking Clarke's Blood Mixture. Last September I was suffering from inflammation and blood poisoning, also blind boils. I had two doctors, but they did not do me any good. I was reading 'Lloyd's Newspaper' recently and saw the advertisement of Clarke's Blood Mixture, so I tried it, and after taking the first bottle I began to feel better. By the time I had taken the third bottle I was quite well, in fact I have not felt so well for years."

THOUSANDS OF TESTIMONIALS.

Clarke's Blood Mixture is sold in Bottles 2s 9d each, and in cases containing six times the quantity 11s—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the great majority of long-standing cases. BY ALL CHEMISTS and PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS throughout the world. Proprietors, THE LINCOLN AND MIDLAND COUNTIES DRUG COMPANY, Lincoln, England. Trade mark—"BLOOD MIXTURE."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE.

CAUTION.—Purchasers of Clarke's Blood Mixture should see that they get the genuine article. Worthless imitations and substitutes are sometimes palmed off by unprincipled vendors. The words "Lincoln and Midland Counties Drug Company, Lincoln, England," are engraved on the Government Stamp, and "Clarke's World-famed Blood Mixture" blown on the bottle, WITHOUT WHICH NONE ARE GENUINE."

VICTORIAN SPORTING NEWS.

THE V.R.C. SPRING MEETING.

FIRST (DERBY) DAY.

(BY OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The weather was beautifully fine at Caulfield this morning, but there was very little doing on the track. Wakeful slipped over three furlongs in 40 seconds, and Lieutenant Bill, who will probably run in the Hotham Handicap to-morrow, went nicely over a mile in 1 minute 50 seconds, and did it easily. Gnais (T. Walter) and Lowland Chief (G. Wheeler) negotiated half a dozen hurdles in a taking style.

Work on the track at Flemington to-day was mostly restricted to sprinting on the sand. After a long canter Strata Florida beat his stable mate, Maelgwyn, over half a mile in 50½ seconds. The son of Grafton shaped well. Abundance and Felicitous were treated to long slow cantering, with a brush home. The Derby favourite looks very well. The hurdle racer Marton, who is in great fettle, did solid work, and promises to win a race in the near future. Fishery easily beat Black Watch over half a mile in 49¾ seconds—a record over the distance for the season. Sojourner, after a long canter alone, finished strongly over half a mile in 53½ seconds. The Cup horse moved freely. Brakpan, who is evidently on improving lines, slipped over half a mile in 51¼ seconds, and a similar performance was done by Positive, while Sagamore had more to say than Obverse at the end of a like trip in a quarter second less time. On the tan The Victory, who is coming on nicely, easily beat Patronus over five furlongs in 1 minute 8 seconds, and Flagship, after steady work, wound up with a sound half-mile on the same rink.

The V.R.C. committee to-day endorsed the action of the V.A.T.C. in ordering the jockey E. Turner to stand down for the last day of the Caulfield meeting for a breach of contract with regard to the riding of Combat in the Caulfield Cup, but no further action was taken. Turner will therefore ride Strata Florida in the Derby and Cup, and W. H. Smith will have the mount on Progredior in the two-mile race.

The V.R.C. committee decided to-day to discourage the employment of bookmakers' runners, and ring men will be notified accordingly.

James Wilson's, sen., team, consisting of Sea Kale, Black Beauty, Proceed, and Brown and Black, arrived at Flemington to-day.

J. Wilson, jun.'s, team, comprising Air Queen, Sway, Mallard, Circulus, Patronage, and Kellner, arrived at headquarters to-day.

After the calling of the card to-day on the Melbourne Cup 100 to 1 was offered freely against Seclusion, and as she has not arrived with J. Wilson, junior's, team it is more than probable that she will not see the post for the big two miles race.

The following are the scratchings recorded to-day in connection with the V.R.C. Spring Meeting:—Coburg Stakes: Omrah. All engagements: Admiration, Royalty. Railway Handicap: Rugosa. Oaks Stakes: Curlew Belle. Maiden Stakes: Silvio.

The well-known Victorian sportsman, J. B. Pearson, who has been on a visit to Europe, returned to Melbourne this week.

The racehorses Bob Sutton and Yan Yean will be under marching orders for India to-morrow by the steamer Sofala.

ANTICIPATIONS BY OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The spring campaign of the Victoria Racing Club opens at Flemington to-morrow, and judging by the number of interstate and country visitors that throng the leading thoroughfares of Melbourne on the eve of the Derby Day a large and representative attendance may be expected at the headquarters of the turf in this State to witness the contest for the classic event. Lord Tennyson, the Acting Governor-General of the Commonwealth, Sir Harry Rawson, Governor of New South Wales, and Sir George Sydenham Clarke, Governor of Victoria, have intimated their intention of being present. The weather to-day has been fine and warm, and there is every indication of a continuance of the favourable conditions on Derby Day. The tracks are in splendid order, and owing to a bounteous rainfall during the spring, the lawns and reserves at Flemington are bright and beautiful. Though entries are not so numerous as on previous years, there are a number of good horses engaged, and the racing promises to be of a high-class character.

The sport opens with the Maiden Plate, in which Patronus, Positive, The Caretaker, and Menis seem to have the brightest prospects, and Positive, who has shown great improvement in his work of late, should get home in front of Patronus and The Caretaker.

The field for the Maribyrnong Plate has been reduced to nine, and the acceptors are undoubtedly a very speedy lot. Duke of Grafton has incurred a 10lb. penalty by his win at Caulfield, but the extra weight should not trouble such a big strapping fellow. Czarovitch has already demonstrated that he can gallop by annexing the first two-year-old race of the season in this State, and F. J. A. has a winning bracket to his credit, as also has Nest and Lady Lettice, while Velox and Martinique are possessed of a good turn of speed. An interesting contest may be anticipated, and the places may go to Duke of Grafton, Nest, and Czarovitch.

No fewer than 13 of the Melbourne Cup candidates appear on the list for the Hotham Handicap, the winner of which incurs a penalty for the big race. Lieutenant Bill and Air Motor have already earned their full penalties for the two miles, and if started the Caulfield Cup winner must be very hard to beat, while Air Motor should give a good account of herself under 8st 4lb. Kilt should run well, and so should Rienzi and Merton Steel, while Sojourner on his track form must be in it up to his bridle tips if his owner risks a penalty for the Cup; and of the others the chances of Murlagan and Homeward Bound seem about the best. The race cannot fail to be interesting, and in the absence of Lieutenant Bill the situations may be occupied by Sojourner, Air Motor, and Homeward Bound.

The race for the Derby now seems more open than for some time past, and great interest is centred therein. Since the poor display Brakpan made at Randwick, Abundance and Strata Florida have alternated in the public favour, and a week or two ago the contest seemed virtually between the pair, but latterly Brakpan has shown such improved track form that the son of Grafton must have a say in the settlement of the important question. Abundance has undergone a good preparation, and his final gallop on Thursday was full of merit, while Strata Florida's track work on the same day was by no means attractive. This morning, however, the son of Grafton pleased the men of observation much better, and consequently met with sound support at the midday reading of the card. The battle between the pair should be well fought out, and with a solid pace all the way Abundance should finish in front of his rivals. Brakpan is sure to run well. Maelgwyn, who is in the same interest as Strata Florida, is left in to make the pace for his stable mate; and Great Scot will do a similar duty on behalf of Brakpan. A great race is almost certain to be witnessed, and the numbers may be hoisted for Abundance, Strata Florida, and Brakpan.

The Melbourne Stakes should be fought out among Patronage, Sir Leonard, Wakeful, and Blue Metal; and Wakeful, Patronage, and Sir Leonard may pass the judge's box as named.

Football, who heads the list for the Coburg Stakes, should act well under 8st 6lb, while Weronga, Kinglock, Carinthia, Cadenas, Andorra, Clochette, Bullion, Fungus, and The Austrian each and all seem to have fair prospects, and honours may be divided by Weronga, Bullion, and Fungus.

The Encourage Stakes brings the day's sport to a close, and promises to furnish an interesting battle amongst the youngsters. Amyas, Kellner, Kelp, Katoomba, Sweet Nell, Lord Clieve, Obverse, and South Head should play prominent parts at the finish, and the judge may declare for Katoomba, Kellner, and Lord Clieve.

MELBOURNE BETTING MARKET.

MIDDAY CALL.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The most notable feature of the midday calling of the card for the Derby and Cup was the support accorded to Strata Florida for the classic race and the easing of Patronage for the Cup. Abundance eased a point for the Derby, 400 being on offer at 7 to 4, but backers wanted 2 to 1, and no business resulted. Wagers amounting to 1400 were booked about Strata Florida at 7 to 4, with more on offer at the finish at that figure. Wagers of 450 to 100 and 180 to 40 were accepted about Brakpan, without exhausting the market at that price. 100 to 5 was booked to Rienzi, with a point shorter on offer, and 300 to 12 went down to Maelgwyn, with 100 to 5 obtainable. That price was also on offer against Oakwood and Great Scot. About 3000 was pooled against Blue Metal at 100 to 6, but only 40 to 2 was booked against him, with 100 to 5 on offer. After 3000 to 186 had been accepted about Lieutenant Bill 1000 to 65 and 500 to 32½ was also recorded. An offer of eight "ponies" against Patronage failed to lead to business, but 2500 at 100 to 2 was registered about Air Motor, and 200 to 4 went down to Combat. The Persian was supported to win 1550 at 9 to 1, after which the price hardened to 100 to 12. 1000 to 80 was booked about Abundance, with more available at that price. Backers were prepared to accept 10 to 1 about Strata Florida, but 8 to 1 was the best forthcoming. After 1000 to 20 was written about Merton Steel 2500 was taken at 100 to 2½, with 100 to 3 on offer. Wagers of 200 to 5 and 200 to 6 twice were registered about Progredior, and at 100 to 3 800 went down to Acrasia. Sojourner was befriended to the extent of 800 to 6. At the close of the business Patronage, The Persian, and Strata Florida disputed first favouritism at 8 to 1.

EVENING CALL.

The Victorian Clubrooms were crowded this evening, when the card for the V.R.C. Derby and Cup was called, but the volume of business transacted was not proportionate to the numbers present.

For the Derby 1500 was pooled about Abundance at 7 to 4 without leading to business, backers wanting 2 to 1, and similarly 500 at 7 to 4 could be got about Strata Florida, backers wanting 2 to 1 without result, honours being easy between the rival colts. Brakpan met support, 90 to 20 being taken twice, after which 95 to 20 was written eight times, winding up with a wager of 100 to 20 and 95 to 20 left on offer. A wager of 200 to 8 was booked about Rienzi, and 100 to 5 about Maelgwyn.

For the Melbourne Cup Sir Leonard was knocked back until 1000 to 8 was offered and accepted, but afterwards 500 to 4 went begging. Blue Metal was not in much demand, the only business written being a wager of 200 to 9, and The Victory was knocked out with an offer of 500 to 9. Felicitous was friendless at 100 to 3, 5000 being available at that price; but at 100 to 5 Flagship was backed to win 500. A wager of 500 to 32½ was booked about Lieutenant Bill; and after 100 to 12 had been accepted about Patronage, wagers of 700 to 91, 200 to 27, 500 to 75, 200 to 30, and 100 to 16 were registered, with 6 to 1 on offer. A bet of 100 to 2 was recorded about Kilt, 500 to 10 about Combat, and 1000 to 30 about Brakpan. Vanity Fair was befriended to the extent of 2000 at 100 to 3, with 1000 more on offer. Backers were prepared to operate on The Persian at 9 to 1, but a point shorter was the best to be had. A wager of 500 to 10 went down to Patronus; and after 800 to 55 had been written about Strata Florida 100 to 10 was taken, with 9 to 1 left on offer. Plenty of money was to be had about Merton Steel at 100 to 2½, but backers wanted 100 to 2. Wagers amounting to 1900 were taken about Seaport at 100 to 1, and 200 to 6 was registered about Seclusion, while 1000 to 30 went down to Rienzi, and 1000 to 65 was booked about Sojourner. The prices on offer were as under:—

Derby: 7 to 4 each v. Abundance and Strata Florida, 9 to 2 v. Brakpan, 100 to 7 v. Maelgwyn, 100 to 5 v. Rienzi, 100 to 4 v. Oakwood, 100 to 3 v. Great Scot.

Melbourne Cup: 6 to 1 v. Patronage, 8 to 1 v. The Persian, 9 to 1 v. Strata Florida, 100 to 8 v. Abundance, 100 to 7 each v. Lieutenant Bill and Sojourner, 100 to 6½ v. Flagship, 100 to 5 each v. Blue Metal and Air Motor, 100 to 4 each v. Progredior, Acrasia, 100 to 3½ each v. Brakpan and Rienzi, 100 to 3 each v. Felicitous, Vanity Fair and Seclusion, 100 to 2½ each v. Patronus and Merton Steel, 100 to 1½ each v. Kilt and Seaport, 100 to 1½ v. others.

ZOOLOGICAL SOCIETY OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

THE RECENT LION EPISODE.

ANOTHER VERSION OF THE ENCOUNTER.

The monthly meeting of the council of the Zoological Society of New South Wales was held yesterday afternoon at the gardens, Moore Park. Present, Dr. G. E. Rundle (president), Captain Ghest, Dr. Scale, Messrs. Charles Moore, William Coles, John Keep, W. Beaumont, and W. H. Catlett (secretary). The bank book showed a debit of £17 15s 2d. Accounts amounting to £316 4s 2d, including £140 for fodder and meat, were passed for payment. The receipts for the past five weeks amounted to £78 15s 6d. The gate money represented the admission of 3508 visitors. The gardens were visited during the last five Sundays by 10,546 people, 5589 being adults and 4957 children, representing, if admission had been charged, £201 13s 9d. The secretary reported that the following animals had been received in the gardens this week, having arrived in the steamer Euryalus, per Captain C. M'Donald:—Two jackals, a hog deer (stag), a Cashmere goat, two Cashmere gazelles, a Cashmere fighting ram, two binturongs, an Indian cat, an antelope, two adjutants, and some pigeons. Some of the animals had been ordered two years ago.

Mr. W. G. Renn, who alleged that he was badly injured through being attacked by a lion on Eight-hours Day, wrote asking for compensation, as he stated he had been under medical treatment and his clothes had been torn to rags. The secretary reported that he had received a spontaneous letter from a J.P. residing in Redfern, in which that gentleman stated that he noticed Mr. Renn leave a lady on the green and walk with a little boy and girl up to the front of the raccoon's cage. Mr. Renn then went to the left, the letter continued, and opened the gate, thus getting into the prohibited space, and asked the raccoon to give him his paw. He started tickling the animal, and subsequently he went on to the lion's cage and got close to the bars. The next moment he saw the lion "claw" Mr. Renn, and three men got him away after a hard tussle. One of the men threw him over the fence. The writer stated that he was within 2ft. of Mr. Renn when he opened the gate. The council unanimously decided that it could accept no responsibility, and considered that Mr. Renn met with the accident through his own fault in entering the prohibited enclosure.

Messrs. Wirth Brothers wrote asking the price of three lion cubs and any other animals the council wished to dispose of. It was resolved to offer them three lion cubs at £15 each, two leopard cubs at the same price, a pair of zebu bulls for £25, and a pair of full-grown ostriches for £100. The chairman mentioned incidentally that in the Melbourne Gardens when the place became overcrowded animals were shot. Two lions had been killed in this way, their skins bringing £10 each.

The Chief Secretary wrote enclosing a report from the Board of Health, in which various improvements, including connection with the sewer, were indicated to place the gardens in a better sanitary condition. No rats had been seen since the erection of the sunken fence round the gardens. It was agreed to acknowledge the letter, and point out that the improvements necessary were recognised, but the lack of funds prevented them from being carried out.

PARRAMATTA DISTRICT.

ORCHARD NOTES.

The rains of the past few weeks have ensured a good season, and the orchardists are jubilant. The trees are making splendid growth, better, indeed, than they have made for several years past. The summer fruit crop has set well, and a good half crop of first-class fruit is promised. Considering that last year the trees hardly made any wood, a half crop is really more than was expected. The shortage, however, must be compensated for by the quality of the fruit. The citrus trees all give promise of an extra heavy yield next season. The grapes are also showing well, and there should be a very heavy crop. The caterpillars are, however, making their appearance, and a good deal of work will be entailed in keeping them down. Some of the growers rely entirely in spraying to kill the grubs, but this mode of dealing with them, though expeditious, is not altogether satisfactory from the fact that the grubs shelter at the back of the leaf, which is not touched by the spray. In regard to the main crop of oranges, there is still a good supply in some of the favoured orchards, and they should bring high prices during the next month or so. The hay crop was never better, some patches of oats being up to 5ft. 10in. high, and not coarse. These are Algerian oats, which have found great favour in the district. Unfortunately some of the farmers cut their crops last week, just before the rain, and since then there have been showers almost daily. It is feared that a good deal of the hay has been ruined.

ALL SAINTS', FESTIVAL.

The annual festival in connection with All Saints' Church, Parramatta, was held on Thursday evening, when there was a large attendance. The Rev. S. S. Tovey preached, and the Rev. A. W. Tonge acted as precentor. The choir was assisted by the choir of St. Mark's, Granville, Mr. J. Bate, the choirmaster of St. Mark's, conducting. He also sang the solo "Star of Bethlehem."

DAY LABOUR.

At the last meeting of the Ermington and Rydalmere Council the Mayor mentioned that the grant of £350 for the work of making the new road to Dundas wharf had been exceeded by about £2 10s. Alderman Ryan was emphatic in his protest in regard to the manner in which the work had been carried out, and declared that had the work been done by contract, instead of day labour, a saving of £100 or more would have resulted.

THE LOCAL WATER SUPPLY.

There was a good downpour of rain on Thursday night and Friday morning in the catchment area of Hunt's Creek reservoir, and on Friday the creeks were running strongly, carrying a fair volume of water into the reservoir. It is expected that in a week's time Parramatta will again be on its own water supply.

NEW MUSIC.

Messrs. W. H. Paling and Co. publish J. S. M'Cready's new "Paka Waltz." This is a bright, vivacious piece of music, with some effort at originality in the various themes, and should prove popular in the ballroom.

Messrs. Ricketts and White, of Glebe-road, publish "The Rattler March" for pianoforte. The new march is spirited, and not lacking in melody. It has been successfully introduced here by Ricketts and White's society bands.

Suspected Theft.—William Minehan, 25, labourer, was sentenced by Mr. John L. King, D.S.M., at the Central Police Court yesterday to three months' imprisonment for having a basket, a quantity of clothing, and two books in his possession which there was reason to suspect had been stolen.

COUNTRY NEWS.

DEATH OF MR. A. J. KINGSMILL.

MUSWELLBROOK, Friday.

Mr. Arthur John Kingsmill, native of Bantry Bay, Ireland, who died at his residence, Wenonah, Falcon-street, North Sydney, this morning at the age of 81, was a very old colonist, having arrived in Sydney in 1850. He was appointed Commissioner for Crown Lands at Tamworth in 1860 and held the position for 10 years. He retired from the Government service on a pension about eight years ago and was one of the oldest magistrates in the State. One of the deceased gentleman's sons is Mr. J. J. Kingsmill, C.P.S. and Lands Officer at Muswellbrook.

LOSS OF MAIL BAGS.

BRAIDWOOD, Friday.

The mails due from Braidwood to Nerriga and the Sydney-Braidwood intermediate mail bags were lost yesterday.

The Corang River being in flood, the driver of the sulky, together with the vehicle and the horse attached to it, was washed down the stream some hundreds of yards. The driver escaped with difficulty, being washed to one side of the river, whilst the horse was washed to the other. Sulky and bags have not yet been recovered. At 10 a.m. to-day the Sydney-Marlowe bags were recovered, but the rest are missing.

A FAMILY POISONED.

ALLEGED RESULT OF EATING TINNED FISH.

HILLGROVE, Friday.

Mr. John Moore, wife, and family of four were poisoned yesterday after eating tinned fish. They were in a serious condition.

FATALITIES AND CASUALTIES.

CAMPBELLTOWN, Friday.

The district coroner, Mr. A. B. Payten, J.P., held an inquest to-day on the body of Thomas Henry Griffiths, who was found dead in a paddock yesterday. The verdict of the jury was that deceased died from a gunshot wound inflicted by himself whilst in a state of mental depression.

THE WRECK OF THE KINGSLEY.

NELSON'S BAY, Friday.

The boiler of the wrecked steamer Kingsley is now on the beach here waiting shipment to Sydney. The Government steamer Burunda has been engaged for three days taking soundings and surveying the harbour.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

QUIRINDI, Friday.

A public meeting was held last night to discuss the proposed cross-country railway from Wellington to Werris Creek. The Mayor was in the chair. There was a large and representative meeting. The Mayor stated that he considered the railway was not urgently required. The present financial condition of the country hardly warranted great expenditure. Quirindi would be a better terminal point than Werris Creek. Mr. B. A. Allan said nothing could be done for fully ten years. Mr. Charles W. Bowley said that Commissioners would be sure to consider the economical side of the question. Mr. A. N. Pountney said the railway would result in a big loss to the State.

Mr. Bowley said they could not advise the Government to expend half a million on this project.

Mr. A. J. Fleming moved,—"That in the opinion of this meeting the construction of a cross country railway between Wellington and Werris Creek is premature, and is not in the best interests of the State generally."

Mr. William Hungerford seconded the motion, which was carried.

A committee was appointed to make a protest to the Public Works Committee, also to arrange for evidence to be given.

MUNICIPAL COUNCILS AND PROGRESS ASSOCIATIONS.

BLACKHEATH, Friday.

A special meeting of the Progress Committee was held last night. Mr. H. J. Collier, J.P., was in the chair. It was decided to publish a guide to Blackheath by the Progress Committee to be illustrated. It was also decided to improve the public tennis courts and gardens surrounding the grounds.

GOULBURN, Friday.

The borough council, at a special meeting last night, decided to appeal in the case in which, at the last Circuit Court, a cabman named Turner was awarded £350 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained through the negligent construction of a bridge.

PORTLAND, Friday.

An application has been made by the Progress Association for a reserve for commonage purposes, and it is expected that a piece of ground will at an early date be granted by the Government.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

NARANDERA, Friday.

At the Quarter Sessions to-day, before Judge Armstrong, John Williams, alias Ferguson, was found guilty of assault, and was sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment with hard labour in Young Gaol. Percy Wellington, alias Coll, alias Fullerton, charged with maliciously wounding, was found not guilty and was discharged. Frank Mallett, charged with horse stealing, was also found not guilty, and was discharged.

AGRICULTURAL AND PASTORAL.

CARCOAR, Friday.

For blocks of land which were formerly church and school lands, between Carcoar and Blayney, there were 56 applicants yesterday, and 300 applications have been made.

Messrs. Hebden Brothers have finished shearing. Sunny Ridge, Coombing Park, Nuneham, Hilltop, and Errowanbang will commence as soon as the weather permits. It is anticipated that the clip will be comparatively light.

CHATSWORTH ISLAND, Friday.

The Colonial Sugar Company anticipate finishing the season's crushing at Harwood mill in about three weeks. The mill has been treating a China variety of cane exclusively for a fortnight in order to test its commercial value.

COOMA, Friday.

Shearing has commenced in the Monaro district. Several big sheds will commence next week. The first loads of wool passed through during the past few days. Some stations are shearing by contract.

A good number of starving sheep trucked from the western parts of the State to Cooma this week died in the trucks.

The crossbred lamb lent by Mr. G. Kaufline for the guessing competition in connection with the children's picnic was killed yesterday, and weighed 58½lb. The prize (a lady's watch) was won by Mr. J. R. MacCue.

COONAMBLE, Friday.

Shearing is being completed in most of the sheds in this district. For the past month big train loads of wool have left Coonamble almost daily.

DELEGATE, Friday.

At a drive at Wallendibby station 739 hares were shot.

At a meeting of landholders Messrs. Jeffreys, Wright, and Rodwell were nominated as candidates for the Rabbit Board.

DENILIQUIN, Friday.

A meeting of the recently-elected rabbit board was held yesterday. Mr. R. M'Laurin was chairman, and Messrs. Parker, Ingram, Santilla, and Maynard were also present. Twenty-four applications were received for the position of inspector. Mr. George Clarke, of Moama, was appointed with a salary of £200 a year. Mr. Murry Urpe was appointed secretary at £52 a year. The assessment was fixed at the rate of 1s per 100 for sheep, and 3s per 50 head or under of large stock. The work of rabbit suppression will commence on December 8.

Mr. W. A. White's tender has been accepted by the Public Works Department for the construction of a weir across Edward River, below the water works, at schedule rates.

The municipal commons trustees have given herdsmen two months' notice to terminate the engagement, so as to lease the commons next year, as owing to the drought the bank account shows a debit of over £200.

HAY, Friday.

A meeting of the Farmers and Settlers' Association was held yesterday to consider the question of freight on starving stock. The meeting was of opinion that further concessions should be allowed, and that no distinction should be made in freights, whether the stock was sent to New South Wales pastures or to Albury en route to grass country in Victoria, as is now done. The following resolutions were carried and are to be presented to the Railway Commissioners:—1. "That the Railway Commissioners be requested to provide trucks for the forwarding of stock from drought-stricken districts with as little delay as possible, even if the ordinary traffic on certain days each week has to be practically suspended." 2. "That on a certificate from the local stock inspector that the stock are starving stock the local railway station-master be instructed to receive payment on the basis of 50 per cent. of ordinary rates, without respect to the destination of the said stock, whether in New South Wales or in adjoining States. That to encourage stockowners to do their utmost to save their stock by removing them to better districts, on the return of the same stock to their original district 12½ per cent. of the ordinary rate be only charged, and that same take effect from August 1 last."

YASS, Friday.

Crowds of shearers riding on bicycles have passed through the town during the week. Many of them have not shorn a sheep during the whole season. The sheds around Yass are full handed, and in all cases the men have to pass on.

THE CHURCHES.

Lancelot C. Walton.

NEWCASTLE TRADE REPORT.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

Christmas goods, especially the new season's fruits, have moved off freely during the week. Tinned corned beef is in good demand, and scarce, some brands being unprocurable. All lines of general produce are firm, and with the exception of chaff there does not appear to be any easing off in the demand. Current quotations to-day were:—Maize, 6s 4d; wheat, 5s 2d; barley, 4s 6d; oats, 3s 10d per bushel; potatoes, £7; chaff: Geelong £6 10s, Adelaide £6 15s; onions, £7 5s per ton; bran, 1s 8d; pollard, 1s 9½d to 1s 10d per bushel; flour: best local, £11 per ton.

Business has been fairly brisk during the week in dairy produce lines, and orders for next month have come in very freely. There have been no alterations in prices, a circumstance which has not been noted for many weeks past. Supplies of butter, however, are above requirements, and it is generally thought that a decline in price will take place in about a week hence. Supplies of cheese are increasing, and the market is somewhat weaker, although no actual change has taken place. Country orders still continue large for bacon, and supplies are inadequate for requirements. It is considered certain that the present high price will rule until after the Christmas and New Year trade has been supplied. Hams are meeting with good inquiry, and nearly all the grocers have placed their orders for the Christmas trade. It is expected that there will be a scarcity in this line. Honey is practically off the market, and any small supplies which arrive command high figures. Lard continues scarce, and firm at last week's quotations. Fairly large parcels of eggs have come to hand, but the market is weaker in consequence of biscuit makers and other large buyers holding off. Supplies of poultry have been fair. Roosters are bringing from 4s to 5s 6d, and hens from 3s per pair. To-day's quotations were:—Butter: N.S.W., bulk 11d, prints 11½d per lb. Cheese, 9½d per lb. Bacon: N.S.W., 10½ to 1s 0½d; Victorian, 11½d to 1s per lb. Honey, 17s 6d per 60lb tin. Hams, 1s 1d to 1s 2d per lb. Lard: Bulk, 9½d; bladder, 10d per lb. Eggs, 10d to 11d per dozen.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

Mr. John James Virgo, the Australasian Young Men's Christian Association secretary, and British and colonial representative, left Sydney last evening for Ballarat to launch a new Y.M.C.A. there, which is starting with a membership of 200. Mr. Virgo will later on proceed to New Zealand, and will be absent for about six weeks. During his visit he will take part in the opening of two new associations, and also in the work of others.

PRIVATE HOSPITALS, HOMES, AND NURSES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The case of Ethel May Peary, who died on October 22 under suspicious circumstances in the Sydney Hospital, after removal from a "home," once more raises two important questions. One as to the necessity for the registration after Government inspection of all private hospitals and so-called "homes;" and the suppression of all such as are not so registered. The other as to the registration by the Government under legislative enactment of all duly-qualified nurses, and the prohibition of all such as are not so qualified from carrying out, for gain, the important duties attaching to a nurse's calling. The Royal Commission on Hospitals which reported in 1899 recommended that all private hospitals should be placed under Government supervision, and only allowed to continue their work under a license granted after inspection by a competent authority, with a view of guaranteeing the public as to their sanitary condition, their proper management, their suitability and sufficiency to meet the public needs, and with a view also of preventing illegal operations and the scandals incidental thereto.

In the neighbouring State of Victoria the question is dealt with under the Public Health Act. A private hospital is defined as "any house, building, or place other than an institution in receipt of aid from the State in which persons are received and lodged or in which it is intended that they should be received or lodged for medical and surgical care and treatment," and every such private hospital must be registered after inspection by the Board of Health, and be conducted subject to regulations made by the Governor-in-Council. The evidence given before the Royal Commission on Hospitals above mentioned showed that some of these private hospitals and "homes" were in the hands of persons quite unfit by character and training to properly conduct them, that in some the sanitary arrangements were at the least doubtful, and that a number of these establishments were used for carrying out operations not only unnecessary, but illegal.

The Australasian Trained Nurses' Association has done much towards the better education of nurses, and by registering those who are duly trained and certificated assists the public to distinguish between such as are duly qualified and such as are not. At the present time its register contains the names of practically all the nurses in this State who are qualified to act as such, and the public, by asking to see the certificate of registration by the association, can always ascertain if a nurse is duly qualified or not, but it has no power to prevent any woman from calling herself nurse, or from wearing the raiment generally associated with the calling.

North Australia.—Fine and warm generally.

New Caledonia.—Clear at Gomen.

Western Australia.—Fine and warm in the north, cloudy generally elsewhere.

Tasmania.—Cloudy generally.

Queensland.—Scattered clouds on the coast, fine and warm otherwise.

New Zealand.—Fine but cloudy to dull over central and northern districts, clear in the south.

COASTAL REPORTS AT 8 P.M.

Tweed Heads, S.S.E., fresh, showery, sea moderate; Byron Bay, S.E., light, showery, sea smooth; Ballina, S., hazy, sea smooth; Clarence Heads, S., fresh, showery, sea moderate; Woolgoolga, S., fresh, thick, showery, sea moderate; Bellinger Heads, S.E., fresh, raining, sea moderate; Nambucca Heads, S., light, showery, sea moderate; Port Macquarie, S., fresh, cloudy, sea moderate; Manning Heads, E.S.E., fresh, cloudy, sea moderate; Seal Rocks, S.E., light, showery, sea slight; Port Stephens, S.E., fresh, showery, sea rough; Newcastle, N., moderate, cloudy, sea smooth; Lake Macquarie Heads, S.E., light, fine, sea moderate; Catherine Hill Bay, S.E., light, fine, sea moderate; Barrenjoey, E.N.E., light, fine, sea moderate; South Head, E.S.E., moderate, dull, sea slight; Wollongong, S.E., light, cloudy, sea smooth; Kiama, S., light, cloudy, sea smooth; Crookhaven Heads, S.E., fresh, cloudy, sea smooth; Jervis Bay, S.E., light, showery, sea smooth; Ulladulla, calm, fine, sea smooth; Bateman's Bay, calm, fine, sea smooth; Moruya, N.E., light, fine, sea smooth; Eden, N.E., light, fine, sea smooth; Green Cape, N.E., fresh, cloudy, sea slight; Gabo Island, E., moderate, cloudy, sea smooth.

FORECASTS AT 9 P.M.

New South Wales.—Showers, clearing from the coast, and weather fine and warm generally for 48 hours; E. to N.E. winds.—H. C. Russell.

South Australia.—Fine and warm to hot E. to N. winds; barometers gradually falling, and cloudy, sultry weather developing shortly; sea smooth.—C. Todd.

Victoria.—Fine, and becoming warmer; light easterly winds inland, sea breezes near the coast; sea slight.—P. Baracchi.

Western Australia.—Mostly fine throughout, with more or less clouds; may, however, still remain cloudy and sultry in extreme eastern fields for short time, but gradually improving there. W. E. Cooke.

MR. WRAGGE'S FORECASTS.

New South Wales.—Further showers and squalls from the southward along the coast, areas of nasty sea, temporarily fine inland, then come "Crosby" and "Buzacott" in terms of South Australia and Queensland.

Western Australia.—Unsettled east from the 120th meridian under the monsoon "Crosby" and the antarctic disturbance "Buzacott" coalescing; rain and southerly squalls on the southern coast; monsoonal rain, thunder, and variable blows in the interior; a finer wave coming; rising barometers.

Central Australia and Northern Territory.—Becoming unsettled; thunderstorms under "Crosby."

South Australia.—Temporarily fair. "Crosby" and "Buzacott," surely coming, will cause sporadic local blows, rain and thunderstorms preceded by dust; winds very variable, northerlies to southerlies; renewed tendency to seismic disturbances.

Queensland.—Cloudy, tendency to thundershowers in the east although at present fair in the interior. "Crosby" and "Buzacott" combining mean business, and will bring further spasmodic rain thunderstorms, and local circular blows, preceded by duststorms; sea moderate.

Victoria.—Fine for the present, barometers quickly falling; hot northerlies, soon followed by variables and a main shift to west and south-west with dust, thunder, rain, and possibly hail; rising seas shortly. "Crosby" and "Buzacott" will make themselves felt, the latter only operating in Tasmania.

New Zealand.—Cloudy and showery, then finer under high pressure, thereafter comes "Buzacott."

Lord Howe and Norfolk Islands.—Easterly squalls and showers.

New Caledonia and adjacent Islands.—Cloudy and showery from eastward.

HALF-YEARLY REPORT of the DIRECTORS of THE BANK OF AUSTRALASIA, with the Accounts for the Half-year to 14th April, 1902, Presented to the Proprietors at the Half-yearly General Meeting held on Thursday, 2nd October, 1902.

REPORT.

The Directors submit to the proprietors the Balance-sheet as at 14th April last, with the Profit Account for the half-year to that date. After providing for rebate on bills current, for British and colonial rates and taxes, and for all bad and doubtful debts, the net profit for the half-year amounted to £144,467 17s 7d.

From this sum, increased by £14,237 5s 3d brought forward from the previous half-year, the Directors have appropriated £40,000 to the Reserve Fund, and £16,000 in reduction of the cost of bank premises, leaving a net disposable balance of £102,705 2s 10d, of which the Dividend declared will absorb £88,000, and there will then remain £14,705 2s 10d to be carried forward to next account.

Since the date of the last report, the Bank has opened new branches at Lismore and Wee Waa, in New South Wales, and at Stanley, in Tasmania.

The Dividend declared is at the rate of 11 per cent. per annum, or £2 4s per share for the half-year, and will be payable, free of income tax, in London and in the colonies, on the 3rd October next.

W. A. M'ARTHUR, Chairman.

The number of transactions which took place in the Mining market was smaller than for some months past. Prices showed very little variation.

There was a good deal of forward business in the Import market for Christmas requirements, but otherwise trade was not brisk, and there was very little speculative activity.

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

If any single person has a right to congratulate himself on the completion of the Pacific cable to-day as the result of his advocacy and endeavour it is surely Sir Sandford Fleming. For over a quarter of a century he has persisted in keeping the project before the world, regarding it as the complement of the Canadian transcontinental railway. But his scheme for linking the eastern and western shores of the Pacific by electric wire, as that eminent engineer had already united the Pacific with the Atlantic by rail, had direct connection with Asia rather than with Australia in view. The progress of events since then has somewhat altered that scheme, so that instead of a cable connection between Sydney and Vancouver by way of Port Darwin and Banjoewangie, Hongkong, and Japan, we are now able to communicate direct by way of Norfolk Island, Fiji, and Fanning Island. It took many years for the project to ripen. Perhaps if it had not been for the energetic administration of the present Secretary of State for the Colonies it might have been still indefinitely delayed, though the strong support it received at the Australian Postal Conference, and later on, in 1894, at the Imperial Postal Conference at Ottawa, brought the "all-red" line well within the plane of probability. But Mr. Chamberlain's Parliamentary committee, of which our Agents-General were members, gave the thing practicality. It collected all the information possible about the scheme, leaving nothing further to be done than to make a beginning. The Pacific Cable Board did the rest, and the consequence is that we see now completed the first State-owned cable, the telegraphic union between Canada and Australia achieved, and a new and powerful link of Empire forged. The Pacific cable touches at British territory throughout, and it places at our command an entirely independent and separate means of communicating with the rest of the world.

Now that the thing is done the wonder is that it was postponed so long. The Eastern Extension Company did good service in the past. To it we owe the first break in our isolation. But until quite recently we were entirely dependent on the single line through Banjoewangie and its spurs to Port Darwin and Roebuck Bay on the Australian coast. That cable and land service was subject to risks of storm and flood, of the earthquake belt, of interference by enemies, and of long connections over or points of contact with foreign or unprotected territory. The Pacific cable avoids all these. Quite recently the E. E. Company gave Australia the connection with the Cape, carrying the cable for that purpose across the Indian Ocean from Mauritius to Rodrigues, thence to the Cocos Group and so on to Perth. That connection placed us in command of an alternative route along the west coast of Africa, or up the eastern coast as far as Zanzibar, whence further connection will no doubt be one day made with Aden. A glance at the world's map with these facts in view helps us to realise not only that Australia is not dependent on a mere thread of electric wire for its knowledge of what is going on in the rest of the world, but that this Commonwealth and Sydney in particular are become the centre of a vast network of great world-cables, and in a larger sense than ever before the headquarters of civilisation south of the Equator. This is no mere form of words, for it expresses the value of the position this Commonwealth occupies for Imperial and protective as well as for commercial purposes. In the absence of cable communication, or with the wires interrupted, Australia would be at the mercy of its mercantile competitors in time of peace and of any surprise expedition in time of war. But with communication trebly secured we have acquired enormous advantages in both directions. It is not necessary to enlarge here on the cheapening of cable rates, which will sooner or later follow from this development and from the opening of a State-owned cable. The two all-British lines, the one in Governmental and the other in private hands, puts the question of defence on a far more secure basis than it ever occupied before.

But the effects of the new line will be principally felt in the Pacific, where so many changes have taken place within recent years. Fanning Island occupies a position, roughly speaking, in the centre of that waste of waters. How it would have touched the imagination of the old romancers to have had an inkling of the time when eyot would speak to eyot and continent to continent under this great ocean, which had remained almost undisturbed from the time when Magellan's keel first ploughed it and Balboa from his Darien-peak first beheld it? Who would have thought that the progress of civilisation would have so far advanced by the beginning of the twentieth century that an educated Fijian would be able to read from day to day the doings of the five continents, or exchange market prices with Samoa and Honolulu as he will shortly be able to do when the proposed connections with those places are carried out? We begin to realise how this globe has shrunk since the days of Captain Cook and his Pacific voyages, when we think of Vancouver and Sydney speaking together almost as that navigator might have spoken to his officers across his cabin table. But this Pacific line is only the beginning of a projected series of lines, by which San Francisco will talk to Manila by way of Hawaii and the Carolines, and Yokohama and Hongkong with Vancouver and San Francisco alike. These facts, achieved or to be accomplished, bring forcibly before the minds of Australians the rapid development of their relations with their inter-oceanic neighbours and the growing importance of that question of the Pacific which events have brought up so often of late. The consideration must be faced that Australia must begin to take serious account of the changes of the time, and of her responsibilities in the matters of trade and defence. A recent writer has pointed out that one of the chief uses of cables in time of war would be defeated if they were so inefficiently protected that their absolute security could not be guaranteed. This aspect of the cable question deserves all the attention we can give it, and it is one which should by no means be forgotten in our congratulations on the completion of this second all-red cable. The messages which will to-day cross and recross the Pacific between the Ministers of the Dominion and of the Commonwealth, meanwhile, mark an epoch in the history-making of the age we live in.

ECONOMIC THEORY.

Apart from the purely technical subjects discussed at the meeting of the British Association at Belfast one of the most noteworthy features was the prominence given to what is now known as economic theory. For many years that branch of economic theory which is specifically known as political economy was described by some as the dismal science. It was supposed to warrant and to confirm the most pronounced pessimism. For this mistake the scholars were not wholly to blame. The fault lay partly with the teachers who failed to make sufficient allowance for the human equation in working out their conclusions. Sound economic theory is no more dismal than is the law of gravitation which, as John Stuart Mill once remarked, is the most merciless law conceivable, for if one runs counter to it it will inevitably break one's neck. Yet its operation is an inestimable advantage, and when it is put to good use by human intelligence and skill it confers untold blessings and saves an enormous amount of labour. Within the last quarter of a century there has been a reaction in the opposite direction. The human equation, which is variable, has received attention in many quarters to the neglect and in some instances to the almost entire exclusion of other elements which are universal and unchanging. Crude propositions have been enunciated, and it has been taken for granted that these could at once be acted upon without any risk being incurred. Thus as one of the arguments in favour of State socialism we are told that private enterprise and competition involve an enormous waste of labour which would be saved if the State owned the means of production and distribution. Instead of half a dozen butchers' carts calling daily to supply the residents in a street one would suffice. This may be true. But more than is gained in the one direction would be lost in others, and there is no doubt that the public would be less efficiently served and in the end at greater cost. Probably the quickest way of demolishing a building in a crowded street would be to use a charge of dynamite, but expedition is not the only consideration that has to be taken into account in this and in other operations.

The discussions on economic subjects derived special interest from the fact that the meetings of the association were held at Belfast. Belfast is the centre of the flax and linen industry. At present the world's consumption of linen seems to be on the decrease, and the cultivation of the raw material in Ireland is on the decline. Yet in spite of these facts, and although some of the flax has to be imported from Belgium and elsewhere, Ireland has only suffered a decline of about 9 per cent. in the output, whereas the linen manufactures of continental countries have diminished by from 27½ to 40 per cent. Ireland is now at the head of the linen industry in Europe. It seems therefore unwise to advocate a protective duty on the raw material, which would certainly have the effect of adding to the cost of the manufacture and would thus hamper the Irish linen industry in its competition with foreign manufacturers. A paper which was read at the association advocating a moderate measure of protection to the local flax grower was, we learn, met with almost universal dissent. Another thing which invested the discussions in the economic section with special interest is the prominence which has been given of late to the enormous amount of municipal indebtedness in England, and to the unprofitable character of many of the undertakings in which the municipal authorities have engaged. Here again the mistake has been made through giving undue prominence to one phase of the problem to the neglect of others. The "mercantile theory" which dominated commerce a century ago is not yet wholly extinct. Though its form is changed, its spirit remains the same. If we go to the root of many of the so-called economic reforms that have become fashionable we shall find that they owe their origin, paradoxical as it may sound, to that vis inertiae which leads men to protest against any change by which they temporarily suffer. Though these people do not now accept that branch of the mercantile theory which assumed that the internal trade was not worth considering, there are many who still believe that we should import as little as possible because they think we have to send gold out of the country to pay for it. And the idea that to make a country permanently prosperous it should aim at supplying all its wants with its own products and manufactures is scarcely less false than the old mercantile theory that the internal trade is not worth considering.

Dr. Cannan, the president of the economic section, gave some telling illustrations of the way in which a pandering to the dislike of change has influenced Parliament and the municipal authorities in their efforts to provide for the housing of the poor. "If a new railway or a new street is made, in all probability with the intention of increasing the accessibility of the centre from the suburbs—if even a new London Board School is built, and houses inhabited by persons who have less than a certain income are pulled down, it is required by law or Parliamentary resolution that other houses for those people must be built in the neighbourhood." The same principle has been applied to the destruction of slums by the London County Council. In other words, the state of things prevailing at the end of the nineteenth century is looked upon as permanent. The deadweight of opposition to the obvious tendency towards decentralisation, towards a migration from the city to the suburbs, is similar to the sentiment which lies at the root of many of the pleas for protection. They are a cry for an artificial means of enabling certain processes of production or manufacture to be still carried on in a particular district at the cost of the whole community. It is a similar mode of reasoning that has led the workmen to oppose the introduction of machinery. Quiet attention to economic theory would render such mistakes impossible. They are the mistakes of the patient who seeks relief from his pain in any nostrum that is offered to him. The substitution of a huge barracks for a series of slum buildings obviously does not increase the accommodation for the poor. And the erection of a number of buildings is as ineffectual a means of improving the condition of the poor as the opening of an additional number of butchers' shops would be to supply meat if those who otherwise would be customers have no money to pay for it. Moreover, it is certain that as these schemes are taken up by governing authorities the activity of private enterprise is crippled, and in the end less is done than would be accomplished if the matter were left to private enterprise. Dr. Cannan maintains that a careful study of economic theory, that is of the obvious tendencies which are always at work in every phase of civilisation, would make for national and international peace, would prevent men from being led astray by high sounding but misleading party shibboleths, and would put an end to the commercial jealousies which are often as ill-founded as they are mischievous in their effects. It would pave the way for that sweet reasonableness in commerce which believes in the homely rule to live and let live, and which is the only road to permanent wellbeing.

"Life in London."—Mr. Henry W. Lucy in his weekly letter gives some interesting information regarding house parties arranged by the King. The relations of the Prime Minister with Welsh members are indicated. Comment is made on the unwillingness of county gentlemen to accept office as High Sheriff. Other subjects are also dealt with. "Life in London" will be found on page 5.

Long Sitting of the Legislative Assembly.—Thursday's sitting of the Legislative Assembly dragged through the night, continued all day yesterday, and did not end till 9.5 p.m. Thus from 4.30 p.m. on Thursday till the time of rising the House sat continuously for nearly 29 hours. When our report of the proceedings closed early on Friday morning the estimates for the Railway Department were being debated, and at 6 a.m. they were agreed to without alteration. Half an hour later the estimates for the Attorney-General's Department were taken, and with their introduction a long and tedious debate began. Mr. Carruthers attacked the administration of the department, and particularly condemned the system of dual Ministerial responsibility by investing the Attorney-General with the office of Minister for Justice. As a general protest, he moved the reduction of the vote by £1, but on a close division—39 votes to 36—the amendment was lost. Other efforts were made to reduce items, but they also failed. After the tea adjournment last evening a tired House welcomed an offer by the Government not to proceed beyond the estimates then before the committee provided that unreasonable objections were not raised. An attempt was made to reduce the salary of the Acting Chief Justice by the sum of £900, but after discussion the amendment was put and negatived by 37 to 21. Further debate took place over other propositions in the way of reduction, which, however, a majority of the House also declined to sanction, and at five minutes past 9 p.m. the estimates of the department named were passed and the House rose.

Melbourne Cup Traffic.—The passenger bookings up to Thursday night last in connection with the Cup traffic, though fairly heavy, showed a considerable falling off as compared with the corresponding period of last year. Yesterday's excursion train, on the other hand, carried a large number of passengers, there being 94 in the first-class and 277 in the second-class. Last year the excursion train carried 82 first-class and 258 second-class, the value being £89 less than yesterday's train. Two expresses were run last night—one at 7.15 and the other at 7.50. Taking the whole traffic up to last night, the business shows a slight falling off as against last year.

The A.M.P. Society.—The Australian Mutual Provident Society announces in our advertising columns that the next annual division of profits will be made as at December 31, 1902, when all policies issued up to the end of the year, as well as those already on the books, will share in the surplus to be then distributed. The amount of cash bonus divided for the year 1901 was £538,725, yielding reversionary bonuses of about one million sterling.

Naval News.—H.M.S. Archer, which left Sydney on Thursday morning to join the flagship at Melbourne, hove-to off Green Cape for an hour yesterday morning for target practice. She subsequently resumed her passage, and passed Gabo Island at 12.45 p.m. H.M.S. Phoebe will leave Sydney to-day for Melbourne.

The English Mails.—The mails by the R.M.S. Orizaba, bearing the date of London, October 3, are expected to reach Sydney in time for delivery at about 1.30 p.m. on Thursday next.

From the Islands.—The steamship Birksgate arrived yesterday from the Fiji Islands, via Noumea. Among her passengers were Mr. A. B. Joske, the Resident Commissioner at Colo North, and the Rev. Father Trouillet, of Fangauta, Rotuma. The Birksgate cleared the group for Sydney at 6 p.m. on the 23rd instant. Moderate S.E. winds were experienced to Hunter Island, S.W. winds and heavy seas to Middleton Reef, and thence moderate S.E. winds and fine weather to arrival.

Stoppage of Trams.—Shortly before 8 o'clock last night a stoppage occurred in the electric trams from the Circular Quay to the Railway. The delay was occasioned through one of the trams leaving the rails near Gipps-street. The front of the car ran on to the "up" line, and traffic on both routes was stopped. A gang of man was quickly sent to the scene, but an hour elapsed before traffic could be resumed. In the meantime the service to the railway was carried on by way of George-street.

In connection with the bicycle sports to-day it is notified that a frequent service of trams will run to the Sydney Cricket Ground from Bent-street and the Railway subway, commencing from 1 p.m.

The Railway Commissioners notify that commencing to-morrow the new tram line along New Belmore-road and Elizabeth-street to Pitt-street will be opened and trams will not run through Belmore Park from that date.

Combined rail and steamer tickets will be issued to the Hawkesbury River by trains leaving Sydney at 9.5 a.m., and Milson's Point at 8.50 a.m. to-day. Similar tickets will also be issued at Parkesvale (George's River), passengers travelling by the 3.10 p.m. train from Sydney to Como, thence by steamer.

The Railway Commissioners notify that, commencing Monday next, an improved service will be brought into force on the Neutral Bay line, trams leaving at 20 minutes intervals throughout the day.

An announcement by the Railway Commissioners appears in the "Government Gazette" to the effect that, on and after November 3, a further length of tramway, commencing at the intersection of Darby-street and Hunter-street West, and terminating at Patrick-street, Merewether, being a distance of 1 mile 14 chains, will be open for the conveyance of passengers.

The Public Service Board desires us to draw attention to the fact that, in conjunction with the examination for junior clerks and cadet draftsmen commencing on December 15 next, an examination will be held for two engineering cadets in the Roads Branch, Public Works Department.

A library of 800 volumes, comprising many theatrical works, poetical and a variety of other books, will be offered at auction on Wednesday, at 556 George-street, by M. De Lissa and Co.

A deputation from the Political Labour League, the Sydney Labour Council, and other unions, together with the Parliamentary labour party, will wait upon the Premier on Monday evening at 7.30 to urge that the Government take up the Free Education Bill and pass it into law during the present session.

We have received Mr. W. E. Smith's ABC time-table, diary, and calendar for November.

"Pope and Premier; the Inner Meaning of Sir Edmund Barton's Visit to Rome" is the subject of a lecture announced by the Rev. George Walters, minister of the Australian Church.

Mr. Broughton, M.L.A., recently brought under the notice of the Railway Commissioners the necessity for a daily tram service to Fort Macquarie. The Commissioners have informed Mr. Broughton that in view of the small amount of traffic likely to be served the request cannot be complied with. Approval has been given, however, for a service to be run on Saturdays, in addition to the existing Sunday trams, commencing from November 1.

The Rev. F. Colwell will conduct both morning and evening services at Wesley Church to-morrow.

The twelfth annual meeting of the New South Wales Church Missionary Association Gleaners' Union will be held on Tuesday at the Y.M.C.A. Hall. The proceedings will extend over the afternoon and evening. Addresses will be delivered by clergymen and others on subjects relating to the objects of the union.

The anniversary services in connection with the Newtown Congregational Church will be continued to-morrow. The Rev. Warlow Davies, M.A., will preach in the morning, and the Rev. E. Crozier in the evening.

We have been requested to draw attention to the advertisement of the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company, Limited, appearing in another column.

A special temperance sermon will be preached in the Pyrmont Congregational Church by the Rev. James Buchan, M.A., to-morrow evening in commencement of a week's temperance mission in the district.

The Rev. Dr. Porter is announced to address a men's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. Hall to-morrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Mr. Corrie Johnson, of New Zealand, will conduct the Gospel service in the evening at 7.30.

A series of law lectures, intended to assist students preparing for solicitors' intermediate and final examinations and conducted by a barrister-at-law, will commence at Stott and Hoare's Business College on Wednesday afternoon next.

The following regulation under the Public Service Act appears in the "Government Gazette":—"No increments or increases of salary shall be granted to any officer unless and until the board are satisfied that the duties performed by such officer, and the manner in which they are performed, justify the granting of the increased salary."

The monthly meeting of the house committee of the Queen Victoria Home for Consumptives at Thirlmere was held on Wednesday last. Dr. P. Sydney Jones was in the chair. Accounts amounting to £162 2s 6d were passed for payment. The matron's report showed that there were 42 patients in the home; 13 had been admitted, 10 had been discharged, while four had died during the month. With the exception of two male patients, who are very ill, the general health of the others is fairly good. Miss Richards was appointed visitor for November.

It was reported to the police yesterday that the residence of Mr. William Spencer, Springdale, Killara, had been entered during the absence of the inmates and money and jewellery to the value of £42 stolen. An entrance was effected through the front window, after which the doors of the various rooms were forced and the house thoroughly ransacked.

A public meeting will be held in the vestibule of the Town Hall at 8 p.m. on Monday next to protest against the execution of Mrs. Sangal.

PERSONAL ITEMS.

THE NEW MASTER IN EQUITY.

APPOINTMENT OF MR. H. P. OWEN, B.A.

The positions of Master in Equity and Master in Lunacy, rendered vacant by the death of Mr. H. F. Barton, were yesterday filled by the appointment of Mr. H. P. Owen, B.A., and barrister-at-law, who has special qualifications for the office, and has already temporarily discharged the duties pertaining to it.

Mr. H. P. Owen was born in East Maitland in April, 1861. His father, the late Mr. Robert Owen, M.L.C., was a much respected District Court Judge in this State some 40 years ago. Mr. H. P. Owen first studied at the Sydney Grammar School. On leaving that educational establishment in 1877 he went to Sydney University, where he took the first scholarship when he matriculated. He pursued his studies at the University for about two years, and then went to England, and proceeding to Oxford entered at Christ's College, where he graduated B.A. in June, 1883. After leaving the University he read in chambers and was called to the Bar at the Inner Temple in 1885. On returning to New South Wales a year or so afterwards, he read with Mr. William Gregory Walker (now Mr. Justice Walker) for about a year, and then proceeded to practise at the Equity Bar. Mr. Owen has always been very popular with his professional brethren and is regarded on all hands as an able pleader, an astute lawyer, and a man of letters as well as of figures. His knowledge of accounts and commercial transactions is so general and intimate, and his high personal character so thoroughly recognised, that his appointment to the Mastership in Equity has given the greatest satisfaction.

It is anticipated that the appointment will be confirmed by the Governor in Council at the next meeting of the Executive, and Mr. Owen will probably take up his new duties during the coming week.

MADAME MELBA.

Madame Melba, with Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Patterson and the members of her concert party, arrived safely in Sydney yesterday after an uneventful railway journey from Brisbane. The diva stayed for a few hours at the Hotel Australia, and during the afternoon drove about the city with her sister in an open carriage for the sake of rest and fresh air. In the evening Mme. Melba left by the express for Melbourne, where she will arrive "on the stroke of time" for the races. The great singer will appear at the Melbourne Town Hall on Wednesday under Mr. George Musgrove's management, when she will be supported by an orchestra conducted by Herr Slapoffski. Nothing has been officially stated in regard to Mme. Melba's return to this city. In musical circles, however, it is believed that there will be three performances at the Theatre Royal in December, at which the great soprano will appear with Herr Arens, Signor Bensaude, and Mr. Lempriere Pringle (now on his way out from England), in operatic scenes. In that case it may reasonably be concluded that Mme. Melba will sing excerpts from her most famous characters—Gilda, Lucia, Violetta, and Mimi, for example.

GERMANTON, Friday.

Mr. B. G. Englehardt, who has been stationed at the Public school here for about nine years is leaving for Henty School, where he will resume duty. Mr. Englehardt has just completed his six months' leave of absence, being relieved by Mr. Hall, who is also leaving for another school.

COMMONWEALTH NOTES.

THE POSTMASTER-GENERAL IN SYDNEY.

Senator Drake, Federal Postmaster-General, arrived in Sydney from Melbourne yesterday on his way to Brisbane. In the course of an interview Senator Drake said he considered far too much fuss had been made about the proposal to discontinue free shipping telegrams. What the Federal Government was endeavouring to do was to create a greater use of the telegraph lines by the general public, and in arriving at the scale of rates it was determined that all business would be carried out on a very low scale, and that there should be no free business. He was convinced that the new order of things, commencing from to-day, would soon be appreciated by the general public. The strongest opposition to the original bill, he added, came from Victorians. This was due to there being no minimum telegram charge of 6d as existed in the other States. There were great difficulties in the way of securing uniformity of telegraph rates in six different States, and he felt very pleased with the work that had been accomplished in that direction.

Speaking on the subject of weather reports, the Postmaster-General said that under the Act "Meteorological" telegrams would be supplied free to the weather bureaux, and these reports would be exhibited at the General Post Office as at present, but should it be considered necessary to forward these messages to different parts of the State the ordinary charge would then be made, and the amount would be debited against the State Government, and a subsequent credit given for the amounts.

Questioned as to the probable effect upon business consequent upon the changes in the rates, Senator Drake said he fully anticipated a great increase, but it was impossible at this stage to indicate the extent of the increase. One thing was certain, and that was that whilst the various lines were being used they would all be earning revenue to the State, and the general public would have the use of the telegraphs upon more favourable terms than hitherto.

Mr. Drake left for Brisbane last evening, and will stay in Queensland about two months.

THE NEWCASTLE COLLIERIES' TELEGRAMS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Mr. Watkins, M.P., who is now in Melbourne, is bringing pressure to bear on the Postal Department with a view of securing to the miners at Newcastle a continuance of the present postal arrangements by which colliers are enabled to ascertain if their services on particular days are required. Mr. Watkins says that it is customary at Newcastle for outlying post-offices to send daily reports to the central office at Newcastle as to what collieries will be at work on the following day. These notices are posted for public information, and are found to be of great convenience to miners living at a distance from the collieries, but the Postmaster-General has now given notice that the transmission and posting of these notices must be discontinued as from November 1, a decision which has caused as much indignation among those interested in mining at Newcastle as the proposed abolition of free shipping telegrams caused among the general public interested in shipping movements. The matter is not yet settled, but Senator Drake, while en route to Queensland, proposes to go into the matter.

COLONEL TOM PRICE'S POSITION.

The Minister for Defence has decided that Colonel Tom Price, military commandant of Queensland, shall not retire on December 31, 1902, but that he shall remain in the service until the end of December, 1903. Sir John Forrest states he has issued this instruction because Colonel Price was informed he would be retained in the service until he reached the age of 62 before he left for Queensland.

A DOMESTIC TRAGEDY.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

Mrs. Martin, reported to have been shot by her husband, a farmer, at Dublin yesterday, died this morning.

The father of deceased is Mr. John Mackay, who for many years was outdoor foreman for Messrs. W. R. Cave and Co. at Port Adelaide, and at present manager at Port Adelaide for the Farmers' Co-operative Union. Mr. Mackay received a message on Thursday evening reporting the tragedy, and the news came as a terrible shock to the family, who are well known and highly respected in Port Adelaide. Mr. Mackay at once communicated with his friends at Dublin to spare no expense in providing medical attendance and comfort for his daughter, and he and his son James made arrangements to drive to Dublin post haste. They arrived this morning, and were greatly affected when informed that Mrs. Martin was dead. It is alleged that Mr. and Mrs. Martin did not live happily together, but such a tragedy as that which has happened was never expected.

From what can be ascertained, Mrs. Martin had obtained an order for judicial separation from her husband on account of his intemperate habits, and had been living with her father at Alberton, but had come to Dublin to get her belongings. On Thursday afternoon, in company with Mrs. C. Whyte, she went to Martin's house by arrangement with her husband, and began to pack up. An altercation ensued about some photographs which she claimed, and which he would not let her have. Then, in the presence of Mrs. Whyte and Mrs. M. Porter, Martin deliberately pointed a loaded gun at his wife and fired. She exclaimed, "I am shot," and ran to the front gate, where blood poured from a gaping wound, the left busk having been broken by the force of the charge. When Martin saw her lying on the bed where she had been placed he exclaimed, "Jessie, kiss me and say you forgive me," and threw himself across her. He was then removed and guarded, pending the arrival of the police.

An inquest was opened, and was adjourned till to-morrow morning.

THE WORTHINGTON CASE

SENTENCE ON PRISONER.

SEVEN YEARS WITH HARD LABOUR.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Arthur Bentley Worthington, who was convicted on Tuesday on four charges of obtaining money by fraud, was called up this afternoon for sentence. When asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him, Worthington, speaking in a low even voice, replied: "I had thought, your Honor, I would mention three things to you in the hope that these might mitigate the sentence about to be passed on me. The first is that I would ask you to remember that during the last 15 months my health has been seriously impaired." Here he paused for a moment, and proceeding in broken tones said: "The second is that your Honor might do so out of consideration for my poor wife and little children, and lastly I ask that your Honor will remember I have been in prison for two months now. I may say my wife yesterday sent me her forgiveness for all that has been revealed at the trial and asked me to mention this. That is all I have to say."

Mr. Justice Holroyd delivered sentence in the following terms: "Prisoner, you have been convicted on four different charges of obtaining money and valuable security by false pretences, and the evidence disclosed some very disgraceful conduct on your part. It was a very bad case indeed, and I must say that I look upon you as one of the most dangerous impostors that ever came into this country. The sentence of the Court upon you is that for the first two of these crimes you be imprisoned and kept at hard labour for a period of 18 calendar months on each charge, and for each of the two last crimes two years' hard labour, such sentences to be cumulative, making seven years in all."

Prisoner received the sentence with bowed head, and made no sign.

SPECIAL CABLES.

FROM THE "HERALD'S" LONDON CORRESPONDENTS.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S TOUR.

THE INVITATION FROM AUSTRALIA.

WANT OF TIME PREVENTS ACCEPTANCE.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

Mr. Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, in reference to the suggestion that he should visit Australia at the close of his South African tour, has telegraphed to the "British Australasian" that want of time will prevent his visit to Australia and New Zealand on the present occasion.

GERMAN ATTITUDE TOWARDS GREAT BRITAIN.

BERLIN JOURNALS PERTURBED.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

The newspapers of Berlin are much perturbed at the accusations of Sir Horace Rumbold in the "National Review" that the Germans are still Great Britain's most unrelenting and dangerous foes.

THE ADEN HINTERLAND.

REPORTED SATISFACTORY SETTLEMENT.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

The Sultan has directed his Ministers to reconsider their advice with regard to the Hinterland of Aden since it is reported that the difficulty with Great Britain as to the frontier has been satisfactorily settled.

The Porte advised Sir Nicholas O'Conor, the British Ambassador at Constantinople, that the Turkish troops would not be withdrawn from the vicinity of Aden until the frontier question had been settled. Great Britain insisted that the withdrawal of the troops should precede negotiations.

THE ARGENTINE.

CATTLE EXPORTS.

LONDON, Oct. 30.

Mr. R. W. Hanbury, President of the Board of Agriculture, in a speech at Edinburgh, said he believed that the Argentine was free from cattle disease, but before opening British ports to cattle from that country they must be satisfied that the Argentine authorities were taking proper precautions to prevent the reintroduction of the disease.

BANKNOTE FORGERIES.

A CLEVER GANG.

CHIEF FORGER TURNS KING'S EVIDENCE.

LONDON, Oct. 30.

The six foreigners who were recently arrested for having in their possession Bank of England forged notes are connected with a gang of five men, who were arrested in March for circulating false £5 Bank of England notes.

Jacob Schmidt, the chief forger, turned King's evidence.

[On March 22 it was cabled that the police had cleverly arrested a gang of five men, who were circulating false £5 Bank of England notes in London. The police seized 200 counterfeit notes. It had previously been reported that 300 counterfeit Bank of England £5 notes had been received by the bank, and that many more were believed to be in circulation. On October 22 a cablegram was received stating that six foreigners, chiefly Russians, had been arrested for having in their possession Bank of England forged notes of the face value of £13,500 and uttering some. The police expended £10,000 in securing the arrests. The notes were printed in Italy on paper prepared by Englishmen in Spain. The deception was so good that several banks accepted the notes. On October 29 it was cabled that detectives had discovered in London a press weighing 25 tons, which was used for printing forged Bank of England notes, engraved copper and steel plates, and many tools.]

COLOMBIA REVOLUTION.

LONDON, Oct. 30.

After heavy losses on both sides, General Uribe with 1500 men, has capitulated to the Colombian Government troops.

He has undertaken to secure the surrender of the revolutionary bands in Magdalena and Bolivar.

SOUTH AFRICA.

ANOTHER APPEAL BY GENERAL BOTHA.

THE SEPTEMBER MANIFESTO EXPLAINED.

THE PITIABLE STATE OF THE BOERS.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

General Louis Botha, in an article in the current number of the "Contemporary Review," says that if the British only realised the pitiable state of the Boers it would be unnecessary for the Boer generals to make appeals for help. After Mr. Chamberlain's reply to the request for further aid the Boer generals considered that it would be impossible to reopen the financial question, as they understood that no appeals for help would be listened to, British generosity being limited to the legal obligations under the treaty.

Owing to that harrowing prospect the Boer generals made an appeal to the world in the manifesto published on September 25, and in doing so they had no desire to alienate Great Britain from their cause.

Nothing has occurred as regards the Boer generals abroad, General Botha affirms, that can reasonably be calculated to offend the susceptibilities of the British.

If Great Britain will still aid the Boers with money it may serve as a substitute for the army of 100,000 men now being planted in South Africa.

General Botha says that he is prepared to submit a report to an impartial commission respecting the number of ruined farmsteads in his native land.

It would help to smooth matters if the delegates in Europe, Messrs. Fischer, Wessels, and Wolmarans, are allowed to return to South Africa, and a complete amnesty to the rebels would be a potent means of removing racial estrangement.

MR. KRUGER'S MEMOIRS.

PROVE THE WAR WAS INEVITABLE.

LONDON, Oct. 30.

The second instalment of Mr. Kruger's "Memoirs" has been published in the "Times." Mr. Kruger accuses the late Mr. Cecil Rhodes of lying, bribery, and treachery. He describes Lord Milner as a typical jingo and autocratic beyond endurance. He states that Mr. Chamberlain was Mr. Rhodes' accomplice in the raid on the Rand.

The "Times," in commenting on the historical and other inaccuracies of Mr. Kruger, states that the negotiations between Mr. Kruger and Lord Milner were bound to fail and that the war was inevitable.

PUNISHMENT FOR LOYALISTS.

THE BOND WITHDRAWS.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

The amendment moved in the Cape Colony House of Assembly in Committee of Supply relating to the salary of the Chief Inspector of Sheep was withdrawn. Mr. J. X. Merriman (Bondite) apologised for Mr. Kuhn's (Bondite) remarks about the inspector's connection with the Intelligence Department in the war.

[On October 26 it was cabled that during the discussion in the Cape Colony House of Assembly in Committee of Supply on the agriculture vote members of the Afrikander Bond objected to an increase of salary to the Chief Inspector of Sheep on the ground that he had been an intelligence officer during the war. Dr. Smartt, late Minister for Works, declared that his party (the Progressives) would debate the matter for a month to prevent the Bond punishing a man for loyalty.]

CAUSE OF A RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

The Departmental Board has completed its inquiry into the circumstances of the Railway accident near Moe on October 23, when a goods train was derailed, and a mixed train for Thorpdale narrowly escaped being involved in disaster. The board found that the accident occurred at a point where a culvert was filled in two years ago. On the night of the accident a ganger and his men removed the decking that was left there, and filled in the cavity. Rain fell subsequently, causing a subsidence of earth. The board found the ganger culpable in not having examined the place after rain, and in not stationing a man there to warn passing trains. The ganger has been suspended.

VICE-REGAL VISITORS.

The Governor of New South Wales with Lady Rawson and party arrived by the express to-day from Sydney, and the Lieutenant-Governor of South Australia with Lady Way and party arrived from Adelaide. These visitors, with Vice-Admiral Sir L. A. Beaumont, will be the guests of the Acting Governor-General during Cup week.

Earl Ranfurly and party arrived at Mildura to-day and proceeded at once to his Excellency's estate.

Mr. Fitzpatrick has been appointed Acting Commissioner of Railways for a further period of three months.

The body of a young man named O'Brien was found on the railway line at Chiltern on Thursday morning. It is assumed he was struck by a train on Wednesday night and thrown clear of the line.

The directors of the Ballarat Woollen Company report that a profit of £2430 was made on manufacturing account for the half-year ended September 30.

QUEENSLAND.

POLITICAL RESPONSIBILITY.

ADDRESS BY A BISHOP.

BRISBANE, Friday.

The Bishop of North Queensland, speaking at a meeting at Geraldton yesterday, made a strong appeal for wider conceptions of political responsibility. The peculiar problem before Australian statesmen at present was to reconcile individualism with collectivism, both in municipal and State politics. The disease in Australian politics was not a lack of energy, but disregard of the wider claims of the community in seeking the welfare of the individual. The electorates of the federal legislators frequently disregarded the State claims. In Melbourne the needs of North Queensland had apparently been forgotten, but the whole Commonwealth suffered proportionately with the neglect of the interests of the smallest section of the community. The Bishop also appealed for deeper interest in the forces making for national stability, instancing the religious teaching of children. He said it was a democratic principle that the people should speak on important reforms. It would be an intolerable wrong to the community if any member of the Queensland Assembly voted against the Enabling Bill to provide for a referendum upon the introduction of religious teaching in the State schools, or obscured the issue brought before the people.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

THE ROUTE OF CABLE MESSAGES.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

Considerable surprise was occasioned in Adelaide by the statement published in the Melbourne newspapers to the effect that the Postmaster-General, Senator Drake, intends to send all "unrouted" oversea cables via the Pacific route. It is contended that if the Minister's proposal is carried out it will seriously affect the South Australian telegraphic revenue.

THE ARBITRATION COURT.

THE JUDGE APOLOGISES.

Before the business of the Arbitration Court was proceeded with this morning Mr. Justice Moorhead stated that he wished to apologise to Mr. J. W. Croft, secretary of the Trades and Labour Council, for having included him in his remarks on the previous day. It had arisen through accident. He had since looked through the papers, and had found that Mr. Croft had had nothing to do with the matter, and he wished to apologise most heartily.

Mr. Croft thereupon took his place in court.

NORTHERN TERRITORY.

WRECK OF THE VENTNOR.

SEARCH FOR THE MISSING BOAT.

WELLINGTON, Friday.

The Marine Department gave instructions this morning that a steamer be sent out at once from Hokianga or Kaipara to search for the missing boat from the Ventnor. The Chief Government Inspector of Machinery says the ship was surveyed at Auckland and Wellington. So far as concerned the boats and other equipment the officers reported to him that the vessel generally was in good order and condition. The boats and life-saving appliances were complete and sufficient for all on board.

It is stated on Ministerial authority that the Government intends sending out two more trade commissioners to search for new markets.

MR. TOM MANN AT BROKEN HILL.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

Mr. Tom Mann, the English labour leader, arrived at Broken Hill this morning, and was welcomed at the Sulphide-street station by the reception committee, including the Mayor, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Josiah Thomas, and Mr. Tudor, Ms.P., and a number of citizens connected with the labour movement. He afterwards had an official reception at the Town Hall. The Mayor presided.

Mr. Mann said he hoped during the meetings he expected to address that he would be able to advance the workers' prospects in no narrow spirit, and in no sectional cause, but in a way which would commend itself to the thoughtful portion of the community.

WOMEN AND THE VOTE.

THE POLICE PREPARING THE ROLLS.

THE EXPERIENCES OF A COLLECTOR.

The police have lately had another responsible undertaking thrust upon them—that of compiling electoral rolls giving the names and other particulars of women over the age of 21 who are entitled to the franchise, in accordance with the Act recently passed by the State Parliament. No body of men is capable of doing work of this description so efficiently and economically as the police. On a moderate estimate it is thought that about 250,000 names will be obtained. This is considerably short of the total number eligible to vote, but it has always been recognised, and experience has already proved it to be true, that a good percentage of ladies would decline on any account to take advantage of the privilege freely proffered by a democratic Parliament.

The task will occupy the attention of the police in each of the 125 electorates from four to six weeks. The electorates have been mapped out into 445 divisions, and from two to six constables, according to locality, allotted to each. Where districts are sparsely populated and long distances have to be covered more men are employed. In the metropolis there are 36 electorates, and in each two members of the force have been detailed for the work, making a total of 72 policemen thus engaged.

The enrolling constable is provided with an indexed book, in which he is required to record the Christian name in full, the surname in full, the residence and occupation of each adult woman. The age is not demanded—an item which should allay the apprehension of many. In describing occupation the terms "married woman" and "spinster" are to be avoided. If employed in household work the policeman marks down "domestic duties." Female servants, however, are to be described as "cook," "housemaid," or "general servant," &c. Distinctive occupations or professions are to be stated, such as "typist," "dressmaker," or "teacher."

By a police officer who has been engaged for the last 10 days in one of the city divisions collecting names, a "Herald" representative was yesterday informed that the work was not without its difficulties and worries. "In my opinion," said the officer, "this woman's suffrage is not going to be the success anticipated. I do not believe that half the women will record their votes, and I say this as the result of my experiences amongst them during the past few days. Why, the very people whom one would have thought would be eager and anxious to see that their names were registered are the very ones who trouble least about it."

"What class do you allude to?"

"The ladies of the upper and wealthy circles, those who attend Government House functions, and are supposed to be well-educated. Would you believe that in one fashionable street alone I was refused the names of the women in 23 houses, and another street I am now working in 10 places I have met with the same indifference?"

"How do they receive you?"

"Oh, in different ways. Some are inclined to make great fun of the whole thing. Then there are the maids who giggle and chaff; others again get angry, but what about I do not know. I have been told in haughty, supercilious tones, 'We will have nothing at all to do with it.' Several have laughingly replied that they are 'not yet 21,' and another favourite bit of reasoning adopted is to say, 'Oh, we leave all these matters to the men.' They are not all like this, however. Quite a number treated me with every consideration, and after supplying the necessary information said that they had no intention of ever using the vote. Make no mistake, there is a large section opposed to the vote, and they show their prejudice and antipathy as only women can with displays of sarcasm and indignation.

"The women who view the matter with earnestness are those of the working classes and those engaged in earning their own living. The majority are very keen and eager, and watch me to see that I write down their names correctly."

"What plan do you adopt in case of a refusal?"

"We cannot compel them to give their names. We can only make a note of their objections and the number of the house. It takes a lot of coaxing to get some to speak; you have to simply drag it out of them. A man has to be accustomed to the game to be successful. Tact and diplomacy are essentials. If you start off by saying, 'Good-day, madam; I am collecting names for the women's franchise,' in nine cases out of ten it will not work. The better plan is to first ask, 'How long have you been resident here?' and then lead up to the main issue. But I must not divulge our plan of operations too much, as it will spoil us in our job."

It might be added that the procedure to be adopted when the lists are compiled will be the same as was followed with the men's rolls. The rolls will be printed, placed on view in public places for a specified time, and then revision courts held, after which the rights will be made out and distributed. It is thought that the work will be completed by the end of February next.

RAID BY THE POLICE.

SIXTY-EIGHT ARRESTS MADE.

Considerable excitement was occasioned in the city last night when it became known that the police had made raids upon certain premises in Pitt-street and other premises in Market-street, where betting was alleged to have been carried on, and arrested 68 persons who were found on the premises.

The authorities had contemplated the raid for some days past, and the premises had been closely watched. Sub-inspector Sherwood, of No. 1 Police Station, under whose supervision the operations were carried out, secured warrants, and instructed a couple of the younger members of the force who were unknown to the keepers of the establishments to back certain horses. They visited the shops on several occasions to ascertain a favourable time for making the raid. The arrangements were complete last night, and a number of police from the metropolitan stations were ordered to proceed to the vicinity of the two shops. Most of the men were in plain clothes, and took up positions in and about the streets in which the shops were situated. Sub-inspectors Sherwood and Roche then appeared on the scene, and several men in plain clothes were instructed to visit the shops. They walked in openly, and after looking at the notice boards returned to their companions. A lane runs at the rear of the Pitt-street premises, and a detachment of men was sent to guard the door there, so as to prevent escape in that quarter.

The police then entered the shop by the front door. They passed from the shop through doors into a large room at the rear, where a large number of persons were found assembled.

As soon as the officers made their appearance there was a rush for the doors. The front door was immediately closed, but before the police could shut the back door a number of men made their escape. Sub-inspector Sherwood then read the warrant, which he had previously obtained in anticipation of the raid, and those present, who numbered 58, were taken into custody. There were about 30 police engaged, and a message was sent to the station for further assistance. This quickly arrived, and the men were taken in batches to the No. 1 Police Station. Some were marched down Market-street, while others were taken along Pitt-street and down Park-street to the station.

In the meantime Sub-inspector Roche, with a detachment of men, had entered certain premises in Market-street. There were only 10 persons in the shop at the time, and as there was only one exit all were arrested. These men were taken to the Central Police Station.

A large crowd quickly gathered in the vicinity of the shops, and the police as they emerged with men in their custody were loudly hooted. The crowds followed the constables to the station, and remained outside until the men were granted bail.

A charge of being found in a common betting-house without lawful excuse was entered against 66 persons, and the remaining two were charged with assisting to conduct the business of a common betting-house.

Mr. C. Jennings, Chamber Magistrate at the Central Police Court, was telephoned for, and arrived about 9 o'clock. He immediately began to release the men on bail, and by 11 o'clock the last case had been dealt with.

The accused will appear before the Central Police Court this morning.

STRIKE OF SHEARERS.

PAYMENT FOR MACHINE OIL.

TAMWORTH, Friday.

A strike has occurred among the machine shearers at Mr. James Vickery's station Bective, near Tamworth, owing to Mr. Vickery wishing to charge them for oil used on the machine. The shearers do not see their way clear to pay for oil, and the whole of them, numbering 36, accordingly struck work. One of the shearers is to be proceeded against at the Police Court for refusing to pay for oil supplied to and used by him. The case is to be a test one.

THE WEATHER.

FURTHER RAINS ON THE COAST AND HIGH LANDS.

Additional rains have fallen over the highlands and along the coast, but the weather in the interior still remains fine. It was hoped that the storm which passed over South Australia would reach this State, and benefit the drought-stricken country in the Far West. The disturbance, however, contrary to anticipations, proceeded seawards, in the direction of Tasmania.

The quantity of rain measured at Sydney during the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday was 132 points, which, added to 136 points recorded during the previous 24 hours, makes a total fall in the city since Wednesday morning of over 2½ inches. The weather cleared yesterday, and Mr. Russell says that fine weather will be experienced again to-day.

Some heavy falls were reported during the 24 hours ended yesterday morning. The rains, however, were very patchy. Woolgoolga on the North Coast received upwards of 2in.—the highest registration in the State. Over an inch fell at Nambucca an Katoomba, and nearly an inch at Fernmount and the Clarence. The chief records for the 24 hours were:—

	Points.		Points.
Woolgoolga	214	Parramatta	55
Nambucca	135	Raymond Terrace ...	50
Sydney	132	Muswellbrook	48
Katoomba	108	Bega	41
Fermount	92	Jerry's Plains	39
Clarence	90	Ulladulla	38
Singleton	79	Maitland	36
Kurrajong	64	Newcastle	34
Port Stephens	59	Denman	31
Murrurundi	56	Mount Victoria ...	29
Wollongong	56	Grafton	27

Yesterday heavy rains fell over the Blue Mountains, and light rains along a portion of the coast. The additional measurements furnished to the Observatory last night included 67 points at Katoomba (making a total of 1¾ inch in 36 hours); 33 points at Lawson, and 29 at Mount Victoria. Showery weather prevailed last night at Tweed Heads, Byron Bay, Clarence, Woolgoolga, Bellinger, Nambucca, Seal Rocks, Port Stephens, and Jervis Bay.

Mr. Russell predicts that the showers will clear from the coast to day, and that fine and warm weather will be general for 48 hours.

THE CATCHMENT AREA.

The following rainfalls have been recorded on the Prospect Catchment area during the preceding 24 hours ended at 9 o'clock on Thursday morning:—Robertson 176 points, Sherbrook 126 points. At 9 o'clock yesterday (Friday) morning for the previous 24 hours:—Cataract 15 points, with the weather still showery; Wilton 10, and Prospect 42 points.

For the same period the rivers Cataract and Nepean were reported to be in flood, their combined flow being 155,000,000 gallons. This, however, showed a falling off as compared with the preceding corresponding term of 17,830,000 gallons.

The inflow to the Prospect reservoir for the period ended at 9 a.m. yesterday represented 138,311,000 gallons, an increase of 88,016,000 gallons over the previous day.

The water level of the reservoir at 9 o'clock yesterday morning was 175·42ft., representing a rise of ·42ft. for the day, leaving a little over 2ft. further rise to take place before pumping operations could be suspended.

STATEMENT BY MR. GARRARD.

ECONOMY STILL NECESSARY.

In reply to a question asked yesterday by a representative of the "Herald" Mr. Jacob Garrard, president of the Metropolitan Board of Water Supply and Sewerage, said decidedly that the trouble in connection with the Sydney water supply was not yet over. The members and officers of the board he represented were very thankful for the present fall and the improved prospects, but still over 2ft. more water was needed in the Prospect reservoir before they could cease pumping operations. Although the present flow into the reservoir would no doubt continue and enable them to stop the Prospect pumps by giving a few days' longer supply for the daily consumption, yet he questioned, unless more rain came in the meantime, whether they should be able to stop the pumps for more than two or three weeks.

In view of the fact that the reservoir was still some 20ft. below what it was at this time last year the necessity for continued economy in the use of water and the prevention of waste was apparent. As soon as there was sufficient water in the reservoir to justify the public using it with a freer hand the board would notify the fact. It was not the wish of the board to restrict use of the water, but at present such a course was absolutely necessary in the public interest. No one would be more pleased than the members of the board when the necessity for such restraints had passed.

Asked as to whether or not the Nepean weir could be raised so as to maintain a higher level and thereby allow of better use being made of the tunnel, Mr. Garrard replied that on Tuesday week when he was visiting the catchment area the matter came under his personal observation. The water was then running over the Nepean weir with a depth of about six inches. Seeing that, he gave instructions for a temporary sandbag topping to be put on the weir, and this had been done. One row of sandbags had been put in position as soon as the fall in the water permitted of this being done. The bags remained intact, although on Thursday night eight inches of water were running over them. As soon as it was safe to do so an additional row of sandbags would be placed on the weir. The same was being done with the weir at the Cataract tunnel, one row of sandbags being placed along that, and if it should be found that it would bear another row without causing the canal to overflow, one would be placed in position. Putting one row of sandbags on the weir would not cost more than £10, and if the work proved at all successful it would pay well. The capacity of the Cataract tunnel was about 150,000,000 gallons per 24 hours, and that of the canal was the same. If, however, by increasing the head they were to force more water through the tunnel by raising the speed of the flow there would be the possibility of causing the canal to overflow.

This week's rain had been the best they had had on the catchment area for more than 12 months, and naturally afforded great satisfaction. Some people spoke of its doing away with the necessity of going on with the work of increasing the Sydney source of supply. As he had pointed out, they did not desire to deplete the reservoir more than they could possibly help; nor should any of the works for increasing the supply be dismantled until the proposed Cataract dam had been constructed and was full of water. That condition was an absolute necessity arising from the continuous growth of the city. The puddle core in the dam at Prospect had been raised about five or six years ago, and the need for further conservation of water to meet the increasing and prospective demands of Sydney led to an exploration of the catchment area, and several suitable sites had, as a result, been discovered.

STATION REPORTS.

The A.M. and A. Company, Limited, has received the following on October 31:—"Stirling (Boggabilla): Good rain yesterday; 130 points." "Yarawa (Moree): Forty-nine points of rain since 28th; now clear."

BEGA, Friday.

Showers continue; 41 points were recorded at 9 a.m.

BELLINGER HEADS, Friday.

In 26 hours about 200 points fell. It was still raining this afternoon.

BOMBALA, Friday.

The weather is showery. No shearing has been done this week on account of the wet weather.

BOWRAL, Friday.

The total rainfall this month was 965 points. The district now looks splendid.

BRUSHGROVE, Friday.

Showery weather still prevails. 200 points of rain were registered for the week. The maize crops are looking splendid. New potatoes will be on the market in a fortnight's time.

CHATSWORTH ISLAND, Friday.

This week 145 points have fallen. It was showery to-day.

COOMA, Friday.

This week the following rainfalls have been recorded in the district:—Matong, 66 points; Jimenbuan, 66; Kiaora, 37; Springwell, 20; Haseldean, 19; Maffra, 22; Springvale, 6; Ironmongie, 32.

DAPTO, Friday.

Since Tuesday night 2 inches fell at Brownsville.

DUNGOG, Friday.

Heavy showers fell during yesterday and last night. Misty rain is falling to-day. The river is a banker.

GOSFORD, Friday.

The rainfall in October was 11in. It was still raining this afternoon.

GRAFTON, Friday.

The showery weather throughout the district during the past week has greatly benefited the grass and crops.

KIAMA, Friday.

Nice rain fell last night and this morning, adding 41 points to the October record and making 8¾ inches for the month and 32 inches 11 points since January 1 last.

LISMORE, Friday.

Good showers of rain fell at intervals to-day.

LITHGOW, Friday.

Thirty-nine points of rain were registered this morning, making 108 points for the last three days. Further showers fell to-day, and to-night steady rain is setting in.

MENANGLE, Friday.

Showers are still falling, and the country is looking charming.

MOUNT VICTORIA, Friday.

Light easterly showers occurred to-day. Over a quarter of an inch was recorded this morning. Since the beginning of the year 12in. 40 points of rain have fallen.

NELSON'S BAY, Friday.

All the farms are looking splendid after the rains. Over 49in. has fallen since January.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

The weather continues showery.

NOWRA, Friday.

The rainfall for the week was 143 points.

LIVERPOOL, Friday.

Heavy rain has fallen at intervals during the past few days, causing a very slight addition to the waters of George's River, thereby providing an increased supply for the local industries. Dams have been partially replenished in some parts of the district, but in others they remain in a dried-up condition, and water for stock is scarce as a consequence. The grass and feed crops are looking well, as also are many of the horses and cattle which have survived the serious effects of the drought. To-day nice showers have fallen.

PATERSON, Friday.

At 9 a.m. 158 points were recorded here, and 108 at Gresford. It has been showery since that hour.

QUIRINDI, Friday.

Nearly an inch of rain has fallen during the past three days. The country is looking magnificent. Farmers are confident of getting good wheat crops. A York farmer says he will get between 400 and 500 bags. Encouraging reports are coming from other parts of the district.

During a thunderstorm on Wednesday night lightning struck the corner house of Milner-parade, belonging to Mr. George Burden, and split the corner posts, besides setting fire to the building. The children had just finished tea. The eldest girl threw water on the ignited part and put the fire out. The children were stunned by the shock, but otherwise no injury was done. The roofing was considerably damaged.

ROBERTSON, Friday.

At 9 a.m. 75 points were recorded, making since Tuesday 305. All the feeders to the Sydney water supply will continue running for some weeks.

SPRINGWOOD, Friday.

Showery weather continued last night, and it is still unsettled. Thirty-five points have fallen for the past 24 hours.

TINGHA, Friday.

Over 3in. of rain has fallen. It will be of immense benefit to farmers and graziers and in favourable situations will give the miners some water. Wash dirt has been stacked for over 12 months awaiting rain.

UNANDERRA, Friday.

It was showery on Thursday, and last night heavy rain fell. The creeks, which had ceased to run for many months, are now flowing freely.

WAGGA, Friday.

The total rainfall amounted to 179 points.

WINDSOR, Friday.

Thirteen points of rain fell for the 24 hours up to 9 a.m. to-day. The weather is still showery.

WOLLONGONG, Friday.

So far the season has been most favourable throughout the Illawarra district. From last Sunday week until to-day (inclusive) the rainfall in Wollongong amounted to 460 points, and the whole district appears to have fared somewhat to the same extent. As a matter of fact never did the district look more beautiful than at present.

WOONONA, Friday.

Heavy but warm rains have fallen during the past 10 days. The Sydney water supply catchment area, which is on top of the Bulli range, appears to have benefited considerably.

YAMBA, Friday.

Steady rain fell last night. Up to 9 a.m. to-day 90 points were registered. It was still showery this afternoon.

AMENDMENT OF THE TRADE UNION ACT.

CONFERENCE OF EMPLOYERS.

AN EMPHATIC PROTEST.

A meeting of employers of labour, convened by the council of the Sydney Chamber of Commerce, was held at the Royal Exchange last evening. The chair was taken by Mr. J. Barre Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce. On the platform were:—Mr. G. S. Littlejohn (vice-president), Mr. J. P. M'Arthur, Mr. E. H. Rogers, Mr. J. M. Atkinson, Mr. J. M. Paxton, and Mr. H. C. Mitchell, and amongst those present were gentlemen representing the following industrial unions of employers:—Brickmasters and Pipe Manufacturers, Boot, Shoe, and Slipper Manufacturers of New South Wales, Master Carriers' Association of New South Wales, Master Coachbuilders and Wheelwrights' Association of New South Wales, Western Coal Association, Metropolitan Ice Cold Storage Company, Limited, Goodlet and Smith, Limited, Iron Trade Employers' Association of New South Wales, David Jones and Co., Jam Manufacturers' Association, Laundry Association of New South Wales, J. C. Ludowici and Co., Limited, Pastoralists' Union of New South Wales, Parramatta Woollen Mills, Limited, New South Wales Coastal Steamship Owners' Association, Wholesale Saddle, Harness, and Collar Manufacturers' Association of New South Wales, Shipbuilders and Ship Joiners' Association, Wool and Produce Selling Brokers, Sydney, and Chamber of Manufactures.

The meeting was occasioned through the action taken by the council of the Chamber of Commerce when on the 27th ultimo it passed the following resolution:—"The council view with very great alarm the introduction of the bill entitled, 'A Bill to Amend the Trade Union Act of 1881,' as tending to undermine common law, and decides to invite the industrial unions of employers to confer as to the best means of bringing their views on the subject before Parliament."

Mr. J. Barre Johnston, in bringing forward the business of the meeting, said that on October 14 a bill had been introduced in the Legislative Assembly, the object of which was to amend the Trade Union Act of 1881 and provide that "no trade union registered under the Trade Union Act, 1881, shall be competent to sue, or be liable to be sued, in any court of law or Equity. But nothing herein shall affect the powers and liabilities conferred by the said Act on the trustees of any such trade union." If that bill became law it would not only override what was already the common law of the State, but would virtually place trades unions above the law. Seeing how detrimental such a law would be, as all class legislation must be, to the best interests of the people the council of the Chamber of Commerce had deemed it wise to invite the employers to a conference, and he submitted the following resolution for consideration,—"That this meeting of merchants of the city of Sydney, members of the Chamber of Commerce, of the Chamber of Manufactures, and of employers' unions registered under the Industrial Arbitration Act, 1901, emphatically protest against the bill introduced into the Legislative Assembly to amend the Trade Union Act of 1881, as a measure calculated to do away with the liabilities imposed on trade unions by the common law of this State, and to make unions, capable of owning great wealth and of acting by agents, absolutely irresponsible for the wrongs that they may do to other persons by the use of that wealth and the employment of these agents." The great injustice of the proposed amendment was emphasised by the decision given in the case of Taff Vale Railway Company and the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants. At present the law of this State rendered the funds of trade unions responsible for the liabilities of the unions, and in delivering judgment in the Taff Vale case the Lord Chancellor said:—"If the legislature has created a thing which can own property, which can employ servants, and which can inflict injury, it must be taken, I think, to have impliedly given the power to make it suable in a court of law for injuries purposely done by its authority and procurement." (Cheers.)

Mr. W. Jaques seconded the motion. He said it was high time some action by way of protest should be taken in regard to this matter, and to show to any reasonably minded man how absurd the attitude taken up by the supporters of the proposed legislation was, for it seemed to be an effort on the part of some of the unions to release themselves from any liabilities.

Mr. O. C. Beale, in supporting the resolution, pointed out that up to the year 1871 trades unions were regarded as illegal organisations, and it was not until 1881 that the Imperial Act giving them a legal status was passed. That Act later on was accepted and endorsed by the Parliament of this State. (Hear, hear). The Chamber of Manufactures did not desire to see the Arbitration Act destroyed; but the bill that had been introduced was not in consonance with their views as to fair play. He thought the matter should have been referred to a committee to decide the methods of opposition to the bill which should be adopted.

Mr. J. M. Atkinson said he would support the motion. He was satisfied that everyone present was anxious that the Arbitration Act should have a fair trial. (Hear, hear). There was, he thought, only one solution to the difficulties that confronted the employers and that was to organise for defensive purposes, and after all they asked for no more than "a fair thing." (Cheers).

Mr. J. P. Wright said that unless some action was taken it was quite possible that a bill of the nature proposed might be slipped through in the early hours of the morning before the close of the Parliamentary session.

Mr. J. Sparkes said it was highly improbable that such a bill would be passed into law, for it was self-condemned, and indeed he thought they were giving undue prominence to the matter.

Messrs. Ludowici, Lovely, and Sime also briefly addressed the meeting, and the motion when put was unanimously carried.

A resolution proposed by Mr. J. P. M'Arthur and seconded by Mr. E. H. Rogers to the effect that the foregoing resolution should be forwarded to the Premier and to the members of both Houses of the Legislature was agreed to, and a vote of thanks to the chairman brought the proceedings to a conclusion.

NIGHT WATCHMAN ASSAULTED AND ROBBED.

Shortly after 11 o'clock last night William Pollie, a special constable and night watchman employed in No. 4 police division, was assaulted by three young men and robbed of a gold watch and chain valued at £13. Pollie was walking along Queen's-place, off Pitt-street, when a man spoke to him, and immediately afterwards grabbed his watch chain. Two others caught him from behind, and, after striking him several times about the face, threw him to the ground. They then ran away. Mr. T. Yates, a night watchman employed in the vicinity, noticed a man running along the street and gave chase. He caught him in Underwood-street and took him to where Pollie was; but the latter was unable to identify the man as one of those who had assaulted him.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

HILLGROVE, Friday.

Mr. J. H. Dawson won Dr. Hardcastle's silver cup, presented for the highest average shooting for the year. Mr. C. S. Porter is the winner of the silver medal presented by the National Rifle Association in connection with the C.R.C. for this year's shooting. Mr. W. Bullen was the winner of the trophy in the shooting for the past quarter of the C.R.C.

FORBES, Friday.

The Rifle Club shot off for the Bollinger trophy. A. Williamson and P. White tied with 62 each.

NEWCASTLE.

WALLSEND AND PLATTSBURG AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

ANNUAL SHOW.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

The sixteenth annual show of the above society was opened in the Agricultural Hall, Wallsend, this afternoon by Mr. Alexander Ross. There was an excellent display of exhibits, the number of entries exceeding those of the previous show by 71. The exhibits of poultry and pigeons, however, were not so numerous as on previous occasions, but this deficiency was made up from other sources, notably in the industrial section among the schools, whilst the feature of the exhibition was an exceedingly fine display of cut and pot flowers. Following is a list of awards:—

Dairy Produce.—Jar of lard: W. J. Ritchie, 1 and 2. Garden Produce.—Cabbage: J. Smart. Lettuce: F. Smart, 1; A. Whitehead, 2. Carrots: A. Whitehead. Leeks: J. Smart, 1 and 2. Parsnips: J. Smart, 1 and 2. Radishes: J. Smart, 1; A. Whitehead, 2. Onions: J. Smart, 1; F. Smart, 2. Potatoes: A. Whitehead, 1; W. Harris, 2. Best six potatoes: J. Smart, 1; W. Hughes, 2. Best roots: A. Whitehead, 1; T. Sharp, 2. Broad beans: T. Sharp, 1; J. Smart, 2. French beans: W. J. Ritchie, 1 and 2. Peas in pod: W. Harris, 1; J. Smart, 2. Eschalots: W. Hunter, 1; J. Smart, 2. Herbs: F. Smart. Collection salads: T. Sharp, 1; F. Smart, 2.

Poultry.—Plymouth Rock—Hen: W. Bradley, 1 and 2. Orpington—Black cock: W. Wilson, 1; J. S. Gwynne, 2. Hen: W. M'Donnel, 1; W. H. Lathlean, 2. Buff—Cock: H. Cadell, 1; J. P. Gwynne, 2. Hen: H. Gilmour, 1; J. Marshall, 2. Bantam other than game—Cock: W. Jennings, 1; P. J. Sullivan, 2. Hen: R. Hodgins, 1. Selling class—Cock: W. Wilson, 1; R. Steel, 2. Hen: W. Harrison, 1; J. Murray, 2. Any other variety not specified—Cock: J. Dawson, 1. Hen: C. Bell, 1; J. Dawson. In the pigeon section nearly all classes were won by J. S. Vinden and A. H. Moxey. Bottled fruits: T. Peattie. Bakery—Scones: Miss L. Williams, 1; Mrs. E. Williams, 2. Sponge cake: Mrs. F. Smart, 1. Homemade bread: Mrs. W. Newman, 1; Mrs. B. Davis, 2. Honey: A. Wile.

COAL EXPORT TRADE.

The following vessels cleared at the Customs to-day:—The steamer Monowai, for Wellington, via Sydney, with 1150 tons coal; the steamer Chingtu, for Hongkong, via Sydney, with 1500 tons; the steamer Volage, for Sydney, with 600 tons for ship's use; the Italian barque Santa Chiara, for Valparaiso, with 1132 tons of Burwood coal; the steamer Queen Alexandra, for Cebu and Manila, with 6438 tons of Seaham coal; and the steamer Kittawa, for Devonport, with 900 tons of coal and 300 tons coke. Of the foregoing the Queen Alexandra and the Kittawa sailed to-day.

OCTOBER REVENUE RETURNS.

The revenue collected at the Newcastle Customhouse for the month of October amounted to £14,871 9s 5d, made up as follows:—Harbour and light rates, £512 5s; pilot dues, £925 14s 6d; harbour dues, £457 5s; duty and excise, £10,465 15s 4d; ad valorem duty, £2496 4s 7d; and miscellaneous, £4 4s.

THE STOCKTON COLLIERY FIRE.

There are no fresh developments to note in regard to the fire in portion of the old workings of Stockton mine in what is known as No. 18 bord. Three shifts of workmen are being employed during the 24 hours, the intention being at present to plug up the entrance to the bord with sand and then place a brick stopping. Owing to the smoke and heat the work is very exhausting. Inspectors Humble and Tennant relieve one another down the mine, and the manager, Mr. Fletcher, and Mr. Hindmarsh, the underground manager, do likewise.

THE SULPHIDE CORPORATION.

The weekly smelting return of the Sulphide Corporation shows that 670 tons of ore were treated, producing bullion containing 566oz. of gold, 19,195oz. silver, and 247 tons lead.

The steamer Dilkara is due here to-morrow with 1800 tons of gold ore from Fremantle.

The total quantity of wool received this season at the port to date is 10,829 bales, whilst at the corresponding period last year it was 22,792 bales. During the past week 2408 bales have been received.

The body of the youth Galbraith Brecken Thompson, son of Sergeant Thompson, of Stockton, who fell off a barge into the river near Hexham on the 21st instant, was found to-day in some mangroves about a mile below the scene of the fatality. The coroner held an inquiry this afternoon, the evidence showing that deceased fell overboard as he was shifting the helm. A finding of accidental death was recorded.

ROYAL MELBOURNE GOLF CLUB.

LADIES' AUSTRALIAN CHAMPIONSHIP.

WON BY MISS CALDER.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The tournament of the Royal Melbourne Golf Club was brought to a successful close on the Sandringham links to-day, when the final round in the Ladies' Australian Championship was played. The tournament has been carried through without a hitch, and visitors from other States are emphatic in saying that it has been equally a pleasure to play over the links and under the control of the Melbourne Club. Mr. Ross Gore, the hon. secretary, and Mr. Callaway, the hon. treasurer, managed matters excellently, and when at the finish of the meeting Mr. Riddell took the opportunity of thanking them for their work his complimentary remarks were warmly applauded. Mr. Riddell also thanked the visitors from the other States for coming so far to play, and said their presence had enhanced both the success and the pleasure of the meeting. The club was especially indebted to the South Australians, who had sent both ladies and gentlemen to represent them, and he hoped the Victorians would recognise and return the compliment by visiting Adelaide next year when the Australian championships would be played there. Mr. Gunson (of Adelaide), in reply, said it was not so much a duty as a pleasure to come to Melbourne for the golf tournament. Adelaide visitors invariably enjoyed the meeting, and he would promise that those who visited Adelaide would find the links—like those at Sandringham—greatly improved. The play for the Ladies' Championship to-day was exciting to the last, and two competitors at least, other than the winner, had the melancholy satisfaction of remembering errors and lost opportunities, which probably took from them championship honours. Only three points separated the first three players, and in an aggregate of 300 this is a small margin. The winner was Miss Calder, who played a most consistent game, for she tied on the first round and led on the second, but went perilously near losing in the final round. She was the only player who got an aggregate of under 300. Mrs. Fairbairn was also consistent, and she had especial cause for reflecting upon what might have been. Miss Ayres, of Adelaide, who finished third, played the best round of the whole competition to-day, doing it in 92. Miss Ruse also did a good round of 96, the third best of the tournament. The scores were as follow:—

AUSTRALIAN LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP.

	Third Round.	Total.
Miss Calder	103	299
Mrs. C. Fairbairn	104	301
Miss Ayres	92	302
Miss Bell	105	305
Miss Officer	100	316
Mrs. H. De Little	111	319
Miss E. Raleigh	103	319
Miss Murphy	104	320
Miss Davie	108	323
Miss Ruse	96	324
Miss Bateman	121	344
Miss Raleigh	116	374

STATE PARLIAMENTS.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, Friday.

The Legislative Assembly sat to-day for the first time on Friday during the present session. The Local Authorities Bill was further considered in committee, and fair progress was made. The provision in the bill to enable local authorities to establish their own fire insurance funds was struck out.

TASMANIA.

HOBART, Friday.

The Legislative Council to-day threw out the Income Tax Bill by six votes to five. The Land Tax Bill as amended was approved, and the third reading was fixed for Monday next. The Stamp Duties Amendment Bill passed, also the Official Document Bill, limiting advertising.

CUSTOMS DECISIONS.

The following decisions have been issued:—

Goods sent out of the Commonwealth for repair.—Goods sent out of the Commonwealth for repair and subsequent reintroduction are to be charged duty according to the tariff on their value at the time of reintroduction.

Sizes of packages of opium when imported.—The Minister directs that, in connection with importations of opium, the regulation prescribing the minimum quantity which may be imported is to be enforced in all cases of smoking opium, gum opium, and powdered opium.

A notification appears in the "Government Gazette" to the effect that the quotation of Taylor Brothers, Regent-street, city, has been accepted for the supply and delivery of forage for the metropolitan district (Postal and Electric Telegraph Department and all State establishments and services not otherwise provided for within a radius of eight miles from the General Post Office) for a period of one month from November 1.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE

THE TURF.

Sans Merci was yesterday struck out of all engagements in connection with the Canterbury Park November meeting.

The card of the Melbourne Cup will be read in the rooms of City Tattersall's Club this evening and on Monday night at 8.30.

Our Tamworth correspondent telegraphs that Mr. Alexander Rodgers' stallion Aerolite was struck dead by lightning when a terrific storm was in progress at Attunga.

The Desert having changed owners, the Forest Lodge stewards have decided to remove the disqualification passed upon the gelding some time ago.

Ruby D'Or (the Brisbane Cup winner) has dropped a fine colt foal by Osculator at Mr. C. J. Roberts's Prestonville stud farm, Clarendon.

The Wallsend races have been further postponed until Wednesday next.

Our Adelaide correspondent telegraphs that the racehorses Regent and Corral left for Melbourne on Thursday afternoon.

Our Coonamble correspondent telegraphs that at a special meeting of the members of the Coonamble Amateur Turf Club it was decided, owing to the drought and inability to hold a meeting this year, to allow the subscriptions for 1901-1902 to lapse.

Messrs. William Inglis and Son will sell by auction, at their City Bazaar, at noon on Monday, Bongara, 14.3, 5 years, by Niagara from Bonnette; Crossfire, 4.2, 2 years, by Projectile from Zingara; and Wavelet, 14.1, by Tartar from Excelsior from Steppe.

The pony and galloway races set down for decision this week at Brighton have been abandoned.

Nominations fall due on Monday next with the secretary, Mr. John Jolly, for the half-dozen events to be run at the Moorefield November meeting. Particulars of the programme will be found in the advertising columns.

It has been finally decided that the champion trotter Fritz will give an exhibition at the initial meeting of the New South Wales Trotting Club. Fritz will attempt to lower his previous record for a mile. Entries for the different events close with the secretary, Mr. R. Hungerford, on the 11th instant.

CANTERBURY PARK RACE CLUB.

The November meeting at Canterbury Park to be held to-day has been favoured with good entries, and as the scratchings have been few some interesting sport will be provided. The racecourse is reported to be looking well after the recent rains, and should the day remain fine will be fit for racing on. As usual, an ample railway service has been provided, trains starting from Redfern station as under:—Ordinary trains, 12.20 p.m. (horses), 1.20, and 2.20 p.m.; specials, 12.38, 12.48, 12.55, 1.3, 1.8, and 1.18 p.m. Proceedings commence with the Flying Handicap at 2 p.m., and the positions may be filled by Dan O'Connell, Capriform, and Salvous. In the Park Stakes Mendoza should win from Graftwell and Ruella. The Stewards' Mile will prove an interesting race between Negrito, Sonoma, and Clangour, and they may finish as placed. Matong may prove the best of the field in the Jumpers' Flat Race, but Abbotsfield and Bonnie Boy should both run well. The event of the day, the Canterbury Handicap, will probably be won by Silver Forest from Crosslake and Alannah. In the final race of the day, the Shorts Handicap, Autonym should be first past the post from Salvous and Goldbust. Appended is the programme:—

CYCLING.

TO-DAY'S CARNIVAL.

The first of the summer nights' amusements committee's cycling carnivals of the season will be opened on the Sydney Cricket Ground this afternoon, and the indications are that a revival of the popular sport of bicycle racing will take place. Never before has such a large gathering of inter-State and international riders been present in Sydney, and the racing in the Sydney Wheel Race, the big handicap of the carnival, promises to be most exciting, while several important scratch races are listed. The cricket ground, thanks to the recent rains, is just now in splendid condition, and the numerous and spacious lawns offer plenty of room for promenading. Good music will be provided by the Naval Brigade Band, and an interval in the racing has been provided so that opportunity will be given to the patrons of the carnival to obtain refreshments. Frequent services of special trams will be run on both lines, and arrangements have been made to complete the last race so that people can catch their return trams by 5.30 p.m. The officials of the committee desire to state that a mistake has been made in advertising the price of admission to the grand stand at 2s 6d. The price to be charged is only 2s. The carnival will be continued at night on Monday, when the grounds and stands will be brilliantly illuminated.

To-day's meeting, which will start at 2.30 p.m., is the formal opening of Australia's 1902-3 cycle racing season. Everything points to a success, as the prizes are rich enough to ensure hard-fought finishes, and all the best men of Australia have entered. The rain during the week interfered to some slight extent with training operations, but all the inter-State riders are in such good condition that the enforced rests cannot injure their form. Megson is still improving, but his admirers do not think that he will be able to do himself justice to-day, though at the same time he has a knack of racing above form, and if he is handy when the final sprint is made he will probably be the first to catch the judge's eye in his heat in the Wheel Race. Morgan is reckoned by good judges to be the best-conditioned man in the scratch brigade, and he is generally fancied for the Colebrook Plate (10 miles scratch)—the last race of the day. Waine, who is riding up to his old championship form of three years ago, ranks second only to Morgan in work; in fact, in many of their trial sprints there has been little to choose between them. Waine is not drawn for any of the Sydney Wheel Race heats to-day, but rides in the seventh heat of the Jacquelin half mile. He will, however, have to break records to win, as he has to beat Sandberg, Payne, and Hardy. The finish should be sensational. Beauchamp, who has improved considerably by his American trip, makes his re-appearance in Australia in the third heat of the Jacquelin half mile, and later in the Colebrook Plate. He is riding in good style, and will seriously trouble Morgan and Waine.

Don Walker, the crack Victorian sprinter, is in winning form just now, and Sydneyites who remember his lightning finishes will be pleased to see him face the starter in the half mile. Judging by his recent performances, Walker's heat should be one of the fastest of the bench. "Major" Marshall, the coloured British Columbia rider, having struck form, has decided to ride in the handicap events, although he stated when he first landed that he would only compete in the scratch events. Although he has some reputation as a sprinter, he will probably be defeated in his heat of the Jacquelin, but should show to advantage in the long scratch race—the Colebrook Plate. Lewis and Wilksch arrived on Thursday only, and did not have much time on the Sydney track, but both look well, and judging by the latter's Adelaide performance he will not be far behind when the Colebrook Plate finishes.

The mile qualifying heats, which have been arranged to select the riders entitled to race in all the long-distance scratch events of the carnival, should be productive of good racing. Waine, Morgan, Marshall, Megson, Jackson, Don Walker, Beauchamp, and Wilksch will not be asked to ride in the qualifying heats, but the balance of the 40 entrants will race in three one-mile heats, the first three men in each heat to compete with the selected eight in the Colebrook Plate, and subsequent long-distance scratch races. Prominent among those who will probably qualify are Sandberg, Handcock, Burton, Payne, Palmer, Lewis, Malton, Goodson, and Hooper.

A social evening, under the auspices of the Rozelle Bicycle Club, was held at Sterland's Pioneer Hall, Darling-street, Balmain, on Thursday night, when the presentation of prizes won during the season took place. The presentations were made by Mr. H. Bourne, the principal prize winners being Messrs. W. Kelly, A. James, Dr. Jones, A. Stephens, and R. Kelly. On behalf of the members Mr. Bourne also presented Mr. S. Wilson with a memento of their esteem. Captain James officiated as master of ceremonies. Refreshments were provided by the committee.

Owing to the wet weather the tour of the Balmain Club to Penrith for 1st and 2nd instants has been abandoned. The run for to-day is to the bicycle races at the Cricket Ground.

The run of the Sydney B.C. to-day is to Coogee, a start being made from club rooms at 2.30. The entries for the billiard tournaments close to-night. Already 50 entries have been received, and members are practising assiduously. The members who are away on tour return home to-morrow after a pleasant holiday at Bateman's Bay. An interesting tour is being arranged for November 9 and 10, and a large number have signified their intention of taking part.

The annual 10-mile road championship of the Annandale Club will be decided on November 15. This year's race is a very open one, and should prove a fast and exciting struggle.

An interesting tour in the Southern district has just been completed by Messrs. C. Gosney (captain), F. Kellett, and H. E. Sapsford, of the Waratah Rovers Club. Train was taken as far as Campbelltown, and the route from thence lay through Mittagong, Bowral, Fitzroy Falls, Kangaroo Valley, Berry, Kiama, to Austinmer, where train to Sydney was taken. Good roads and fine weather were experienced throughout the trip, whilst fair winds enabled some good mileages to be recorded. The tourists report the country looking in splendid condition owing to the recent rains, the Fitzroy Falls presenting a magnificent sight from the large volume of water flowing over the edge of the gorge. A printed circular has been issued to members calling attention to several important items in the current quarter's card. The run for Saturday next is a combined one to Abbotsford.

The branch of the league recently formed at Bega has decided to build an up-to-date racing track on the local recreation reserve. This club has decided not to allow betting at any of its race meetings.

The Nowra B. C. has received a very good entry from the South Coast clubs for the race meeting on November 10.

A race meeting to be run by the Parkes B.C. on November 26, with prize money amounting to £25, has been sanctioned by the league.

Entries for the Wagga B.C.'s race meeting close on November 8. This meeting usually attracts a good entry from the Southern district riders.

The secretary of the Lyndhurst Club has applied for sanction for a race meeting to be run on the local ground on November 18. The programme includes one mile handicap, £10; two miles handicap, £25; a scratch race, prize £10; and other events.

Sanction has been granted by the league's council for race meetings to be held under the auspices of the Wellington B.C. on November 10 and 19.

Liverpool (England) is again to the front in self-propelled traffic. After a week's trial, during which the speed, weight-carrying, and starting-up capabilities were thoroughly tested, under the supervision of Chief Superintendent Thomas, head of the Liverpool Fire Brigade, an 18 h.h.p. Daimler brake has been purchased from the Road Carrying Company, Limited. This is to be used to carry the chemical apparatus and auxiliary hose, weighing some 25cwt. Many exciting races were witnessed between the horse-drawn and motor vehicles, all resulting favourably to the latter, which averaged a turn-out in 7.5 seconds.

CRICKET.

THE LOCAL COMPETITIONS.

The third round of grade matches will be commenced to-day, and will be concluded on the 15th instant. The reason for the delay in the first-grade engagements is that the N.S.W. team will be away in Brisbane. With regard to the second and the third grade fixtures, the third round will also be resumed on the 15th instant, but the fourth round will be played in the meantime on the 8th and 10th instant. The engagements for to-day are as follows:—

FIRST GRADE.

Waverley v. Burwood, Sydney Cricket Ground, No. 2. Umpires, Messrs. C. Brown and J. Laing.
Central Cumberland v. Redfern, Parramatta. Umpires, Messrs. W. Curran and A. Lucas.
Glebe v. Sydney, Wentworth Park No. 1. Umpires, Messrs. C. Nicholls and A. C. Jones.
Leichhardt-Balmain v. Paddington, Leichhardt. Umpires, Messrs. R. Hall and J. Giltinan.
University v. North Sydney, University Oval. Umpires, Messrs. R. Callaway and J. Thomson.

SECOND GRADE.

Leichhardt-Balmain v. Redfern, Balmain.
Paddington v. Glebe, Hampden Park.
Sydney v. Central Cumberland, Rushcutter Bay.
Waverley v. Burwood, Waverley.
Manly v. Petersham, Manly.
St. George v. University, Brighton.
North Sydney, a bye.

THIRD GRADE.

Burwood v. Manly, Burwood.
North Sydney v. Central Cumberland, North Sydney.
Redfern v. Glebe, Redfern.
Petersham v. St. George, Petersham.
Sydney v. Waverley, Alexandria.
Leichhardt-Balmain v. Paddington, Agricultural Ground.

Dr. G. R. C. Clarke has found it impossible to go to Brisbane with the N.S.W. team. A bowler is therefore required, and the vacancy will be filled by T. Howard.

BALMAIN WEDNESDAY C.C.

In the first grade—Mitchell Shield competition—(Wednesday half holiday), Balmain 156 (Storey 45, Mills 39) and 127 (Young 38, Storey 22, M'Callum 22) defeated Leichhardt 83 (Furness 22 not out) and three for 69 (Hill 28, Walker 23 not out).

THE "DAILY EXPRESS" SALE OF BATS.

It was cabled some time ago that a number of bats were given to the cricketers' fund for sale. The results were surprising:—W. G. Grace's brought £50, Trumper's £42, Ranjitsinhji's £13 13s, Jessop's £8, Shrewsbury's £8, Abel's £6, Lord Hawke's £5 10s, late Fuller Pilch's (record of 105 no out in 1834) £5 10s, C. B. Fry's No. 1 (record 122 v. Middlesex, 159 v. Surrey, 159 not out v. Middlesex) £5 5s, MacLaren's £5 5s, C. B. Fry's No. 2 (record 0 and 0 England v. Australia), £4, Brockwell's £4, Hayward's £4, Trumble's £4, W. Gunn's £3 12s 6d, Darling's £3 10s, Mason's £3 10s, Murdoch's £3 10s, and a number of others down to £1 15s. The total realised was £242 3s 6d.

F. R. Spofforth, the demon bowler, competed at the Hampstead C.C. sports on September 13, and won two prizes. He ran third in the 100 yards handicap, and romped home in the veterans' race. He was a very good runner in Sydney 20 years ago.

H. Carpenter, the well-known Essex professional, has arrived in Melbourne. He is to be coach to the Melbourne C.C.

Mr. W. J. Ford, the cricket authority of "Land and Water," writes:—"From a published 'interview' with Major Wardill, the manager, I gather that financially the tour has not been a success, or, rather, not as great a success as in 1899, the difference being as much as £4200, or £300 per man, if the profits are shared equally; but there is another sum, £2000, if reports be true, to be drawn at the end of the South African tour, though certain expenses will have to come out of this, and not light ones. Major Wardill suggests that the sum earned is hardly large enough to tempt men to come away from home on another occasion, and herein he is better informed than I am, but as the guarantee for every match was £250, even if not a single ball was bowled, this gives an average of £700 per man, from which expenses have to be deducted. Add the excess over the guarantee when the weather was favourable, and it is hard to think that each man did not make £800 with which to pay expenses and enrich himself. This does not seem to be bad remuneration for six months' board and lodging, trip to England and all over England, and a season's cricket to boot."

DUBBO, Thursday.

A cricket match was played yesterday afternoon between the Methodist and Macquarie clubs, the former winning by 28 runs. Methodist, first innings, 90 (Kirkland 29); Macquarie, 62 (Stevens not out 19). E. Gartrell, for Methodists, took nine wickets for 16 runs. F. G. Brown's employees played Ivanhoe at Muller Park. Scores: Ivanhoe, first innings, 38; Employees, three wickets for 42. Heaver made 20 not out, and also took six wickets for 17 runs.

MOLONG, Thursday.

The Cumnock cricketers have defeated Molong by 10 runs on the first innings. Scores:—Cumnock, 53 and 82; Molong, 43 and two wickets for 33.

QUEANBEYAN, Friday.

A meeting was held in the School of Arts last night, when it was resolved to recognise the Queanbeyan Cricket Club. A balance-sheet showing a debit balance of £5 15s was adopted. The election of officers resulted as follows:—Patron, Mr. F. Campbell, J.P.; president, Mr. T. J. F. Cadden; vice-presidents, Dr. Blackall and Messrs. F. A. Campbell, A. M'Pherson, W. S. Hill, G. H. A. Ling, and A. H. Garraway; secretary and treasurer, Mr. T. P. Woodward; working committee, Messrs. Collett, Hungerford, Harrison, Ritchie, and Anderson; selection committee, Messrs. Collett, Woodward, and M'Pherson.

WELLINGTON, Thursday.

A cricket match was played yesterday afternoon at Bell Park between teams representing the Bodangora and Wellington half-holiday clubs. The weather was wet and the wicket was very treacherous. Bodangora secured an easy victory by 71 runs. The scores were:—Wellington 27, Bodangora 98. For Bodangora E. M'Donnell bowled wonderfully, with a fine average of ten wickets for 7 runs, taking all the wickets, and clean bowling every batsman.

GOLF.

THE COUNTRY WEEK.

Next week will see the inauguration of a departure in Australian golf, which should have considerable influence on the future of the game. Hitherto beyond occasional trips by country teams to town and return trips by the town teams to the country there has been no organised effort to secure full recognition of the large band of golfers scattered throughout the State. To this end the Suburban and Country Golf Association decided upon promoting a country week. A team of 20 players, representing a large number of country clubs, has been selected, and will come to Sydney next week. For its interest there has been arranged a unique golf programme. On Monday the visitors will go to Hunter's Hill in the afternoon. On Tuesday they will spend the afternoon on the Marrickville links, as those of the senior golf club, where they will play against members and be entertained by the associates. On Wednesday afternoon they will visit Lindfield to play members of the club and be entertained by the associates. Lindfield is specially chosen, as it has the distinction of being the only links in N.S.W. owned by the members, and the first links in Australasia so owned. On Thursday afternoon the countrymen will be the guests of the Concord Club and associates at Concord; this will afford them an opportunity of playing over the links on which they will later have to play the combined suburbs. On Friday they will be the guests for the whole day of the Australian Golf Club, which will put a party of members against them, and should Mr. Macneil be back in time a four-ball match, in which the champions of Australia and N.S.W. will meet two leading professionals—the first match of its type in Australia—will be played. Should Mr. Macneil not be able to reach Sydney till Saturday morning this fixture will come off later. On Saturday morning those of the visitors who have not been able to get down in time for the Thursday afternoon match at Concord will have an opportunity of playing over the links prior to the match in the afternoon, when the 20 will meet a team of 20 representatives of the suburban clubs. Mr. Warden has presented a trophy for the best country score in this match. At 7.45 p.m. Mr. Macneil, as champion of Australia, and the visitors will be jointly entertained at dinner at the A B C (late Shadler's). The largest gathering of golfers at such a function yet brought together in the State is assured, and an excellent musical programme has been arranged. Monday will be occupied by a match between the country men and 20 of the Royal Sydney at Bondi, that being a holiday for the King's birthday. The suburban and the country teams have already been published. The visitors have been made honorary members of the Royal Sydney, Concord, Dobroyd, Hunter's Hill, Lindfield, Marrickville, and Strathfield clubs during the whole of their stay in Sydney, and of the Australian Golf Club for the 7th instant. If possible visits to the Strathfield and Dobroyd links will be arranged during the stay of the visitors in Sydney.

The following have been asked to act as a reception committee in connection with the approaching visit of the country team:—Dr. Brathwaite, Messrs. Percy R. Russell, J. R. Armitage, N. F. Christoe, F. M'Leod, and C. T. Metcalfe.

TO-DAY'S ENGAGEMENTS.

The matches for to-day are as follow:—

Australian G.C.—First round of the captain's trophy, to be completed by November 8.
North Sydney G.C.—Monthly medal match.
Lindfield G.C.—Members' match, North v. South.
Strathfield G.C.—Match against bogey and continuous trophy match.
Marrickville G.C.—Match against bogey.

AUSTRALIAN GOLF CLUB.

The King's Birthday Cup, presented by the medical members of the club, will be played for on November 10. It will be played for annually, and will become the property of anyone winning it twice in succession or three times in all. The conditions are medal play, 36 holes, handicap. The club also gives a trophy value £3 3s to the winner.

English files to hand contain the information that James Braid won the Tooting Bec Challenge Cup memento (and will hold the cup for a year) of the Professional Golfers' Association. Braid's score for the two rounds was 148. C. R. Smith was second with 154. The latter's play was the surprise of the competition. J. H. Taylor, the holder of the cup, was third with 155.

DUBBO, Friday.

Dr. Hope R. Rankin, a member of the Dubbo Golf Club, has been chosen by the selection committee to be one of the country team at the golf matches in Sydney next week.

BOWLS.

NEW SOUTH WALES BOWLING ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the general committee of the New South Wales Bowling Association was held at the hon. secretary's office on Thursday. Mr. G. W. Howe, one of the vice-presidents, occupied the chair. Representatives from 12 clubs were present. The report of the pennant committee recommended that the rules governing the various competitions for last season be adopted, with an addition providing that rinks of not less than 17ft. wide should be played on, the boundaries of such rinks to be defined by a thread stretched the full length of the green. The report was adopted. Entries it was decided for pennant and B competitions should close on the 22nd instant. For the trophy presented by the Governor, pennant conditions were agreed to, with the exception that any club sustaining one defeat will drop out of the contest. Entries for champion rink and champion medal competitions will close on December 8 next.

NEW SOUTH WALES BOWLERS IN VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

About a dozen members of the New South Wales bowling team, which is to engage in a series of contests with representatives of Victoria, arrived to-day by the Sydney express. Despite the fact that the train was delayed, they were met at the Spencer-street railway station by a large number of prominent bowlers and driven to the headquarters of the local Bowling Association, the Duke of Rothsay Hotel. There an official welcome was extended by Mr. Charles Wood, president of the Victorian Bowling Association, and Messrs. W. Bald and C. N. Arnall, vice-presidents.

Mr. Woods said the Victorian bowlers were glad to have their old friends and rivals among them, and trusted they would have a pleasant time during their stay.

Mr. A. Horrocks responded briefly.

The inter-state matches will not begin until after Cup week, but a number of individual members of the N.S.W. team intend to take part in the M.C.C. single-handed championships, commencing on Monday next. The three inter-state matches will be held on the 11th, 12th, and 13th instant, on the Albert Park, Victoria, and St. Kilda greens respectively.

The Newcastle team visited Armadale green to-day. Mr. Wood entertained the visitors at lunch, and in reply to the toast of the visitors Mr. Gardner (their president) responded. The game was a very close one, Armadale winning by 3. Scores:—

Armadale, 87.—1. Gowenlock, Aitken, Campbell, C. Wood, 15. 2. H. M'Donald, W. G. Stephens, Pearson, J. M'Donald, 20. 3. Wallen, Stuart, J. Bentley, C. Rennie, 23. 4. Lodge, Heyward, Locke, Warman, 29.

Newcastle, 84.—1. C. Ward, Neave, Watt, Ringer, 20. 2. Miller, Timawry, T. Under, Swaine, 19. 3. Lockhead, Gilbert, Donald, Gardner, 28. 4. Southon, Nimmo, Richmond, and Potter, 18.

LAWN TENNIS.

INTER-STATE PRACTICE TEAM.

The inter-state match with Victoria takes place in Melbourne on the 15th instant, and the selection committee have chosen the following to practise:—Curtis, Sharp, Rice, Irving, Wright, Edwards, Gaden, Kidston, Dewhurst, Webb, B. Mackenzie, Heading, Clark. These players will be expected to get as much play as possible, and will commence their practice on the Sydney Club's courts this afternoon.

BALMAIN CORONATION REGATTA.

We have been requested to call the attention of aquatic supporters to an announcement in another page of this issue in regard to the annual fixture of the Balmain Regatta, which will be held on the waters of Iron Cove, opposite Cockatoo Island, on Monday, November 10. It is notified that entries for all the events will close to-night at the city office, 77 Pitt-street, and will finally close at the Balmain Town Hall on Monday night at 9.30 o'clock. This year's regatta will be the fifty-third anniversary of the fixture, and will be held under the patronage and in the presence of the State Governor (Sir Harry Rawson) and Lady Rawson, Sir William Lyne and members of the Federal Ministry, Sir John See and members of the State Ministry. The s.s. Moravian, 5000 tons (Captain Simpson) has been secured as flagship. The programme to be decided during the day contains no less than 30 events. There are 15 in the sailing section, including model yachts, dingys from 6ft. to 14ft., general handicaps, canoe races, all yachts, and the 18-footers' Coronation Handicap, while the 15 events in the rowing section comprise maiden eights, senior fours, junior fours, single sculls, double sculls, all comers, best boats, Sobraon boys' race, as well as the usual comic events. So far the entries received have proved equal to former years in most cases and better in others. Arrangements have been made by the committee with the chief steward of the s.s. Moravian to provide luncheon and refreshments on board the flagship, and a ladies' cloakroom will be provided under the supervision of the stewardess. The prices of tickets for the flagship are as follow:—Gentlemen, 2s; ladies 1s; and double ticket 2s 6d. Provision has been made for a half-hourly steamer service to the flagship from the foot of Erskine-street, starting at 9.30 a.m., also from the different wharfs at Balmain.

ROWING.

THE SYDNEY ROWING CLUB REGATTA.

Mr. E. A. Pearson, coach of the Sydney Rowing Club crew (champion fours) writes as follows:—Will you please allow me space to contradict a statement which appeared in the report of the champion four oar race rowed last Saturday. It was stated that a second "crab" in the Sydney boat took place near Mortlake, in which No. 2 oar was broken at the poppet. In justice to No. 2 and the crew generally I should like to state that nothing of the kind took place. No. 2 oar sprung just after passing Gladesville Wharf and had to be nursed from that on, which was a great handicap. When Mortlake was reached the stroke called on his men for a little more, and in doing his share No. 2 broke his disabled oar under the button.

Great interest is being taken in the senior fours race, to be rowed at Balmain regatta. Sydney will be represented by Fitzhardinge, Moesch, Heron, and Cater (stroke). Glebe will have Ariel, Gladd, Craig, and Kelly (stroke). Leichhardt will send King, Milsop, Crow, and Deacon (stroke). North Shore crew will be Empson, Gray, Padula, and Thompson (stroke). Mercantile will try with the champion four Smith, Nicholson, Furlong, and Plumley. Glebe failed to get the old champion crew together, the team going is of practically new men.

The annual eight-oar race between the North and South of Tasmania was rowed on October 25, and was won easily by the North crew. After going some distance the southerners were quite out of it, and were beaten by at least a dozen lengths. South has had five wins, and Norths four.

SAILING.

ROYAL SYDNEY YACHT SQUADRON.

FIRST RACE OF THE SEASON.

The first yacht race of the season will be sailed this afternoon under the auspices of the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron; it will also be the first race held under the new racing rules, which were formulated some little time since. There are many material points of difference between the rules that have just been adopted and those under which the racing was previously carried out, and competitors will be well advised to acquaint themselves, if they have not already done so, with the new conditions obtaining. One or two of the regulations are worth special mention, of which the most important, perhaps, is that yachts under the new order of things may luff as they please except in the case provided for by rule 7, which reads: "In races where time allowances are conceded at the start a yacht running free or with the wind aft shall never alter her course by luffing or bearing away to hinder an overtaking yacht passing." In the event of a yacht being over the line at the start, the starter will recall her by megaphone or some such signal, at the same time exhibiting her official number, when she must return and recross the line. The rule relating to the carrying of a lifebuoy on deck or in the cockpit is also to be enforced. The event to-day is a general handicap, with the sails limited to fore and aft canvas only; no balloon sails or kites are allowed. It will be noticed that the location of the starting and finishing points has been altered from the Royal Arthur's buoy to Neutral Bay.

The following are the entries and handicaps:—Sunbeam (A. W. Crane), scratch; Fleetwing (C. T. Brockhoff), 4 minutes; Petrel (S. M. Dempster), Aoma (A. Dixson)), Culwulla (W. M. Marks), 6 minutes 30 seconds each; Heather (N. Murray), 6 minutes 30 seconds; Aenone (A. Marks and C. H. Reading), 8 minutes 30 seconds; Ku-Kuburra (A. E. Cutler), 12 minutes 30 seconds). The times are to be given at the start. The first yacht will be sent away at 2.30 p.m. The course is from Neutral Bay round squadron's buoy at Manly, round Shark Island, Fort Denison, thence round pile light, Shark Island, and finish in Neutral Bay. The prizes are £10, £4, and £1 for first, second, and third respectively. The club steamer Alexandra will leave Fort Macquarie at 2.15 p.m. to follow the race.

SYDNEY YACHT RACING ASSOCIATION.

The first meeting of the members of the recently formed Sydney Yacht Racing Association was held last Thursday evening under the presidency of Mr. W. M. Marks, at the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron's room, Pitt-street. The business consisted principally of dealing with matters coincident with the creation of a new organisation. Mr. W. M. Marks was elected chairman of the council, Messrs. S. T. Wilson and L. H. Wyatt joint hon. secretaries, Mr. S. T. Wilson hon. treasurer, and Messrs. W. Reeks and W. L. Hunt as official measurers, and who will also be members of the association ex officio. It was decided to leave the printing of the rules to the various clubs.

The Port Jackson Skiff Club also has a general handicap race down for decision this afternoon, the particulars of which appeared in yesterday's "Herald."

SYDNEY FLYING SQUADRON.

The Sydney Flying Squadron's programme will be advanced another stage this afternoon, when a general handicap will be contested under its auspices. The boats nominated for the fixture constitute the finest entry yet received this season, and with seven up-to-date 18-footers competing in the first heat, and six large craft, including four 22-footers, in the second heat, there should indeed be some first-class racing. Then, too, the intercolonial champion 22-footer Effie is to participate in the racing for the first time this season, and she will be piloted by Walter Holmes, the veteran dingy sailer, who, it is understood, will have the assistance of the 18-footer Donnelly's crew. With regard to the first heat boats, it is worthy of note that Wallami and Mascotte have been fitted with new sails. The entries, skippers, and handicaps are as follow:—

First heat (18-footers): Australian (Chris Webb) and Elsie (W. Read), 2 min. 45 sec.; Mascotte (C. Dunn) and Thalia (T. Cuneo), 3 min. 15 sec.; Arama (W. Holmes), 3 min. 45 sec.; Wallami (H. Langford), 4 min.; and Waterwitch (W. H. Joyce, sen.), 4 min. 30 sec. Second heat (22-footers and over): Keriki (O. Taylor), Plover (J. Smith), and Young Harry (S. Richardson), scratch; Effie (W. J. Holmes), 15 sec.; Guinevere (R. Green), 1 min.; and Hiawatha (W. Anderson), 1 min. 30 sec.

The prizes for each of the heats and final are £4 first and £1 second, and the racing will take place over the customary triangular course, starting and finishing at Clark Island.

The club steamer Lady Manning is advertised to follow the racing, calling at the usual Balmain wharfs, and finally leaving Fort Macquarie at 3.10.

SWIMMING.

RANDWICK AND COOGEE CLUB.

The following are the starts in the 81 yards handicap, to be decided at Coogee Aquarium Baths this afternoon:—H. Ives, scratch; S. Ives, 1 second; Marshall, 2 seconds; Oxenham, 3 seconds; Powell, Walsh, Milverton, 6 seconds; Batten, Northcote, Robertson, 7 seconds; G. Ives, Harris, Brawn, O'Doud, Rodman, 8 seconds; Francis, Gillies, Hill, 9 seconds; Jones, Williams, 10 seconds; Farmillo, 11 seconds; Burnett, 12 seconds; M'Cready, Miley, 13 seconds; Randle, Cameron, Mattox, Elderton, Lopez, Fox, Ryan, 14 seconds; T. Williams, Althouse, Freeman, 15 seconds; Brown, 18 seconds; H. Evans, 19 seconds; Wylie, 25 seconds; P. Miley, 25 seconds.

CHESS.

Hon. secretaries of chess clubs are invited to furnish news of general interest. The Editor will be happy to receive unpublished games and original problems (which should be accompanied by diagram and analysis) with a view to publication.

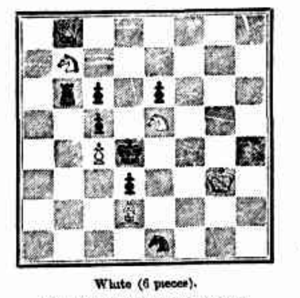
Black (7 pieces).



White (6 pieces).

White to play and mate in two moves.

Forsyth Notation Modified.—1 Q, 7 N, 7 r p, 1 p, 5 p, 1 N 5 P k, 7 p, 2 K, 4 B, 8 n, 8.

Key.—Counting from Black Q R —, the initial letter of piece is put for the square occupied thereby. Numerals denote intervening blank squares. Black pieces are in small type.

PROBLEM No. 525.—"The Scorpion."

Key move KKt4.

Correct solutions from E. M. Fry, F. R. Smith, H. R., J. Harvey, T. P., J. W. Hillyer, T. A. Dixon, A. J. M., "Once More," A. T. Antill, H. Dixon.

Correct solutions not above mentioned have reached us too late to score in tourney. They will, however, be acknowledged in our next issue.

NOTES.

The "Sydney Morning Herald" Eighth International Problem Tourney.—Further competing positions to hand:—Sweet Eighteen, Bootes, Georgette, Sydney Morning Herald, Neuf Partout, Passim, Corona Borealis, Pax, Labor (38).

Admirers of Master Crackanthorp's play were gratified by the pretty win he brought off on Saturday last. Certainly his opponent's play in the opening left something to be desired, but the victor employed a rapier where he might have used a bludgeon.

NOTES.

Among the various visitors to the S.S.A. Club during the week Mr E. Smith, of Bowral, well known as a problemist of no mean order, had a trial of skill against several of the city cracks. While in Sydney he played with Messrs. Mills, Lee, and Stormont. Against Mr. Lee at their first meeting he pretty well held his own, winning several and drawing a few games in an able manner. The two games given above speak for themselves.

At a second meeting against Lee he was not so successful. Against Mr. Mills he drew two out of three played. In a series played with Mr. Stormont he drew one. I observed he played his end games splendidly, but was at a loss in forming the body of his games. The fact of his having travelled from Bowral in order to have a trial of skill stamps him as an enthusiast, of whom no doubt we shall hear more later on.

Mr. J. Foran, another visitor from Concord, had a trial against Mr. Bremner, an did fairly well by drawing several and winning one in a series played.

A correspondent writes:—"To the Editor.—Sir,—With a view of advancing and causing a greater interest to be taken in our scientific, intellectual, and instructive pastime, I beg to suggest that a draughts tourney on the lines of the practice tournies now being played at the Sydney School of Arts Club be arranged for the Christmas holidays, open to all-comers, so that our country cousins who happen to be in the city may take part. I suggest that one or two games at the most be played between the competitors, and that a point be scored for a win and half a point for a draw; that the rate of play be 30 moves an hour, the player scoring the greatest number of points to be declared the winner of the tournament. In order to make the tourney a success I suggest that 1s entrance be the fee. I myself will give a trophy, others may do likewise. Yours J. Underwood, Enmore.

Mr. G. Miller, of Pyrmont, advises that the correspondence match of eight games he arranged to play H. B. S. and N. E. Savage, of Kempsey, resulted in two wins each and four drawn games, also that he had started another match of 12 games with the Kempseyites, and one with Mr. C. Melville, of Port Macquarie, of eight games. The correspondence match of 10 games between Mr. Miller and Mr. Dunn, of the Richmond River, was finished a few days ago, the result being a win for the city crack by 3 to 1, and six drawn games.

Mr. Dunn, of the Richmond River, did well in drawing six and winning one.

The score of the last match between the Savage brothers and Miller stamps them as hard nuts to crack, and should any original positions crop up they will be likely to come out ahead at the finish of the 12 games match.

Since my last notice of the practice tourney at the S.S.A.C. Messrs. Stormont, Lee, and Mills won their matches. The pairing for this week's matches:—Underwood plays Gray, Roberts, Lee, Mills, Shaw, Stormont, Convey, and M'Leod, Morrisey. Results, as I write:—M'Leod beat Morrisey, Lee won one of Roberts, and drew two, with one to play. Shaw won one of Mills, with three to play.

An American player wishes a purse of 500dols. to be put up for him to play for the world's championship.

The English and Scotch players are anxious to see another match for the world's championship between C. F. Barker and Richard Jordan. The same feeling is prevalent on the other side of the pond also.

Alfred Cain has abandoned the idea of challenging Richard Jordan for the world's championship.

A handicap tourney is being promoted at the London City News Rooms, open to all-comers. The first prize is to be a handsome gold watch.

OPENING A SCHOOL LIBRARY.

BOWRAL, Friday.

The library in connection with the Bowral Superior Public School was formally opened this afternoon, in the presence of a very large assemblage of parents and friends of the children. Dumbbell exercises were gone through by the infants and the girls' departments, and the boys executed club swinging and rifle drill. Musical items were contributed by pupils. The district inspector (Mr. W. H. Johnson), the Rev. R. M'Kinnon, and Mr. F. B. Kyngdon delivered addresses. Inspector Johnson, in the unavoidable absence of Chief Inspector Bridges, formally declared the library open. He was afterwards presented with a gold pendant key by the pupils, as a memento of the occasion. The proceedings concluded with a floral march by the girls, and a maze march by the boys.

Cruelty to Horses.—At the Water Police Court yesterday Thomas Adamson, William Hart, and James Geoghegan were each fined 20s or seven days' imprisonment for having used horses which were suffering from sores.

CASUALTIES.

FALL FROM A BUILDING.

About noon yesterday William Henry Davis, 54, carpenter, residing at Angelo-street, Burwood, was working on the top of a building being erected for Messrs. Goodlet and Smith, in Harris-street, when he slipped and fell through two floors. The Civil Ambulance conveyed him to Sydney Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a dislocation of the right hip. He was admitted for treatment.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO A BOY.

A boy named Alfred Roffe, aged 10 years, residing at Dachett-street, Balmain, was playing on a wharf at Nicholson-street, Balmain, yesterday afternoon, when by some means he became caught in the belting of a machine. He was whirled round, and his right arm was torn off at the shoulder. The Civil Ambulance was summoned, and removed the sufferer to the local Cottage Hospital, where he was admitted by Dr. Gordon Davidson.

ACCIDENT TO A WHARF LABOURER.

About a quarter to 12 yesterday a man named Victor Nelson, 23, a wharf-labourer, living at 15 Essex-street, was unloading rocksalt from the ship Lonsdale, lying at Parbury's Wharf, when about half a ton of the material slipped from the slings and fell upon him. The Civil Ambulance Brigade took Nelson to Sydney Hospital, where he was found to have sustained a dislocation of the thigh. He was admitted by Dr. Seldon for treatment.

SHIPPING REPORTS.

Custom-house.—Entered outwards: Oct. 31, Margaret, s., for Port Pirie, via Newcastle; Kumano Maru, J.M.S., for Manila, China, and Japan, via ports; Oonah, s., for Hobart; Indradevi, s., for Auckland; Oceana, R.M.S., for London, via ports.

The barque Drummuir will to-day be taken from Pyrmont Wharf to the stream.

The steamer Shamrock was yesterday removed from Darling Island to the stream.

The steamer Indradevi was yesterday berthed for discharge at Moore's Wharf.

Messrs. Elliott Brothers were yesterday advised that the barquentine River Boyne, from Kaipara, arrived at Fremantle yesterday after a passage of 50 days.

The Union liner Whangape, which arrived yesterday from Lyttelton, experienced fine weather across the Tasman Sea.

The R.M.S. Oceana arrived at Sydney yesterday morning from London, via the usual ports of call. Captain Street reports that the Oceana left London on Sept. 18, and slight fogs prevailed in the Bay of Biscay. The usual calls were made at Gibraltar and Marseilles. On the run to Port Said the Oceana encountered heavy weather in the Mediterranean Sea, and owing to the late arrival of the connecting mail steamer from Brindisi the Oceana was delayed at Port Said. She, however, easily made up for lost time subsequently, and left each succeeding port well up to appointed time. The trip was rendered additionally enjoyable by a round of deck games, concerts, &c., while the Court of King Neptune afforded great amusement.

The Allinga, of the Adelaide Company's fleet, which was to have left last night for Queensland ports, will be despatched at 6 o'clock this morning.

MOVEMENTS OF MAIL STEAMERS.

The R.M.S. Oceana, from London, arrived at Sydney yesterday morning and berthed at the Company's wharf at the Quay.

Messrs. FISHER and CO.
Lyceum Theatre, March 6, 1897.
Gentlemen,—It is with much pleasure that I testify to the merits of your Tonic. In my professional vocation I am very often tired and fatigued after long and worrying rehearsals, and I find great benefit at the time from a dose of your Tonic with a little soda water. It invariably has a most reviving effect, and I have got quite fond of it.
Yours faithfully, H. BRACY.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

Friday Evening.

In the Stock and Share market there is an absence of elasticity in business and prices tend to sag somewhat. For years New South Wales, and indeed Australian Government stocks, commanded a higher price in the colonial than in the London markets, but for some time past there has been an approximation, and securities having a like currency command pretty much about the same price on both sides of the world. Those having a currency of from four to ten years now command a price yielding about 4 per cent in London, as well as in Australia. The New Zealand Government has offered 4 per cent. outright for money, and our stocks are tending to approximate to the 4 per cent. rate, indicating the falling tendency of Government securities. There is not very much stock in the market at the price; but still for what is offered there is no disposition on the part of buyers to advance. Bank stocks remain remarkably steady. The balance-sheet of the English, Scottish, and Australian Bank, following that of the Bank of Australasia, indicates the maintenance of profits, notwithstanding unfavourable climatic conditions. And the stocks of all other classes of companies whose rates of profits are maintained also hold at current rates, though money market conditions present and prospective are not regarded as favourable to a strong position. Business to-day was on a limited scale, though quite equal to that of earlier days in the week. New South Wales interminable Funded Stock was sold at 107, quotations for this stock being decidedly erratic. At the price it yields the investor 3¾ per cent. The Funded Stock of 1912, of which a sale was made yesterday at 91½, would, as stated, yield 4½ per cent. in the event of redemption at par by the Government at 1912, or sale in the open market at or before that date—contingencies that may be variously viewed. Without regard to redemption the yield is 2¾ per cent. In banks New South Wales again sold at 40½, and Commercial of Sydney at 26¾—a reduction of ⅛; and City Bank of Sydney (new) at 73s—a decline of 2s. Bank deposits remained steady, as also steam, business in North Coast Steam being effected at last quotation. Insurance and gaslight continued as before. Marshall's Brewery were again sold at 4s 1d. In the miscellaneous list Sydney Hydraulic receded slightly, being offered at 34s, Perpetual Trustee selling at the last quotation.

The following sales were reported on the Sydney Stock Exchange to-day:—Forenoon: Perpetual Trustee, 8s 6d; Toohey's, Limited, 21s 9d; Bank of New South Wales, 40½. Noon: Bank of New South Wales, 40½; Marshall's Brewery, 4s 1d. Later: North Coast Steam, 24s. Afternoon: Commercial Banking Company of Sydney, 26¾. Later: New South Wales Funded Stock (1873), 107; City Bank of Sydney (new), 73s. The closing quotations were:—

* Where dividends are interim the yield is based on a year's distribution, otherwise on the last half-yearly one.

In his interesting letter Mr. Nesbitt gives the amount of the capital expenditure of the municipality of Glasgow on electrical supply works as £835,147. The "Times" correspondent gives the loss on working alone, without allowance for depreciation, on the electric supply business as £4517. Differences of opinion are entertained as to the amount required for depreciation. A proportion of 2½ per cent. has been strongly objected to as inadequate. If, however, we take that as what is fair then against its electrical light enterprise of last year the municipality lost £20,877 by depreciation and £4517 on working expenses, or £24,594 in all, to be charged against the citizens—or the profits, if there were any, on £1,507,339 of gas supply capital. It is the speculative unprofitable and not the assured profitable business enterprises of British municipalities against which the writer in the "Times," from whom we quoted an extract a day or two back chiefly contends, and which has brought the rates of the citizens up to 6s or 7s in the £ in some cases; and to a very high range of rates in all. He objected precisely to that state of affairs for which Mr. Nesbitt now contends in his statement, that "If the municipal authorities of Glasgow consider it desirable and advantageous in the public interest to incur a capital expenditure now amounting to £835,147 on electricity supply works, combined with a total capital expenditure on the gas supply undertaking of £1,607,339, surely the City of Sydney is justified in following such excellent examples," the corresponding figures of Birmingham and Leeds being included in the sentence. It is the unprofitable electric works, not the profitable gas, that are condemned. As the writer in the "Times" points out, the profit or the loss is never expressed in the mere figures of the particular services. For the multiplication of these industrial services under one municipal body tends to increase the expense on the municipal account alone through the magnifying of the income. A city that has, say, an income of £100,000 from rates alone would have a town hall, a Mayor, a town clerk, and officers on a scale of less magnificence than the same city if in addition to its income of £100,000 from rates it had a further income of £500,000 from gas, electricity, water supply, tramways, markets, and other services. Thousands of pounds extra per annum would be added, and perhaps properly added, through the increase in importance of the income and services; but due proportions of this extra sum would require to be added, and it is said they are not added to the debit of gas, electricity, or tramways, to ascertain the real profitableness or otherwise of these particular services. That these unprofitable business enterprises have contributed largely to the raising of British municipal rates nominally for ordinary municipal works, though not charged against them, cannot be questioned.

The month's revenue of the State amounting to £914,898 falls short by £18,714 of the total for October, 1901. The chief decreases are in balances from Federal Commonwealth, which has returned less by £10,297. In railways and tramways there was a decrease of £10,119, in land one of £7325, and in stamps £6248. Metropolitan Water and Sewerage rates and Hunter district rates have given substantial increases. For the four months from July 1 the revenue amounting to £3,431,124 exceeded the total for the corresponding period of last year by £313,697.

The report and balance-sheet of the Bank of Australasia for the half-year to April 14 appear in our special advertisement columns. We have already noticed its principal features.

The London financial news this week is of little significance. The bank reserve and proportion to liabilities are slightly greater, as also the stock of gold, less assistance having been given to the market. On this account probably the open market rate of discount has risen ⅛ per cent. to 3⅝ per cent., but it is still ⅜ per cent. below the bank rate. Possibly this may be the cause of the relapse of 1 in consols, which are now 92¼. On the other hand, New South Wales 3 per cents have recovered ⅜ of the fall noticed last week, making the quotation 91¾—still an exceptionally low one. To what this recovery is due we are not aware. All other Australian stocks are unaltered on the week.

The products of our pastoral industry this week have fully held their place on the English market. Bradford tops 46's are ½d per lb. higher, the other descriptions being unchanged. Fine beef tallow is 6d and fine mutton 3d higher. Tin is also dearer on the week, but copper and lead are rather lower.

BREADSTUFFS.

Wheat remained on an import basis at about 5s 3½d for milling samples. Local flour was in steady request at £10 10s to £11, but bakers are devoting more attention to Manitoba and Minnesota brands on account of their relative cheapness. The sailer Dirigo is now loading at New York for Sydney with a full cargo of breadstuffs. This vessel has a capacity of 4500 tons, and it is understood that her cargo will consist of 2000 tons of Pillsbury's best flour, 1000 tons of Hercules Blue brand, and 1500 tons of Manitoba wheat. The flour is coming to one hand, and sales of considerable magnitude have already been made to bakers and others.

IMPORT MARKET.

A good deal of forward business is being compassed in merchandise that will be needed for the Christmas trade. All descriptions of groceries and goods of this character are meeting with a good demand. Fish and meats are in especially keen request. But if edibles are excluded, trade is not at all brisk, nor is any speculative activity discernible. No movements in prices of consequence transpired, nor were important cables from abroad reported as having been received.

Tea.—Private business was restricted, the auction having an overshadowing effect.

Messrs. H. W. Carey and Co. offered at their saleroom to-day a catalogue of 187 packages Ceylon and Indian teas, embracing an assortment of very desirable qualities of both growths, under instructions from Messrs. Scott, Henderson, and Co., Gollin and Co. Proprietary, Limited, Gibbs, Bright, and Co., and other importers. They report a representative attendance of the trade, but biddings again the reverse of satisfactory, the discrepancies in values between buyers' and sellers' ideas being such that the prices could not be entertained, with the result that a large part of the catalogue had to be passed in. About 220 packages Ceylons and 68 packages Indians changed hands as follows, viz.: Ceylon pekoes and orange pekoes, 7½d to 10d per lb.; broken pekoes, 6½d to 9d per lb.; Indian pekoe souchongs and pekoes, 5½d to 6d per lb.

Messrs. Cyril Trower and Co. will offer on Tuesday next 600 packages of Ceylon teas on account of Messrs. Gerber, Michaut, and Co., and 100 packages of Ceylons on account of Messrs. Morgan and Co.

Messrs. Fraser, Uther, and Co. will offer at auction on Thursday next at the City Mart 796 packages of new season's Indian teas ex Euryalus and Fortunatus, on account of Messrs. Parbury, Henty, and Co., and 703 Chinas now landing ex Chingtu on account of Messrs. Fraser, Ramsay, and Co.

Sugar.—Regular sales of sugar were made on the basis of the rates recently ruling.

The Colonial Sugar Company quote:—Tablets, £26 10s; icing or powdered sugar, £26 10s; castor sugar, £22 10s; coffee crystals, £21 5s; brewers' crystals, £20 5s; IX or confectioners' crystals, £19 15s; IA (dried sugar for table use), £19 10s; No. 1 (IW or Snowdrop), £19 10s; No. 2 (IC or No. 1 pieces), £19 5s; and No. 3, £17 10s per ton.

The Millaquin and Yengarie Company quote 1A £19 10s, No. 1 £19 5s, and soft £19 5s per ton.

The following are the bond returns of sugar:—

	Imported. Tons.	Duty Paid. Tons.	Exported. Tons.	In Bond. Tons.
Oct. 3	5,710	908	124	34,846
Oct. 10	5,425	786	87	37,773
Oct. 17	1,249	822	80	38,120
Oct. 24	4,896	731	186	42,099
Oct. 31	1,316	1,004	200	42,211

Last year at this date there were 19,217 tons of sugar held in bond.

The prices for 88 per cent. beet and first marks granulated f.o.b. Hamburg, as cabled last night, compared with those ruling at the corresponding dates in the four earlier years, were as follows:—

	88 per cent. Beet. Per cwt.	First Marks Granulated. Per cwt.
October 31, 1898	9s 7½d	11s 9½d
October 31, 1899	9s 1½d	11s 6d
October 31, 1900	9s 6d	11s 1½d
October 31, 1901	7s 1½d	8s 4½d
October 31, 1902	7s 6d	8s 8d

The turn in the long lane of ever reducing sugar values has evidently been reached, for all our cables during the last month or six weeks have indicated a steadily rising market. A very clear idea of the circumstances that have brought about this change may be gained from the following remarks made by Messrs. Czarnikow, Macdougall, and Co. in their New York report dated September 12, which says:—"It is expected that the decrease in the next European beet crop will be more than 600,000 to 700,000 tons from that of last year, even allowing for some deficiency, owing to smaller yield this year. If to the above European decrease is added that from Brazil and some sections of the West Indies, it may result that 800,000 to 900,000 tons will be wiped out of the present surplus, and this without taking into account any increase in consumption. There are no offerings of Javas for shipment this and next month under 8s 4½ c.f. for steamers. Calculating upon a crop of 750,000 tons, of which 50,000 tons are consumed in Java, it is estimated that after providing for the sugars already shipped to the United States, Japan, China, Australia, and Vancouver, making a total of 620,000 tons, but 80,000 tons remain to be disposed of. A portion of this 80,000 tons may still go to China and Japan. It is therefore evident that very little sugar of this Java crop is left to be marketed. The 620,000 tons above mentioned include 60,000 tons shipped and to be shipped by sailing vessels, which will not reach here until the first months of next year."

Groceries.—Private cables advise a rise of 1-16d per lb. in D.R.O. candles. Quarter Trefavenne sardines were scarce, and inquired for. Red Alaska Orva salmon moved off at 5s 9d to 6s, and Royal Red Skeena at 6s 3d. Moir's and Morton's herrings sold to arrive. Gold Medal milk was in good supply, sales being made ex Indradevi at 8s 1½d. Ex the same vessel 1500 cases of Nestle's were placed. L. and W. starch sold at £42 10s for boxes and £41 10s for packets. Twenty-five tons of red rock salt were placed at 65s.

Dried Fruits.—As showing the desire of retailers to handle a better grade of currants than formerly, a single distributing house advises that out of sales of new fruit covering 3000 packages this season less than 100 half-cases have been sold at 3½d, most of the sales being made at 3¾d, 3⅞d, and 4d. Sultanas were freely sold at 6½d to 7½d, according to grade; elemes, 6½d to 7d; and several hundred boxes of dates at 3d, to arrive. Malaga muscatels sold freely ex Itzehoe at 14d for trays and 13d for boxes. Almonds will be dearer this year, parcels being due to arrive ex the Konigin Luise. One ton of 5, 7, and 9 lb. bags of figs sold at 9d per lb.

Coffee.—Confirmatory advices have been received of the great damage done to the Santos coffee crop through severe frosts. It is now estimated that 20 per cent of the trees, young and old, were destroyed, while the crop 1903-4, it is considered, will show a falling-off of 50 per cent, as against the crop of the preceding year. The crop 1904-5 will also be much reduced in consequence of the damage to the trees. Santos is the largest coffee-producing district in the world, and the great falling-off in the output there has already caused a marked advance in the world's market.

Liquors.—Steady sales were effected of proprietary brands on the basis of prices lately ruling.

An official return of the quantities of whisky in the 12 revenue districts of Scotland show that notwithstanding the closing down of a great number of Scotch distilleries the over-production of this spirit continues at an alarming rate. The stock was estimated at 109,260,000 gallons, or an increase of 5¼ millions of gallons during 19 months. If Scotland supplied the whole world with whisky it is stated that even then the consumption would not exceed the output.

Metals.—There was not very much done in this department, there being no quotable change in prices.

To-night's cable enables us to give the following comparison between pig iron and spelter as ruling in London to-day and twelve months ago:—

	Last Year per ton.	To-day per ton.
Pig Iron, Glasgow, warrants	55s 3d	57s 4d
Spelter	16 11-16	19 5-16d

Oils.—Snowflake kerosene remained at 8¾d, but a rise of ½d has been advised as from to-day; Rising Sun, bulk 6d, tins 7d, and cases 7¾d. Linseed oil was quoted on the basis of 4s 1d and 4s 3d for Blundell, Spence, and Co.'s raw and boiled; castor at 2s 7½d, and china oil at 2s 4d. Cottonseed oil was firmer and scarce at 4s 9d. White lead remained at £28 10s per ton for equal quantities of hundredweights and quarters.

Jute Goods.—Woolpacks moved off in small quantities at 1s 8½d to 1s 9d for 11½lb. and 12lb. loose-ends. Branbags and cornsacks were slow to move.

Chemicals.—One hundred barrels of G grade rosin sold at £5 12s 6d spot. This price could be shaded to arrive. Caustic soda remained at about £12 10s; bicarbonate of soda, £7 5s to £7 7s 6d. Silicate of soda met with a fair demand at £7 15s to £8, and glucose at £16 10s to arrive and up to £18 10s spot. Several parcels of soda ash moved off at £7, some holders now asking £7 10s per ton.

The Customs revenue received at Sydney to-day amounted to £6034. The principal items were:—Stimulants, £705; narcotics, £287; sugar, £51; agricultural products and groceries, £845; apparel and textiles, £1701; metals and machinery, £814; oils, paints, and varnishes, £98; earthenware, cement, &c., £117; drugs and chemicals, £17; wood, wicker, and cane, £49; jewellery and fancy goods, £347; leather and rubber, £315; paper and stationery, £139; vehicles, £71; musical instruments, £20; miscellaneous, £108; harbour and light dues, £182; pilotage, £60; excise on spirits, £110; excise on tobacco, cigars, and cigarettes, £109; excise on beer, £150; excise on starch, £28; excise on sugar, £15.

EXPORT MARKET.

Failure of the Copper "Combine."—Some 12 or 18 months ago our cables advised the formation of a huge copper "trust" in the United States, which was to essay to do what the French copper syndicate failed to do many years earlier. The Amalgamated Copper Company, as the new "combine" was called, was to make its money by uniting the interests of copper miners through a common selling agency, which would advance the price from a normal level of below 12 cents to a price of 22 cents per lb., which would pay 10 cents per lb. profit and permit the capitalisation of copper production at 1dol. per lb. of annual output, which would enable the payment in dividends of 8 cents per lb., or 8 per cent. on such capitalisation. The entire scheme has broken down. The Calumet and Hecla prevented the 22-cent copper market, although when the Amalgamated Copper Company was formed the price of copper was 18½ cents. Mr. Heinze defeated the scheme of absorbing his copper properties at low valuation to offset the high prices paid for Butte and Boston and other properties owned personally by those forming the Amalgamated Copper Company, and the international copper world by obtaining its supplies largely outside of America defeated the efforts of the Amalgamated Company to hold copper at 17 cents. The Amalgamated Copper Company started waterlogged with Butte and Boston and other high-priced properties, and had no capital of prospective value to trade for other properties, although by herculean efforts Amalgamated was temporarily put to a premium, and the Boston and Montana absorbed. The managers of the "combine" have not yet given up all hope. They are now busily engaged negotiating for an international union of copper interests. A few years ago the United States produced 600,000,000lb. of copper, which was 60 per cent. of the world's output. Now the United States produces about the same quantity, but the proportion to the world's output has been reduced to 50 per cent. The "combine" controls one-third of the United States' production.

Wool Receipts.—Friday: By rail 4505 bales, and 582 coastwise. At Newcastle on Thursday 493 bales arrived by rail.

ENGLISH COMMERCIAL.

LONDON, Oct. 31.

BANK OF ENGLAND RETURNS.

The Bank of England reserves in notes and coin are £23,087,000, as against £22,868,000 last week and £23,882,000 last year. DAIRY NEWS

ALBION PARK, Friday.

The 17th annual meeting of the Albion Park Dairy Company was held to-day, Mr. H. Fryer (chairman) presiding. The report showed that during the last six months 82,123 gallons of milk were received, of which 72,292 gallons were sent to the Dairy Farmers' Co-operative Company for the retail trade. A 14 per cent. dividend was declared. Mr. George Couch, chairman of the Illawarra Central Co-operative Dairy Company, addressed those present upon the provisions of the proposed Dairies Industrial Bill. It was resolved to hold a meeting on November 14 to discuss the bill. With regard to the Sydney milk trade an innovation is being applied by the Dairy Farmers' Co-operative Milk Company who are having a pasteurising plant erected at the Illawarra Co-operative Central Dairy Company's factory where the milk will be treated before being sent to Sydney.

PRODUCE MARKETS.—Friday.

TRADE IN SUSSEX-STREET.

The markets were again dull in tone, business being strictly confined to purchases for immediate use. Everyone connected with Sussex-street was anxiously looking forward for the opening of the new month, when it is anticipated trade would increase somewhat in all departments. Supplies available were ample for requirements. A rise in eggs was the chief movement in values to-day. The market for maize had a quiet tone, sales being steady. New Zealand and Victorian grain was placed at lower rates. The South America and Anglo-Saxon from Buenos Ayres with maize for this market have been reported at Albany on October 29 and October 30 respectively, consequently they are due here very soon. Oats had steady sale, as did other seed lines at late values. Both bran and pollard were exceptionally scarce and firm. Forage lines had a moderate turnover, lucerne hay and chaff commanding most attention. Potatoes moved off steadily, while onions were neglected. A good deal of business was done in all lines of dairy produce. Eggs had very ready sale at advanced values. Other items remained without quotable alteration.

Closing quotations were:—

REDFERN SALE.

The market was again poorly supplied, only three truckloads of produce being forward for to-day's sale. The inquiry for lucerne hay was moderately good at slightly firmer rates. Prime in large bales was taken at 5s 3d per cwt. Pollard was offered without leading to business.

The consignees were:—Messrs. Sheppard, Harvey, and Walker, Dent and Perry, and J. Bridge and Co.

Supplies were disposed of as follow:—

Lucerne.—From Hoban, Nemingha (truck No. 11929) passed; Laidlaw Brothers, Moombi, (2336) 5s 3d cwt.

Pollard.—From Clarke and Crocker, Corowa (11351) passed.

FRUIT MARKETS.

Only small supplies of most varieties of seasonable fruits were under offer at the various metropolitan markets this morning. The Oonah arrived with a shipment of Tasmanian apples, which came on a bare market. Business was good, especially in good and choice samples of fruit. As far as prices were concerned no changes of note transpired.

STOCK TRUCKINGS.

The following truckings were ordered up to 5 p.m. on Friday:—For Monday, November 3: 155 sheep vans and 52 cattle waggons. For Thursday, November 6: 309 sheep vans and 48 cattle waggons.

CITY YARDS.

Messrs. William Inglis and Son report:—Milch cows: The supply this week was the smallest for some time, 72 being yarded. Those forward comprised a very good lot, and, although the yarding was small, prices at the outset were dull, but improved later, closing firm. Best made from £9 10s to £10 15s; extra, £11 10s to £15; good, £7 to £8 5s; medium, £5 5s to £6 5s; inferior, £4 to £4 10s. We sold 72 at the above quotations. Calves: On Wednesday and Thursday about 250 yarded, the quality throughout being much better than of late, a fair proportion being good prime vealers. The usual buyers were present, and competition brisk for prime, while for medium and store sorts prices were better. We sold 32 from the Hunter at 19s to 63s, 30 for Northern agents at 18s to 54s 6d, 15 from South Coast at 25s to 42s 6d, 15 from Campbelltown (small) at 10s 6d to 12s 6d, 51 for various owners at 9s 6d to 54s 6d. Fat pigs: On Friday, October 24, 801 penned, being nearly all porkers, with a few baconers and stores. Baconers and porkers remained firm at late high rates, while stores were a shade easier. Tuesday and Wednesday, 850 penned, a large number being porkers, balance baconers, with a few back-fat pigs and a fair number of stores. The market for all descriptions was very good, being quite equal to previous high rates. We sold:—25 (Picton), 17s to 99s; 15 (Campbelltown), 21s 6d to 80s 6d; 75 (Clarence and Macleay Rivers), 14s 3d to 94s 6d; 25 (Goulburn), 47s to 100s; 15 (Southern agents), 21s 15 45s; 37 (suburban owners), 20s to 145s; also 60 stores from 12s to 42s. Store pigs: A fair number forward, and although on Friday, they were a shade easier, on Tuesday prices rose again and values were very high for good sorts, one pen of large stores bringing as high as 42s each. Quotations:—Large from 20s to 27s, extra 42s, medium 15s to 18s, small 9s to 12s. We sold 60 from 12s to 42s.

STOCK AND STATION PRODUCE.

The Australasian Mortgage and Agency Company, Limited, John Bridge and Co., Limited, Dalgety and Co., Limited, Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., Limited, Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, Hill, Clark, and Co., Pastoral Finance Association, Limited, Winchcombe, Carson, and Co., Limited, report:—

Sheepskins.—The demand was weaker for lines from the drought-stricken districts, which constituted the bulk of the supply, and prices showed a downward tendency. Superior descriptions, however, had good inquiry at late rates. Fine crossbreds were in special request, the coarser grades being unchanged. Quotations:—Merino: Three-quarter to full-woolled, light condition 6½d to 7½d, exceptional lines to 7¾d, medium condition 5½d to 6d, heavy to 5¼d; half-woolled, light 5½d to 6d, medium 5d to 5½d, heavy 4½d to 4¾d; short-woolled, light 5½d to 5¾d, medium 4¾d to 4¾d, heavy 3½d to 4d, broken pieces 2½d to 3½d; crossbred, three-quarter to full wools, fine 4¾d to 5¾d, half-bred to coarse 3d to 4½d; pelts, merino 3½d to 4½d, crossbred 2d to 3½d.

Hides.—A quiet tone predominated at yesterday's market, but the prices obtained were fully equal to those of last week. Quotations:—Queensland Meat Works' hides: Heavy (56lb. and up), 6d and up, medium (45lb. to 55lb.) 5½d to 5¾d, light (35lb. to 45lb.) 4½d to 5d. Queensland butchers' hides: Heavy weights (60lb. and up), good condition 6½d and up, ordinary 5½d to 6d; medium weights (45lb. to 58lb.), good condition 5¾d to 5½d, ordinary 4¾d to 5d; light weights (35lb. to 44lb.), good condition 4¾d to 4¾d, ordinary 4d to 4½d. New South Wales butchers' hides: Extra heavy weights (80lb. and up), picked lots, extra stout, 5½d and up; heavy weights (58lb. to 80lb.), good condition 4¾d to 5½d, ordinary 4½d to 4¾d, bulls 2½d to 3d; medium weights (50lb. to 58lb.), good condition 4¾d to 4¾d, ordinary 4d to 4¾d; light weights (35lb. to 44lb.), good condition 3¾d to 4¾d, ordinary 3d to 3½d, inferior and faulty 2d to 2½d; dry station, best 4½d to 5½d, seconds 4½d to 4¾d; yearlings, 2s to 4s 6d each, calf 6d to 3s 6d, horse hides 3s to 8s.

The New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited, report that at this week's auctions there was a firm demand for hides, and late rates were well maintained. Sheepskins, however, were rather easier owing to the difficulty fellmongers are experiencing in disposing of their scoured skin wool. Tallow has declined from 2s 6d to 5s per ton. In the sundries section opossumskins have advanced in price, but bears have fallen about 2d per skin, while other descriptions of marsupials are firm at late rates.

The Co-operative Wool and Produce Company and Messrs. George H. Maxham and Co. also report holding sales.

HORSE MARKET.

Messrs. Inglis and Son's report for week ending October 30:—The supply of horses, both from town and country, continues light and prices ruling are very satisfactory for all classes. We have a buyer for a number of good polo ponies, also a couple of pairs of carriage horses. Quotations: Carriage pairs (best quality), 80 guineas to 130 guineas; good, 40 guineas to 60 guineas; high-class light horses, £20 to £32; good, £14 to £18; useful light horses (strong and thick-set), £8 to £15; light buggy and saddle descriptions, £5 to £10; 'bus and cab horses, £6 to £12; extra heavy draughts (young and sound, best quality), £25 to £40; good, £20 to £24; aged heavy draughts, £12 to £18; medium draughts (young and sound), £16 to £23; aged ditto, £8 to £13; light draughts, £8 to £13; van and butchers' cart horses, £14 to £22; light weeds, £3 to £5; strong ponies, 13 to 14 hands, £8 to £14; small ponies, £5 to £8.

POULTRY AND EGGS.

Ellis and Co. report having realised the following prices at auction yesterday:—Eggs: case, 12d to 12½d; eggs, new laid, 13d to 14½d; eggs, choice suburban brands, 15d; duck eggs, 13d to 14½d; fowls, young roosters 5s to 6s 6d, choice up to 7s 6d, old hens 3s 6d to 4s, choice up to 5s; English ducks, 4s 6d to 6s, choice suburban to 6s 6d; mule ducks, 4s 6d to 6s, choice suburban to 7s; mule drakes, 7s 6d to 9s, choice suburban to 11s; turkey hens, 7s to 10s, choice up to 11s 6d; turkey gobblers, 15s to 21s, choice up to 26s; geese, 7s to 8s 6d, choice up to 10s; guinea fowls, 4s 3d to 5s per pair; sucking pigs, 6s to 12s 6d each. Suckers scarce, and realised high prices. Eggs in full supply, and sold freely. Poultry scarce; good to prime was in brisk demand at high prices; old and faulty kinds sold freely at full values.

PROPERTY SALES.

The week's business has been a quiet one, and no properties of importance have been quitted. The catalogues, indeed, have not been such as to tempt buying. Next week, however, a better test of the market will be given, as a number of attractive properties are included in the catalogues. Among the forthcoming sales Richardson and Wrench, Limited, will offer to-morrow (Saturday) afternoon, commanding sites, with magnificent views, opposite the lighthouse, in the Vaucluse estate, on easy terms; Messrs. Henry F. Halloran and Co. will at the same time submit allotments in the Westmead estate, Parramatta Park; Messrs. Raine and Horne will at the same time offer land in the Annandale estate, and on Thursday next, among other properties, Hazeldeane and Bayard, residences at Point Piper, and Grasmere, the residence of Mr. Justice Gibson at Stanmore. Among other properties to be submitted next Wednesday by Messrs. Hardie and Gorman are business premises in George-street, between Bathurst and Liverpool streets. The following particulars of sales have been supplied:—

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

There was very little movement in prices on the mining market yesterday, and the range of business recorded was smaller than for some months past, the afternoon exchanges closing with only one sale. In Charters Towers companies Queen Cross Reef were a fraction firmer without business, and Vesuvius were again inquired for at 10s 3d, with holders quoting 12s. Columbia Smithfield (Gympie) were easier, with a sale at 5s, and No. 2 South Great Eastern were quoted somewhat firmer, with buyers at 82s 6d. One or two Western Australian companies showed an upward tendency, but the only business was in Queensland Menzies (ex div.) at 8s 6d. In Victorian gold stocks South German Reef changed hands at 34s, and Hustler's Reef at 25s. Coal companies were unchanged, with a sale of Vale of Clwydd at 20s.

EXCHANGE SALES.

The following sales were reported:—Forenoon—Late Sales: Queensland Menzies, 8s 6d, ex dividend; Hustler's Reef, 25s. Noon: Vale of Clwydd Coal, 20s; Columbia Smithfield, 5s. Later: South German Reef (Maldon), 34s. Afternoon: Nil. Later: Victoria and Caledonia Block, contributing, 10s 6d.

Mr. R. N. Kirk, Sydney agent for the Broken Hill Proprietary Company, Limited, advises the receipt of the following cable by the company:—"London, October 30. Silver, 1s 11 5-16d (official quotation); lead, £10 12s 6d (buyers' price); company's shares, £1 8s 6d (buyer)."

Our Launceston correspondent telegraphed last night that Mr. Hawley has resigned the position of general manager of the Briseis Tin Mines, and Mr. Donald Fraser has been appointed to the position.

WICKHAM AND BULLOCK ISLAND COAL COMPANY.

HALF-YEARLY MEETING.

The half-yearly general meeting of the shareholders of the Wickham and Bullock Island Coal Company, Limited, was held at the Royal Exchange yesterday. There was a large attendance of shareholders.

Mr. J. F. Burns, who presided, in moving the adoption of the report, explained that the receipts on account of sales of coal amounted to a net sum of £22,338 17s 8d, which, with a credit of £221 15s 8d from the previous half-year, and £33 4s 8d received for interest on a bank deposit, made a total credit on the profit and loss account of £22,596 17s 9d. The charges on the debit side amounted to £22,396 17s 5d, which included miners' wages, haulage, royalty, boring operations at Walsh Island, payments for mining on private lands adjacent to the leases of the company, compensation for damage by subsidences, and provision for outstanding liabilities. There was a credit balance of £200 0s 4d to be carried forward. The lease at Walsh Island had been entered upon with the advice of coal-mining experts and the acquiescence of the shareholders. It had been extended to 2200ft. when it was discontinued in consequence of the tests having proved unsatisfactory. The total cost of the boring was £2456 10s 4d. The future prospects were in a measure indicated by the report of the mining manager, who stated he had every reason to believe the output of the colliery would be materially increased in the coming year.

Mr. Joseph Creer seconded the adoption of the report, which, after a short discussion, was put and carried unanimously.

MINING IN NEW SOUTH WALES.

BURRAGA, Friday.

The work at the Lloyd Copper Company's Mine has been slack from want of water in the dam, and though from 20 to 30 men have been put on lately it is not expected that the mine will employ many till the dam fills.

CARCOAR, Friday.

The Lyndhurst Railway Gold Mining Company at the Junction Reefs, near Lyndhurst, are about to erect a water jacket on their property.

DELEGATE, Friday.

The manager of the New North Discovery Gold Mining Company, Clarkville, reports having got the stone under the slide 3ft. thick, and showing good gold. The stopes are also producing payable stone. The main shaft is down 140ft.

LITHGOW, Friday.

A report from Wattle Flat states that Dunn and party put through a trial crushing of six tons from their claim at Casey's Hill, but it did not pay expenses. Messrs. J. Lout and T. Crawford have reopened the O.K. Mine, and expect soon to have a payable crushing from it. Atherton and Sons have purchased the battery formerly belonging to Webb and party, and are erecting a new boiler.

MOLONG, Friday.

A cake of gold of 19oz. 12dwt. has been obtained by the tributors of the Burdett Gold Mine, being the result of three weeks' work.

YASS, Friday.

A lode of native copper has been discovered on Masey's and Menary's claim at Rye Park. This claim adjoins the Wallawalla Silver Mines.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN MINES.

LAKE VIEW CONSOLS.

KALGOORLIE, Friday.

The Lake View Consols management yesterday cabled to the London office of the company that the diamond drill boring from No. 7 north level had just penetrated another fine body of high-grade telluride ore. This was struck 467ft. below the level mentioned, and was passed through by the drill at a depth of 483ft. The average value of the drill core for a width of 16ft. was 2oz. 3dwt. to the ton, and of the dust of the borings 3oz. 4dwt. The cable also states that the diamond drill bore put in from the seventh level by the former manager (Mr. Hartman) gains 4ft. each 100ft. The present management estimate that the ounce lode proved by Mr. Hartman's bore should be cut by the drill now in operation at a point 40ft. east of the north drive at the 1000ft. level. The 5ft. lode cut by this drill a few days ago at a depth of 400ft. below the No. 7 level is supposed to be identical with that now being driven northwards at the 1000ft. level. Crosscutting further east has been resumed at this depth to rack up the 16ft. lode referred to in the cable mentioned.

GOLD YIELDS.

Brilliant St. George United crushed 917 tons for 623 oz. gold; also cyanide bullion valued at £1293.

Glenfine South, Pitfield, 1200 tons for 450½oz.

New Dayspring G.M. Company crushed 150 tons for 44½oz. smelted gold.

No. 2 South Great Eastern (Gympie) crushed 3102 tons for 4116oz. gold.

Ruby (C.T.) crushed 148 tons for 157oz.

DIVIDENDS.

The following dividends have been declared, and are payable on the dates mentioned:—

Brilliant St. George United, 6d, November 22.
Berry Consols Extended, 6d, November 5.
Long Tunnel Extended, 8s, November 6.

Victoria and Caledonia Block (C.T.), 6d, November 4.

FORESHORES OF THE CITY.

At the last meeting of the City Council a recommendation from the health committee was adopted to the effect that an application should be made for the issue of a proclamation to bring within the district administered by the council, so much of the harbour abutting on the city boundary as would include the buildings, wharfs, and jetties vested in the Harbour Trust, in accordance with a recent report of the city solicitor. It is pointed out by the City Council authorities that it has, as the local authority, certain powers of control in health matters down to high water mark. The waters of the harbour are under the control of the water police, but the face of the wharfs between high and low water mark appears to be neutral ground over which some sanitary control is urgently needed. By the provisions of the Health Act the Governor, by the advice of the Executive Council, can by proclamation in the "Government Gazette," declare any portion of the harbour to be within the health district. The council seeks to have this provision of the Act put into force, and has the approval of the Board of Health in the matter.

MILITARY INTELLIGENCE.

Arrangements have been approved for commemorating the anniversary of the birthday of his Majesty King Edward VII. on Monday, November 10:—A Royal salute of 21 guns will be fired at 12 noon from the saluting battery at Dawes Point. The day will be observed as a military holiday, and all offices will be closed.

A performance by the massed military and police bands will be given to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon in the Agricultural Ground at 3 o'clock, in aid of the Mount Kembla Disaster Fund. Brigade Bandmaster W. G. Bentley will conduct, and before the programme proper commences the bands will play Chopin's Funeral March in memory of Major MacCabe and those who lost their lives through the disaster.

Twenty years of scientific research has not evolved a surer solvent of uric acid than Warner's Safe Cure. It is uric acid, left in the blood by inefficient action of the kidneys, which is the cause of the pain we suffer when we have Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Backache, Sciatica, Gravel, Stone, or other Bladder troubles. Warner's Safe Cure induces a healthy action of the kidneys always, thus naturally ridding the system of uric acid and surely curing all disorders due to the presence of that acid in the blood.—Advt.

THE WOOL TRADE.

Friday Evening.

The resumption of auction business after an interval of nearly three weeks found the market better as to the scope of competition, the bidding being more general, but the course of business has served to show the wide interval which exists between really good and faulty wools. In view of the great preponderance of the latter description this is not to be wondered at, and the natural effect is that whilst good quality, well-grown, free wools are inclined to harden, there is a weakening tendency for weak-stapled, dusty, earthy, and burry lots. Of the 14,160 bales catalogued, 9787 bales were disposed of under the hammer; the withdrawals, 4373 bales, representing over 30 per cent. of the offerings. The cause of such a large proportion being passed in is that in fixing their reserves owners, in the opinion of buyers, are not making sufficient allowance for the defects in their wool. As has been mentioned in previous articles, condition and yield are being more carefully considered this season by buyers than ever, and if business is to be done sellers will have to give consideration to these important factors which do so much to determine what value really is. As to the number of buyers and the extent of their orders there is no question, and even the worst wools can be taken at a price, but it is only in accordance with the eternal fitness of things that the best article should bring the best price, and that with a superabundance of inferior and faulty growth, prices for such should be more than relatively lower. Lines which fulfil the requirements of American and Yorkshire buyers have been so seldom met with that the bulk of the business has been done by French, Belgian, and German operators, to whom the general fineness of the present clip appeals, but it is unfortunately not the result of breeding, but the attenuation of scanty feeding, which brings along with it a badly nourished and tender fibre.

The highest price of the season so far for greasy merino, namely, 14d, was obtained by Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co. for four bales super. clothing of the AXN over Grattai brand, from Mudgee, a wool which showed to the utmost advantage the excellence to which wool production can be bought in this favoured district when the right class of sheep are bred. For the bulk of the clip over a shilling was offered but refused, four bales fleece bringing 11½d, six bales broken 10d, 10 bales first pieces 9½d, five bales bellies 6¾d, and four bales locks 3¾d. This wool in addition to its well-known good qualities was carefully got up and excellently prepared for market. Last year a similar sized lot of the same mark and quality four bales of super. clothing only brought 11d, so that in this case the advance is a little over 27½ per cent., a striking example of the extent to which really good and specially wanted lots are benefiting this season.

Scoured brought up to 21½d, this price being obtained by Dalgety and Co. for five bales of the WML over B brand from Hughenden, (Q.), a fine, lean stapled wool of fair length and good colour, and also by the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company for five bales marked Rogers Brothers over Wingara, from Ilfracombe (Q.), being fine, of fair bulk, good colour and condition.

The testing of the market by public business has not made any alteration in the table of quotations necessary. As has been said the tendency is for good wools to harden and for faulty sorts to weaken, thus widening the great gap which at present divides the best from the worst.

Current values are as under:—

Greasy Merino Skirted.—Extra light, bright, good staple, 10d to 14d; good condition, good staple, 8½d to 9½d; medium condition, fair staple, 7½d to 8½d; heavy condition, fair staple, 6d to 7½d.

In their report of September 15, Messrs. Wenz and Co., of Reims, France, state that manufacturers find it no easy matter to follow the continued upward movement of the raw material, which without being helped by speculations, has progressed for nearly a year, the difficulty being to get an increased price for their goods. In spite of this, however, they anticipate that values will keep firm. The top market is reported as very steady, though the demand was at the time of writing somewhat slacker, partly owing to the near approach of the London September sales, but chiefly on account of limited supplies of the raw material. Prices for merino tops are said to have reached the full level of April, 1900, and those of crossbreds equal to ruling rates of August of the same year. Noils are reported as unchanged. No improvement could be noted at the combing mills, and in this respect the situation at Reims was reported to be specially wanting.

The programme of next year's sales in London has been cabled during the week as follows:—First series opens January 20; second, March 10; third, May 5; fourth, July 7; fifth, September 15; sixth, November 24; the list closing eight days previously in each case. For the January and March series the quantity to be admitted is not limited, and it will not be matter of surprise, in view of the anticipated Australian shortage, if the succeeding series also have no limits placed upon them.

CHURCH NEWS.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

The Archbishop of Sydney on Sunday evening preached in the Cathedral; on Monday afternoon presided at a meeting of the standing committee; in the evening presided at a conference held in St. James' Hall in connection with the Christian Social Union; on Wednesday was one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Mothers' Union held in the Chapter House; on Thursday afternoon entertained a number of guests at a garden party at Bishopscourt; yesterday afternoon met in conference the nominators of the parish of St. Stephens, Penrith. The Archbishop administered the rite of confirmation on Sunday afternoon in the Cathedral, on Tuesday evening at St. George's (Glenmore-road), and yesterday evening at All Saints, Woollahra.

The twenty eighth anniversary of the opening of St. David's, Surry Hills, for divine service was held on Sunday last. The Rev. George E. Brown, M.A., son of the rector, was the preacher morning and evening.

It has been decided to build a new church at Gunnedah, in the diocese of Grafton and Armidale, and the tender of Mr. T. J. Bowen, of Manilla, for £1640 has been accepted.

The work of the Mothers' Union is making steady progress in the diocese. The membership is now about 1000. Those who have had the opportunity of watching the work have been much impressed by the quiet but satisfactory influence exercised through this valuable organisation.

Captain Sinker has been chosen master of the Melanesian Mission new ship, and has left for England to bring the vessel out. Dr. Wilson and Mrs. O'Ferrall will return from England to their work in the island, and two clergymen and four laymen who have been accepted for work in connection with the mission will avail themselves of the opportunity of journeying from England to the islands on the ship.

A sale of work in aid of the funds of St. John's Church, Balmain North, will be opened on Wednesday next in the Town Hall, Balmain, by Lady Beaumont, at 4 p.m. The object of the sale is to raise funds to reduce the debt of £900, which still remains on the church, and also to provide for its extension and completion.

ROMAN CATHOLIC.

The Coadjutor-Archbishop of Sydney is absent from Sydney on a parochial visitation to the southern coastal districts of the State.

Five priests who arrived in Sydney during the week have received the following appointments:—Rev. Father Sheehy, to Redfern, to replace the Rev. Father Power; Father Peter Power, to Braidwood; Father Woulfe to Burwood, in place of Father Meagher; Father Fitzsimmons, to Rockhampton, Queensland; and the Rev. Father O'Regan, to Grafton, as assistant to Father Bean.

In connection with the above appointments the Rev. Father Power has been appointed to the charge of the Gosford district, and the Rev. Father Meagher to Moss Vale, as assistant to Father Rohan.

The Very Rev. J. P. Ryan, of the diocese of Geraldton, Western Australia, has left Wyndham en route to Palmerston, Port Darwin, to take up the administration of the Northern Territory, to which he was recently appointed by the Bishop of his diocese.

PRESBYTERIAN.

The parish of Glen Innes, rendered vacant by the translation of the Rev. John Edwards, B.A., to St Paul's, Balmain, has resolved to dispense with the hearing of candidates, and to give a unanimous call to the Rev. A. P. Cameron, B.A., late of Ulmarra, Middle Clarence. The call will be dealt with by the New England Presbytery at its meeting at Warialda on the 5th instant.

The Rev. James Leask, M.A., who recently received a unanimous call from the parishioners of Warialda-Bingara, will be inducted to the parish on Wednesday next by the Rev. R. M. Legate, of Inverell, Moderator of the New England Presbytery, and the Rev. G. M. Torbett, M.A., of Moree.

The Stanmore congregation has unanimously resolved to call the Rev. C. A. White, B.A., of Wollongong, to undertake the pastorate.

The Rev. G. A. M'Rae, M.A., of Toorak, Melbourne, has arrived in Sydney and has arranged to occupy the pulpit of Woollahra for the next three Sundays.

The first commemoration of the settlement of the Rev. William Beck in the parish of Marrickville was held on Wednesday evening. A social gathering was held in the Excelsior Hall at 6.30, and afterwards at 8 o'clock a meeting of the congregation took place in the church, Illawarra-road. It was reported that the church had been considerably enlarged to meet the demand for accommodation and there was the prospect of soon requiring a still larger church.

The Rev. William M'Donald will to-morrow morning preach in St. George's Church, Castlereagh-street, on "The Preciousness of God's Word," and in the evening on "Is Christ Infallible?"

The anniversary of St. Luke's Sunday School, Redfern, was celebrated at the church on Sunday last. There was a very large attendance throughout the day. The Rev. J. Walker (Moderator of the General Assembly) preached in the afternoon and evening, and the Rev. T. J. Curtis in the morning. Mr. W. Finley conducted the special music rendered by the choir, scholars, and orchestra, with Mr. R. M. Anthony as organist and Mr. F. T. G. Street as orchestra leader. The annual excursion took place to Fern Bay on Wednesday last. There was a large attendance of scholars and visitors. The Rev. T. J. Curtis was present throughout the day.

METHODIST.

The conference committee of the New South Wales Methodist Church has presented for the consideration of the district synods its interim report on the class meeting question. The committee reports generally that the remedy of existing unsatisfactory conditions "does not lie so much in improved legislation or altered methods, as in the possession of that 'more life and fuller' that is ever the distinguishing glory and power of a Divinely constituted branch of the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ."

A 10 days' mission is to be commenced at Stanmore to-morrow by Rev. John Watsford. During next week Mr. Watsford will be assisted by the Rev. G. O. Cocks as musical missioner.

The anniversary of the church at Renwick-street, Marrickville, was celebrated on Sunday and Wednesday last. The preachers were the Rev. T. P. Reeve, Rev. W. H. Beale, and Rev. J. E. Carruthers. At the public meeting addresses were delivered by Rev. W. G. Taylor, Rev E. Fox, and Rev. E. Crozier.

MARRICKVILLE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

A sacred concert was given in the Congregational Church, Marrickville, last Tuesday evening, by the choir assisted by friends. There was a good attendance. Mrs. Arthur Massey sang "O Divine Redeemer" and "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" in an effective manner. Miss Garton rendered "For the Children's Sake" and "From Cross to Crown," the second item securing an encore. In the absence of Mr. H. Sapsford (violinist) Mr. Arthur Massey filled the vacancy by rendering two organ solos. The trio "On Thee Each Living Soul Awaits" ("Creation") was contributed by Miss Jenkins, Messrs. L. Bryant, and E. Hollingworth, and solos were rendered by Miss Clark, Miss Sworn, and Mr. Biggs. Mr. Perry's recitation was well received. Choruses were given by the choir. Mr. T. J. Bryant was conductor and Mr. Reg. Bryant organist.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

At the general committee meeting, held on Thursday morning, a warm welcome was extended to the newly-formed branch at Wahroonga. A large number of young women had responded to an invitation to a social gathering on Tuesday evening, at which the general secretary spoke on the objects and aims of the association. Miss Wade was appointed hon secretary, and 25 members were enrolled. The committee has been much encouraged by the interest shown in the new building, now actually begun. Active preparations are in progress for the laying of the foundation-stone on November 13, and a large number of invitations have been issued. The State Governor (Sir Harry Rawson) and the Archbishop of Sydney have consented to take part in the ceremony.

By invitation of Mrs. Hugh Dixson a drawing-room meeting was held at Abergeldie, Summer Hill, on Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance in spite of the unpropitious weather. Mrs. Dixson presided. Miss Rennie, hon. secretary, spoke on the local work, and a stirring address was delivered by Mr. J. J. Virgo. Much interest was manifested in the scheme for the new building and in the plans, which were on view. A welcome addition was made to the funds by a sale of goods. The host and hostess conducted the visitors over the grounds and through the green-houses.

The annual week of prayer for young women, appointed by the World's Y.W.C.A. will be observed from November 9 to 16. Special meetings will be held in connection therewith at the central rooms and in all the branches.

SYDNEY CITY MISSION.

A largely attended meeting of ladies was held on Tuesday afternoon to make arrangements for a bazaar, to be held from December 3 to 6, in the Sydney Town Hall. Mrs. John Marks, president of the ladies' committee, occupied the chair. The president of the City Mission, the Rev. George Campbell, explained the object for which the proposed bazaar was to be held, viz., the purchase of a site for a central hall and headquarters for the City Mission. It was unanimously agreed to cooperate, and details were entered into to further the scheme.

The Mission Sunday School and Band of Hope, Bay-street, Glebe, propose to hold its annual picnic for poor children attached to the mission, on Wednesday next to Clontarf.

A concert was given by the members of the Glebe Band of Hope on Thursday evening, presided over by Alderman M. Brown. The programme was supervised by Miss Sams, who was assisted by friends.

COLONIAL EDITIONS.

BY SILAS HOCKING.

Second Edition, completing 15,000 Copies.

THE AWAKENING OF ANTHONY WEIR.

By SILAS K. HOCKING. Illustrated by H. Copping. Crown 8vo., cloth boards, 3s 6d.

CONTEMPORARY REVIEW.—"The best story which Mr. Silas K. Hocking has written for many a day—in my opinion, one of the best stories he has ever written. Whoever desires to read a tale that is at once interesting and elevating should procure 'The Awakening of Anthony Weir.'"

LITERATURE.—"A careful study of the mental evolution of a man who becomes a minister with a strong vein of worldliness in his nature."

THE RECORD.—"Rachael's love-idyll is a pretty episode in the tale."

BY DAVID LYALL.

ANOTHER MAN'S MONEY.

With a Frontispiece by Alfred Pearse. Large crown 8vo.; cloth, 3s 6d; or in stiff paper covers, 2s 6d.

This book contains two studies of everyday life: in one the chief character comes for a time into the inheritance of a man supposed to be dead, and passes through the severe discipline that this position of affairs involves; in the other, a man whose religious life is merely external, and who, through the ruin he thus brought upon himself is saved as by fire, is sketched with great power.

BY DAVID LYALL.

THE GOLD THAT PERISHETH.

Crown 8vo.; stiff paper covers, 2s 6d; cloth, 3s 6d.

GUARDIAN.—"An interesting story."

GLASGOW HERALD.—"David Lyall has made a strong story and one well suited to drive home a moral. From the first chapter, in which a ruined merchant dies by his own hand, to the last, in which that man's son is rewarded for his courage and fortitude by the rehabilitation of his father's memory, there is not a dull chapter."

BY ETHEL TURNER.

THE WONDER CHILD.

An Australian Story.

By Ethel Turner (Mrs. Curlewis), Author of "Seven Little Australians."

Crown 8vo., cloth, 2s 6d.

ATHENÆUM.—"Ethel Turner's Australian stories are always good, and this is one of the best."

SCOTSMAN.—"Full of life and incident."

GENTLEWOMAN.—"An exceedingly vivacious account of the joys and sorrows of an Australian family."

GLASGOW HERALD.—"A charming story."

INDIGESTION FROM BIRTH.

"MY LITTLE GIRL CAN NOW DIGEST ANYTHING."

One of the most difficult of home problems is how to get food to suit the baby—it is twice as difficult if the child has weakness of the digestive organs. Here is the solution in both cases:—

"Nelson-street, Whittington Moor,
"Chesterfield, England, March 28th, 1901.

"Dear Sirs,—My daughter, Olive, aged two and a half years, had suffered from acute indigestion from birth, and caused us great trouble and anxiety. She has cost me pounds for various remedies that have been tried, but all proved of no avail, for nothing suited her or made her thrive. Her food was rejected almost as soon as taken, and the poor little thing suffered great distress. We almost gave up all hope of rearing her, and knowing how she suffered, her release would almost have been a blessing. I decided to try Scott's Emulsion. I was much surprised and greatly delighted to notice a radical change for the better in my child's condition shortly after giving her your preparation. She was able to take and retain her food, and what is more, it certainly appeared to do her good, for she soon gained in both flesh and strength. I have now given Scott's Emulsion a fair trial, and am thankful to say my little girl has been completely cured, and can now eat and digest anything, and I must give Scott's Emulsion the credit. I feel that it is not too much to say we owe her life to your splendid remedy.—Yours very sincerely,
"(Signed) CHAS. SMITH."

You know enough of the ebb and flow of health in children to be aware that the child is going on well when it "can eat and digest anything." You will have noticed from the day the child was born that it was to the question of food the doctor paid the most attention. It is in just such cases as these—impaired digestion—that Scott's Emulsion is of the first importance. It acts always as it did in the case of Olive Smith: as a medicine in removing the cause of the indigestion, as a food in adding flesh and strength. This double action of Scott's Emulsion, unique among remedies, is just what all substitutes and imitations fail to secure. You can therefore realise the difference between Scott's Emulsion, which cures, and "other things" which always produce "other results." There is nothing "just as good" as Scott's Emulsion.

Scott's Emulsion has none of the objectionable features of common cod-liver oil, is taken by children with eagerness. Comparing common cod-liver oil with Scott's Emulsion, a distinguished physician writes us: "Your Emulsion is three times as efficacious as a similar quantity of common cod-liver oil."

On the wrapper of every bottle of Scott's Emulsion is a picture of a man carrying a big fish—if he and the fish are absent it is not from Scott's Emulsion.

You can obtain a sample of Scott's Emulsion by sending fourpence to Scott and Bowne, Limited, 483 Kent-street, Sydney, and mentioning this paper. All chemists sell Scott's Emulsion.

"Ararat (Victoria), 25th Aug., 1902.

"During the past few years Eczema has become of very frequent occurrence, especially in children. In the treatment of this troublesome affection the usual medicinal remedies failed in many cases to give relief, and I was very pleased to have a new preparation, named 'Oleac,' put into my hands for trial. I can recall to mind three cases of children in which the usual remedies had no beneficial effect, and the application of 'Oleac,' according to the printed directions, removed all the irritation of the skin. I have also heard of many adults using the 'Oleac' with great benefit.—JAMES SMEAL, Surgeon, &c., Ararat."

THE MAN WHO IS

PREMATURELY BALD

Is greatly hampered in life's struggle for success.

If he seeks a position in 99 cases out of 100 he is rejected because of his apparent age. He looks old—that's enough. In other ways he suffers—perhaps the same thing happens in his search for a wife. His appearance is dead against him—HE LOOKS OLD———!

CAPILLA HAIR TONIC

will surely and positively CURE Premature Baldness. If there is the slightest DOWN on the scalp you can be cured—you can have a good, strong growth of hair. And nothing will give you it so quickly as Capilla Hair Tonic.

THE

AUSTRALIAN EQUITABLE INVESTMENTS COMPANY, LIMITED,

☞ 45 ELIZABETH-STREET (ONLY), ☜ BETWEEN KING AND HUNTER STREETS, SYDNEY.

The Company includes in its name the word "EQUITABLE," and the Management is determined to justify the title by the equitable conduct of the Company's business.

FOR FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE apply to us, a Company with a large capital, formed especially to meet the requirements of Borrowers, and supply a long-felt want in Sydney, a medium between the Banks and Money-lenders, thus stamping out high rates of interest and vexatious expenses.

We make advances to any extent on Deeds of Land, Merchandise, Scrip, Interests under Wills, Bond Warrants, Stock-in-Trade, Household Furniture (without possession), and all classes of security. No preliminary fees for valuations are charged. We refuse no reasonable request, either before or after lending the money. Our rates of interest are far below those of any other Institution or Lender in the State, and the terms of repayment are so easy as almost not to be felt. Further, and perhaps more important still, we do not publish all our clients' business to the world, and any promise given will be strictly adhered to.

Our business is dealt with promptly and on the spot by the Managing Director. No delays or references to Board Meetings occur, and applicants are assured the money is available on the day the application is made.

We are at all times willing to advance money to settle loans existing elsewhere, and to relieve those suffering under any disability by taking over their business at our low rates.

MAKE NO MISTAKE.

THE A.E.I. CO., LTD.,

has one address only, at 45 ELIZABETH-STREET, between Hunter and King streets, Sydney. The internal arrangement of our offices secures the utmost privacy to customers, and keeps one applicant quite unnoticed by another.
W. G. CALDWELL, Secretary.

WHY PAY EXORBITANT INTEREST when you can obtain a Loan on Furniture or any reasonable security from £10 to £300, my charge being £2 FOR EVERY £10 ADVANCED, Repayable in TWELVE MONTHS. So do not be misled by flattering advertisements offering cheap money, but apply to me and I will positively make you an advance, also pay off any existing Loan, at the above rate. NO FINES, &c., CHARGED.

☞ LITHGOW.
CAPITAL CORNER, MAIN-STREET.
THE COMMERCIAL HOTEL, a substantial new building of brick, containing in all about 30 rooms, with large stabling and outbuildings of brick.
THE HOTEL, built on the site of the old Commercial Hotel, A GOOD CORNER, has frontage of about 250ft. to the MAIN STREET, facing Lithgow-street, with street on one side and LITHGOW PARK on the other (separated only therefrom by the private railway line of the company), within three minutes of the LITHGOW STATION, the COMMERCIAL BANK OF SYDNEY, the POST AND TELEGRAPH OFFICES, and the largest BUSINESS HOUSES in the TOWN.
THE BUILDING is both handsome in appearance and fitted internally with all modern conveniences, adapting it to meet a general want of superior accommodation for both TOURISTS and RESIDENTS.

BATT, RODD, and PURVES, Ltd., are instructed by the Directors of the LITHGOW VALLEY COLLIERY CO., Ltd., to sell the Property as a FREEHOLD (Torrens title)
BY PUBLIC AUCTION,
AT THEIR ROOMS, 88 PITT-STREET, SYDNEY, ON AN EARLY DATE,
when an opportunity will be afforded to secure a thoroughly safe investment in a district possessing larger facilities for development than any SOUTH of the LINE. The industries at present established comprise the Iron Works and Rolling Mills (Cobar), Smelting Works, Immense Brickworks, independent of the several large Collieries now in full work, Breweries, and smaller local factories. It may be of some assurance to investors of the value of the trade and circulation of money in the township to learn that considerably over £5000 per fortnight is paid in wages alone by the ironworks, collieries, and smelting works. Probably within the near future this sum will be very materially increased, and values of properties will naturally increase proportionately.
A FEW BUILDING ALLOTMENTS (title Torrens) fronting the side street will be offered on same date, and afford a chance to builders of securing land in a TOWNSHIP where an EMPTY HOUSE is UNKNOWN and the DEMAND (especially for small houses) a long way exceeds the SUPPLY.

ST. HELENS, AT CAMPBELLTOWN
(50 minutes Fast Train from Sydney).
A COUNTRY RESIDENCE, WITH 220 ACRES OF RICH GRAZING LAND.

This FIRST-CLASS PROPERTY is situated 2½ miles from the CAMPBELLTOWN RAILWAY STATION, and possesses large frontages to WOLLONGONG and WEDDERBURN ROADS, on the road to Appin.
The RESIDENCE is two-storied, built of stone, and approached from the main road by an avenue of well-grown trees. It contains 11 good rooms, wide verandah all round, besides dressing rooms, bathrooms, kitchen, storerooms, pantry, laundry, &c. There are also large ballroom, billiard room, man's cottage, dairy, and excellent stables and coachhouse.
Of the 220 ACRES a large portion has been cleared and subdivided into paddocks, all well watered by waterholes and creeks. The balance is lightly timbered, black wattle grows luxuriantly. Running through the property is also a blind creek, which has been dammed by a masonry weir, which throws the water back about a third part of a mile.
TITLE FREEHOLD.

J. A. SIMPSON and CO.,
Scone;
S. C. V. NORTH and SONS,
Scone;
(conjointly) will sell by Public Auction, at the BELMORE HOTEL, SCONE,
on WEDNESDAY, 26th NOV.,
at 2.30 p.m.,
on account of the Trustees of the late
SOLOMON WISEMAN.

CLIFFDALE,
comprising an area of 1736¾ Acres of Freehold Land
621 Acres of Conditionally Purchased.

2357¾ Acres, more or less.

The whole is substantially fenced and subdivided into 15 grazing and lucerne paddocks, as well as a splendid orchard of about 6 acres, stocked with the choicest trees, with water laid on. Nearly the whole of the estate has been burned off, care having been taken in leaving sufficient green trees for ornamental and shade purposes, and giving the estate a park-like appearance.

CLIFFDALE is watered permanently and abundantly by King Don Ponds Creek, and three artificial lakes. The flats fronting the creek are of the richest description, and suitable for lucerne growing; some 25 acres are now cropped with lucerne. The balance of the land is low undulating ridges, carrying a heavy sward of rich fattening grasses.
The HOMESTEAD may be described as a gentleman's perfect home, being commodious, with every comfort and convenience, and in perfect order.
The outbuildings comprise large stables, loose boxes, carriage houses, stud sheep sheds, large hay sheds, overseer's cottage, sheep, cattle, and horse yards, and other improvements too numerous to particularise.

CLIFFDALE only requires inspection for anyone to fall in love with it.

TERMS, CASH.

Further particulars from the auctioneers. Inspection invited.

"BEEN TO HOLLAND."
A wealth of glorious hair is a woman's crowning glory. Where throughout the Commonwealth of Australia the sex are crowned in glory to a conspicuous degree, whether it be a curly crown, a majestic coil, or a mass of silken tresses, "a hanging down their backs," it may be taken for granted that has played no small part in the wonderful production thereof.
"HOLLAND'S MARVELLOUS HAIR RESTORER"
Society ladies, when asked if they are going to Europe for another trip, will laughingly point to their rejuvenated tresses and reply, "Can't you see I've been to HOLLAND!
The Greatest Hair Expert in the Australian Commonwealth."
HAIR RESTORER for removing scurf and for promoting the growth of the hair, 3s, 4s, 5s, with 9d and 1s extra for postage. PARASENE for BALD PATCHES and skin diseases of the scalp, 5s, by post 6s. ADVERTISEMENTS.
All Advertisements charged to account must bear the authorisation of insertion. The number of times they are to appear must be stated, otherwise they will be inserted till countermanded. No verbal communication can be attended to.
While every care is exercised, the proprietors do not hold themselves responsible for non-insertion of advertisements through accident or otherwise; and they reserve to themselves the right of omitting advertisements received and paid for in the usual course of business if they appear to be objectionable.
For the convenience of advertisers, replies to advertisements may be sent to the Herald Office, Hunter-street; also the Branch Office, King-street; but the proprietors do not accept any responsibility in this respect.
Advertisements are classified as far as possible for the convenience of readers. Advertisers will oblige by indicating in the first line of the manuscript or order under which particular heading the advertisement should appear. While every care is taken in classification, no responsibility is accepted.
Advertisers in the country can remit payment by Cheque, Money Order, Postal Notes, or Postage Stamps.
Births, Deaths, or Marriages, 3s each insertion. This includes publication in the Sydney Mail.
Notices of BIRTHS and DEATHS cannot be inserted in this journal unless endorsed with the name and address of the person by whom they are sent.
Notices of MARRIAGES cannot be inserted unless certified as correct by the officiating Minister or Registrar.
This rule is rendered necessary in consequence of false and malicious notices having been sent for publication for the purpose of annoying respectable persons.
IN MEMORIAM advertisements and RETURN THANKS, 3s each insertion.
The Pillar Box at Redfern Railway Station for receipt of advertisements and communications is cleared every evening at 8.30, 9.30, and 10.30.
